POOR BOARD MEETING.

Many Cases of Destitution Acted Upon—Mr. Gibbons Champions Mrs. Saylor's Cause.

The poor board met yesterday in regular session when several cases of relief were disposed of.

A prolonged discussion occurred on Mrs. Kate Lynett's application. The old lady resides near Chestnut street, Dunmore, and has two married sons and three daughters, the husband being a confirmed invalid.

Mr. Gibbons opposed the application on "general principles" and uttered a scathing denunciation on the uncharitable conduct of the children and suggested that as they declined to help their parents the old couple should be sent to the Home. Eventually he proposed that the case be dismissed and this was agreed to.

The old lady protested very warmly against the decision.

Mrs. Swan referred to the case of Mrs. Saylor, of the South Side, who, she alleged, keeps a hole in the wall. If the charge was true, she thought the relief granted Mrs. Saylor should be discontinued. Mr. Gibbons objected and said he had inquired from the neighbors thoroughly and all he could find was that she is an industrious woman. "I have every respect for Mrs. Swan," Mr. Gibbons said, "but the neighbors have a grudge against Mrs. Saylor and want to stop the relief. She is one of the hardest working women in the South Side."

"We need not go farther than the landlady of the house in which Mrs. Saylor lives to prove the charge," retorted Mrs. Swan. "Mrs. Duggan has inquired into the case and finds it is so." Eventually Mr. Gibbons was deplored to inquire into the case.

The committee appointed to inquire into the case of Mrs. Saylor reported through Mr. Gibbons that the suggestions made by Colonel Boles had been acted upon and she had been transferred to Danville.

A communication was read from the school for feeble minded children at Elwyn, Pa., stating that there was no accommodation for the four boys sent from Scranton, viz: D. J. Thomas, John Atkinson, Charles Sergeant and Patrick Hiv. It was referred to Attorney Serarg. Mr. Shotten asked whether the superintendent of the district could legally take an order of removal and was informed by Attorney Serarg that it was the duty of the district only and could not be deplored.

WORK OF GRAND JURY

Its Final Report and Recommendations Presented to Court.

SUGGESTIONS THAT ARE MADE

As Outlined in Yesterday's Tribune Another Court Room and More Jury Rooms Are Asked For. Changes That Are Advocated at the County Jail—Many True Bills Returned—Bill Against Dony Ignored.

The grand jury presented its final report to the court yesterday and was discharged with the thanks of the judge. The report contained the suggestions outlined in yesterday's Tribune.

The recommendations are as follows: THE JURY'S RECOMMENDATIONS To the Honorable the Judges of the Court Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County:

The grand jury inquiring for the county of Lackawanna, at the October sessions, A. D. 1894, respectfully submit the following report:

That they have disposed of all the indictments presented to them to the best of their judgment and have been as expeditious in the performance of their duty as a proper hearing of the cases would allow.

They have examined the court house and the county jail, and with reference thereto they desire to make the following recommendations:

1. They believe that the accommodations for court in the court house at present are entirely inadequate, and would therefore recommend that additional jury rooms be immediately fitted up and comfortably furnished for the convenience of jurors who may be called to attend the sessions of the several courts.

They also recommended that an additional court room be fitted up so that three courts may be in session at the same time, with a view that cases may be tried with as little delay as possible.

2. With reference to the county jail they find everything conducted as well as possible under the present system, but they recommend that hereafter all children that will be incarcerated in the county jail be kept separate and apart from other prisoners.

They also recommend that all persons confined in the county jail awaiting trial be kept separate and apart from those who are serving out sentences which have been imposed upon them.

They also recommended the appointment of a matron and female wardens, to attend to the wants of all female prisoners.

They recommend further that a sick ward be immediately provided at the county jail for all prisoners requiring medical attention, that they may be properly treated, and that a vault or safe be provided at the county jail for the safe keeping of all documents which are necessarily kept there.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN T. GIBBONS, Foreman.

Sept. 21, 1894.

A large number of true bills were handed in.

One hundred and twelve bills were ignored, among them being the cases against F. A. Dony, charged with perjury, and John Roone, arson.

MATTERS IN COURT.

Reading of the First Week of Common Pleas.

The first week of the September term of common pleas court which ends today has dealt with two most important land suits, involving nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

The following Loomis suit was ended yesterday, the testimony of both sides was finished and the arguments of the attorneys, but the judge's charge was not delivered. Today the case will go to the jury.

Ex-Attorney General Palmer, in his argument for the defense was merciless in his attack on Cornelius Smith. Among a choice medley of strong adjectives he referred to Mr. Smith as "the red-headed Mephistopheles."

Mr. Smith was no less complimentary when his turn came.

The Marcy ejectment case, in court room No. 2, before Judge Sawidge, was ended as far as testimony was concerned. The argument of the attorneys and the judge's charge will occupy the day. The case will be resumed at 8.30 this morning.

WILL WORK FULL FORCE.

Everything Now Ready for Full Volume of Business.

After considerable interruption during the summer months owing to sickness, vacation, etc., this morning will see a full force of clerks on duty at the Scranton Cash store. Every department will be in good working order and have a fine stock of goods. Prices will be very low all around and quality of goods the finest to be had.

We are now about entering the last quarter, and the home stretch of good goods, low prices, excellent service and prompt delivery will accomplish anything, we expect to smash the record for large sales during the coming three months. We have the goods; we have the facilities; we have the will.

COLONEL BAIN'S LECTURE.

Address on Prohibition by the Eloquent Kentuckyan at the Frothingham.

Colonel George W. Bain, of Lexington, Ky., the celebrated Prohibition lecturer lectured at the Frothingham theater last night under the auspices of the Central Prohibition league and addressed a large audience upon the subject "Our National Sin."

Colonel Bain opened his lecture by remarking that the conscience of the nation was frozen, and as an illustration he quoted with much force the fact that during the great depression of the past eighteen months not a single sentence could be quoted from a leading newspaper against the effects of the liquor traffic. There was nothing he thought more awful than the indifference of the Christian people to the results of strong drink. There were millions of Christians who saw the necessity of God's help to save the country from danger, but who would not help God.

With regard to prayer, the lecturer aptly remarked that every Sabbath morning thousands of prayers were offered through the land for "our rulers," but the trouble was the rulers were imbued with a desire to be re-elected. Then there were other prayers, such as the "prayer of the dying and the prayer from the heart which went direct to the throne of God, but the prayer to God to save our land from drunkenness had to go the way of the ballot box.

All questions lead up to temperance, it was the hub of the great wheel of labor. The laboring man had just emerged from the great Pullman car strike. Why, said he, the laboring man spend sufficient in sixty days to buy out the entire company. Why not stop drinking for sixty days and buy out the whole thing and be your own master, and in fifteen years they would buy up all the railroad of the country with the money they spend in drink.

People sometimes remarked that the Prohibition party was slow, but the

PLAYING EUCHRE DENOUNCED

Officers and Superintendents Elected for Ensuing Year—Strong Resolutions Were Passed Urging Pulpit and Press Agitation Against Smoking by Juveniles—Prohibition Convention Will Be Held at Dalton in March.

The second day's proceedings of the Lackawanna county Women's Christian Temperance union's convention opened yesterday morning at the Methodist Episcopal church, Moscow, when the county executive committee held a business meeting at 8.30 a. m. when the superintendents of the various departments were appointed as follows:

Sunday school work, Mrs. M. D. Hodgson.
Scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. M. W. Vaughn.
Temperance literature, Mrs. J. B. Sicker.
Department of mercy, Mrs. Fanny Stearns.
Press work, Miss Ella Mumford.
Parlor meetings, Mrs. E. Wagner.
Franchise, Mrs. F. T. Vall.
Evangelical work, F. B. Hioras.
Sabbath observance, Miss A. L. Shaffer.
Prison and jail work, Mrs. W. H. Stubbins.

Soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Jennie Betts.
Mothers' meetings, Mrs. W. Frank.
Flower mission, Miss Fanny Raub.
Juvenile work, Miss Lina Frank.
Railroad work, Mrs. G. L. Field.
Work among foreigners, Mrs. Margaret Roberts; assistant, Miss Fannie Turner.
"Y" work, Mrs. Goodwin.

The 9 a. m. convention was opened by Mrs. G. L. Field, who conducted the devotional exercises, after which sympathetic references were made to the deaths of two valued members of the union, Mrs. C. C. Miles, of Dalton, and Mrs. E. S. Reed, of Scranton.

Reports were made by Mrs. M. D. Hodgson upon Sunday school work, Mrs. W. M. Vaughn upon scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Fanny Stearns upon parlor meetings, Mrs. E. Wagner upon franchise work, Mrs. F. T. Vall upon evangelical work, F. B. Hioras upon sabbath observance, Miss A. L. Shaffer upon prison and jail work, Mrs. W. H. Stubbins upon soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Jennie Betts upon mothers' meetings, Mrs. W. Frank upon flower mission, Miss Fanny Raub upon juvenile work, Miss Lina Frank upon railroad work, Mrs. G. L. Field upon work among foreigners, Mrs. Margaret Roberts; assistant, Miss Fannie Turner upon "Y" work, Mrs. Goodwin.

The department of mercy was reported upon by Mrs. Fanny Stearns, and the suggestions made were highly appreciated. Among those who addressed the meeting were Mr. Krauser, of Elmhurst; Rev. Van Dyke, of Moscow; Rev. F. A. Dony and Mrs. Clara Hoffman.

The other reports read included "Evangelical Work," by Mrs. F. B. Harris; "Parlor Work," by Mrs. E. Wagner; "Franchise," by Mrs. C. C. Squier; "Sabbath Observance," by Miss Shaffer; "Prison Work," by Mrs. A. F. Yost and Miss Ellen Mumford; "Prison and Jail Work," by Mrs. W. H. Stubbins; "Soldiers and Sailors," by Mrs. Jennie Betts; "Mothers' Meetings," by Mrs. W. Frank; "Flower Mission," by Miss Jennie Raub; "Juvenile Work," by Miss Lina Frank, and "Railroad Work," by Mrs. G. L. Field.

The resolutions were submitted by the committee and adopted, and were to the effect that the members of the union resolved to bear aloft the uncompromising banner of total abstinence of the individual from alcoholic and narcotic poisons, and total prohibition as the ultimate law of righteousness in government. The members also pledged their moral support to the Lackawanna County Prohibition league.

The action of the preachers of the Wyoming conference in organizing themselves as a league for practical work was heartily indorsed. The importance of wearing the white ribbon upon all occasions was magnified, and the use of the card table in the club room was discontinued, as well as the progressive euchre in Christian homes. Tobacco and cigars were proving the mental and physical ruin of thousands of boys and girls, often causing insanity, and the convention urged more agitation on the subject through pulpit and press. The convention tendered its sincere thanks to the members of the local union, Moscow, Daltonville, Madisonville and all other unions who had in any way helped to make the convention a success.

AT THE THEATERS.

"The Trolley System" was given its first production in this city at the Academy of Music last night. It is not likely to appear again this season.

System will do.

As a farce comedy "The Trolley System" possesses nothing to recommend it to popular favor, and most of the members of the company acted like amateurs. There was some clever tumbling during the progress of the comedy.

George C. Jenks' Russian drama, "In the Name of the Czar," is the attraction at the Academy this evening. The play comes here with the prestige of unequivocal successes achieved in New York and Boston. Its managers, Messrs. Connelly and Gardner, have mounted it magnificently. As an elaborate production it is recommended to fully equal any superb staging that may be given in Scranton for the remainder of the season. The scenery is all carried by the company, and the cast is made up of well known and powerful artists. The cast of the strong drama is an excellent one in every particular. Edward Brass, actor of experience and ability, enacting the important part of Hector Dilworth.

There have been many star plays with dual roles for men, but very few for women. "Daughters of Eve" gives her the opportunity of presenting twin sisters, who are alike in appearance but "wide apart as the poles in character." In these she thinks she finds the greatest opportunities that have ever been afforded to her since she has been a star. The play was written expressly for A. E. Lancaster and Julian Magnus, whose famous drama, "Conscience," was so brilliant a success many years ago at the Union Square theater. Miss Wainwright will present "Daughters of Eve" at the Academy of Music on Monday evening.

The building in which all the scenery, costumes and properties for the Ward James company are manufactured is located on one of the principal thoroughfares of Brooklyn and is a large two-story and basement structure with a great paint tower. The building is one hundred feet deep, fifty feet wide and fifty seven feet in height at its lowest point. The basement is cemented all through and used for the storage of scenery. The first floor is seerely built and utilized for the same purpose. The second story is divided into several compartments: on one side is a large, square room wherein all the properties are manufactured. It is fitted up with fireplaces, paint sinks and all the appliances necessary for the department. On the opposite side is a large room lined with closets and chests where all the handsome wardrobes of the company is stored. In the center of the room are large circular tables with drawers attached filled with all qualities and designs of silk, thread, buttons, spangles and similar material used in the making of wardrobe. Here, during the summer, half a dozen sewing women are kept busy making new costumes for the auxiliaries and repairing the old ones. In the rear is a large paint bridge with two large paint frames on either side, at which the artists are kept constantly busy. The building is complete in every respect, and a novel feature of theatrical equipment.

"Duffy's Blunders" is the name of Barney Ferguson's new play in which he will make his appearance at the Academy of Music Tuesday evening. Miss Montford, who owes avelty contralto voice of marvellous power and sweetness to nature and the crack vocal masters of Paris, is one of a bevy of six young misses to lend youthfulness, grace and beauty to "Duffy's Blunders." It is a rattling new farce comedy.

The curiosity of theater loving has been on tiptoe for several weeks to know what sort of material enters into Paulin's new operatic comedy, "Dorcas," which is to be presented here by Pauline Hall and her clever company on Wednesday evening at the Academy of Music. The piece will be beautifully set and the costumes are said to be dazzling, and altogether the presentation will be notable in every way. In the supporting company may be mentioned Jennie St. Henry, Kate Davis, J. Aldrich Libbey, William Broderick, Charles Bradshaw, H. Downing Clark, Charles Meyers, Kate Trayer and others. The orchestra will be directed by Max Hirsfeldt.
