PERSONAL.

G. Watkins, of Pottsville, is in the city.

Miss Agnes Scott, of Montrose, was in the city yesterday.

Dr. Chamberlain, of Wyandling, was in the city yesterday.

Judge D. W. Searle, of Montrose, is presiding in court No. 2.

H. W. Bacon, of Wilkes-Barre, was engaged here yesterday on business.

Thomas Eyon, of Hyde Park, has returned from a vacation in the White mountains.

Mrs. E. M. Blackall is visiting her son, Willis E. Merriman, of the state comptroller's office, Albany.

City Engineer Phillips, who has been ill, is improved and will probably be in the office in the municipal building today.

Mrs. Charles Keeney, of Blackwelder, Wyoming county, is visiting her brothers, Attorney C. W. Dawson and Dr. Dawson.

Miss Helen Bonney, of 548 Wyoming avenue, is spending a vacation with the family of Rev. Frederick Lyne, of Detroit, Mich.

W. H. McGreevy, late representative of THE TRIBUNE at Providence, is at the Bellevue hospital, New York, where he will go through a course of lectures.

Dr. James Stein, has received the appointment of surgeon of the eye and ear department for the Home of the Good Shepherd and Home of the Friendless.

Michael J. Tighe, formerly of the South Side, will be at the Frothingham Wednesday night with the Sullivan combination. He is an Irish comedian and is known on the stage as Bobby Mack. On his last visit here with Sullivan's company he was presented with a gold-headed cane by friends.

A Brilliant Opening.

The military armory of Miss J. F. Fuller at 514 Spruce street, presented a brilliant scene during the past week. The occasion being the grand fall display of trimmed patterns, hats, etc. To attempt to give a description of the magnificent stock exhibited, would take a large amount of space. But it is sufficient to say that the unique designs, stylish colors and elegant creations, were the subject of many admiring eyes, and that Miss Fuller has added to her reputation as a dealer in artistic and fashionable millinery by the magnificent display, which it has been the pleasure of many Scranton ladies to admire.

THE ORIENT TRANSPLANTED.

An Enterprising Hotel Proprietor Gives His Guests a Taste of Eastern Luxury.

A new idea in the way of hotel luxury has just been introduced by E. W. Anable, of the Westminster, Sixteenth street and Irving place, New York. It consists of a beautiful little smoking room furnished in true oriental fashion, to which the guests of both sexes repair to sip their after dinner coffee or liquors, thus permitting the inveterate smoker to enjoy the company of his fair companion without indulging in post-prandial cigars and cigarettes. About this inviting little salon there hovers all the languorous charm of the Orient. The sensuous enjoyment of the hour, the perfume of the cigar, the aroma of the coffee, are increased by the subdued harmony and richness of the surroundings. The room is softly lighted by tiny electric globes, whose red silk shades suffuse it with a warm, rosy glow which blends harmoniously with the rich Turkish draperies and exquisite colorings of the soft-cushioned divans and luxurious armchairs. Low tables carved in Egyptian pattern are scattered about, holding match boxes and ash trays of polished brass. In the center of the room, small standard supporting candles, whose soft light shimmers through scarlet silk shades, are half hidden among palm trees, evoking a graceful finish to the artistic whole.

The innovation has met with the enthusiastic approval of the guests of the Westminster. Every evening the apartment is the gathering place of all who are socially inclined, and the scenes presented are gay and charming to a degree, and unlike anything found in any other hotel in New York.

At the Theaters.

Of Primrose and West's minstrel performance, which will be seen at the Academy of Music tonight, the Reading Herald says: "The good-looking colored people, arranged in two rows of chairs, opened the entertainment with their own orchestra. Tichnor, Dixon, Weathers, Hunn and the Knickerbocker quart were all clever, and the performance of the 'Old Kentucky Home' was pathetic. The transformation was a magnificent picture, showing the entire organization arranged in tiers from the footlights to the top draperies of the stage, and handsomely attired. Professor Carmichael's orchestra played exquisitely. W. H. Windom, the remarkable alto, sang with much feeling. Harry Castle also did fine. Jimmy Wall, Lew Sully and Johnny Whalen were funny without an effort. George H. Primrose made numerous original catches re-makes of humor, and voice and dance with as much ease, grace and effect as he did 20 years ago. In fact, he was better than ever before. An exuberant and humorous performance. George Wilson from his big top to the top of his head and he made a great hit. The most accomplished and distinct interloper in the profession is William H. West. Thomas E. Givan touched the strings of the banjo artistically. Howe, Wall and McLeod are unequalled as instrumental musicians, and their humorous incidents were extremely funny. On triple bass, piano and cello showed wonderful agility and caused roars of laughter with some ludicrous efforts. An old time sketch of negro life gave the colored people a chance to show all kinds of dancing, which they did as well as any class can do it. A troupe of Arabs, in tumbling and balancing, concluded the great performance, which is, in every particular, the best of its kind ever attempted."

The attraction Wednesday night at the Frothingham will be no less than John L. Sullivan in his new comedy in three acts by Edmund E. Price, entitled "A True American." Mr. Sullivan's character "John Desmond, a gentlemanly and courteous, fits him like a glove. He made his first appearance in the above Syracuse and the press were unanimous in their praise, and the cheers that greeted the pugilistic idol of so many years were tireless to the ear. His appearance in New York was most gratifying. So great was the enthusiasm that Actor Sullivan could not proceed with his part, owing to the numerous cheers. Sale of seats now progressing.

Tomorrow evening at the Academy of Music Roland Reed will give the first production in his new comedy in three acts by Edmund E. Price, entitled "A True American." Mr. Sullivan's character "John Desmond, a gentlemanly and courteous, fits him like a glove. He made his first appearance in the above Syracuse and the press were unanimous in their praise, and the cheers that greeted the pugilistic idol of so many years were tireless to the ear. His appearance in New York was most gratifying. So great was the enthusiasm that Actor Sullivan could not proceed with his part, owing to the numerous cheers. Sale of seats now progressing.

Frank C. Bangs, the celebrated actor who will be seen here as Colonel Preston in "Alabama," was for several years a joint star with Booth and Barrett. Mr. Bangs has been before the public for more than thirty years, and in time has created many parts, among which may be mentioned "The Silver King," "Jim, the Penman," "The Soldier of Fortune" and "Fraudencia di Remini." Mr. Bangs was also the greatest actor of the American stage ever produced. But Mr. Bangs says he likes Colonel Preston in "Alabama" better than any part he ever played. The play will be produced at the Academy Thursday night as a benefit for the stage employees.

Lester Wallace's charming play, "Rose-dale," will be seen at the Academy of Music Thursday evening with Joseph Haworth in the character of Elliot Grey. His supporting company is an admirable one, including such eminent artists as M. A. Kennedy, Charles B. Hanford, Charles Abbott, Isabelle Ersson, Mand Hsian and Mrs. E. A. Eberle. "Rose-dale" has always been a favorite in this city and the indications point to a most successful presentation and an immense audience, when Mr. Haworth makes his visit here.

On Friday night at the Academy of Music, Barney O'Neill will be seen in "Irish Inspiration." The New York Commercial advertiser says: "A sensational drama of the Irishman order, 'Irish Inspiration,' was produced at the Peoples' theater last night. If there is one thing about another the East Side theater goes for it is to see virtue triumphant and villainy squelched. And so it was last night when the heavy man, Squire Manuel Fox, a cool-headed conceiver of villainy, was called before the curtain, the actor who played the part was received with a shower of hisses by the gods on high in the gallery; and then when Connelly, the rollicking young Irish gardener, was called forth he was cheered loudly."

Announcement is made that "Rice's Surprise Party" in the big operatic extravaganza "1892" will be presented in all its mammoth entirety at the Frothingham Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday nights, and Wednesday matinee, Oct. 9 and 10. The success of this production in New York and Boston is being duplicated on the road. The company is under the personal direction of E. E. Rice, numbers one hundred people, including orchestra, and the stage will be garished with a car load of scenic, mechanical, electrical and calcium features. The sale of seats will open Thursday morning.

The Success which Hood's Sarsaparilla has had in freeing old and young from afflictions caused by impure blood is really remarkable.

Hood's PILLS are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. Sold by all druggists.

The $40,000 School House for Columbia avenue has been let and will be commenced immediately. There are still a few lots left at a low price. ADOLF LALLON, carriage manufacturer, 119 Carroll street, Buffalo, N. Y., states: "I was troubled with nausea of the stomach, sick headache and general debility. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."

THIRD WEEK OF COURT

Three Cases Come to a Sudden Termination in Main Court Room.

REASONS FOR CONTINUANCES

In the Davidson Tresspass Suit an Amendment to Declaration Was Allowed—Important Paper Missing in the Spruks Case—In Devers Suit a Witness Could Not Be Found. Case of Collins Against Carbondale Traction Company on Trial.

The third week of the term of common pleas court began yesterday morning. Judge Gunster will again preside in the main court room this week. Judge Searle of Montrose, came to the city yesterday morning and is presiding in No. 2.

After the list was read yesterday morning the following cases were continued: George A. Campbell against Ellsworth Myers, trespass; Michael Devers against People's Street Railway company, trespass; W. R. Connell & Sons against J. W. Rice, appeal; Edwin Ferris & Co. against A. J. Merrill, scire facias; T. R. Walker & Son against W. H. Withers Paper company, limited, assumpsit; New Lenth Minning and Swelling company against A. F. Smith and others, assumpsit.

The first case called in the main court room was that of Thomas Davidson against Thomas Sanders and James H. Jenkins. The parties reside in the First ward of this city, and it is alleged by the plaintiff that his property was damaged by water flowing from the roof of the defendants' house adjoining. After a jury had been selected Attorney C. H. Soper, who represented the plaintiff, asked permission to file an amendment to the declaration. To give him time to prepare it, a juror was withdrawn and the case continued.

A PAPER WAS MISSING.

The action of Spruks Bros. against Catherine Norton was not called for trial. It was brought to recover a balance due for the construction of a house for Mrs. Norton by the plaintiffs. After the case was placed on trial it was discovered that an important paper was in the possession of Attorney Paul R. Weitzel. He could not be found and the case had to be continued.

James Devers against Aaron McDonnell was the next case called for trial. It was discovered that an important witness was missing, and the case had to go over until this morning. There were no other cases to take up, and at 3 o'clock court adjourned for the day in the main court room.

Before Judge Searle the action to recover damages brought by Henry Collins against the Carbondale Traction company was put on trial yesterday morning. Mr. Collins is the owner of a property on Brooklyn street, Carbondale. In 1892 the Carbondale Traction company constructed its electric road close to the sidewalk in front of his property and raised the grade of the street three feet. The case has been tried before. Attorney I. H. Burns and Major Everett Warren appear for Mr. Collins and Attorney J. E. Burr and S. B. Price for the company.

WATCHED WITH INTEREST.

The case will probably consume all of today. Its termination will be watched with great interest by property owners of Carbondale, a number of whom have similar actions against the Traction company. The suit of F. L. Froment against W. H. Taylor was referred to Attorney J. Allou Davis. That of White and Melzig against the Richards Lumber company, assumpsit, was reported settled.

PROPOSALS.

ABOUT WELL KNOWN PERSONS.

The golden wedding of Captain George W. Simpson and Louise Harris Simpson, of Lacka, was celebrated at that place Saturday. The affair was attended by twenty-one grandchildren, one great-grandchild, four sons and four daughters, a number of whom live in this city. Captain and Mrs. Simpson are 72 and 67 years of age respectively. Both were born in Mauch Chunk, where they were married, and later removed to their present place of residence. Of the ten children born to them eight are living and all are married except John, who lives with his parents; the others are: William T. of Scranton; Harry, of Pechillo, George, of Nanticoke; Mrs. Emma Roberts, of Wilkes-Barre; Mrs. Mahalia Davenport and Mrs. Anna Dettweiler, of Scranton; Mrs. Laura Good of Sugar Notch. The great-grandchild is Louise Armstrong, granddaughter of Chief of Police Simpson, of this city.

Aside from the immediate descendants the anniversary was attended by numerous relatives who contributed toward the large family which enjoyed a sumptuous dinner at 2:30 o'clock and passed the day in pleasant reminiscences and impromptu vocal and instrumental musical entertainment.

Captain Simpson received his military title in the Civil war, during which he was confined for several months in Libby prison. Both he and Mrs. Simpson are in excellent health and apparently have many years of happiness in prospect.

That nature has dealt kindly with the Atherton family of which Delph B. Atherton, secretary of the board of trade, is a member, was illustrated yesterday when four generations sat for their pictures in the studio of a well-known photographer. Four living generations are not unusual, but the Atherton case is peculiar and interesting from the fact that all are males and each is a father or a son, no uncles being included in the quartette. Another striking feature is that each has lived for a term of years in Scranton and all but one were born here.

Jonathan A. Atherton, as he appeared with three of his descendants about him, looked hale and hearty for a man born eighty-four years ago (1810) on a farm near the West Side of the present city is located. During his boyhood what is now Scranton was known as Slocum Hollow, on a grassy knoll of several hundred acres, surrounded by a cordon of swamp land, the whole nestling in an extensive forest. He had been brought here from New England when a child, and when in after years he removed with his family to a farm near Montrose, he sold his Scranton land to Dr. B. H. Throop for a nominal sum. The property was later discovered to contain large deposits of coal.

Jeremiah, son of Jonathan, was born 57 years ago on the West Side farm and has since resided in the city, excepting his service on a farm adjoining his father's near Montrose. He has been in the employ of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company thirty-two years and is at present the assistant superintendent of the coal department.

Dolph B. Atherton was born 36 years ago on a Susquehanna county farm adjoining the present homestead. He came to Scranton with his father in 1855 and has since resided here.

The last, but by no means the least important, Atherton of this sketch is R. Nelson. A certified 15-year-old son of Delph B. The little fellow was fully alive to the sentiment attached to his importance as one of the group. He was in high glee in view of the proposed sitting for the picture and displayed an affection for his great-grandfather, which was touchingly reciprocated by the old man, the two proving the old adage that "blood is thicker than water."

MIRTH PROVOKING COMEDY.

Produced at Davis' Theater Yesterday to a Pleased Audience.

The "Irish Visitors" at Davis' theater yesterday made a favorable impression as soon as the first act opened. For harmless fun a better piece could not be desired. The talented comedian, W. J. Mason, as Lord Gilbooley, is perfect, and Jerry McGuire, the New York alderman, is excellently done by Jackie.

The principal part, taken by Miss Victoria Walters, shows an irrepressible young lady, who having been a circus rider, insists on showing the feats of childhood. There is fun in every scene and the audience was in a continual state of merriment. It is the best piece of the season produced by Manager Davis.
