At the Theaters.

The presentation of "Hendrick Hudson" by the Kimball Opera company at the academy last evening delighted a fair-sized audience. "Hendrick Hudson" is a burlesque containing a sprinkling of dialogue and alleged music. "Rattle the bang" order and numerous special features reminiscent of the variety and negro minstrelsy. The specialties were excellent in their way and the popular Cottone never appeared to better advantage than in the many-sided character of Hendrick Hudson. Her support was good and the efforts of the company, as well as those of Corinne, were loudly applauded. Miss Josephine Foster, an amateurish acting young lady, was scarcely equal to the highly feathered role of the Indian Princess, but her beautiful bird-like voice covered entirely the deficiencies in acting. Willard Simms, as Kill von Kull, exhibited all the characteristics of a polished comedian and was repeatedly cheered. His imitation of the barnyard fowl was one of the cleverest bits of comedy work ever seen on the Academy stage. James Sturges, an old favorite in Scranton, was as funny as ever. Joe Fields and Mark Wooley, the song and dance men, did a good share of applause, as did also Harry Dietz, the yodler. The presentation was marked by the usual dazzling costumes, brilliant scenery, marches and tableaux and spectacular effects that accompany the comic opera of the day. "Hendrick Hudson" is undoubtedly the best musical burlesque ever brought out by the Kimball Opera company.

One of the treats of the current theatrical season will be the presentation of "1492" at the Frothingham next and tomorrow nights and Wednesday matinee. "1492" is under the personal direction of E. E. Rice. It was first presented at New York and Boston, where it enjoyed the phenomenal run of three years and two years respectively. "1492" is from the prolific pens of Barrett and Fleuger, and deals with the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. Its theme has permitted an element of comedy that is so bright and witty that not a dull moment is experienced and the auditor is kept in a constant state of laughter. This mammoth undertaking requires 100 people, and carries its own orchestra.

Sidney Drew, who is to appear at the Academy of Music tomorrow night is playing Mark Twain's great comedy, "The Gilded Age," and playing it well, if that the Philadelphia critics say is true. The part of Colonel Mulberry Sellers, which was made famous by the late John T. Raymond, its creator, could not be placed in better hands. If Mr. Drew's support is adequate—and we are informed that it is—he ought to be greeted by a packed house on his appearance.

Brandon Thomas' bright and breezy comedy, "Charlie and Ann," which is a model for all writers of successful comedy farce to copy comes to the Academy for an engagement of one performance next Thursday evening. Brandon has succeeded in developing so many ingenious and convulsing complications from first to finish. An excellent cast is engaged for the piece.

A well-known New York bank president was so much impressed with "Men and Women" as a lesson as upon the evils of speculating that he bought seats for his whole force of clerks at the conclusion of the last meeting of the mission. Extensive preparations are being made, and the best programme of music will be rendered. Brief addresses will be delivered and light refreshments served.

The mere announcement that "Jane" is to be seen at the Frothingham next Saturday matinee and night has created a commotion in society and fleshy patrons are trying to remember the funny situations in the great laughing success, in order that they may not be caught napping and run the risk of being injured by immoderate laughter.

FIRE FIEND AT WORK

Fifth and Successful Attempt to Burn South Side Property.

POLICE AFTER THE INCENDIARY

Stable of the Casey & Kelly Brewing Company Finally Succumb to Arson—Three Attempts Made to Fire Scheuer's Bakery—The Latest Blaze Made Sure by Its Start in the May Loft—Net Loss Will Be Over $1,200.

An incendiary is at work on the South side.

The police department began last evening a systematic hunt for the first fiend, following the total destruction of the Casey & Kelly Brewing Company stables on Locust street, near Remington avenue. The fire was such a clear case of arson that the directors of the company met last night for the special purpose of adopting a plan of ascertaining the incendiary's identity.

The fire was the fifth and successful attempt to burn property owned by the company. Three attempts have also been made to burn Scheuer's bakery on Brook street. Suspicion strongly indicates that the knight of the torch is a woman.

Yesterday's blaze was started in the hay loft while the stableman in charge was absent on an errand. The alarm was sounded at 3.30 o'clock. When the three district companies arrived the building was in a mass of flames. All the trucks and hose stock except three horses were out of the building when the fire started. The three animals and a number of bob-sleighs were saved only by active effort. Three houses became ignited several times, and one owned by the company was slightly damaged. At 5.30 o'clock the flames were subdued only after the almost complete destruction of the building. The property was protected by only $800 of insurance, and the net loss on harness, hay, straw, 800 bushels of oats and a quantity of implements will be from $1,300 to $1,500.

ABOUT MME. BLAUVELT.

What the Frothingham Advertiser Says of Her Singing. Regarding Mme. Lillian Blauvelt who will take part in the concert for the benefit of St. Luke's kindergarten at the Frothingham next Monday night, the Frothingham Advertiser says: "Mme. Lillian Blauvelt was the soloist and 'With Virtuous Clad' was a good transition to the nation of the first theme of Beethoven's Adagio. The singer made a very good impression, and there was good artistic work in the management of the voice, which of itself has a most agreeable timbre. In her second number, 'Où est Sapet,' not a note was lost, and the beautiful contrasts made their due effect. Especially to be praised was the richness of the voice in the deeper phrase: 'Gelo e poi sento, Palma avampar' was delivered with just the broad effect on the lower tones that the phrase demanded." WOMEN IN BUSINESS.

THAT a woman can't run a business successfully is one of the mistakes of the middle ages. We strolled into the dental rooms of the late J. S. Walden on Spruce street and found business thriving. Mrs. Walden is ably assisted by one of New York's best dentists, a gold medal young doctor, whose bridge work and connecting of irregular teeth is receiving special attention.

H. E. Burdick, specialist in scalp diseases, has resumed her fall work at 306 Adams avenue, and is prepared to see all those who desire her attention in restoring the hair.
