NOT A HIGHWAYMAN.

Atherton Asks That He Be Awarded $10,000 for Being so Accused. Stephen Atherton, of Throon, yesterday began suit against William McGraw, of the same place, to recover $10,000 damages for malicious prosecution. On Oct. 3 McGraw caused Atherton to be arrested and arraigned before Burgess Sykes on a charge of highway robbery. Ball was demanded in the sum of $15,000, and it is probable that the accused would have been sent to jail had not a writ of habeas corpus intervened on which Atherton was discharged. He says that the charge made by McGraw has caused many persons to look upon him as a felon, and $10,000 will be necessary to repair the damages done his reputation.

A LIBERTY BELL.

Fine Performance During This Week at Davis' Theater. A great opportunity is afforded theater-goers of Scranton during this week at Davis' theater, where the musical extravaganza, "A Liberty Bell," is being produced. Frank M. Willis and John B. Willis, who take the two leading parts, will be recited as the clever comedians who won such fame in "Two Old Cronies" some time ago at the Academy of Music. The music rendered by the large company of artists is fine throughout. The performance concludes with a series of living pictures which excited great admiration from a large audience yesterday. The posting is excellent and the effects perfect.

FREE LANCE SUSPENDS.

Penny Afternoon Paper Goes to the Wall from Lack of Capital. The Scranton Free Lance, the penny afternoon paper first printed two weeks ago Saturday, yesterday morning suspended publication. Lack of capital and a diversity of opinion among the publishers is ascribed as the cause of the trouble. The staff of the paper and the complete management of the business before the Republican party gets the Democratic have-breeders out of power at Washington it will take up this question of silver in such a way as will gradually bring about the return of prosperous conditions which preceded Democratic restoration. Mr. Connell's health is excellent. His concluding words were: "I enjoyed my visit greatly, had a splendid time, came home feeling bright as a school boy and am now ready for business."

OUTWITTED THE OFFICERS.

Mrs. Miller Got the Goods She Took from Her Husband and Fleed. "Mrs. Miller, of Scranton, who was arrested here a week ago, and the instance of her husband, for eloping with her nephew, O. P. Drake, played a sharp trick on the officers," says the Hazleton Standard. After being taken to Scranton, the husband permitted her to be discharged, and instructed that her goods be attached. The first attachment sent out by the officers was for the goods returned. In the meantime Mrs. Miller returned, disposed of some of the goods and shipped the balance away. Saturday evening the corrected attachment was served on her late residence at Factoryville, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 23, 1894.

CREDITORS BRING SUITS.

Yale & Town, Merchant & Co., and Haskins & Train yesterday began proceedings under the fraudulent debtors act to recover arrears due them by Battin & Co. WESTERN SILVER PROBLEM.

William Connell Admits That His Views Have Been Modified. THE CONDITION OF COLORADO. If We Had a Prohibitive Duty on Foreign Silver We Could Safely Coin the American Output and Be None the Worse Off.

"There are two classes of people in Colorado," said William Connell yesterday, "that pretty much like the people we meet here. One class is dyspeptic and blue, while the other is hopeful. One gentleman, before I got to Colorado, told me, on the train, that three-fourths of the business men of Denver weren't paying expenses and that soon all of them would join the great army of the unemployed. I don't know what he said; but he felt blue. When a man feels blue, he doesn't always see things as they are. Sometimes he sees them as he imagines them to be. "When I got to Denver I was surprised to find very general evidence of pluck and thrift. It is true rents have fallen and speculation ceased. But I am not so sure that Colorado will not eventually benefit from this fact. You see, Denver was built on borrowed capital. To get that capital, there was such a competition among borrowers that interest charges became excessive. Just think of paying 2 per cent. per month on loans; it makes the average eastern man shudder. Set there are dozens of Denver business men who are paying as high as 2 and 3 and even 6 per cent. interest, per month. One man that I heard of while in Boulder actually paid the rate of 75 per cent. per year. Is it any wonder that a prosperity built up on such a foundation could not last?"

The Currency Problem. "The reaction which came has been attributed to the demonization of silver; but it seems to me it would some day have been inevitable, regardless of silver's position as a money system. The eastern money lender naturally wants to see an appreciating metal and the western borrower just as naturally wants to repay in a depreciating metal. There you have the two extremes to which both natural enough yet both wrong. "I must say to you, at this point, that since my visit to the west and my talks with representative people there and observations of the condition of things my views on the silver question have undergone some modification. One effect of the repeal of the Sherman law has been to greatly reduce the gold mining industry in the west. In Colorado, for instance, they have, in the Cripple Creek region and elsewhere, discovered new ore beds worth millions of dollars. Why in one bed which has just been opened not far from Denver it is estimated that there is $100,000,000 worth of pure gold in sight. While silver has been profitable, the west in general didn't bother with gold, which, generally speaking, is harder to get at and also harder to mine. Protect American Silver. "Now, however, it is dig gold or starve; and the gold miner must be the one who can. You know I am not a silver inflationist. My belief has always been along conservative lines. But I want to say, right now, that something will be done to help those western people before many years have passed; and the Republican party, it looks to me, will have to do it. It is to be sure, that the gold mining industry in the west, and in a manner which will not upset the confidence of eastern security holders. If the west could be induced to accept a reasonable compromise, let us say the free coinage of American silver at a ratio of 15 to 1, I am inclined to believe, the more I think it over, that it would do no harm to let them have such a coinage. Of course, this would necessitate a prohibitive duty on foreign silver. We couldn't coin the silver of the world. "But, Mr. Connell, that is substantially Senator Cameron's position, is it not?"

THE WEST HAS CLAIMS.

"I don't know, I am sure. It doesn't make much difference whose position it is, provided it is a safe one. The decent people of the west are Republicans. They are our brethren in birth and faith and teachings. They have gone out to a new country and developed it until he looks today they are, in Colorado, the greatest state in the Union—greatest, I mean, in its possibilities. We owe them the same protection, it seems to me, that we owe to the eastern manufacturer. We owe their labor the same protection that we owe the labor of our eastern mills and factories. We cannot, at one stroke, give them international bimetalism and then turn it into coin. With the new gold that they are getting, we will sustain an increased currency. I am sure; and if we can so adjust the increase as to help our western friends without hurting ourselves—and this, I believe, is possible along the line suggested—why should we refuse to do so?"

PREDICTS WAITE'S DEFEAT.

Mr. Connell tells many interesting experiences concerning his western trip. He predicts Waite's defeat in his campaign for re-election as Colorado's Populist governor; thinks Populism, as a national danger, has spent its force; and is of the opinion that when the Republican party gets the Democratic have-breeders out of power at Washington it will take up this question of silver in such a way as will gradually bring about the return of prosperous conditions which preceded Democratic restoration. Mr. Connell's health is excellent. His concluding words were: "I enjoyed my visit greatly, had a splendid time, came home feeling bright as a school boy and am now ready for business."

OLD LANDMARK GOING.

The Oldest House in the Valley Is to Be Torn Down. The Blanchard homestead, probably the oldest dwelling in the valley, is to be torn down, says the Wilkes-Barre Times, to make room for a modern structure. This house was built before the Revolution, and it is said to be at least 130 years old. The ways have been owned and occupied by the Blanchards, and is a great grandson of Jeremiah Blanchard, who came to the valley 124 years ago and participated in the expedition that followed the early settlement. The old structure contains a large amount of dressed stone which is being used in the new building. It also has three massive stone

FIRE BUG AGAIN AT WORK.

Attacked Howley Building at Penn Avenue and Mulberry Street. COTTON WAS SOAKED IN OIL. Gas Pipes Broken and All the Jets Left Open—Prompt Arrival of Firemen Saved Building from Destruction. Investigation Today.

Smoke was seen issuing from the windows of the four story building at the corner of Penn avenue and Linden street at 8:45 last night and an alarm was sent in from box 16, bringing out the Crystals, Noy Augs, Hook and Ladder and Chief George Suddam. John J. Patrolman Meinzer was on his way up Penn avenue when he noticed the smoke and he immediately sent in the alarm, but a member of the Crystals saw the smoke a few minutes before the officer and he sent in a still alarm to the Crystals, which hurried to the scene.

The building is owned by John J. Howley, and the ground floor is taken up with his plumbing and hardware establishment. The three upper floors are leased by the Scranton Knitting company as a factory. John Lewis, of Green Edge, is manager of the factory and it is operated by a stock company of Scranton capitalists. The fire was found to be burning on each of the three floors occupied by the factory and in several places on each floor. The firemen got started upon the fire and had it extinguished before much damage was done. After Chief Ferber sounded the fire out, he and Assistant Chief George Suddam, John J. Howley, owner of the building, his brothers, Anthony J. and Michael T. and several firemen and citizens made an inspection of the three floors where the fire had been burning. Chief of Police Simpson arrived later and took note of the condition of the place.

At the last meeting of the board of control Mr. Jennings offered a resolution empowering the building committee to purchase 100 shade trees for planting in the different school yards of the city, and that the work of planting the trees be begun on an autumnal day, Oct. 19. The resolution was laid on the table. Mr. Jennings last night moved to take the resolution from the table, and a vote was taken, resulting in 11 yeas and 7 nays. Mr. Jennings then moved to adopt the resolution, which was done.

Williams, of No. 24 school, be increased $2 a month beginning with Oct. 1, and that the lot in block No. 9 on Columbia avenue in the rear of No. 27 school be purchased for $1,250. The report of the committee was adopted. The building committee was empowered to provide an additional room in Liberty hall for the new preparatory class.
