MRS. BEDELL DIVORCED.

Cruel Treatment by Her Husband Is the Cause.
A divorce was yesterday granted by the court to Mrs. Kate J. Bedell from Isaac T. Bedell on the ground of cruel and barbarous treatment.
The couple were married on Oct. 5, 1877, and lived together in this city until a few years ago, when the husband's treatment became intolerable.
TUNNEL OR A VIADUCT.
That is the Only Way Delaware and Hudson Company Will Consent to Traction Company Passing Its Tracks at Moosic.

The Scranton and Pittston Traction Company has an obstacle in its path down the valley that must be met or the courts will be called upon to decide. The company is building a line of electric road to Pittston, and along the route the trolley road will have to cross the main tracks of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company.
The electric road is now built to the Luzerne county line, the poles and wires are put up and the road is ready for passage except that two crossings are not put in, one at the Moosic depot and the other a half mile further down the road at Stark's Patch.
These crossings would be in place now if the Delaware and Hudson officials were willing to allow it, but they are not, and there comes the trouble. Mr. Amerman, president of the Traction company, is out of town and could not be seen. General Manager J. R. Beeten, of the Scranton Traction company, was interviewed and he stated that his company has nothing to do with the corporation building the road other than as lessees of the road when it is constructed. He drove over the road yesterday afternoon and expects to run a car for a trial trip today if the crossings are in.
Superintendent C. R. Manville, of the Delaware and Hudson, was asked what the difficulty amounted to. What he said is of special consequence and will seriously interfere with the extension of the road. He said that the railroad company was not willing to grant the Traction company the privilege of crossing their tracks at grade, and no permission would be given until the electric company consents to tunnel the crossing or build a viaduct. One of these propositions must be complied with. The courts may, if the matter is carried there, rule that the railroad company cannot exact that much from the electric company, but if such a ruling is made, the Delaware and Hudson officials shall be willing to live up to it.

REASONS FOR ATTITUDE.

Mr. Manville gave the following reasons for opposing grade crossings: There is too much danger in this age of active locomotives on both the railroad tracks and the street cars. Public opinion has long ago condemned grade crossings and the frequent casualties that happen and do not occur if viaducts are employed to cross tracks. It is not alone at crossings where a street car track intersects street railroad track, but the danger is even greater where two steam railroads cross each other.
Mr. Manville would accept nothing less than either a tunnel, and he said positively that such is the alternative.
From the position of the Delaware and Hudson it appears as if the opening of the Greenwood extension is a fact that the dim, distant future will be called upon to deal with. Mr. Manville said that the question of competition did not enter into the case at all. The question of safety to the traveling public, he asserts, is paramount to a pecuniary consideration.

ENERGY OF SCRANTONIANS.

More Money Being Used to Develop Schuylkill County Coal Lands.
A party of Scranton capitalists, who have considerable money backing, have purchased coal lands in the western part of Schuylkill county and formed a company to be known as the "East Ridge Coal Company." The lands they have secured the title to are the Brock, or Mine Hill tract. In addition to this purchase they have leased the adjoining tract. The land comprises about 275 acres and is underlaid by a number of rich coal veins.
The Schuylkill Coal company was granted a charter about three weeks ago and already have commenced elaborate preparations for the development of the land. A breaker, which will cost about $25,000, is now being erected and a slope is also being sunk. The breaker will be a big one and will have a capacity of between 400 and 500 tons per day. The company paid $500 for their tract and by the time they have finished their improvements will have expended about $100,000. Among the partners in the company are Messrs. Harvey and Howell, of Scranton, and P. J. Courtney, of Minersville—Wilkes-Barre Record.

HEARD IN ARGUMENT COURT.

Judge Searle, of Montrose, Listened to Remarks of Counsel in One Case.
Judge Searle came down from Montrose yesterday and heard argument in court on exceptions to report of magistrates in the case of the Spring Brook Railway company against the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company. Cases argued before Judges Gunter and Easton were Rothchild Bros. vs. Frank Grambo, exceptions to affidavit; Hunt & Connell vs. A. M. Walk-up; appeal; J. Scholl Wilhelm vs. E. B. Jernyn, rule for judgment; W. B. Dugan vs. New York Life Insurance company, rule for judgment.
Continued—C. Compton vs. Laura P. Compton, rule for decree in divorce; William H. Davenport vs. Charles Patterson, rule to open judgment; Thomas Davis vs. D. F. Kearney, rule for new trial.
In the matter of the grading of North Main avenue, exceptions to the report of viewers were dismissed and the report confirmed finally. The case of Edward O'Neill vs. John Thompson, rule for judgment, was submitted.

Clever Painting from Her Brush Is Now on Exhibition.
An oil painting from the brush of Miss Draeger, that is an exhibition in the window of E. G. Courson's store on Lackawanna avenue is attracting much attention among lovers of art.
It is a study of fruits, and the naturalness with which they are reproduced speaks volumes for the cleverness of Miss Draeger's brush.

EX-PRISONERS MEET AGAIN

Annual Gathering and Banquet of the Old Warriors Held Yesterday.
SCENES OF PAST RECALLED
Many Speeches Brimfull of Reminiscences—Old Glory Is Still Their Theme. Incidents of the Great War Related by the Veterans.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Union Ex-Prisoners of War association of Lackawanna county was held yesterday, when a large number of old friends renewed their acquaintance of many years ago.
The members assembled at the rooms of the Lieutenant Ezra Griffin post, Grand Army of the Republic, at 2 p. m., when the dues were received and other preliminary business transacted. At 3 p. m. President Halsey Lathrop, of Peckville, called the meeting to order and the solemn opening services were conducted by the chaplain, Rev. S. C. Logan. Colonel Ripple, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, held on Oct. 26, 1893, which were confirmed. The following applications for membership were approved and recorded: Jonathan Shapley, of Weymart; C. W. Hubbard, of Keyser's, Lackawanna county; George W. Conrad, of Greenwood; W. Zimmerman, of Plymouth; Alfred Klotz, of 407 Chestnut street; W. J. Hand, of Dunmore; Joseph Kreszy, of Scranton; Theodore Freyland, of Great Bend; Egan J. Hughes, of 1606 Dickson avenue; John W. Bidwell, of Arlington, and Joseph Kresge, of Miners Mills.

Letters were read from the following members, who were unable to attend the meeting: H. Croker, Jr., of Montrose; James K. Spry, Miles Ross, of Wilkes-Barre, and Josiah Trumpher, of Dunmore.

LETTERS OF REGRET.

Secretary Ripple reported the deaths of the following members, which had occurred since the last meeting: W. H. Davies, of Scranton; Joseph Davies, who died out west; Charles Gabel, of Wilkes-Barre; R. S. Ostrander, of West Pittston. The president referred in sympathetic terms to the decrease of the membership year after year. On the suggestion of Colonel Ripple a cordial vote of thanks was tendered to the Ezra Griffin post for the use of their rooms.
The officers were elected as follows: President, Halsey Lathrop, Peckville; vice-presidents, Charles B. Metzgar, of Wilkes-Barre, and Milton McFarland, Montrose; secretary, Ezra H. Ripple, Scranton; treasurer, C. L. Mercereau, Scranton; standard bearers, O. A. Parsons, of Parsons, and Milton McFarland, Scranton; executive committee, Captain G. W. Simpson, Nanticoke; B. P. Tewksbury, New Milford; chaplain, Rev. S. C. Logan, D. D. The following were elected delegates to the national convention to be held at Louisville, Ky.: O. A. Parsons, E. W. Pearce, B. P. Tewksbury, Charles B. Metzgar, Milton McFarland and S. C. Logan.
Purchase of a Tent.
Comrade E. W. Pearce advocated the purchase of a tent to be used as headquarters at the different reunions, and suggested that information relating to the purchase of a tent be sent to the rising generation who are to carry out the matter: Captain Pearce, Comrades Armstrong, Parsons, Harrison and Lathrop.
C. B. Metzgar reported upon the national convention held at Pittsburg and described it at the driest upon record. Reminiscences were given by many of the ex-prisoners, and Rev. S. C. Logan suggested that the association should consider the question of tracing the names of the prisoners whose lives were not perpetuated on any tombstone. He had assisted in forming a regiment which absorbed all the members of his choir at the time, and it was a source of grief to him that he could not find a trace of their death upon the battlefields of Gettysburg. The difficulty of this course was, however, demonstrated by Mr. Campbell, who stated that John E. Kelly, of Company C of the Nineteenth Pennsylvania regiment, while in action left his canteen with a dying comrade, who was subsequently buried under the name of John E. Kelly, the name found on the canteen. The body is still alive and decorates the grave under his own name each Decoration Day.
Banquet at Hanley's.
At 6 o'clock the ex-prisoners and their wives and daughters sat down to a banquet at Hanley's dining room, where a fine repast was served. At the bill of fare had been subdued, Halsey Lathrop, president of the association, delivered what was down on the programme as the President's message. He congratulated his comrades upon meeting once more, and trusted that, although the most of them had passed the half-way mile stone of life, they would meet for many years to come. Mr. Lathrop amused his audience with humorous allusions to the experiences of the members.
The Richmond, Weisenfue and Widmayer party gave a splendid rendition of "Der Kalif von Bagdad," and were followed by Rev. S. C. Logan, D. D., who spoke upon "The Blue and Gray," with the Black Chapter in the history of the world, but they only repeated the history of the world since the days of Nebuchadnezzar to the present time. The issue raised between the two was the black, but it was deeper than complexion or race, the true issue being liberty and real manhood upon earth.
Marks, the Renegade.
Comrade N. S. Harrison gave a few reasons explaining why anti-fasc remedies were not popular in Andersonville. P. H. Campbell, of Wilkes-Barre, gave a brief sketch of the life of "Sergeant Marks, the Renegade." Marks was reported to be still alive and Mr. Campbell's acquaintance was compulsory. Marks enlisted in the Ninety-second regiment, and after receiving punishment for a minor offense he escaped over the lines and subsequently turned up as a Confederate officer at Belle Island, where the speaker saw him. Marks was well known as a cruel and brutal officer, especially to his former comrades. Mr. Campbell related many horrible stories which occurred in the camp, and he was a prisoner at Belle Island and were instigated, or carried out, by Marks.
Captain E. W. Pearce spoke upon his

DECKER-WRIGHT WEDDING

Fashionable Gathering in the First Presbyterian Church.
COMPLETE IN PRETTY DETAILS
It Was a White and Pink and Chrysanthemum Affair and Included a Reception and Snapper-The Gown Described.

Miss Kate Stowers Decker, daughter of Mrs. Austin M. Decker, of 619 Jefferson avenue, was wedded last evening to William George Wright, of New York city. The ceremony was performed at 8.30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church by Rev. James McLeod, D. D., and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother from 9 till 12 o'clock. The wedding supper was served at the home of Mrs. Edmund B. Jernyn, a sister of the bride, in the house located on the corner of the bridge party, flowers and house decorations and other details, the affair was essentially a white and pink and chrysanthemum wedding, and lacked none of the pretty features to make it complete and in good taste in all its appointments.
The church altar was exquisitely arranged with white and pink chrysanthemums before a bank of palms and ferns which were placed about and beneath the pulpit. The auditorium contained a very large number of fashionably gowned women and presented a picture correspondingly pretty in personality and color. But few seats were vacant when the bridal party entered at 8.30 o'clock.
The bride's attendants.
Miss Nellie Coleman, of this city, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Maud Von Buskirk, of Plainfield, N. J.; Miss Beth Archibald, Miss Emma Jernyn and Miss Sue Jernyn, of Scranton. The groom was attended by his brother, Bookman Wright, of New York city. The ushers were William Tyler, of Plainfield, N. J.; Charles Horn, of Boston; Frederick Wright and Frederick Mygatt, of New York city; J. W. Decker and E. B. Jernyn, of Scranton.
Miss Decker looked the proverbial pretty bride in a white satin gown made en train and trimmed with duchesse lace and pearl. She wore a silk tulle veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and maiden hair fern. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor's gown was of white organdie, demure, cut low and trimmed with tulle. She wore a white sash and carried white chrysanthemum bouquets tied with pink gize ribbons.
Reception at Bride's Home.
Beginning at 9 o'clock the bridal party received at the house of the bride's mother. The lower floor of the house was arranged by Clark with palms, ferns, amilax and white and pink chrysanthemums. A canopy stretching over the driveway formed a passage to the residence of Edmund B. Jernyn, where supper was served by Huntington. The reception room was finished completely in white and gold and contained a profusion of white chrysanthemums. Over the whole was shed the light from several lamps, from which rays were mellowed through white shades. In this room a table was occupied by the bridal party. Other rooms were arranged in pink and white and with small tables, which were occupied by the guests. Music was furnished by Bauer.

The bride is a winsome and accomplished girl and enjoys an extreme popularity among the best known Scranton people. Mr. Wright is a New York attorney of ability and promise. The bride's attendants were Miss Elizabeth Haverstraw, N. Y.; Mrs. T. Harrison Garrett, Princeton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Green and Joseph Green, Syracuse; Miss Watson, Washington, D. C.; Harriet Crawford, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Ginn, Plainfield, were among the out of town guests.
