CITY NOTES.

Gentlemen's Driving Club races Saturday, 2 p. m. Weekly police drill was held in the armory yesterday afternoon. Police officers and city officials and employees were paid yesterday. America's greatest living lecturer, Joseph Cook, will be at the Frothingham tonight. Letters of administration were granted yesterday in the estate of E. W. Miles, late of this city, to Charles Stiles. The Aeolian Quartette and Glee club will sing at the Temperance association hall this evening. All are invited. Frank Brunner, residing at Olyphant, was yesterday committed to the county jail upon a charge of larceny to await his trial at the ensuing session. Despite the rain over 100 tickets were sold yesterday at the Frothingham for the latest band "War and Peace" musical spectacle Saturday afternoon and evening. Marriage licenses were granted yesterday by the clerk of the court to Charles Miller, Scranton, and Emma Kullman, New York city; Jakym Uris and Anastasia Kato, Jersey City. The annual meeting of the Lackawanna County Equal Suffrage association will be held Friday, Nov. 2, at 2 p. m. in the Women's Christian Temperance union room, 363 Spruce street. Do not forget the benefit concert for the Home for the Friendless this evening at Young Men's Christian association hall. Seats are now on sale at Guernsey Bros., 231 Wyoming avenue, and an early selection is desirable. Rev. Mr. Bell, of Hyde Park Congregational church, will address the meeting at the Young Women's Christian association Thursday, Nov. 1. Mrs. B. T. Jayne will also sing two selections. Time of service 12:30-12:45. All young women are invited. The funeral of James Lynett, who was killed on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, will take place from his late residence, 25 Emmet street, Friday morning at 9 o'clock. A repast will be celebrated at the cathedral. Interment in the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery. Gentlemen's Driving Club races Saturday, 2 p. m. Pabst's Milwaukee Beer, cool and sparkling, at Lehman's, Spruce street.

MASS MEETING TOMORROW.

Will be held by the Christian Endeavor. The city Christian Endeavor union will hold a mass meeting in the Penn Avenue Baptist church at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow evening to hear reports from the state convention at York, E. S. Williams, who was last week elected president of the union, will preside. The order of exercises will be as follows: 7:45, Song service. 8:00, Prayer and Scripture reading. Rev. W. G. Partridge. Hymn. Address, "Impressions of York Convention," J. C. Manning, of Pittston. Address, "The Convention from a Ministerial Standpoint," Rev. W. H. Stubblebine. Address, "Special Features of the Convention," Rev. J. W. Williams. Address, "York Convention in Its Relation to Scranton in '94," Charles E. Daniels.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

A Mass Meeting of the Workers to be Held at Conservatory Hall Friday Evening. A meeting of all Prohibitionists has been called to meet at Conservatory hall, 402 Lackawanna avenue, next Friday evening for the purpose of appointing watchers, and to consider other important business pertaining to the campaign. An active campaign is being conducted throughout the county, and the leaders of the party claim a largely increased vote. There has been some talk of bringing out a daily paper for the remaining days of the campaign, but at this late date that is not probable. On Thursday morning next the Prohibition ministers of the entire valley will convene at Conservatory hall for a mass conference. Over 100 preachers

MEETING ON SOUTH SIDE

Eloquent Addresses by Attorneys Vosberg and G. W. Watson.

MANY DEMOCRATS PRESENT

The Reception Accorded to Candidates Vaughan and Connel Forecasts a Big Republican Vote in the Twentieth Ward—Much Enthusiasm.

Far a ward that has stood fast to the pillar of Democracy and rendered such majorities in the past, the Twentieth ward turned out a surprisingly large host of citizens last night to hear the issues of the campaign discussed by eloquent Republican speakers. The speakers were met by a delegation of Republicans of the ward and escorted to the corner of Washington and Wyoming streets. The drum corps of Camp 423, Patriotic Order, Sons of America, marched ahead of the procession and discoursed music. At the hall the crowd filled the room and good order was maintained.

ANOTHER PARTY FOR WALES.

Professor T. J. Davies is organizing a "Doubtful Quartette." The Cambro-American Glee party will rehearse for the first time this evening at the studio of T. J. Davies. Mr. Davies is director and leader of the party and E. E. Robathan is president and business manager. The club will give a course of twenty concerts in this country and about forty in England and Wales. The party will include Birmingham, Buffalo, Pittston and Wilkes-Barre will be visited. The party will leave for the other side next July and compete at the Welsh national eisteddfod. The party is made up of the following famous singers: Tenors, Thomas Reyon, William D. Evans, Carbonado; Edman Bowen, Richard Williams (Eos Cein); Kingstons, F. J. Davies; basses, John T. Watkins, William W. Watkins, Richard Thomas (Lew Herbert), Philip Warren and John H. Jones. Mr. Robathan is receiving letters daily from across the water arranging for dates.

IT WAS A CIRCO-COMEDY.

That's what Nellie McHenry produced at the Academy of Music. "A Night at the Circus," which is labeled on the house bill as a "circo-comedy," was produced at the Academy of Music last night by Nellie McHenry and company. It is a combination of horse play and very ordinary specialties with the somewhat clever Miss McHenry as the central figure. The fair sized audience appeared to enjoy the performance and Miss McHenry is probably fulfilling her mission of the boards if she provides a form of amusement in "A Night at the Circus" that is acceptable to a portion of the theater-goers of the country. As long as there is a demand for such alleged comedy managers will continue to furnish it to the exclusion of attractions that possess real merit, and it is after all, perhaps the fault of the dear public that such performances just now occupy such a conspicuous place in the theatrical world.

TO STUDY AT NIGHT.

Applications made for Evening Sessions in Many Public Schools. In view of the success of the night schools of last year the board of education is encouraging in every way possible the more pronounced desire of certain wards to have night sessions in public school buildings during the coming winter. Tomorrow evening the teachers' committee will meet and consider the reports of controllers whose constituents have made application for evening sessions. According to law twenty applications only are required to secure a night school in any particular ward, the expense of which is borne by the district. Present indications are that the night sessions will be held in the following wards: Twelfth, Thirteenth, Eleventh, Fourth, Seventh, Fourteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Nineteenth, Eighteenth, Fifteenth and Fifth (Jackson street). The teachers' bill will include some of the present day force.

A PLEASANT GATHERING.

Second Annual Social of Columbus Council, Y. M. C. The second annual social of Columbus Council, Young Men's Institute, last night at Excelsior hall was a social event that had in attendance a select and cultured gathering of young folks of the South Side and other parts of the city. The grand march was led by Daniel H. Taylor and Miss Anna Jordan. The various committees were of energetic young men who did everything for the enjoyment of the dancers. John J. Durkin acquitted himself in his usual capable manner as prompter and Miss Katie Reardon was pianist. About seventy-five couples were present.

THE SILVER CREEK CASE.

Another Hearing Before Judge Gunster Yesterday Afternoon. There was another hearing in the Silver Creek injunction case before Judge Gunster yesterday afternoon. The cross-examination of W. W. Peterson was completed and then D. E. Taylor, another of the defendants, was called to the stand. He said that he never had any knowledge that the Silver Creek Mining company had anything to do with the negotiating for the Barr tract.

IN LOCAL THEATERS.

Tim Murphy and Comedians Richards and Canfield will present "Lem Kettle" at the Academy of Music this evening. "Lem Kettle" is a consistent comedy, describing rural life in Delaware county. The characters are types, the episodes mirthful and wholesome, while threaded through it all is a tender little love story. There is no actor that we know of who has such a decidedly domestic following as has Charles T. Ellis, the sweet-voiced German comedian, who comes to the Academy on Friday evening. In fact, his principal patrons are noticed to be families—people of domestic temperaments. Charles T. Ellis, who comes from the other side, is a wholesome, so free from vulgarity, they are also a pleasure to see. Good, clean, moral plays are what the public want now—days, not stuff that is served up in the name of drama or comedy, and which is vulgar and insipid.

The Frothingham will resume again Saturday afternoon and evening with the soul-stirring strains of Innes' famous New York band which created such a sensation in New York a few weeks ago. "War and Peace" will be heard again at both concerts, but the balance of the programme will be entirely changed from what was given before, excepting the "Trip to the World's Fair," which was so pleasing to all. The same glorious vocal quartette will participate, and it may be remarked that Miss Minor, the pleasing soprano, is adding much to her laurels everywhere. At Detroit recently she created a genuine sensation, being repeatedly re-called and cheered with well-deserved bravos. "War and Peace" has met with the same grand sensational reception everywhere.

Bronson Howard's great comedy, "Young Mrs. Winthrop," will be seen at the Academy of Music Saturday evening. For eight months this excellent comedy delighted New York at the Madison Square theater. Then it accomplished successful runs in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago. This season it has given an elaborate production and will be taken all over the United States from Maine to California, Canada to the Gulf. The company organized for the production in

JURY WAS UNABLE TO AGREE

Adjourned Inquest on Death of Joseph Noonan Held Last Night.

CROSS EVIDENCE WAS GIVEN

Testimony Against the Scranton Gas and Water Company and Against Ferguson & Rooney, the Contractors. Inquest Occupied Two Hours.

The adjourned inquest upon the death of Joseph Noonan was held at the court house last evening. Noonan, who resided on Third street, Bellevue, met his death on Saturday while working in a trench on Mineral street, caused by the falling in of the side, which was of a sandy nature. The deceased was buried alive, as the debris could not be removed in time. The inquest was presided over by the following jury: J. J. Burke, P. F. O'Hara, James A. Riley, C. E. Potter, George Boerig and George G. Reed. Major Everett Warren appeared for the Scranton Gas and Water company and Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons appeared for the contractors, Ferguson & Rooney, who employed Noonan. A large number of witnesses were called who assisted in removing the body, but were not present at the time of the accident. Peter F. Jones, who was upon the scene before the accident, said he was of the opinion that the timbering to keep the sand in its place was not sufficiently strong. Michael Noonan, brother, and John Noonan, father of the deceased, gave evidence of ineffectual timbering, but were unable to testify as to the casualty. Edward Boyle and P. Rooney gave evidence of the width of the trench employed and as to their working in the trench.

HOW MCGRAN ESCAPED.

John McGran said he was working at the time in the trench near Noonan and suspected something was wrong and ran out; Noonan tried to run the other way, but was caught by the falling sand. He could not account for the accident. Samuel George said he was working at the time and described the accident and recollected seeing the water rushing and carrying the sand into the trench. Dennis Kouch, an inspector in the employ of the city, said he was on the opposite side of the trench when the accident occurred and saw the rush of water, and the whole bank "flopped over." Cross-examined by Major Warren, he said the water pipe was not exposed. The timbering was done as the work progressed and was started when the trench was four or five feet deep. Cross-examined by Colonel Fitzsimmons, he said the timbering was sufficiently strong for the purpose, and would have held "all right" if the water pipe had not burst. John McCann swore that it was the worst hole he had ever "put his head into" and the timbering was not safe, neither the framing being properly done. Cross-examined by Colonel Fitzsimmons, he admitted he had been discharged a few days before the accident, and that he was a contractor, was of opinion that the timbering was perfect, while Patrick Mullen, an employe of the Gas and Water company, declared that the timbering was not driven to the bottom of the trench and that this was the cause of the accident. In reply to Colonel Fitzsimmons, he explained that he was closing a hydrant at the time, and this would not be sufficient to account for the bursting of the pipe.

MR. FINCH'S PROPOSITION.

City solicitor Torrey Will Call Councils' Attention to It Again. Viewers C. F. Van Nort, John Cawley and Anthony Bauman yesterday filed in the arbitration room of the court house to hear testimony concerning the damage that will be done to the property of the L. A. Finch company by the grading of the Swetland street approach to the proposed Linden street bridge. The Finch company was represented by ex-Judge H. A. Knapp and the city by City Solicitor Torrey. The matter at issue was discussed for some time but because Mr. Finch and the attorneys, but no testimony was taken. Some time ago Mr. Finch made a proposition to the city in which he set forth that the amount that his company would take in compensation for the land that will be taken from it by the opening of Swetland street. This proposition was never acted upon. He said that City Solicitor Torrey said that he would bring the matter to the attention of councils again, and said he felt convinced that it would take action of some kind on the proposition. He decided to accept the offer then the proceedings before the viewers would be unnecessary. It was therefore decided to continue the hearing for three weeks to give Mr. Finch an opportunity to call the attention of councils to the offer.

HALLOWEEN OBSERVED.

The Caledonian Club Celebrate the Day at Excelsior Hall. The Caledonian club held a social and ball at the Excelsior club rooms on Lackawanna avenue last night to celebrate Halloween. Chief of John Simpson, of the club, made a stirring opening speech full of Scottish fire and an excellent vocal and musical programme was carried out, followed by a well-arranged ball. The following acted as the committee of arrangements: James B. Skeoch, Thomas Henderson, Wallace Kennedy, John Piele, John Simpson, James Jeffrey, Thomas Gemmill and Thomas Wilson.

MANAGER MISHLER'S LETTER.

What He Has to Say About Young Mrs. Winthrop. Manager Burgunder is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. Mishler, of Reading, about the performance of "Young Mrs. Winthrop" at the time. In presentation here Saturday evening at the Academy of Music: "Bronson Howard's pure society drama, 'Young Mrs. Winthrop,' was very creditably given here. Its characters from fashionable family life, its touching tenderness, its exquisite humor, its artistic stage arrangement, its able interpretation make a pleasing combination for a first class entertainment. There is no singing, no dancing, nothing boisterous. The actress is capable in all the characters."

WILL OPEN SATURDAY.
