An Italian named Antonio Morosko, who resides on South Keller avenue, between the Archbald and the Pymine mines, was severely beaten a few evenings ago by a fellow-countryman. The men went out together and disagreed on some point. Harsh words led to blows and Morosko received the worst of the conflict. His face showed unmistakable signs of a severe beating. Morosko went home, where his injuries were dressed. The case will not be pushed, as it seems that his companion was aggravated by Morosko's bantering words.

WILL BE BENEFICIAL. That is what a Scranton Coal Operator Thinks of the Latest Agreement of the Coal Companies. At the Philadelphia meeting of presidents of the anthracite coal carrying companies an agreement was entered into and an organization effected which promises to stimulate the coal trade, regulate prices and output and consequently benefit the individual operators. Such, at least, was the comment of a prominent Scranton operator last night. This gentleman said further that the new organization is built upon the lines of the old Trunk Line association, which for several years has done nothing but exist, and that in name only.

At the Philadelphia meeting, says the New York Herald, the presidents were unanimously in favor of basing the divisions on the tonnage mined and carried by each company during the past year. This, however, would mean that after the bitter experiences of a free-for-all competition, during which some of them necessarily got less than the proportions once agreed upon, they are now willing to accept less tonnage for the sake of obtaining profitable rates for what they do carry. The Reading, which has been the cause of much of the demoralization, was the one that called the meeting, and it evinced a desire to see the coal traffic placed on a more desirable basis.

The gentlemen's agreement. This apparent revival of good faith is regarded by many as a quiet scheme to infuse life again into the "Gentlemen's Agreement," and to restore to that violated compact the vigor of a real trust, such as Mr. McLeod aimed at.

Others, however, believed that the present effort to bring all the companies together in one happy family, and possibly put up rates, was designed by some of the barons, at least, to strengthen the stock market until after they had accomplished their purposes, and that several weeks, at the most, would see the coal trade in as demoralized a condition as ever.

At a meeting of the anthracite sales agents it was agreed to restrict the output for January to 45 per cent. of the June production, which would make about 2,300,000 tons. The circular prices were not changed. They are $3.50 for grate, $3.50 for egg and chestnut and $2.75 for stove.

Means Better Prices. When shown the Herald article, the Scranton operator said that in substance the organization means better prices for coal and is the outcome of numerous requests from the operators. That the Reading company is the prime mover in the scheme the operator did not doubt, as that company has lately been receiving an average of $1 per ton less than during the McLeod regime.

MUNYON SAVED HER. How Mrs. Reese Became a Convert. Her Arm Was Useless, and Could Not Be Moved Without Pain--How She Was Cured.

Mrs. John Reese, South Pottstown, Pa., says: "It is now about a year since I was cured of one of the worst attacks of rheumatism I ever had. I had tried all kinds of remedies and had several doctors, but nothing did me any good; so I concluded to try Munyon's Remedy. I never had any faith in homeopathy; I confess now I am a firm believer in it. After taking the Rheumatism Remedy a few days I was able to raise my arm, which I had not moved for two weeks without the most intense torture. Within a short time it was completely cured, and it was permanent, for during the past year I have not had the slightest return of the disease. Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back, and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back can be speedily cured. Munyon's Homeopathic Home Remedy company, of Philadelphia, put up specific for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

A CASE OF MALPRACTICE. Criminal Operation Killed Mrs. Thos. J. Watkins, of the North End.

HER DEATH-BED STATEMENT. Woman Physician of Scranton Implicated--Coroner Notified of the Case and is Assisted by Four Physicians at the Autopsy.

From the effects of a criminal operation, Mrs. Thos. J. Watkins, of 2306 North Main avenue, died at midnight Friday. She made a sworn statement a few hours previous to her death, which seriously implicates a woman physician of this city and releases Mr. Watkins from all responsibility of her death. Mrs. Watkins was the mother of three small children under 6 years of age and one is a babe of but 17 months. The family lived happily together and though not well-to-do were respectable and popular among their neighbors. About the first of December Mrs. Watkins became quite ill from the effects of an abortion performed by the woman physician mentioned in the ante-mortem statement, which says that several criminal operations were performed up to a few days preceding Dec. 25. On that day her condition became alarming and Dr. Thompson, of North Main avenue, was summoned to attend her.

She Did Not Rally. The unfortunate woman did not rally and on Friday her condition became so serious that Dr. Sullivan, of West Market street, was called for consultation on the case. It cannot be learned whether the two doctors were aware of the true nature of the case or not previous to the evening of the night of her death. At all events that evening Alderman Williams, of the First ward, visited the house upon request of the physicians and received the statement which Mrs. Watkins signed before she died. The case was communicated to Coroner Kelley, who empaneled the following jury, which viewed the remains Saturday, and without taking testimony adjourned to meet Wednesday evening in the office of Alderman Williams: Matthew Golden, George W. Davis, John Kelleway, Llewellyn Bright, Henry Coles and Edwin T. Davis.

An autopsy was performed yesterday afternoon in which the coroner was assisted by Drs. Thompson, Sullivan, Strang and Donne. It was found that Mrs. Watkins had given premature birth to a foetus of three months' growth from the effects of a criminal operation. Last evening the physicians refused to discuss the autopsy or details of the case.

Funeral This Afternoon. At 2 o'clock this afternoon will be held the funeral from the house, Revs. George E. Guilf and D. M. Kinter will officiate and interment will be made in Forest Hill cemetery.

At the inquest tomorrow evening Coroner Kelley says the details of the autopsy will be laid before the jury as well as the ante-mortem statement taken. Until that time he believes it would not be proper to give them to the public.

"A grave crime has been committed," he said, "for which some one is responsible and for which some one should be punished. Any undue publicity now might defeat the ends of justice."

NORTH END NOTES. The annual ball of the Liberty Hose company will be held tonight in Company Hall armory.

The Sunday school of the Presbyterian church elected the following officers yesterday for the ensuing year: Superintendent, H. H. McKeenan; assistant superintendent, H. R. Hurlburt; secretary, Elizabeth Gabriel; assistant secretary, Grace Slikman; treasurer, E. A. Reynolds; pianist, Margaret Bentley; librarian, Margaret McKeenan; executive committee, Clarence Steel, Mrs. W. H. Sadder and Miss Nellie Pickett.

The Young People's Temperance society of the Primitive Methodist church will hold a free entertainment tonight at which they will give to the trustees of the church receipts bills for the laying of the flagstone walk and cobblestone ditch which they have recently had put down. The meeting will close at 10 o'clock as at 10:30 the watch service will begin, and will be led by Rev. Daniel Savage, assisted by William Brown, James Fildam and Aaron Powell.

The alarm from box 65 at 6 o'clock last night was caused by a fire in the residence of Mrs. Davis, on Ross avenue. The fire in one of the stoves had nearly gone out so they raked the coals out of the grate and put them in a wooden bucket which they put in a small closet behind the stove. Some hot coals set fire to the pall and an alarm was sent in to which the General Phinney and Liberty Hose companies responded. The fire was extinguished before they arrived. The damage was trifling.

PLAY BY CLEVER AMATEURS. Hand and Glove Produced in an Acceptable Manner. "Hand and Glove," a romantic four act drama, was produced at the Academy of Music Saturday night before a fair-sized audience by the Standard Dramatic company, an amateur organization that contains some promising material.

There were some imperfections in the performance, as was to be expected, but nevertheless the work of the amateurs, as a whole, was superior to that of many professional companies which visit this city.

James Flynn, as Colonel Raven, showed a distinct improvement in his work since last seen in amateur theatricals in this city. He somewhat stiffly walked and a tendency to declaim too loudly at times are his worst faults.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

Those Queer People. There's No Better Holiday Present for the Little Ones. All parts on sale now at THE TRIBUNE business office.

The comedy work of Robert Rankin and M. J. Coyne was very good. They are natural comedians and only need to curb a desire to drop into horseplay to take a commanding place as exponents of real comedy. P. S. Barrett made a distinct hit as Dr. Pullman. He has a good stage presence and a well trained voice. P. Daly Noland, Harry Bunting and George F. Fleisher also made a favorable impression in less important roles.

Miss Gemma Jones sustained the leading female role, that of Lady Leybore, in a manner which proves that she has a proper conception of dramatic art. Unlike most amateurs she does not rant or work a scene up to a pitch that makes a burlesque of it. She pronounces her lines in a well modulated voice that shows careful training. In the death scene she was particularly artistic and effective.

Miss Gertrude McEachen and Miss Agnes Kelly interpreted in a most intelligent manner the roles assigned to them. Additional experience would make them most competent as candidates to the stage. In the second act Miss McEachen, who possesses a sweet soprano voice, sang "Au Revoir," which called forth an enthusiastic encore. The work of Little Helen Long was not the least meritorious feature of the entertainment.

Hand and Glove will be produced by the same company in Olyphant, Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth.

Funeral of Stephen Judge. Notwithstanding the severity of the weather Saturday morning the attendance at the funeral of Stephen Judge at 9 o'clock was notably large and attested the respect that was entertained for the many manly and upright qualities of the deceased. The remains were borne to St. John's church and a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. E. J. Melley, who, at the close of the services, delivered a most beautiful sermon on the shortness of time and the necessity of being always prepared for death. All must die and no man knows the day nor the hour. Father Melley spoke also about the excellent character of the deceased.

In the funeral procession the members of Columbian council, Young Men's Institute, and of St. Joseph's Total Abstinence society, of Minoaka, marched. The deceased was an active member of each society. The pall-bearers were selected from his brother members: John Haggerty, John Ryan and Martin Gallagher, of the Young Men's Institute; Patrick P. RECLAIMED FROM DEATH. The Terror of Man Thwarted. In the Grasp of that Dread Disease, Consumption--Life Given Back--Almost Miraculous. Fortunately, perhaps, the Consumptive does not realize his own condition. This is a disease of continual waste until he meets a death that is in reality one of starvation.

It is now generally conceded that this disease is incurable--that is, by any known medicine. Change of climate, or some life-insufficing food that will give new flesh, blood, and strength, and induce the various organs of the body to assume their normal functions--this is the only hope.

The only way to do this effectually is to give the patient Bovinine, that great raw food product, the greatest concentration of the life-giving elements of raw beef known to modern science. In this connection the results obtained by Dr. J. H. Head of Atlanta, Ga., in the treatment of a case of consumption, are interesting.

Dr. Head relates briefly how a man about thirty-five years of age came to him for treatment. He had lost forty pounds in weight in six months; he suffered with a bad cough and experienced severe night sweats; he was unable to do any work; most of his family had died of consumption, and on examination his right lung was found to be seriously affected, and as the doctor remarked, "He was in a good way to have an early funeral."

But note what happened. He was given Bovinine. In two weeks he had gained seven pounds, his appetite had returned. He was able to do a good day's work, and most of the distressing symptoms had vanished; and at the time of writing the doctor felt sure of a complete cure.

This is but one of many similar cases. Bovinine will give new life and strength, make new blood and flesh, stop waste, ward off disease, and turn the current of life's river again into its natural channel. Give it one trial while there is yet hope.

DR. HACKER'S TESTIFIES TO TREATMENT OF NERVOUS DISEASES OF YOUNG MEN.

AS I WAS. AS I AM. I give the following statement unasked, and have spent so much money with so-called specialists and each time have been disappointed and misled, that I was with a good deal of doubt that I called on DR. HACKER. But knowing of some of the cures he made in this city four years ago and the confidence of the people of Scranton in him, I did not hesitate to try him. It was a lucky move for me. I was troubled with weakness, spots floating before my eyes, bad dreams, melancholy, easily startled when spoken to, no desire to exert myself and tired on the least exertion, especially in the morning, had no pleasure in company, very nervous and altogether was a complete wreck. But thanks to DR. HACKER, I am today a well man. I would advise all young men suffering as I did to call immediately. For obvious reasons I prefer to withhold my name, but if any who suffer will call on DR. HACKER at the Lackawanna Medical Institute, he will furnish my name and address.
