AN UMBRELLA SCARED THEM. Team of Mules Ran Away and One Occupant of Carriage Was Hurt. John Gurrey, a carpenter, living at the corner of Third and Spruce, and the Providence road, was badly injured in a runaway on Kelder avenue yesterday afternoon. His left arm was fractured and the collar bone was torn loose at its junction with the shoulder blade. There was a large contused wound of the scalp. Mr. Gurrey is employed in the carpenter shop at the Diamond colliery. Yesterday was an idle one, and Foreman W. S. Langstaff sent him and two others out to do some work at a horse hole on the back road. They were provided with a spirited team of mules and a Concord carriage. On the way over to where they were to work it began to rain and one of the three opened an umbrella and a runaway occurred. The men were thrown out and the buggy was smashed. Gurrey was injured to the extent above noted. Dr. S. P. Longstreet attended him.

MORE TROUBLE BREWING. Turnpike Company Looking for Additional Remuneration from City. Another fuss with the Providence and Abington Turnpike company is on the carpet. At last night's meeting of the auditing committee of councils a bill was received for repairs made on the road by the company. The bill, until the recent decision of Justice Green. The auditing committee sent the bill to the joint streets and bridges committee with a recommendation that the bill be placed in the hands of Attorney Price, the city's special attorney in the recent litigation between the company and the city.

STOLEN HORSE FOUND. A. E. Williams' Trotter Was at Chinchilla Grazing by the Roadside. Owner Recovers His Property. The horse and carriage stolen from Livermore A. Williams, of Tremont, by Frank S. Leighton, Saturday last, was recovered yesterday at Chinchilla, through the aid of The Tribune. Levi P. Townsend, who lives near the depot at that place, found a horse attached to a carriage, grazing alongside the road near his home at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning. When he picked up The Tribune he read about Williams' stolen horse and upon comparison found that the description in the paper tallied with the turnout. He immediately sent a postal card to the chief of police, which reached this city at 11 o'clock. Just as the owner, Mr. Williams, who came up from Plymouth to look for his property, was leaving the chief's office. Acting Chief Edwards called him back and sent him in company with Officer Dyer to Chinchilla, where he recovered his horse and carriage.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE. Outside the house in the yard against the fence an empty beer keg is thrown. The contents of all the tin cans and the contents were used up in a Friday frolic, and when all hands were drunk the quarrelling began. The keg was tipped after dinner and was not drained until after 7 o'clock in the evening. Some whisky was carried from one of the saloons and helped to fire up the blood of the men. The house is owned by Kolar. He occupies the front and had the rear part rented to Kadzina and the upstairs to John Christo. Kolar's three or four boarders and his servant comprised the drinking party. The house is situated on Second avenue, Jessup, and is about a quarter of a mile from the Peckville station of the Delaware and Hudson station.

BLOOD STAINED THE FLOOR. The red fluid came in such quantity from the goring wound on his head that it flowed out upon the stoop of the house and down the steps. His head was resting near the threshold of the door. Kolar lost no time after committing the deed in getting away, and from all accounts yesterday his destination is New York to take passage for Hungary there to be out of reach of the consequences of his crime. Justice of the Peace M. E. Kelley, of Jessup, was the first person of authority to reach the fugitive. He secured a photograph of the fugitive. Struck Kelley sent a message to Scranton to acquaint the proper authorities and yesterday morning County Detective Leighton went up. He got the man's picture from the justice and sent it in a special delivery letter at once to New York, so that a watch may be kept on Kolar if he attempts to escape to the old country. Mr. Leighton went to Forest City and Constable Timothy Jones, of Hyde Park, was delegated to the Ridge, at Arch-bald, and the officers of Olyphant searched the Hungarian section of that borough.

SKULL IS LAID OPEN. The blow was struck about 8:45 Sunday night. To all appearances Kadzina was dead for several hours. This was not, however, the case, for his life passed out. Doctors were sent for, and they found it impossible to do anything for him. The skull was laid open four inches and three-quarters of an inch wide, the right side of the brain and the cerebellum and cerebri were found. The right side of the brain had been so profuse that there was scarcely any strength left, and his pulse was almost stopped. For seven hours he laid without a groan, but at 4 o'clock yesterday morning he opened his eyes and then spoke to those around his bedside. As a member of St. Michael's Benevolent society of Jessup, his heirs are entitled to $500 at his death. He disposed of this money by ordering that a headstone be erected above his grave, and the balance divided equally between his father and sister in Hungary. He owns property in the old country and, with whatever he is worth here, he left to his wife. He has no children. FIVE YEARS IN THE COUNTRY. He moved from the Ridge at Arch-bald four months ago. It is five years since he came to this country, but he has not lived here all that time. After a few months he went back to his native land, was arrested and sentenced to serve three years in the Austrian army. When his time was up he did not delay in returning to America. He is thirty-three years old, of medium height and build, and is dark complexioned. Kolar is married to Kadzina's sister. He is thirty-six years old. Three years ago he built the home where the tragic deed was done, and he lived there until his flight. He is five feet seven inches in height, weighs about 155 pounds, has a dark moustache, dark hair and eyes, and regular features.

KADZINA'S ASSAILANT IS YET AT LARGE. Wounded Man Did Not Die, but His Condition is Hopeless. HALF OF HIS BRAIN IS PARALYZED. Report of His Death Came from His Weakened Condition--Efforts to Capture Kolar Have Not Been Successful--Doctors Say Kadzina Cannot Live More Than Two Days. Description of Kolar. In announcing the death of Michael Kadzina, of Jessup, whose head was split with an ax in the hands of his brother-in-law, Joseph Kolar, an error was made. At a late hour last night the wounded man was in the hospital, his condition was so low that his death was expected at any moment. It is regarded by Drs. Kelley, of Olyphant, Grover and Beck, of Peckville, as a miracle that he lives; they say that it is impossible for him to get well. The ax cut through the skull in an oblique line just above the right ear and the gash is four inches long and wide enough to admit a person's finger. The outer substance of the brain was cut, and one side of the brain is paralyzed. The doctors think that the longest he can live is two days. A number of stories are afloat concerning the manner in which the assault occurred. The one which appears to be the most credible is that Kolar and a boarder named Mike Hozzar started to fight and were engaged in it fiercely when Kolar picked up the ax, which was behind the kitchen door. Kadzina rushed in to stop him and Kolar pulled away and swung the ax with all his strength at the peacemaker and sunk it in his skull.

HUNGARIAN'S SAD DEATH. Run Over by a Train at Olyphant While on His Way to Arrange or His Child's Funeral. John Yarczuck, of Dolphstown, was killed at the Delaware and Hudson railroad a short distance above the Olyphant station at 11:30 yesterday morning. The passenger train due in this city at noon was the one that killed him. He was run over and mangled. No one knew him, and his remains were brought to Olyphant for identification. Later in the day it was learned that he lived at Dolphstown and that he was on his way down to Olyphant to see the Hungarian priest for the purpose of making arrangements for the funeral of a dead child. Dolphstown is a hamlet containing only a row of Hungarian houses. The deceased was of that nationality, was 28 years old, and leaves a wife and two children. The child that is dead was 18 months old. Conover Longstreet went up in the evening and held an inquest. The evidence showed that Yarczuck was walking on the tracks and was watching an up coal train, when the passenger train came along and struck him. His skull was battered and his arms and legs were mangled. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

WILLIAM CARLIN'S FUNERAL. Requiem Mass Celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral. A large number of persons attended the funeral of William Carlin yesterday morning from his late residence on Beech street. At St. Peter's cathedral a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. J. W. Malone, who took for the text of his sermon the words: "Be ye always ready, for ye know not at what hour the Son of God shall come." The Lackawanna Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body. The flower and the pall-bearers were selected from that organization. The pall-bearers were: M. J. Tiggo, Frank Smoke, George Gehan, Stephen Connors and G. F. Thomas; pall-bearers: D. S. Ketcham, W. J. Nichols, G. M. Wallace, J. O'Hara, D. Galvin and T. Duffy. Burial was made in Hyde Park cemetery. There were many beautiful floral offerings.
