COURT REBUKES ATTORNEYS.

Tells Them They Must Expedite Business or Suffer Non-Suits.

Stroudsburg, June 6.-A mild sensation was created in the court room here last week by Judge Albright, of Allentown, who is presiding in place of Judge Craig, of Mauch Chunk. The lawyers were not pushing their cases to the satisfaction of Judge Albright, and apparently killing time for a purpose. Judge Albright, after some deliberation, addressed the lawyers, say-

"Gentlemen, I did not come here to talk to lawyers over the bar, but to try cases; so did the thirty-six jurymen. If the cases are not pushed and you gentlemen do not come forward I will non-suit you. The visiting judge's plain words had a good effect upon the lawyers.

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

Pedestrians Must Have Some Regards for the Rights of Riders.

In the great time that is coming when events shall have reached the conclusion to which they are now rapidly trending, John Smith expects that the bright young men who write police court proceedings will put their stories about in this way:

"What's the charge, officer?" asked Judge Emperor, as a timid-looking old woman was escorted trembling to the bar of justice.

This woman, your honor, was walking down Main street without any bell. A young fellow on a wheel came mighty near running over her, and he would likely have been killed if he had

The poor woman began to cry, and the Judge softened a little as he said: "I'm sorry, madam, but the law is nexorable. No person can walk on the public streets without a bell to warn the wheelman. The public safety requires that no exceptions be made I shall have to fine you $5."

The woman paid the fine amid sobs and left the court room The next case was that of a bluff, gray-whiskered fat man, who was fuming with indignation. He was ar-rested last night for walking up Delaware avenue without a lamp, in violation of the ordinance that requires all pedestrains to carry lamps after dark. He had shown a disposition to resist the officers, and had spent the night storming in his cell. He was somewhat subdued now, and it took the Judge but a few minutes to learn the nature of the offense. "So you thought you were above the law, did you?" snorted his honor, with "Thought you were such an important man that you could to get hold of such a fellow as you are. You're the kind that these laws were made to fit. Just because you happen to be too clumsy to ride a wheel your-self, you think you've got a right to imperil the lives and limbs of all who do. Nice public-spirited man you are! You pay $15 fine or go to jail for fifteen days, and don't give me any words about it, either, or I'll withdraw the option of a fine. I'll teach you fellows to respect the rights of wheelmen."

SHE KNEW ABOUT DOGS.

Miss Jennie Cook, Who Claims to Understand Hydrophobia Symptoms, Rescues a Terrier from Death.

New York, June 6 .- Just as the theaters were out yesterday afternoon, a large fox terrier dashed across Broadway in front of the Herald Square theater. The dog turned in its tracks and began to run around in a circle, yelping piteously. Peculiar action of a dog at once gave rise to the belief that the animal was mad.

Leaving the neighborhood of the theater, the dog raced backward and forward and across Broadway from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-third street, and finally the men and boys who congregate at Greeley square started in pursuit, crying, "Mad dog." This was sufficient to make every one who saw the animal believe he was really mad, and men and women scattered in a fright. When the excitement was at its height, a tall, well-dressed woman, who was coming down Broadway, stopped and looked at the scurrying pedestrians and then at the dog. It darted across the street toward the place where the woman was standing, and as it reached the sidewalk she calmly stooped down quickly and seized it by the back of the neck and carried the now whining animal to the uptown elevated railroad station stairs.

Those who had fled from the dog stared at the woman in amazement. All unconcerned, however, the began to pat the head of the terrier and called by the Rev. Dennis O'Haran, speak to it affectionately The spectacle of a woman fondling a mad dog was such an extraordinary one that several hundred persons quickly gathered. They attracted Policeman Hauser, of the West Thirtieth street sta-tion, who pushed his way through them the lots on Hartford and Manhattan dent in the Opera Comique fire of ten and saw the woman still placidly caressing the dog.

"Everybody seems to think this dog s mad," she said with a laugh, "but know all about dogs. I know from his cries that he has evidently lost his master. No mad dog ever races around in one spot the way I saw him

By this time the terrier had quieted down and was nestling close to its new-found friend. Policeman Hauser made an investigation, and found the voman's theory of the cause of the dog's antics correct. The dog and his preached on the gospel of the day and master had been separated when the owner boarded a car. The woman, whose presence of mind saved the animal from being shot, said she was Miss Jennie Cook, of No. 318 West Fifty-ninth street.

"The owner of this dog can have him by calling at my residence," she said. "I have seen so many dogs killed in summer time without just cause that I don't consider it any particular honor to have saved this terrier from a similar fate. When you get to know dogs you learn that really very few go mad, but are goaded into a condition of hysteria by the behavior of a lot of senscless people who would usually drive any human being crazy."

BURGLARS AT WILKES-BARRE.

The robbers, no doubt, thought the money from Saturday's sales were in the safe, but they were fooled. The money was placed elsewhere for safekeeping. There was about $50 in cash in the safe and this was taken,

From the way the burglars went about their work the police are convinced they are professionals and they may be the same gang that broke into an Allentown store one Sunday morning some weeks ago and stole over $2,000.

O'Haran until a house should be prepared for him in Ashley. On December 4, the second Sunday in Advent, Father O'Haran and the new pastor drove to Ashley. After having blessed the vestments and prepared an altar in the hall of the school house, a low mass was said by the pastor. After communion Father O'Haran clesed by introducing the new pastor to the congregation. On December 7 the Rev. M. J. Hoban went to reside in Ashley, occupying a house on the corner of Ashley and Ross streets. One of the rooms was arranged for a chapel and here morning mass was said and the sacraments administered until the temporary church on Hartford street was built. On Sundays mass was said in the school house until February 2, 1888, when the temporary church on Hartford street was occupied for the first

Plans for a brick church 60x130 feet were drawn by Mr. Fred Amsden, of Scranton. The contract for building was awarded to Mr. William O'Malley, of Wilkes-Barre. The cornerstone was laid on June 1, 1890, by Bishop O'Hara assisted by many priests and surrounded by four or five thousand people many societies having come from Wilkes-Barre, Pittston, Nanticoke, etc. and it was blessed by Bishop O'Hara, on February 1.

The debt on the church being com paratively small, the congregation decided to build a rectory on Manhattan street adjoining the church. Plans having been drawn by Mr. Isaac Willliams, of Scranton, the contract for building was awarded to Michael Lynch, of Wilkes-Barre, in 1892. On January 26, 1893, the rector moved into the new house.

The debt on both church and house having been gradually paid off, the congregation decided to complete the main auditorium of the church and began the work in 1896. A large bell, 2,200 pounds, was procured from the Mc-Shane Bell foundry and was blessed by the pastor (who had meanwhile been consecrated coadjutor bishop of the flocese of Scranton) on St. Leo's day,

The marble altar was donated by the rector in memory of his father. After many disappointments the first mass was said in the new church or March 7, the first Sunday in Lent, 1897.
