Among Scranton's oldest and prosperous firms none is more deserving than that of C. P. Matthews, Son & Co., dealers in Flour, Feed, Grain and Hay. Their square dealings, superior quality of goods, and keen business judgment of the senior partner, have made the firm, Mr. C. P. Matthews, son and his associates, the most prominent commercial world. C. P. Matthews, Son & Co., are mill agents of Northeastern Pennsylvania, for Pillsbury's celebrated flour, which holds the world's record of 41,827 barrels made in six days at Pillsbury's "A" Mill, Minneapolis, Minn., last year. This brand of flour is known in every household in the United States where the "staff of life" is used.
Mr. Matthews is also one of the Electric City's leading promoters. He is president of the Clark & Snover Co.,

FREE KINDERGARTEN ASSOCIATION MEETS

Annual Session Held Last Night in the Albright Library.

FIVE YOUNG LADIES GRADUATED

They Will Now Be Known as Kindergartners—Officers Were Elected and Reports Read by Teachers of the Association's Schools—Reports of Mrs. E. L. Fuller, Treasurer, Work of the Association Reviewed by Miss Underwood.

At last night's annual meeting of the Scranton Free Kindergarten association in the Albright library, officers were elected for the ensuing year, five young ladies received diplomas and were graduated from the training school and reports were made by officers and teachers. It was the fourth annual meeting since the formation of the association.

An idea may be formed of the importance of those interested in the work from the following officers chosen last night:

President, Mrs. A. D. Holland; first vice-president, Mrs. Thomas Dickson; second vice-president, Mrs. C. D. Simpson; third vice-president, Mrs. W. W. Scanton; secretary, Mrs. William H. H. Rippe; treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Fuller; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. H. Watkins; executive committee—Mrs. J. A. Price, Mrs. James Archibald, Mrs. C. D. Simpson, Mrs. E. L. Fuller, Mrs. C. S. Weston, Miss Howell.

Finance committee—E. L. Fuller, T. H.
Watkins, Colonel H. Rippe, Mrs. C. D.
Simpson, Mrs. J. R. Cohen, Mrs. J. B.
Dinnick, Mrs. W. W. Scanton.

Advisory Board—Colonel E. H. Rippe, E. B. Sturges, Mrs. Alfred Hand.

General committee—Colonel and Mrs.
H. M. Hotes, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hand, Mrs. J. A. Price, Mrs. Thomas Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Welles, Mr. W. T.
Smith, Mrs. W. W. Scanton, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. T. H.
Watkins, Mrs. J. R. Cohen, Luther Keller, Colonel E. H. Rippe, G. W. Phillips, Mrs. Milton W. Lowry, Mrs. E. N. Willard, Mrs. William H. H. Rippe, Mrs.
F. H. Jermyn, Mrs. C. S. Weston, Mrs. M. D. Hand, Henry Bell, Jr., Mrs.
A. M. Decker, Mrs. C. D. Simpson, Mrs.
E. Howell, Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. C. L.
Frey, Mrs. W. M. Marple, Mrs. James Archibald, W. H. Taylor, A. D. Holland, Mrs. R. A. Strong, John Holt, Mrs.
James C. Dickson, Mrs. Charles Schlager, Miss C. Hand.

THE GRADUATES.

The teachers graduated were: Miss Susan Frank and Miss Frances R.
Jordan, of this city; Miss Isabel Me-Keehn, of Cleveland; Miss Sadie Sweeney, of Ashland; Miss Helen Kantee, of Dalton. They have received their instructions through normal work in the several schools conducted by the association in the city and vicinity, and from Miss Underwood, the chief kindergartner and superintendent of schools, and who has charge of the Central kindergarten on Penn avenue.

Mrs. E. L. Fuller submitted separate reports as treasurer of the association and as custodian of funds contributed by Mrs. Frances Hackley, of New York city, for the support of four Daisy Em-porial kindergartens. The association report was as follows:

May 4—Balance on hand	$288 69
May 1—Total receipts for the year:
From school	$444 00
Subscriptions, mem- berships	1,290 55
Proceeds 30-day note	500 00
At First National bank	220 80
Total	1,964 65
Cr.	$228 34
May 1—By expenses Train- ing	$118 54
By expenses Kinder- garten	2,028 64
By balance on hand	86 16
Cr.	$2,237 34

Mrs. Fuller's statement of the Hackley funds shows the expenditure of over $3,500 as follows:

1896.
Dr.
May 1, cash	$325 71
June 15, cash	500 00
September, cash	1,500 00
December, cash	1,500 00
February, cash	1,500 00
Cr.	$3,825 71
1897.—By expenses for schools Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4	$1,564 82
Balance	270 89
Cr.	$3,825 71

In the course of the meeting kindergartens were sung by the kindergartens, graduates and undergraduates and reports were read by Miss Cowan, of the West Side school; Miss Hull, of the "Ridge" school near Archibald; Miss Rice, of the Adams avenue chapel school; Miss Abbott, of the Archibald school; Miss Mercereau, of the Jewish synagogue school; Miss Meade, of the New school, and Miss Underwood, the chief kindergartner.

WAY THEY ARE SUPPORTED.

Mrs. Hackley supports the Archibald, West Side, Adams avenue chapel and Ridge schools; Simpson & Watkins the Northwest school, the Central Kindergarten, training school and Jewish synagogue schools; and the support of the association and about all of them owe their creation to the association.

As indicated by President Holland, who presided, the well-to-do city churches, excepting St. Luke's Episcopal church, the Jewish synagogue and the Second Presbyterian church, have done nothing toward aiding the work, although the promoters had expected long ago that the more prominent churches would at least tender the use of school rooms if nothing more. St.
Luke's Episcopal church was not only among the first to realize the value of the kindergarten as an ideal character-builder for the young, but it has established and conducts several independent kindergarten schools. The Jewish people give the use of a school room in the synagogue on Linden street and are by subscription and by individual aid among the most hearty supporters of the association. The Second Presbyterian church gave the use of its Adams avenue chapel.

The paper of Miss Underwood was quite an exhaustive one and reviewed the work of all the schools. It revealed the cosmopolitan and in many cases non-English speaking elements reached by the kindergartens and their influence for good not only upon little children, but through them to their parents. The six schools operated by the association had an average daily attendance of 244 during the year.

The assembly hall wherein the meeting was held was splendidly decorated with cut and potted flowers and contained an interesting display of the work of kindergartens pupils.

FIRST MEETING

Addressed a Large Number of Persons in Simpson M. E. Church.

HE IS AN IMPRESSIVE TALKER

The Object of His Meetings, He Said,
Is to Draw the Attention of the People to the Message of Christ and Give Them the Holy Peace That He Has Found—Meeting Tonight in Presbyterian Church, Tonight.

Charles W. Crittenton, the evangelist, held the first of the series of meetings he is conducting in this city in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church on the West Side last night.
The large auditorium was crowded.
A selection by the church choir opened the meeting after which a collection for the Florence mission, for this city, was taken up. After another selection by the choir, Frank Wallace, the gospel singer, who accompanies Mr.
Crittenton, rendered a selection in a pleasing tenor voice.

The evangelist was introduced by Rev. J. B. Sweet, pastor of the church.
Mr. Crittenton began by offering a short prayer. He said that the purpose of his speaking was to draw their attention to the message of Christ, for his brethren giving as his inspiration the words of Paul recorded in the eighth chapter of the second Epistle to the Corinthians, first and second verses. His talk was based upon the words of Matthew twenty-ninth chapter and part of the twenty-eighth verse: "Go work today in my vineyard."

"You will notice," said he, "the very frequent occurrence of the word 'come' in the Word of God. It is found there in nineteen hundred times. Well, this is the message 'come.' Everywhere God says come. Come all ye that are weary and are burdened, and I will give you rest. Come, ye that are thirsty, and I will bring you all the blessed invitation to come and enjoy the fullness of God's mercy and love. He does not confine the call to any individual.
He wants whole families and when a family does come, He will give them rest into entire possession. These changes are sudden and full. If you really and truly desire God, just ask Him to take you. Lift up your heart to Him in prayer and how quickly your burden will go and great peace will fill your soul."

RECEIVED A LETTER.

"Why ten years ago I received a letter from a woman, who resided in the upper portion of New York city, which said 'Come and see me.' I had been praying for that woman for three years, and at last the change had come.
Today that woman is doing greater good than I have ever known. She lives on Long Island, and with her husband, converted through her efforts, labors for the blessed Lord, who gave her peace."

"Now, there is no locality, no person, no separate condition to receive this call. It is world-wide. For you, for me and for all. At any time, in any place, under any condition. Do not forget that you cannot separate yourselves from this call. It is everywhere and it is always all things else. I remember going to a place where three Salvation Army ladies were speaking and I shall never forget them as they exhorted and told the story of redemption. The three women had been arrested and while in jail they had composed a hymn to the tune "I am a Child of a King" and they joined hands and sang this song. I will sing it to you, but you could never have forgotten the moment when you were there and heard it as I did."

"Then if you come to God, He will show you how to occupy your new life and will give strength and power. Come and then get to work today in my vineyard. He will reward you for your own. 'Lo I am with you always!' Listen to the value placed upon souls by God. Men do business on a monetary basis and profits and loss are considered, but the work of the great resurrection man is different. He will profit a man if he gains the whole world, and lose his own soul."

GIVEN A CLEAN HEART.

"In going into the 'vineyard' you receive all due preparation. You are given a clean heart and you are to go forth with a smiling countenance and all of joy. You will appear before an audience with a long face, but feeling as I do how good God has been to me and knowing that He is ever with me, I feel like singing His praises and telling His message in a pleasant way."

"Now, you are here, and the great resurrection made possible by the death of Christ. The Lord was resurrected and said I will come again. Are you prepared to meet Him? To you, who have received the message, I would say do not fail to be thankful. Ask your God to protect and defend you. Every morning return praise for your protection during the night and ask for care in the daytime.

"Give of your time means and talents.
Do every service for the Master you can and yours will not be like unto the boy or girl whom I will picture to you.
They live and grow in the lap of luxury, nothing they desire is kept from them. At pleasure their fathers and thirty, forty or so, they come to a final ed of all. Then a retrospect is made and what is there to recall, nothing?
Oh! do not turn from the message for it is in your and you cannot avoid it and be saved."

"I was given peace of soul over fourteen years ago and would not go back for the world's wealth. I was a business man of success, had everything I wanted and yet I was tired, sick and discouraged. The thirst of increase, gain was upon me. I always wanted and I got more. Then, when death would have been welcome, the thought came to me, 'Get God!' and I got Him and I was not every one who has not found this blessed peace to come and receive. 'Come' and then go work today in my vineyard."

At the close of Mr. Crittenton's talk a short revival and prayer service was held. Mr. Crittenton is a man of commanding figure and forceful manner of speaking. His words, charged with a depth of intense emotion, flow forth seemingly without effort. They force conviction upon you, uttered as they are, by a sincere man and for every point in his talk he has a Biblical except which he aptly brings into play.
His change from one line of thought to another is rapid though fully connected and it is impossible to follow and describe his real ideas until the climax, so terse are his expressions.

The next meeting will be held at the Providence Methodist Episcopal church this evening.

them. At pleasure their fathers and
ed of all. Then a retrospect is made
and what is there to recall, nothing?
be saved."

"I was given peace of soul over four-
for the world's wealth. I was a business man of success, had everything I
discouraged. The thirst of increase,
gain was upon me. I always wanted
and I got more. Then, when death
would have been welcome, the thought
and I was not every one who has not
found this blessed peace to come and
receive. 'Come' and then go work today in my vineyard."

held. Mr. Crittenton is a man of commanding figure and forceful manner of speaking. His words, charged with a
are, by a sincere man and for every
point in his talk he has a Biblical except which he aptly brings into play.
His change from one line of thought to
scribe his real ideas until the climax,
so terse are his expressions.

The next meeting will be held at the
this evening.

in Simpson M. E. Church.

The Object of His Meetings, He Said,
Is to Draw the Attention of the People to the Message of Christ and
Give Them the Holy Peace That He
Presbyterian Church, Tonight.

Charles W. Crittenton, the evangelist,
held the first of the series of meetings he is conducting in this city in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church on the West Side last night.
The large auditorium was crowded.
for the Florence mission, for this city,
gospel singer, who accompanies Mr.
pleasing tenor voice.

Rev. J. B. Sweet, pastor of the church.
Mr. Crittenton began by offering a
of his speaking was to draw their attention to the message of Christ, for
the words of Paul recorded in the eighth chapter of the second Epistle to
words of Matthew twenty-ninth chapter and part of the twenty-eighth
yard."

in the Word of God. It is found there in nineteen hundred times. Well, this
says come. Come all ye that are weary
not confine the call to any individual.
He wants whole families and when a family does come, He will give them
really and truly desire God, just ask
to Him in prayer and how quickly your

RECEIVED A LETTER.

the upper portion of New York city,
years, and at last the change had come.
Today that woman is doing greater
lives on Long Island, and with her husband, converted through her ef-
gave her peace."

"Now, there is no locality, no person,
call. It is world-wide. For you, for
and it is always all things else. I remember going to a place where three Salvation Army ladies were speaking and I shall never forget them as they exhorted and told the story of redemption. The three women had been ar-
posed a hymn to the tune "I am a
and heard it as I did."

"Then if you come to God, He will
and will give strength and power. Come
your own. 'Lo I am with you always!' Listen to the value placed upon souls by God. Men do business on a monetary
basis and profits and loss are considered, but the work of the great resurrection man is different. He will profit
a man if he gains the whole world, and
lose his own soul."

ceive all due preparation. You are
as I do how good God has been to me
and knowing that He is ever with me,
telling His message in a pleasant way."

said I will come again. Are you pre-
to protect and defend you. Every morning return praise for your protec-
in the daytime.

Do every service for the Master you
boy or girl whom I will picture to you.
They live and grow in the lap of luxury, nothing they desire is kept from them. At pleasure their fathers and
ed of all. Then a retrospect is made
and what is there to recall, nothing?
be saved."
