

TWO CENTS.

RECIPROCIITY CLAUSE WRONG

The Form Introduced in the Senate Said to Be Unconstitutional.

IT WILL NEED CHANGING

The Item Has Been Marked by Much Criticism.

It Leaves to the President the Power of Fixing Rates of Duty, Contrary to a Supreme Court Decision--The Clause Will Not Be Accepted by the House, Even if It Passes Senate. Plainly Unconstitutional.

Washington, July 1.--Much criticism was made of the form of the reciprocity clause introduced in the senate late yesterday afternoon. If the predictions of some Republican senators and leading members of the Ways and Means committee of the house are to be believed, the clause will not be accepted by the conference even if it is passed by the senate. Many Republicans, though they earnestly favor the reciprocity idea, believe the provisions of the new clause to be unconstitutional. In addition to this the senators from the sugar producing states oppose the clause because it provides too high a rebate on imported goods. If passed by the senate, the clause is sure, it is believed, to be changed in conference.

The form of the clause as introduced yesterday was a surprise to many. It had been supposed that the provision published several weeks ago, a reliable clause would be adopted. Senator Allison said on Monday last that it was a "top-saw" between that clause and another which was being prepared.

PLAINLY UNCONSTITUTIONAL. Representative Hopkins of Illinois, the member of the ways and means committee who wrote the reciprocity clause of the house bill, said this morning that the senate provision is plainly unconstitutional. "It is in direct defiance," he said, "of the decision of the supreme court in the Field vs. Clarke case at the time the Blaine reciprocity law was tested. That decision declared that congress had not the authority to delegate to the president the power of fixing tariff rates. A definite rate must be fixed in the law. Now, this senate clause provides for the reduction of duties to the extent of not more than 20 per cent. This is a delegation of power which, according to the Field vs. Clarke decision, congress has no right to confer.

Mr. Hopkins said he had spoken to a member of the finance committee about the matter and that the senator had finally admitted the error in the clause, saying that it would have to be fixed up in conference.

In the clause written for Senator Burrows of Warner P. Sutton, the attorney who framed the reciprocity provision of the McKinley bill for Mr. Blaine, special care was taken to observe the legal points raised in the Field vs. Clarke decision. It is possible that the essential elements of this clause may yet be adopted.

REPRESENTATIVE HOPKINS. Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, said this morning that the 20 per cent. remission named in the senate clause is much higher than the tariff bill. He said that the tariff bill would not grant great injury to the beet sugar producers. He would, however, stand by the provision if the majority of Republicans desired it, though he hoped the conference committee would order a change.

Senator Mason, of Illinois, said this morning that a tendency had been noticed among Democratic senators to break the informal agreement made on Tuesday night to take the final vote on the tariff bill on next Saturday. Senator O. H. Platt, of the finance committee, said: "I can see that there is among many of the leading Democrats a desire to reach a vote by Saturday, but no man can state positively when the end will come."

LAST TARIFF CAUCUS. Washington, July 1.--The Republican senators held what they decided should be their last caucus on the tariff bill tonight. The meeting continued for more than three hours and was productive of important results, which were not reached without the display of considerable feeling. Among the points decided were the following: To report no anti-trust amendment and to withdraw the original finance committee provisions for a duty on tea and an increase of forty-four cents per barrel in the tax on beer and to provide for a tax on bond and stock transactions.

They Want Money Paid as Collateral Inheritance Tax Returned.

Albany, July 1.--The Methodist Episcopal church, the Welsh Congregational church and the Presbyterian church society of New York Mills, Onondaga county, filed claims against the state today for $165, $25 and $289 respectively.

The churches were legatees of the estate of William D. Walcott and paid the money to the state as collateral inheritance taxes on the order of the surrogate, and in doing so they were ordered that order because it was not made within the specified time.

The claimants seek to recover this money on the ground that as religious corporations they are exempt from paying a collateral inheritance tax.

THIRSTY INDIANS KILLED.

They Drank Patent Medicine for the Acheol in It and Died.

Brainerd, Minn., July 1.--Five Indians, including Chief Wee Sug, are dead at Malone's Point, on Millieles Lake, and several others are expected to die, as the result of drinking patent medicine, hair oil and other preparations containing alcohol. The Indian payment has been going on there, and the redskins gorged themselves with this stuff, which was bought from Malone's trader, and they died.

Indian riders are scouring every part of the reservation to bring them together at this point, and serious trouble may result, as the redskins think Malone is to blame for the deaths, and if whiskey can be had there is no telling what will happen.

POSTOFFICE BURGLARS.

They Secure Large Quantities of Stamps at Connellsville.

Connellsville, July 1.--Burglars entered the post office here this morning about 2:30 o'clock, blew open the safe and carried off a large quantity of stamps, amounting to about $355 cash and $74 in stamps. Fifteen registered letters were also taken. Both the inner and outer doors of the safe were blown off and the books and papers scattered over the floor. Although the noise of the explosion awakened a family living about the postoffice, the burglars eluded detection.

Three strange men leaving town on a freight train over the Baltimore and north early this morning are the only suspects.

Kansas City, July 1.--Two postoffice inspectors have been sent to Missouri City to investigate the charge of mail robbing at the Wabash wreck. When the mail was gathered up and sent to St. Louis and Moberly, it was found that, while the letters were still wet, an expert thief had pulled the envelope apart and stolen whatever money was in them.

The eastern mail contained many valuable letters and probably considerable cash. There is no way of estimating the amount taken.

REVIVAL OF INDUSTRIES

Textile Works of New England Generally Feel New Life.

EFFECT OF NEW TARIFF

Another Evidence That Prosperity Has Come to Stay.

President Fletcher, of the Providence Mills, Says There Is Four Times as Much Activity as Before McKinley's Election--Signs of the Change Are Noticeable at Every Hand.

Boston, July 1.--The textile industries in New England are already feeling the effect of the settlement of the various items of the tariff bill. This good feeling applies more particularly to the manufacturers of woolen goods. The provision for a discriminating duty upon skirted wool, which was recommended by the senate committee, was definitely abandoned as a consequence of the increase of two cents per pound recommended upon each class of clothing wool above the rates which they first recommended. The duties upon worst products were entirely reconstructed, but nothing has been done by the committee or the senate for bringing wool tops down to a lower rate than manufacturers of wool.

Among other jobbers and manufacturers there is a feeling that the woolen industry has seen its hardest trials, and that prosperity will, in the near future, take the place of the adversity which has been its lot for the past three years. Already the signs of this change are noticeable on every hand and in varying degrees in the various sections. Here in New England there has been a considerable resumption of work by machinery that has been out of commission for a long time past, and a good deal of overhauling and substitution of new machinery for old has been going on at various plants.

One satisfactory feature of the re-order business which is being done now is that it is being booked upon a higher scale of prices than prevailed when the original orders were given. A tendency is also noted in the direction of the finer goods, but this is not pronounced enough as yet to warrant the mills going far on the assumption of its further development. President Fletcher of the Providence and National Worsted mills, employing some 3,000 hands, said in an interview that all the hands in his mills are working full time, and that all the machinery of the plant is in operation. He added: "There is twice as much work in the woolen business for twice as many men today as there was before the election of McKinley. Indeed, that is understating the case."

RUSSIANS IN KOREA.

Japanese Papers Attribute an Alleged Plot to the Russians.

Vancouver, B. C., July 1.--The steamship Empress of China brings information to the effect that over twenty arrests have just been made in Seoul in consequence of the discovery of an alleged plot to assassinate several prominent persons. Japanese papers say the Russian party was at the bottom of it, and that the Russians are taking advantage of its discovery to induce the king to return to the Russian legation.

Professor Tanakadate, who occupies the chair of physics and semology in the Imperial Japanese university, is said to have invented an earthquake alarm, which will be exhibited at the Paris exposition in 1900. The Japanese government has imposed new taxes on leaf tobacco, in order to meet the increasing demand upon the treasury since the war.

Fresh efforts are being made to have the murderers of the queen of Korea punished, a petition having been presented to the king to that effect. The West river was opened to foreign trade June 4, without any friction with the Chinese.

COLLAPSE OF THE DOOR TRUST.

Western Manufacturers Could Not Stand Adverse Criticism.

Tock Island, Ill., July 1.--The Western Door company, which promises to embrace the prominent saw, door and blind factories of the Mississippi valley, and for which articles of incorporation were filed at Springfield last week, has collapsed. It represented seven lumber manufacturing industries and had been incorporated under the laws of Illinois, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, all of which had been subscribed. The plan was severely criticized by the public as another gigantic trust.

The manufacturers say they were accused of conspiring to reduce the wages of their workmen and advance prices, and as a result one by one the leading members of the combination withdrew.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 1.--The Express will say tomorrow: "New Sunday, or prior to that day, circulars will be placed in the hands of all the bituminous miners in the United States calling them out on strike. It is estimated that 250,000 men will be involved, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and parts of West Virginia and Kentucky will contribute to the movement. The strike is to enforce the Columbus scale of 69 cents per ton for Pennsylvania, 60 cents for Ohio, 60 cents for Indiana and 25 cents for Illinois. When the Columbus scale was adopted it was not thought advisable to attempt its enforcement. A committee was then appointed to take in hand the matter of a strike and to order one as soon as such a course seemed opportune. This committee has decided that the time has come to act."

Stravator, Ill., July 1.--A mass meeting of miners here today voted unanimously to go on strike and not wait for a general suspension order. As a consequence no coal is being mined here and nearly 2,000 miners are idle.
