FIRE ON LINCOLN HEIGHTS.

House Owned and Occupied by Alfred Atkinson Destroyed.

The two-story frame dwelling house occupied by Alfred Atkinson and family, and located on Stafford avenue, Lincoln Heights, was burned to the ground at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Nothing was saved and as Mr. Atkinson carried no insurance, it is a total loss. He had but recently completed the residence.

Mr. Atkinson barely got out in safety. His wife and child were away visiting and he was at home alone. He attributes the fire to an explosion of gas in the furnace. He states that shortly after 4 o'clock he was aroused by a jar and muffled noise, but being only half aroused, concluded that it was a mine blast and fell asleep. When next he was aroused, it was with the sensation of suffocation and seeing his clothing rushed from the burning residence.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

John H. Powell and Prof. Davies Well Received.

The members of the Bellevue Welsh Music and Methodist church arranged and carried out a successful complimentary concert last evening at the church. The affair was arranged in honor of the efficient services of Mr. Jones, the church chorister, Aaron James, sr., was chairman and the singing capacity of the church auditorium was taxed to its utmost. The exercises consisted of vocal solos by Miss Margaret Jones, Mrs. Lizzie Hughes Brundage, Joshua Johns, Philip Warren, John W. Jones, Richard Thomas (Alex Herber), piano solos by Joseph Prosser, and a selection by the Jones quartette. The special number of the programme was the rendition of "Benedictus Walla," composed by John H. Powell, and arranged by J. J. Davies, Mus. Bac. Both of these gentlemen are West Scranton residents and many prominent musical critics were present to hear the initial presentation here of this song. The method of giving it was novel in itself. Philip Thomas, baritone, sang the first, third and fifth stanzas, and Miss Margaret Jones, soprano, sang the second and fourth stanzas. A double quartette, composed of the Misses Margaret Jones, Alda Davis, Mrs. Brundage and Mrs. Lewis, and Messrs. Johns, Jones, Thomas and Jones, sang the chorus parts. The audience had caught the spirit of the piece and after the last stanza they joined in the singing of the chorus. Mr. Powell and Prof. Davies, who were present, were the recipients of many congratulations, at the conclusion of the entertainment.

A SENSIBLE MAN

World Have Succeeded Had Not Thomas Mullen Interfered.

A young man, arrested on suspicion of being a thief, got away from Patrolman Goerlitz while enroute to the police station early last evening. The chase that ensued might be in progress yet, but for a citizen's capture, of the runaway.

The prisoner gave his name as John McCarthy, of Nanticoke. He had tried to sell an overcoat in the saloon of McGovern Bros. on Lackawanna avenue. The garment was one stolen from several days ago. While one of the firm was watching the coat a boy was sent for a policeman. Patrolman Goerlitz, with his prisoner, had got within a few rods of the city hall when the fellow broke from his custodian's grasp and ran fleetly down Washington avenue.

The street was thronged at that hour—it was 6 o'clock—and McCarthy who is young and fleet of foot stood a good chance for escape. He was making two rods to Goerlitz' one. The patrolman yelled "stop him," "stop him," and several pedestrians made an effort to do that same but McCarthy dodged them successfully and rounded the corner at Linden street at a great rate of speed.

Thomas Mullen, of Irving avenue, who stood on the postoffice corner, comprehended the situation and made a flying jump for McCarthy's neck. The distance was well calculated but the two fell to the pavement with a crash. When they came to a standstill Mullen was on top of McCarthy made no further attempt to escape. He was slightly intoxicated. A full pint bottle of whisky was among the effects gathered from his person at the police station.

PRISONER TRIED TO ESCAPE.

World Have Succeeded Had Not Thomas Mullen Interfered.

The runaway was captured by a citizen, who was on duty at the time. The prisoner was taken to the police station and is now being held in the city jail.

CUTLERY STORE ROBBED.

Burglars Make a Hunt at the Store of Felton & Bro.

The cutlery store of George Felton & Bro., at the corner of Penn avenue and Spruce street, was burglarized Tuesday night. The thieves made away with a large quantity of razors, knives, revolvers and other articles.

Edward Daly was arrested yesterday afternoon at Wilkes-Barre on suspicion of the burglary. He is now in the police station in this city.

Entrance was effected through a back attached to the store on the Penn avenue side. The first evidence of the burglary was found by Charles Wenzel, a boy who opens the store mornings. Rooms over the store are occupied by Dr. Newton and Charles Nelson, a tailor, but they heard no noise below them during the night.

Chief of Police Robling and Detective Moir were at work on the case early yesterday morning, but could get no clue of the thieves nor could they locate any of the goods. Some of the articles have been offered for sale at the pawn shops or other places where plunder might have been sold. The revolvers were of the Harrington & Richards and Iver-Johnson makes. The goods taken were valued at about $200.

In the afternoon Chief of Police Robling received word from Wilkes-Barre that a young man had been arrested there on suspicion. Chief-of-police Briggs, of the neighboring city, made the arrest.

Chief Robling and Detective Moir left for Wilkes-Barre and took charge of the prisoner. He was in the central city police station before night fall. The suspect gave his name as Edward Daly. He is supposed to be a member of a gang of thieves.
