ALL SCRANTON IS AGOG WITH EXCITEMENT

Over the tremendous and magnificence of the great buying opportunities here. Crowds flocked here early yesterday morning. They found great stocks, fresh stocks awaiting them. They found goods at prices lower than history had ever told of in Scranton or in the world. Two great sale forces dominate here this week. All the powers of cash buying and cash selling centralize in the great sale of MUSLIN SKIRTS, 38c AND UPWARDS. MUSLIN DRAWERS, 10c AND UPWARDS. MUSLIN CHEMISES, 15c AND UPWARDS.

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR AND THE JANUARY TRADE SALE

ON THE SECOND FLOOR, IN EVERY DEPARTMENT. MUSLIN NIGHT GOWNS 19c AND UPWARDS. CORSET COVERS, 4c AND UPWARDS. UNDERSKIRTS, 23c AND UPWARDS.

Nowhere on earth can goods be bought so cheap as here during all this week. We guarantee that. And we back this broad statement with goods and prices that talk for themselves.

CARBONDALE.

[The Carbondale correspondence of The Tribune has been placed in the hands of Mr. C. R. Munn, Salem avenue and Church street, to whom news items may be addressed. All complaints as to irregular delivery, etc., should be made to W. T. Roberts, news agent.]

SELECT COUNCIL MEETING.

City Fathers Look After the Business of the Municipality.

After disposing of a large amount of concurrent business, including the light and hydrant ordinances, last evening, the select council turned its attention to the house question. All the members save Mr. McNulty were present. Mr. Swiger occupied the chair. Mr. Nealon introduced a resolution authorizing the mayor to buy a thousand feet of hose. In support of it, the author said he believed it to be the only way by which hose can be secured, owing to the stand taken by common council, and that if a conflagration should occur council would be censured regardless of any explanation they might make.

The resolution was finally withdrawn and another, instructing the clerk to advertise for the bid regarding laborers of municipalities, went into effect last June. The bill was referred to city solicitor.

FOX BOUNTY.

Successful Hunters Paid $4.25 by Alderman Bunnell.

F. C. Hines, of Carbondale township, last week carried the pelts of four foxes and one mink to alderman Bunnell's office and received from the magistrate the bounty of $4.25. Before a witness the alderman clipped the tips of the ears of the hides and consigned them to the flames. He will now get his money back with a quarter additional by presenting to the county commissioners a certificate stating that he has paid the money and looped off the ears. Several local sportsmen have quite a string of foxes and other animals marked up to the credit of their unerring aim and trusty rifles this winter. And the victims will net them quite a snug bit of pocket money. A dollar is received from the county for every fox killed and the fur is easily sold for double that amount.

AGED LADY DIES.

Mrs. Susan Finnegan, of Fallbrook street, died Saturday night. Death was due to intestinal paralysis.

Mrs. Finnegan had lived in this city for over fifty years. She was a woman of active disposition, good-hearted and amiable. She was a devout Christian and regular attendant at St. Rose church.

The maiden name of deceased was Susan Fallon. She was born in Killalea, County Mayo, Ireland, being seventy-one years of age. She was married to Patrick Finnegan the latter part of 1847. One son and three daughters survive her. They are Dennis Finnegan, Mrs. Thomas Wynne, Mrs. William McAndrew and Mrs. T. V. Powderly, Jr., all of this city.

GERMANIAS WILL MASQUERADE.

At a meeting of the Germania Singing society held at their rooms on South Main street, yesterday afternoon, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Michael Nielsen; vice-president, Joseph Krantz; treasurer, John Von Beck; recording secretary, Gus Nielsen; financial secretary, Albert Engle; trustee for three years, Peter Herman; club caterer, William Young.

Jacobs Fuchs, the retiring president, addressed the members thanking them for their interest taken in the society during the past year.

It was decided to hold the annual masquerade ball of the society on Monday evening, February 21.

LOCALS.

Charles Gates, of Burkett street, who is engineer at the silk mill had his left hand badly lacerated yesterday. The accident occurred shortly after seven o'clock. Mr. Gates had just turned on the power and his hand became caught in the linkblock which reverses the engine. The flesh on the back of the hand was torn open to the bone and Dr. Bailey who dressed the member found the injury to be a serious one. It will be a long time before Mr. Gates will gain the use of his hand. The Mitchell Hose Company has decided to attend in a body the wedding of their brother member, Frederick

PRICEBURG.

On Saturday afternoon, Jan. 15, a local institute was held in the graded school building at Priceburg, by the teachers of Dickson, Throop, Blakely, Olyphant and Winton. Professor M. J. Lloyd, of Priceburg, acted as chairman. The programme consisted of singing by members of the institute, led by Professor Thomas Watkins, of Olyphant; "How to Teach Reading," Professor L. J. Richards, of Dickson; class exercises in numbers, Miss Katie Dolphin, of Dickson, address, "Value of Language Training," Superintendent Bovard, of Dunmore; solo, Professor W. A. Kelly, of Archbald; address, "Music in the Public Schools," Professor Weaver, of Canaan school; address, "How to Teach Arithmetic," Professor John J. O'Hara, of Throop; address, "Value of Arithmetic," Professor R. N. Davis, of Dunmore.

The Misses Mary E. and Isabella Wicks spent Sunday as the guests of their parents of Lincoln street.

A paper on "School Management," by Superintendent J. C. Taylor, was omitted for want of time. In addition to the thirty-six teachers present, the institute was attended by School Directors William H. Morgan and Reese Davies, and also by several of the patrons of Priceburg school. Mr. Morgan took part in the discussion of music in the public schools. The next institute for this district will be held

TAYLOR NEWS.

Festival of Congregational Church, Other News of Interest.

The writer of this department through request of the citizens of Taylor, has been authorized to call the attention of the Councilmen of this borough to the need of sidewalks in that section, and more especially those residing along the Main street. We regret to say that there is only two crosswalks in that vicinity and those are situated, one in the intersection of Main and Oak street and the other in that of our local streets, and of which the former is situated at the very end of the borough limits.

This evening the grand festival of the First Congregational church of North Taylor, will occur. This event has been the absorbing topic in that vicinity for some time. Tickets have been sold quite rapidly. It will be continued tomorrow evening.

Burgess and Mrs. E. Watkins spent the Sabbath with relatives in Peckville.

The prayer meetings which are being held in the Calvary Baptist church weekly, will continue this week. The attendance in the past two weeks has been very large and the attendance this week promises to be even larger.

All members of the Taylor Red's base ball club are requested to meet on Thursday evening at the Davis building, corner of Main and Railroad streets. The object of this meeting is to re-organize for the coming season. By order of John Glynn, assistant manager.

Councilman J. P. Thomas, of the Third ward, was in Scranton on business yesterday.

Miss Sallie Williams, of Railroad street, is confined to her home with sickness.

A pension was granted to Mrs. Elizabeth Price, of this place, on Saturday, through Alderman Wright, of Scranton.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morgans, of South Scranton, spent the Sabbath with friends in this place.

Mr. G. Bonnamont, superintendent of the new woolen mill, which is located here, has moved his household effects to the Ingalls block on North Main street.

THREE SHORT OPINIONS.

They were Handed Down by Judge Archbald Yesterday--Matters That were Passed Upon in Them.

Judge Archbald handed down three brief but interesting opinions yesterday morning. In the certiorari case of William Hodby against Salvatore Magnotte and Antonio Pasco he reversed the judgment of the alderman as to Magnotte and affirmed it as to Pasco. Pasco is a 17-year-old boy employed by Magnotte as a driver. On January 8, 1897, Pasco ran over and damaged a bicycle belonging to Hodby. Alderman Howe gave judgment against the master and the employee for the amount of the claim $74.55. An appeal was taken and in passing upon it Judge Archbald says:

The liability of the master to answer for the negligence of his employe is not a rule direct but consequential. It is true, if the master was present at the time and directed the trespass to be committed, or subsequently assented to what had been done, or if it was the natural and probable result of orders given by him, carried out by the servant without negligence on his own part, the master will be liable. But this is highly exceptional and any such unusual features, if they exist, being essential to make out a cause of action, the master will not be held liable. The judgment as to Salvatore Magnotte is reversed; as to Antonio Pasco it is affirmed.

George F. Barber obtained a judgment in Alderman Wright's court against Elizabeth Beach. She wanted to appeal and had the alderman make a transcript. She took the transcript and gave bail for the costs and was told by the alderman that she had nothing more to do. The alderman meant that she had nothing more to do as far as his court was concerned. She misunderstood the judge's words, and neglected to file the transcript. When it was too late she discovered her error and applied to court for permission to file the transcript nunc pro tunc.

Judge Archbald refuses the petition. She misunderstood and misapprehended the alderman's words, the judge says, and he cannot absolve her from her error. "It is difficult to impress the common mind with the maxim that ignorance of the law excuses no one and against the many attempts to escape this responsibility the courts are compelled to resolutely set themselves." is one of the passages of the opinion.

In passing upon the certiorari case of Isaac Staples against Julius Friedman, His Honor deals in a little sarcasm at the expense of Justice of the Peace John E. Atkinson and Constable Michael Moran, of Carbondale.

Staples is a wholesaler of Stillwater, Minn. Friedman is in business in Forest City. On motion of H. O. Watrous, attorney for the defendant, "Squire Atkinson" quashed a short summons taken by Staples on the ground that he was a non-resident and had given no security for costs. Afterwards the "squire" changed his mind and gave judgment for the plaintiff.

The transcript of the proceedings describing how the change of mind of the constable who served the summons, sworn, and claims for plaintiff that the debt is justly due and owing and that no part of it has been paid, whereupon judgment is publicly entered for plaintiff and as against defendant for $75.00 and costs of case. John F. Atkinson, justice of the peace.

As to what moved the justice of the peace to change his mind the judge is at a loss to say, but it supposes it was "the persuasive oath of Constable Moran." "It would have been better," the judge goes on to say, "if he had adhered to his original mind, for now I am compelled to reverse him."

WORK OF THE VOLUNTEERS.

Shown by a Statement Prepared by Captain C. J. Hoppes.

Captain C. J. Hoppes, who has charge of the central city corps of the Volunteers of America, has compiled a statement showing what has been accomplished from the time he took charge of the movement here on Sept. 12 last up to Jan. 9. Captain Hoppes is assisted by his wife who is a very earnest worker. During that period 219 meetings were held in the Army

AT 513 Lackawanna avenue which were attended by over 2,000 persons; 167 open air meetings were conducted as well as meetings at the county jail every Thursday. Altogether there were 25 conversions.

From September 13 until January 9 $115.25 were received by donations and $153 from collections, making the total income $268.25. The disbursements were as follows: Salary to the captain and wife for the four months $42.68; rents of armory and apartments of the captain, $128; light, $8.29; fuel for captain's apartments, $5.25; (W. T. Smith furnishes coal for the armory) printing, $1.50; postage, $1.50; sundries, $5.14; car fare and special expenses for walking meetings, $18.89. Total, $263.56, leaving a balance on hand of $4.69 on January 9.

The earnestness and unselfishness of Captain Hoppes and his wife in this work of reclaiming sinners is best evidenced by the mere pittance they receive as a salary.
