SERVICES IN THREE CHURCHES

Special Exercise of Song in the First Presbyterian Church.

IT WAS FOLLOWED BY A THOUGHTFUL ADDRESS BY DR. McLEOD ON "CHARACTER BUILDING—FIRST OF THE SERIES OF DEDICATORY SERVICES IN THE WASHINGTON PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Patriotic Services in the Simpson M. E. Church, West Scranton.

There was a special service of song last evening at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Thiele, Miss Joseph and Messrs. Bowen and Downing sang most pleasingly a number of selections. The closing number, "Behold I Give You a Mystery," was exceptionally well rendered.

Rev. Dr. McLeod gave an excellent address full of thought, and inspiration, on the subject of "Character Building." His text was from I Cor. 13. "But every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon." He said there are many rough stones in the quarry of humanity which need the polishing which religion gives. They have a place in the building, for that they are thanks to the church of God, but they are not fitting the design of the architect. They have been spending their time unwisely, have been using poor material.

Christian truth is the only material for building up sterling Christian character. There is no royal road to it, for a variety of styles and room in the pew for a variety of tasks, but there is no room in either pulpit or pew for false doctrine in any essential point of Christianity. There was room in the apostolic church for many different men. There was room later—Chrysostom and Constantine, for St. Jerome and Anastasius, for Knox and Luther, for Cardinal Newman, Faber, Hodge and Smith. There are churches high and low and broad, all recognizing Jesus as a true foundation and professing to be founded thereon.

THE DIFFERENT SPEAKERS.

We have various men in the pulpits, some of whom use scientific theology and logic, other history and rhetoric, others whose speech is solid scripture, and those who employ intellect as well as the heart. There are even those who rant and bluster, and there are people who like that and who fill the churches. There are gold, silver, iron, tin, brass, wood, hay, stubble; one is good, another is bad. They are different characters, some are worthless as a spiritual force, merely wood on the altar, who would go to prayer meeting twice a year. They are straying in a spiritual sense. They may be good citizens but are not useful in the church.

There are those sound and good, but not very brilliant perhaps. Some are gold, not only at all in which is alloy. Some are precious stones. Christians so richly gifted as to be jewels in the church of God and in the kingdom hereafter. The whole scheme of the Christian religion is character—the one thing in the world that will not admit of being put on the market. It is character that will stand the test. To insist upon this truth is not to impress individuality. Each man is to be sui generis.

IT DOES MATTER.

Opposed to this are those who say no matter how crude a man is or how crude he may remain, provided he is sincere and enthusiastic. But it does matter much. Character is more than enthusiasm, far more than sincerity. The kingdom of Satan is not going to be conquered by men's sincerity anymore than Cuba is to be captured by soldiers and sailors enlisting. They must take it.

There are those who will be saved themselves as by fire, but there are others who will be saved with their building. The difference will then be seen between right and wrong building. Some may save a man's character, but not prove his wisdom. A man must be right as well as sincere. The speaker remarked: "There are those who will say with Job 'I have escaped as by the skin of my teeth.' I myself will be glad if I can do this, but to have mistaken crowns in the kingdom is not to fulfill our duty. We are God's building. Let us not forget that. We are using far too much of stibble and not enough of gold and precious stones. Let us build for eternity."

Preparatory to the approaching dedicatory services which will be held next Tuesday evening at the Washington Presbyterian church, and in a measure a part of those services, a special service was held last evening at the church. Several specially prepared anthems were sung by the choir. Responsive selections and Scripture lessons were read and the pastor, Rev. J. P. Moffatt, preached a special sermon, marking the first of three which will be delivered during the continuation of the dedicatory services.

His subject was "Presence of God in His Holy Temple," and he selected his text from Habakkuk 2: 20. "The Lord is in His Holy Temple, let all the earth keep silence before Him." In his introduction the speaker outlined the condition of man's mind, brought about by environment. The shop, railroad office, home, etc., all exerting their influence, but above all the church representing the Lord's house. He divided his sermon into three main divisions, viz: What the presence implies; the designs of the presence; and what it should produce. In a masterly manner he then clothed this skeleton with the words and meanings of the text. Concluding he compared the spiritual meaning of the coming dedication with its earthly significance. A large audience listened to the sermon.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES.

In honor of the members of Lieutenant Ezra Griffin's company, No. 123, United States Army of the Republic, a special patriotic service was held at the Simpson Methodist church last evening instead of the regular preaching service. The post, attended in a body, Captain A. B. Stevens commanding. The organ loft was artistically draped with flags, two large American flags flanking and from the center hung a small Cuban flag. Flowering plants, placed here and there about the church, lent their fragrance.

The pastor, Rev. J. B. Sweet, presided and special music was rendered by the choir led by Chorister W. W. Jones. Selections were also given by the choir quartette and sextette. Miss Minette Barlow played two violin solos accompanied by her sister, Miss Anna Barlow on the violin, and Walter Davis, Miss Minette Barlow and Misses Barlow feelingly recited "The Rusty Sword."

The addresses of the evening were made by Professor George Howell, superintendent of the city schools, and W. Gaylord Thomas, assistant district attorney. They spoke respectively upon the "Soldier in Peace," and "The Soldier in War." Both gentlemen are well known and able speakers and did justice to their subjects.

Professor Howell in handling his subject touched particularly upon the cardinal virtue of a soldier either at peace or war, that of patriotism. He took it to be a sentiment but little understood. It was not an entirely of fastidious but was the outcome of constant action along well defined lines; of duties well done and sacrifices made toward good ends. It was an attribute of character which grew strong only as the man himself realized its importance. It is not to be confused so far as nationality business success, etc. was concerned but to be the best as a man.

Concluding he spoke of the change which was caused by coming of Jesus Christ into the world. That "peace on earth and good will toward men," was the best for all and that as "God reigns," so "Liberty enlightens the world."

Mr. Thomas in taking up his subject, the history of the history of warfare. This barbarity could, however, be instigated by the action of the soldiers themselves and by the cause being a just one. Justice and a righteous cause had been the keynote of all American wars heretofore, and in the present one, and success had crowned our arms in the past so it must now.

He paid a tribute to our brave boys engaged in the present conflict and did not doubt that a magnificent victory would be theirs.

Commander A. B. Stevens, in behalf of his fellow members of the post, expressed their appreciation of the service and the honor tendered them.

A collection was taken for the prosecution of the war work in the field among the soldier boys, and the services were concluded with the benediction pronounced by the pastor.

SABBATH NEWS NOTES.

Mrs. Nellie Lowry, the efficient general secretary of the Young Women's Christian association and whose term of service ends this week, made her appearance yesterday for the last time at a Sunday gospel meeting at the church. On this account there was a peculiar significance to the service which was led by Mrs. Lowry. The music was under the direction of Mrs. E. D. Brewster. Solos were sung by her and Miss Ethel Craven, Miss Edna Judd and pianist.

Selections from "The Holy City" comprised the music of the evening service at the Second Presbyterian church. Rev. W. Van Kirk, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., preached in the morning at the Calvary Baptist church. The subject was "The Kingdom of God is within you." The services were concluded with the benediction pronounced by the pastor.

There were no services during the day in St. Mark's, St. Peter's, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, Christ or Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran churches. The pastors are attending the Anniversary of Pennsylvania at the University of Pennsylvania. At the afternoon social service of the Young Men's Christian association, Jas. H. Torres delivered a patriotic address. The offering will be devoted to the association's work.

Rev. O. Lloyd Morris, of West Brunswick, N. J., occupied the pulpit of the Plymouth Baptist church yesterday and preached two eloquent sermons. Communion services were observed yesterday at the Scranton street and Jackson street Baptist churches, Washington street Presbyterian church and the Hamilton street Methodist churches.

H. A. Parsons, of the Plymouth Congregational church, spoke at the morning service at the Summer Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday.

In the absence of Mrs. A. L. Ramer, Ph. D., pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, no regular service was held. In the evening at 6 o'clock service was held by the Lutheran league at the church. The subject was "The Holy Trinity." Yesterday was book day for the Simpson Methodist church. The pastor, Dr. Atherton was leader, and the subject discussed was "The Holy Trinity."

FLAG WAS BADLY TORN.

Wrong Rope Was Pulled in Breaking It to the Breeze.

Saturday noon's flag-raising at the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western car shops was marred by an accident to the new flag which prevented its use but did not stop the attendant ceremonies. The new flag, which was badly torn by the mistake of pulling the wrong rope when the time for breaking it to the breeze from its position at the top of the pole was reached. An old flag was substituted. The new one will be repaired and hoisted this morning.

The shops were closed in order to give the men opportunity to attend. They were present in large numbers and the ranks were swelled by many guests. Some of the latter and Mayor's band and the brass band occupied seats on a large platform which had been erected at the base of the pole. R. F. McKenna, superintendent of the shops, was chairman.

The addresses were by A. J. Colburn, Jr., Rev. J. J. Lansing and Judge H. M. Edwards. A quartette sang a national air after each address. The singers were John T. Watkins, Thomas Stevens, Lewis Jones and John Jones. The exercises closed with the playing of "Stars and Stripes" by the band.

The flag after being unfurled was accorded a firing salute by the following detail from Lieutenant Ezra Griffin's company, No. 8, Sons of Veterans, Lieutenants H. L. Snyder, Corporal Fred Smith, Privates John Mayer, Frank Smith, William Horn, W. E. House, Albert Erbach, John Johnson, David J. Davis.

SUNDAY NEWSPAPERS SUNDAY BICYCLISTS

Each Gets a Sound Scolding by Rev. Dr. Levi Bird.

HIS EVENING DISCOURSE TO THE PEOPLE'S PROHIBITION CONGREGATION SHOWED LITTLE MERCY FOR THE SUNDAY NEWSPAPER READER AND BICYCLE RIDER. THE TWO EVILS ARE FAVORITE AVENUES FOR THE OPERATIONS OF SATAN AND HE IS MAKING GOOD USE OF THESE MEANS.

"Sunday Newspapers and Sunday Bicyclists" was the topic of a discourse last night by Rev. Dr. Levi Bird, of the People's Prohibition church. Newspapers and bicycles on Sunday and some newspaper and some bicyclist riding on weekdays were ranked with the saloon and similar evils as having much to do with modern sin.

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," Exodus, xxiii, was the commandment and uncompromising text upon which Dr. Bird based his address. He began his sermon by disclaiming the importance of the true calendar Sunday. The text referred to the Sabbath, not as a day but as an institution—it meant that and nothing more.

Sunday newspapers and Sunday bicyclists were not much above the saloon, cigarettes and Sunday base ball and football as roads to evil. In condemning the two former he did not wish to blame the editor or the manufacturer or others concerned in their development. They wouldn't help degenerate the Sabbath unless there was a demand for it. He was sorry to observe that the bicycle had become a popular mode of transport with its plous hypocrites who got up at daylight on Sunday to read the papers but who are more than angry on those mornings if their wives tried to tempt them to a nice pancake to get up before 9:30 o'clock.

If the devil ever did monopolize an American industry, he certainly has a good hold on bicycling. Somehow the devil always gets the best of everything. The speaker would not be surprised if God heaved the Rockies and other mountains from their bases and disrupted the Republic as a punishment for beer-making and will go to Mars with the moon. Even opens communication with that planet.

SCANT JUSTIFICATION.

Dr. Bird did not condemn the wheel as an instrument of usefulness or pleasure, but he did condemn the cases of Sunday riding seen wrong and most of them were leading the country's young manhood and young womanhood to evil and perdition. Young men who would have been bishops are riding to jail on drunkennes; young women and girls are riding to a premature death. The practice has so affected church-going that a preacher can tell the condition of the roads from the cross of Christ.

Some day these sinners will "fall on them and hide them from the face of an angry God." A bicycle can't go fast enough to get away from God's judgment, though every slick of the road is the rider away from the cross of Christ.

The wonderful, human power of the intricate perfecting printing press was another agency, Dr. Bird said, which the devil was making use of. The Scranton were about as clean as air he knew of, but the devil was getting his finger in literature in general and in current news in particular.

It is the policy of the so-called progressive newspaper to scour the earth for scandal and crime and to tell the telling of the strides of Jesus Christ. Editors and newspapermen in general were about as clever and about as good a crowd of fellows, as a class, as the men who bought their product. In Scranton whatever good was in politics, measures and writings, was ruined by the pernicious principle of Sunday publication. It is not a necessity from any standpoint.

DR. BIRD BOUGHT ONE.

The speaker once bought a Sunday paper. That was at the time of Garfield's assassination. The purchase had compromised his conscience and he did not buy any more. He did not think any piece of news worth a war of a desecration of the Sabbath by publication between Saturday night and Monday morning.

The Bible was one authority that one day's rest in seven was imperative. Nature was another authority for a periodical season of rest and was successfully used as an argument by the political physicians of the French nation in prescribing an antidote for an overdriven economic institution.

FOR OVER HALF A CENTURY.

Long Term of Joseph Strode as Postmaster of Strode's Mill.

Congressman Mahon has received notice of a vacancy in the postoffice at Strode's Mills, Milford county, in his district. This notice brings to light one of the most unbroken cases in the records of the postoffice department. The vacancy was caused by the death of Joseph Strode, who was postmaster at Strode's Mills for almost fifty-three years, more than half a century. He was appointed postmaster in 1845, and Polk on October 2, 1845, and held the office continuously up to the time of his death, a little over a week ago.

LOOKING FOR RECRUITS.

Scranton Young Men Will Have a Chance to Enlist in Army.

A recruiting office will be opened in the vacant store-room in the Meads building Wednesday morning by Lieutenant Dentler, of the Eleventh United States infantry. He is a native of Pittston and has been in this section of the state several weeks for the purpose of enlisting 750 men. His regiment is at Mobile. The recruits so far enlisted have been sent to Fort McPherson, Ga.

Lieutenant Dentler was in Scranton Tuesday afternoon, when he interested several Scranton friends in his project. He will have no trouble in getting all the men he wants. He will close his erence to young men of education and good morals.

Lieutenant Conking has enlisted 25 men for his engineer company and has more than that number whose characters and qualifications are being investigated. Each afternoon and evening ex-Captains Dimnick and Stokes, or their assistants, are at the armory, enlisting men to go out with two of the four companies that are expected to comprise the new battalion of the Thirteenth.

BROOKS-WILLIAMS MARRIAGE.

Brilliant Event at the Home of the Bride Saturday.

The marriage of Miss Grace Ealingham Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams and Mr. George Grant Brooks took place Saturday noon at the home of the bride's parents on Sanderson avenue.

The bride, who is one of the most beautiful young women in Scranton society, wore white satin, a veil and orange blossoms. Miss Hinman, of Dundrick, N. Y., and M. J. H. Brooks, brother-in-law, acted as best man and groom, respectively. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rogers Israel, of St. Luke's Episcopal church, and was witnessed by only the immediate members of each family and the closest friends.

The rooms were elaborately decorated with roses and potted plants, orchestra furnished the wedding music. After an elaborate breakfast the young people left for a journey. Their home, where they will reside at 333 Jefferson avenue.

AN INTERESTING ART COLLECTION.

John Willard Raught Exhibits Some of His Recent Work.

From an artistic standpoint one of the interesting events of the year is the exhibition John Willard Raught is making of some of his recent work in his studio in the Republican building.

Mr. Raught, as is well known, is a native of Dunmore, and while his work has outgrown the limits of any local fame, it is, however, a matter of real pride to all who have followed his career and his brilliant but quiet, unobtrusive march to the front ranks of American painters. That Mr. Raught's work is better known in Paris and New York than in Scranton is surprising only to those familiar with the modest, unassuming manner in which he has pursued the even tenor of a life devoted completely to what is best and truest and most beautiful in art.

His studio presents a superb attraction to all who comprehend the message of the beautiful in human creation. The pictures are mostly landscapes of French and American subjects—an old Norman castle in Paris and New York than in Scranton is surprising only to those familiar with the modest, unassuming manner in which he has pursued the even tenor of a life devoted completely to what is best and truest and most beautiful in art.

A BRASS BAND AND BEER.

They Were the Accompaniments of a Ball Game.

At the base ball game yesterday between the South Scranton and Milbrook teams played on the new grounds of the former club, two innovations were introduced; that of having a band of musicians in attendance to discourse music at intervals and the erection of two canteens, where beer and other refreshments were served. The members of the South Scranton club engaged the Forest band to play at the game, but a Tribune reporter disclaimed all responsibility for the beer. They said they protested, which availed against the liquor refreshment feature.

Short selections were rendered by the band when each side were returning from or going out to the field and at every brilliant play made. O'Neil, the professional pitcher pitched for the Milbrook boys, was batted in bad shape, and led a new comer from Hazleton was put in the box for the South Scranton club and retired 15 men without a hit.

INTERLOCKING SWITCH PLANT.

Has Been Installed at the Lehigh Valley Junction, Pittston.

At Pittston Junction, where the Lehigh Valley main line intersects the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company's Bloomsburg division, an interesting plant for controlling the switches in that vicinity has been installed in a tower. There are forty levers controlling the switches on both roads.

The telegraph office at the station has been closed and the instruments removed to the tower, where those in charge will perform the duties of telegraph operator and towerman. Hereafter a red ball was used as a signal at the junction.

Rockefeller Closed by the Sheriff.

Deputy Sheriff J. D. Ferber on Saturday evening closed the dining rooms of H. F. Rockefeller on Penn avenue on an execution amounting to $3,000. The sale will be held next Saturday morning. This is the place the fire was last week.

BROTHER SHOT HIM.

Harry Flynn Accidentally but Seriously Wounded by His Brother—They Were at Target Practice.

Henry Flynn, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Owen Flynn, of Chestnut street, Dunmore, was shot in the left breast by his 13-year-old brother, Harry, at 6:30 Saturday evening while they were practicing at a target with a flobert rifle. The bullet passed within an inch of the heart and lodged below the shoulder blade in the muscles of the back. The wounded boy was in good condition last night, but it is by no means certain that he will recover. Dr. Garvey has hopes, though, that the boy will get well.

The brothers had been shooting at the target for an hour. One of them would stand near it and brush off the marks after the other shot, and they took alternate turns at the gun. Harry was at the target when the bullet struck him, and neither of them knew how it happened; whether Harry stepped in front of the target, or Eugene shot wide of the mark.

After the bullet struck him he made no outcry, not wanting to alarm his mother. Both boys walked to Dr. Garvey's office, and when the doctor examined him and stopped the flow of blood, they walked back home again. During the night he became weak, and the doctor spent a long time treating him. He slept well again toward morning and yesterday forenoon, and it is believed his strong constitution will save his life.

EXCURSION TO LANESBORO.

Teachers and Pupils Anticipating a Big Day Next Saturday.

The secretary of the committee, Miss Anna Malla and Miss Josie Lee are Professor Stone's assistants. Bauer's orchestra will accompany the excursion.
