Roberts yesterday for the arrest of Patrick Padden and Patrick McNulty, charging them with breaking into the house of Joseph Gilgallon on July 5. Gilgallon was positive that Padden was one of the men, but was not so sure of McNulty. The case will, in all probability, be amicably settled.

FINGERS MANGLED. James B. Hawley, a carpenter at the Storms' breaker, met with a distressing accident yesterday. He was feeding a rapidly moving circular saw with a large plank when he slipped and in doing this his right hand came in contact with the saw, severing one finger completely and badly mutilating three other fingers of the hand.

He was made as comfortable as possible and removed to his home on the West Side.

SITUATION UNCHANGED. There was no new development in the strike at the West Ridge colliery yesterday. The company's offer of reinstating all those who could apply for their positions met with few responses and as a result work was not resumed.

The company's offer holds good until today, when at the expiration, if none of the drivers seek employment, the mine, it is said, will be shut down for about one month.

RESPONDED TO STILL ALARM. The Columbia Combination Chemical Hose company, No. 5, of Division street, responded to their first still alarm yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Little service was, however, required of them.

An unoccupied barn on the rear of the lot at 324 South Hyde Park avenue, owned by Benjamin Hughes, general mine superintendent, had caught fire from some burning rubbish and a fierce fire seemed imminent. The fire was caused by the throwing of some hot ashes upon the rubbish pile. A hurry call was sent to the Columbia and the flames were quickly extinguished. The damage was considerable, but the excitement was intense for a few minutes as the neighborhood is well built up, principally of frame dwelling houses.

MINE LABORER KILLED. Michael Shutko, a laborer in the Continental mine, was killed almost instantly shortly after 1 o'clock while at work yesterday. A heavy fall of rock caused the fatality. Shutko's head was terribly crushed about the top; his face, arms and shoulders were sore and the body was otherwise bruised.

He was loading a car with coal when the fall occurred and stood in a bent-over position. He had no time to escape and died a few minutes after his removal from the mass of coal by fellow-laborers. The body was removed to his boarding house, corner of Washburn street and South Van Buren avenue, and taken in charge by Funeral Director Wymbs. Deceased is survived by a wife residing in Poland. HAPPENINGS OF SOUTH SCRANTON. Case Tried Before a Jury in Alderman Donovan's Court.

AN OBSERVATION OF THE SITUATION AT 10:30 WOULD INDICATE THAT THE JURY WILL NOT AGREE—JOHN HEFFTY, OF CEDAR AVENUE, INJURED IN THE SOUTH MILL—JOSEPH ARTHURS FELL ON A BOTTLE AND WAS BADLY CUT ON THE FACE.

The trial by a jury of six in Alderman Donovan's court last night of Michael Kelly, charged with assault and battery preferred by Thomas McDonnell, was the most interesting in many months. The attorney P. E. Loughran appeared for the plaintiff, Kelly was his own attorney. The testimony of McDonnell was that on the morning of July 4 Kelly knocked him down, and vocal solos were given by the Misses Britton. Luncheon was served at an early hour by Mrs. Reynolds. Those in attendance were: Misses Britton, Maud McHugh, Loretta Cannon, Mattie Phillips, and Messrs. Arthur Hull, of New York city; Ray Rice and Tudor Williams.

While conversing with Mr. Kelly, the defendant came along and McDonnell stated that he was positive he heard the voice of Michael Kelly, when the intended robbery was being discussed. Kelly, upon hearing his assertion, hit him a heavy blow, hence the arrest.

The defendant admitted striking McDonnell, but he said he did it in self defense. The case went to the jury without argument. At 10:30 o'clock after taking several ballots, the vote was five for acquittal, but the obdurate juror stated he would remain out for a month rather than agree to a verdict of not guilty. The majority emphatically said they would remain, and preparations for the night were begun. Two of the jurors asked permission to go out for a drink, and they were paroled with "Tinstaff John C. Moran, who locked the four in the small office. Moran told them that in the event of a fire in the building to jump out the window. The jury, composed of the following, represent the various political factions of the Twelfth ward: Ex-Councilman Henry Coyle, ex-School Controller James O'Boyle, John P. Kearney, James Cullen, James Norrie, and Jerry Collins. It is expected that the jury will disagree.

Ten years ago, when Alderman Donovan went into office, he presided over a case heard by a jury, and before a verdict was given, three jurors were empaneled. Messrs Coyle, Cullen and Collins were on the first jury drawn in that case.

Helen, the 6-months-old daughter of Henry Wetter, fell from her high chair Wednesday evening. The little one fell a distance of eight feet to the ground, and it was feared that her neck was broken. Dr. Kohl was hurriedly summoned and found that Helen was safe. Joseph Arthurs, of Stone avenue, a boy of 10 years, was swinging Indian clubs at his home Wednesday evening, and while thus engaged he fell striking
