THEIR ANNUAL CLAM BAKE. Railroad Men Have an Enjoyable Time at Lake Poynette.

Fifteen hundred persons yesterday attended the fifth annual excursion and clam bake of G. W. West Division, No. 48, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, at Lake Poynette. The headquarters of this division are at Carbondale and its members are employed by the New York, Ontario and Western and the Erie Railroad companies. The annual clam bake of this division is a notable event in the lives of the members and never fails to attract a large crowd. The bake yesterday was in charge of Professor Ward Edwards, of New York, and seven skillful assistants. Results obtained demonstrate that they are artists in their special line of work. The bake was unqualifiedly approved by every person who partook of it. Some idea of the number of persons who dined with the railroad men may be obtained from the fact that in the bank where the baking was done were 4,000 clams, 500 pounds of blue fish, 500 pounds of chicken, 200 ears of corn and four barrels of sweet potatoes. There were other attractions besides the bake, too. Many found enjoyment in boating on the lake, while others sought the pavilion where delightful music was discoursed for the dancers. A heavy shower late in the afternoon somewhat marred the pleasure of the day.

Among the well-known railroad men who attended the bake were the following: from the New York, Ontario and Western railroad: G. W. West, superintendent of motive power, after whom the entertaining division was named; C. H. Hopkins, superintendent of the southern division; W. C. Hartigan, superintendent of the northern division; General Road Foreman Morgan, of Norwich, and his assistant, W. Dalley; George O'Neill, road foreman, Middletown; F. G. Stouting, general road foreman, Mayfield; P. H. Minchell, general road foreman, Middletown; John E. Walsh, assistant passenger agent. The Erie company was represented by State Senator E. B. Hardenberg, of Honesdale, inspector of conductors; Superintendent Dove, of Carbondale; J. D. Dowd, master mechanic, Susquehanna; W. A. Stoddard, assistant master mechanic, Susquehanna; George W. Keane, chief dispatcher, Carbondale.

CLOSING PERFORMANCES. This is the Last Day of Sipe & Blake's Circus.

Sipe & Blake's great trained animal exhibition will close its engagement today, giving exhibitions this afternoon and tonight. Everybody should see these little dumb actors. Messrs. Sipe & Blake have spared neither time nor expense to make this the greatest entertainment of its kind. The ponies, dogs and monkeys perform some tricks that seem almost impossible. They are trained to retain their equilibrium in the most difficult positions and do tricks which are executed with almost human intelligence. The bareback riding of Scout, the dog, is the most wonderful feature of the entertainment.

TO BUILD ICE HOUSE. Officers of Scranton Ice Company Make a Tour of Inspection. Officers and directors of the Scranton Ice company yesterday made a visit to Belmont and Summit lakes in Wayne county. Both of these bodies of water are owned by the company and some extensive improvements are contemplated at them. They are on the line of the New York, Ontario and Western railroad near Lake Poynette. The company already has a number of ice houses on Summit lake which will be improved somewhat this fall. At Belmont lake it was yesterday decided to build five large ice houses which will be equipped with improved machinery for handling and storing ice. The lakes owned by the company are fed almost exclusively by springs and a fine quality of ice is obtained. Owing to the high altitude of the lakes they are free from ice producers.

Those who composed the inspection party yesterday were: A. B. Stevens, president of the company; Fred Stevens, treasurer; George Taylor, J. J. Adams, Luther Keller and P. J. Casey, directors.

COLBORN RE-ELECTED.

Asked to Again Lead the P. O. S. of A of the State—Henry C. Hoffman Also Elected.

At the thirty-third annual state convention of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, now in session at York, Pa., A. J. Colborn, Jr., of this city, was re-elected president, and R. M. J. Reed, of Philadelphia, was placed in nomination for state president. Other nominations for state officers made were: president, Dr. Cameron Schultz and Dr. D. E. Keiser, of E. T. Berrymann, Herman A. Miller and Warren R. Roberts; state conductors, George D. Fisher and G. O. Long; state inspector, Alfred Frankel, Harry A. Johnson and S. M. Beldier; state guard, Harry C. Hoffman and E. A. Killheffer; state camp building trustees (three to be elected), J. Harry Hughes, A. V. Leisher and D. C. Elliot. President Colborn in his annual address stated that the year closing was a most prosperous one for the order. The state secretary's report showed that twenty new camps were formed during the year. During the year, $13,868 were paid out and the balance on hand was $7,520.

At yesterday morning's session of the state camp the result of the first ballot for state officers, taken yesterday afternoon, was announced, and showed the following to have been elected: State president, A. J. Colborn, Scranton; state vice president, Dr. Cameron Schultz, Danville; state guard, Henry C. Hoffman, Mount Cobb, Lackawanna county.

The Veterans' association held its first annual meeting yesterday. The convention was held at the headquarters of the association and their recommendations were adopted. Entrance fee was fixed at $1.50, with annual dues of $1. These officers were elected: President, C. D. Moore, No. 61; first vice president, W. S. Helms, No. 49; second vice president, Hon. S. A. Losch, No. 47; third vice president, Percy C. Myers, No. 66; secretary, George F. Dengler, of Schuylkill Haven; treasurer, Major J. Shindell Krause, No. 254.

SEVERE WIND STORM.

It Heralded Yesterday's Heavy Downpour of Rain—Some of the Damage That Was Done.

A view of yesterday's storm from the top floors of the Mears, Board of Trade, Traders' bank and other high buildings was grand. The direction of the wind was from east by northeast to west by southwest. It blew up suddenly and without more than about two minutes' warning, although for sometime there had been indications of rain. The wind and rain were accompanied by a heavy shower of rain. Buildings shook and trembled in the violence of the gale and within a minute the hill section of the city was almost obscured in a sea of whirling dirt and coal dust which had increased in volume as it began its progress across the valley from west to east. From a height the streets and avenues in all directions seemed to be turned for the time into whirling streams of grime and dirt. The leaden colored sky above and the dust beneath turned the day into almost night within a moment's time. In but few offices could ordinary business be continued without artificial light.

Before the crashing peals of thunder came the wind and rain which were heard in the city and white the gale was at its height the ridge of the mountains on the west were constantly showing a frill of vivid flashes of lightning. Thunder and lightning followed in the wake of the wind and made a heavy downpour and a fiery picture as they went eastward.

George Farber's house in Petersburg, and the Pennsylvania Coal company's office at No. 6, were struck by bolts, but no serious damage resulted in either case. During the storm yesterday afternoon a large tree fell upon an outward bound Peckville car, crushing in the front end and narrowly missing the motorman. He saw the tree falling and stopping his car as quickly as possible, a heavy crash and the car just in time to escape being caught. The proprietors of the trained animal show located on Ash street, became alarmed at the high wind and fearing a collapse of the tent, stopped the show and got the spectators out. The showmen had a hard fight for nearly an hour to keep their canvas on earth.

The members of the Bar will please notice that the funeral of J. C. Lange will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday instead of 3 p. m. as announced at Bar meeting. Meet at court house 1.45 p. m. Committee.

Republican County Convention. Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Republican county convention at a regular meeting held on Tuesday, August 3, the county convention will be held on Tuesday, August 20, at 2 o'clock p. m., in the court house, Scranton, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following mentioned offices to be voted for at the next general election on Tuesday, November 8, 1898, to wit: Congressional District, Congressional District, Additional Law Judge, Coroner, Surveyor.

Vigilance committee will hold delegate elections on Saturday, Aug. 27, 1898, before the hours of 10 and 11 a. m. The total number of children constantly under instruction is about 1,000. It will be noted that three are in the extreme east and a result there are many growing up totally uneducated. Many, alas, have already reached adult years in this condition. Within a few weeks I have met a family of four adults, not one of whom had received any benefit of instruction. New York with a population only a little greater than that of our own state, has eight schools for the deaf. Why should we not have as many? We, with our

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED OF THEM ARE IN THE CITY.

Three Interesting Sessions in the Court House Yesterday—The Delegates Represent 5,000 Deaf Mutes Who Are Associated Together for Mutual Advancement and the Maintenance of a Home for Those of Their Number Who Are Indigent—Delegates Attending.

Nearly two hundred deaf mutes from all over Pennsylvania were in the city in attendance upon the thirteenth convention of the Pennsylvania Association for the Advancement of the Deaf.

In addition to the ordinary purposes that the name of the organization suggests, the association has for its chief aim the establishment of a home for the aged, blind and infirm deaf. Nearly 4,000 has been collected for the erection of a building, and it is likely that the present convention will appoint a committee to secure a site. The home will be located either in Scranton, Easton or Williamsport. There are 5,000 deaf in the state of Pennsylvania. The most of them are self supporting, but there are many who have had to seek maintenance in poor houses. Their lot is a sad one, cut off as they are from all communication with their fellow beings, and to lighten their burden it is proposed to furnish them with a home of their own where they can congregate and converse and feel that they are not public paupers.

The officers of the society are: President, Rev. J. M. Koehler, of Philadelphia; first vice president, G. M. Teegarden, of Pittsburgh; second vice president, Miss A. C. Shatz, of Reading; secretary, Harry E. Stevens, of Meridianville; treasurer, B. R. Allbaugh, of Pittsburgh.

BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

The convention is being held in the court house. The sessions were conducted yesterday. The formal opening address by President Koehler, the enrolling of delegates, the reading of the minutes of the Philadelphia convention of last year and informal discussions of the main projects were the business of the morning and afternoon sessions. The organization of subordinate societies throughout the state; the establishment of the home for indigent deaf and the duty of sending teachers to Alaska to instruct the native deaf mutes of that country were the main topics discussed. President Koehler, Treasurer Allbaugh and Professor F. L. Selme, editor of the Deaf Mute's Register, of Rome, N. Y., were the principal speakers. Yesterday's sessions were thorough and the improvements suggested were taken further than to appoint a committee on resolutions consisting of Messrs. Selme, Allbaugh and Hutchinson.

In the evening a public session was held. Mayor Bailey was expected to be present, but owing to the inclement business of a pressing nature made it impossible for him to attend.

The first address was by President J. M. Koehler. It was delivered in signs by the Rev. J. M. Koehler and translated orally by Mr. Walker. The following is a synopsis of his address: "Our streets are all torn up," he said, "and we are in the condition of a house undergoing the annual cleaning process. We are not here to do any credit to the energy and enterprise of a city marked by its natural and architectural features with capabilities of much beauty and grandeur. The history of our organization in the twelve years that have intervened since our former meeting here in 1886 has been one of constant progress. We are not only to us as a society but to ourselves as individuals."

THIRTEENTH CONVENTION. This is the thirteenth convention since the inception of the society at Harrisburg in 1881. Since then three meetings have been held in Washington, Pa.; Reading, two at Scranton, and one each at Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Allentown, Williamsport and Erie. These meetings have all been well attended, bringing with us many as four hundred of our people at one time and there is no longer any doubt as to their advisability. There are also deaf mutes in Washington for which a majority of whom are educated and self-sustaining. They have naturally many interests in common and these meetings present an opportunity of exchanging thoughts for mutual good. Some of the principal works accomplished by our association were the establishment of a home for indigent deaf mutes at Mt. Airy, where seven convalescent branches of trade are taught; the participation in the erection of the Gallego school at Scranton for the deaf, which we subscribed $2,000, and the beginning of the movement for a home for the blind, aged and infirm deaf of Pennsylvania, for which $100,000 has already been subscribed and which is to receive a $25,000 endowment from a gentleman in Pittsburg as soon as the home is completed. The accomplishments demonstrated the practical usefulness of the society and it is a record we may well feel proud of; and it must encourage us to efforts in other directions.

SCHOOL FOR DEAF. One subject we might take up is the establishing of another school for the deaf in the northwestern part of the state. There are now four schools in Pennsylvania: Mt. Airy, near Philadelphia; the Pennsylvania school, near Pittsburgh; the Scranton school, and the one at Bala, near Philadelphia, for the training of deaf children in speech. The school at Scranton has the total number of children constantly under instruction is about 1,000. It will be noted that three are in the extreme east and a result there are many growing up totally uneducated. Many, alas, have already reached adult years in this condition. Within a few weeks I have met a family of four adults, not one of whom had received any benefit of instruction. New York with a population only a little greater than that of our own state, has eight schools for the deaf. Why should we not have as many? We, with our knowledge of all the facts, can speak with great weight in urging the necessity of more liberal provision to give to the blessings of education which we ourselves so highly value.

Mr. Koehler also spoke on the need of sending missionaries to educate the deaf of Alaska; of educating the blind and feeble minded; of securing statistics of deaf mutes in Pennsylvania; and of organizing branch societies throughout the state. PROF. SELINEY'S ADDRESS. This was followed with a very able address by Professor Seliney. He occupied nearly an hour in the delivery of his address. His is a very energetic style. Little recourse is had to figures, most of our being conveyed by means of pantomime. It was only when he encountered a word that did not permit of a ready interpretation by gesture that he used the alphabet. Laughter and hand clapping at frequent intervals indicated his appreciation on the part of his spectators. Professor is not a great admirer of the oral school. He illustrated his estimate of this system with a story about a Chinaman who came to New York to learn English and settled in the midst of a German colony. He was only when he started out to keep a laundry that he found how he had been fooled. He favored the combined system. A brief address by Mr. Walker, congratulating the association for its successful closing the evening session. A committee, consisting of R. M. Zeigler, of Philadelphia; Thomas Breen, of Philadelphia; Danie' Paire, of Carlisle; Lloyd Hutchinson, of Wilkes-Barre, and William Hummel, of Scranton, were appointed to make nominations and present them to the convention this morning. This morning at 9 o'clock special religious services will be conducted for the delegates at St. Luke's church. A business session will commence at 10 o'clock and at its conclusion sight-seeing trips will be the order of the day. A local committee consisting of William T. Burge, Morris N. Garbett, Michael Callahan, Thomas O'Brien and Daniel Winters having arranged to take the delegates to the mills, mines and other points of interest. There will be a reception at the Jersey in the evening and tomorrow there will be an excursion to Farview. All the addresses in the convention were made by the sign language. The speaker takes a place on the platform which can be seen by all and there with lightning-like movements of the fingers, hands, arms and—when he grows reticent—whole body delivers himself of his views. For the benefit of visitors and the delegates who prefer to read the lips, the speeches are interpreted vocally by the celebrated expert John P. Walker, who for thirty years has been a deaf mute instructor, and who is now at the Mt. Airy school of the industrial department of the M. C. T. The storm which broke over the city about 4 o'clock caused the business of the convention to come to a standstill, the darkness which accompanied it making it impossible for the delegates to see the speaker. The latter was appealed to, and with the turning on of the electric lights the speechmaking was resumed.

THE DELEGATES. The delegates present are: Rev. J. M. Koehler, Mrs. J. M. Koehler, R. M. Zeigler, Harry S. Stevenson, Harry E. Stevens, Professor E. A. Greever, Secretary Robert E. BUSINESS IS BRISK WITH THE ALDERMEN

THEY AND THE CONSTABLES DO A THRIVING TRADE.

Ward Courts of the Central City Ground Out an Unusual Number of Criminal Cases—The Charges Were of More Than Ordinary Variety. Dentist Arrested on Complaint of the Lackawanna and Luzerne Association—Milk Bottle War is Still On.

The aldermanic mills ground neither little nor slowly yesterday. They did "business to beat the band," according to the constable's statements and his fraternity and the aldermen were consequently happy.

Walter Silman, a student at Snyder's dental establishment, was arrested for alleged violation of laws relating to the practice of dentistry when arrested before Alderman Millar. The Lackawanna and Luzerne Dental Association, an organization of dentists, through its attorney, John F. Scragg, was the prosecutor. The defendant was represented by Fred W. Pleitz. Silman was held in $300 bail to appear at court. It was ascertained that Silman was a barber until two months ago.

The milk bottle war between the Scranton Dairy company and dealers who are accused of using the Dairy company's bottles, was renewed in Alderman Kasson's court yesterday. William Shannon, whose farm is near Green Grove, was the defendant. He waived a hearing. Bail for his appearance at court was furnished by his attorney, Walter Briggs.

Catherine Lynch, of the West Side, had her whole family placed under arrest and on parade in Alderman Millar's court. Her charge against John Stadt, her son-in-law, was that he was selling liquor without a license owned by his mother-in-law. Harry Schofield, a Factoryville youth, smoked cigarettes and wore a swaggar when arraigned before Alderman Millar. While in the D. L. and W. depot Schofield had refused to be orderly when so requested by special officer Williams. Schofield said he could run faster than the officer and would be blanketed-blanked if he didn't do as he pleased. Williams said he wouldn't and grabbed him in order to make the statement good.

The alderman's verdict was $5 or 20 days. Schofield laid a ladie's gold watch and chain as security and went out and got the money. He had only five minutes to catch the 6 o'clock train for Factoryville. John Youlasez, of 529 Larch street, Dunmore, is one of the latest victims of the Citizens' Law and Order League. Through the league's attorney, Arthur Dunn, Youlasez was arraigned before Alderman Howe and charged with keeping a speak-easy. He waived a hearing and was required to furnish $500 bail to appear at court.

If the information against Sylvester Wisnisky is true, he has missed his calling. A Undis had Wisnisky arraigned before Alderman Millar for selling the former a saloon in Providence that was numbered among the Wisniskys had said. Undis paid $350 in cash for the place but discovered later that he was the second purchaser. In default of bail Wisnisky was sent to jail to await a continued hearing at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Alderman Howe brought about an amicable settlement of a case between J. O. O'Boyle and Anthony Nallin, who had been arrested on O'Boyle's information that Nallin had made threats against him.

I do not think we have got money enough to pay for the tents, but they are there just the same. Now, then, the park will furnish a man to keep the fire, if anyone will furnish some coal, and a boiler with a faucet in so the people can have hot water any time to make tea or coffee. CARRIAGE WAS WRECKED. Horse from Cusick's Livery Stable Ran Away. A horse from the Cusick livery stable ran away yesterday afternoon and badly wrecked the carriage to which it was hitched. Patrick Cusick, the manager of the livery, drove into the stable from the rear and jumping out of the carriage went into the office. The horse immediately started through the front door of the stable and turned down Washington toward Lackawanna avenue.

At the steel mill it was stopped, but not until the carriage had been almost completely wrecked.
