MASS MEETINGS TONIGHT.

One in Providence and Another in Jermyn.

There will be two Republican mass meetings tonight, under the auspices of the county committee, one at Company H armory in Providence and the other at Enterprise hall, Jermyn.

At the Providence meeting the speakers will be Hon. William Connell, Major Everett Warren, A. J. Colborn, Jr., A. A. Vosburg and Hon. John R. Farr.

The speakers at the Jermyn meeting will be Hon. Jeremiah Snyder, Hon. John F. Reynolds, L. M. Schoch, George D. Taylor and Charles W. Dawson.

ANOTHER SOLDIER DEAD.

He Was a Member of the Ninth Regiment.

Private James Mahoney, of the Ninth regiment, a member of Company M, Towanda, died on Sunday of pneumonia at the home of Mrs. Ann McKee. Deceased was 33 years old and is survived by two young sons.

This makes the death roll of the regiment twenty-eight.

THE GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Ladies' Handicap This Afternoon. Number of Out-of-Town Players for Thursday's Event—Entertainment of Visitors.

A series of golf events, which excited in importance anything hitherto attempted by the Scranton Country club, and which will doubtless afford more pleasure to the patrons of golf than has ever been known in this region in the past, will begin today.

The ladies' handicap, postponed from Saturday, will be played this afternoon for the trophy offered by T. E. Jones. The handicap will not be made known until after the tournament. The entries and names for partners, with the time for starting, are as follows:

2.08—Miss Sprague, Miss Hunt, Miss Archibald, Miss Jessup.

2.16—Miss Augusta Archibald, Mrs. C. S. Weston.

2.24—Miss A. H. Steers, Miss Belin.

2.32—Miss Anderson, Miss Frances Winton.

2.40—Miss Welles, Miss Helen Matthews.

2.48—Miss Kierstedt, Mrs. C. L. Frey.

2.56—Mrs. T. G. Brooks, Miss Flora Matthews.

3.04—Miss Simpson, Miss Susan Jermyn.

The out of town contestants for the opening tournament, opening Thursday, have exceeded in number. Among them are men who have achieved a national reputation in field sports. The list will include the following: J. I. Blair, Jr., Morris County Golf club; C. F. Newhall, Huntington Valley Country club; J. W. Biddle, L. A. Biddle, Philadelphia Country club; T. P. Reynolds, Essex County Country club; Dr. Burdette O'Connor, Staten Island Cricket club; J. L. Taylor, H. M. Adams, Arthur Whitney, Howard Whitney Dyker, Meadow Golf club, Brooklyn; C. E. Lansing, E. G. Cook, A. J. McClure, M. H. Hochester, H. G. Young, J. W. Burdick, Howard Van Rensselaer, Albany Country golf club; J. C. Bridgman, W. De F. Johnson, J. D. Farnham, H. W. Harding, Westley Wood, E. D. Hutman, F. B. Jones, Walter Gaston, E. W. Sturdevant, Wyoming Valley Country club, Wilkes-Barre, W. S. Kilmer, F. D. Need, Ferdinand De Motte, Binghamton Country club.

The Binghamton members must enter as out of town members of the Scranton Country club, as their own club is not yet included in the American Golf association.

The home players will be T. H. Watkins, J. H. Brooks, A. Z. Huntington, J. B. Bradford, James H. Bradford, James Blair, F. C. Fuller, G. W. S. Fuller, T. S. Atherton, C. R. Manville, L. B. Fuller, A. E. Hunt, Jr., H. J. Anderson, H. C. Shaffer, J. L. Kemmerer, J. W. Decker and A. H. Steers.

There will be afternoon play during the tournament and a table d'hôte luncheon will also be served for contestants and spectators between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock. Friday evening will be the dance in honor of the visitors. Baker's orchestra will furnish music. The Country club bus will meet cars, giving a twenty minute service.

ENTHUSIASM RAN HIGH AT TAYLOR

BIG DEMONSTRATION HELD IN WEBER'S RINK.

Speakers Were Hon. James M. Evans, of Sharon, Mercer County; Attorney R. A. Zimmerman, Attorney M. W. Lowry and Corporal Layton M. Schoch, of the Artillery. Issues of the Campaign Were Fully and Fairly Discussed by These Able Orators.

Taylor borough's largest meeting place, Weber's rink, was crowded to the doors last night on the occasion of the first visit of the Republican campaign orators. The Citizens' band was present to entertain the meeting but its services were a luxury rather than necessity for the enthusiasm displayed was unbounded and of a nature that does not owe its origin to the inspiration of a brass band.

Hon. Jeremiah Snyder, who is a favorite speaker in this region, was expected to be present but was detained by an important law suit and at the last minute had to wire his regrets at his inability to be present. In his stead the committee sent down Hon. James M. Evans, of Sharon, Mercer county, who was at one time a muldriver in the Taylor mine and who is now one of the best known Welsh bards in America, and one of the most prominent and influential business men in the western part of the state. With him were Attorney R. A. Zimmerman and M. W. Lowry, and Corporal Layton M. Schoch, whose appearance in his red-trimmed Kark uniform of the artillery service won for him an enthusiastic reception.

MR. GRIFFITHS PRESIDED.

Attorney James E. Watkins, of Taylor, secretary of the Republican county committee, called the meeting to order and introduced ex-Burgess William P. Griffiths to preside.

Mr. Evans was the first speaker. His opening reference to his early life in Taylor and the recounting of some humorous incidents participated in by the boys of his time, the leading men of the village, provoked much a laugh and resulted in his having the audience with him from the outset.

Among the many trite things said by Mr. Evans in comparing the three gubernatorial candidates was that while Colonel Stone was a boy in his teens, fighting to uphold the union, Mr. Jenkins was at home trying to prevent Pennsylvania from filling its army quota, and Dr. Swallow was assiduously learning the German language. "Thou shalt not steal" to the exclusion of all other commandments, even that closed allied one, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

He also provoked a burst of resounding applause by the statement: "I am a Republican because Lincoln, Grant and Blaine were Republicans—and, my good neighbors, I don't mind admitting that since along in April last I haven't been hiding my head because I am affiliated with the same party as one Major William McKinley."

Mr. Zimmerman, in the opening of his speech, called up the assertion of the Democrats that there are no national issues at this time and asked if this was so, would some one please tell him why the Democrats had taken the trouble to nominate thirty congressmen in this state this fall.

ARE PERSONAL ATTACKS.

Then, taking up the issues as raised by the Democrats, he went on to show that when analyzed they are discovered to be nothing more nor less than a personal attack on one member of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, Matthew Stewart, of Centre county. His argument is directed against Senator Quay's method of managing the Republican party. That is none of the Democratic party's business, Mr. Zimmerman went on to say. We are the ones to judge whether or not Mr. Quay's conduct suits us.

The decrease in the state debt from $40,000,000 to $1,000,000; the saving of $15,000,000 to the land owners of the state by the transfer of the state taxes from realty to the corporations; the increase in the appropriations for free schools from $20,000 to $50,000, were mentioned by Mr. Zimmerman as some of the things that came with the ascendancy of the Republican party in Pennsylvania and of which Messrs. Jenks, Swiden and others are not wont to speak.

The ratification of the amendments abolishing slavery and enfranchising the colored man were unanimously opposed by the Democrats in the Pennsylvania legislature. Mr. Zimmerman pointed out and in our own times not one of them voted for the Farr free text book bill and their governor, Robert E. Pattison, twice vetoed that other beneficent bill fathered by Mr. Farr, the compulsory education bill.

In concluding he made reference to dodgers that were being circulated yesterday, attaching Hon. J. C. Vaughan's of the legislature and in defense of Mr. Vaughan reviewed his whole senatorial career, enumerating among his other achievements, his successful carrying through of the eight hour law; the "indigent insane" bill, by which the state is made to pay the local poor district for the maintenance of the indigent insane; the bill authorizing the Moses Taylor hos-

AN ELOQUENT TRIBUTE.

Paid to the Colored People of Lackawanna County.

A spirit of fairness and a disposition to do justice to all men, and give praise where praise is deserved, regardless of race, creed or color, are salient qualities of Judge Gunster's character. Rich or poor, high or low, black or white, no man ever came to Judge Gunster without having due respect shown his good qualities and a merciful rebuke to his bad ones. Thus it is that his commonplace utterances pass beyond the confines of his own country, and are noticed with favor by the periodicals of the state and union. The following is from the Philadelphia Press:

"In passing sentences upon a colored man for wife desertion, Judge Gunster, of the Lackawanna county courts, took occasion to pay a tribute to the colored people of that section when he said to the prisoner: 'I am sorry to see a man of your race here in court. We don't often have colored men before this bar. The colored people of this community are generally law-abiding.'"

YOUNG MEN'S FORUM MEETS.

An Interesting Programme Was Carried Out Last Night.

The bi-monthly meeting of the Young Men's Forum, held evening in the law office of W. J. Douglas, on Wyoming avenue, was very interesting. Mr. Baker gave a declamation and there was an address on the Young Men's Forum and its possibilities by J. L. Hudson.

There was a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That the newspaper should be introduced as a text book in the public schools." The affirmative was maintained by Messrs. Wilbur and Baker and the negative by Messrs. Douglas and Price. The decision was in favor of the affirmative.

The question of a banquet was discussed and it was decided to have one in the near future.

LAUGHLIN WAS LOADED.

Had Heard of Mr. Holgate and Was Prepared for Him.

Edward Laughlin, of the Thirteenth ward, created a little diversion in the election contest hearing yesterday. He said he had heard about Mr. Holgate through the papers and had come prepared to give him a little. Every question asked him provoked a speech. He averred that he had been called simply because his name led the contestant to believe he was Irish and that it was a shame to drag honest old property holders before the investigation and insult them by asking them if they were bootleggers.

Mr. Holgate tried to suppress him in various ways, but he wouldn't be suppressed and only ceased when he had finished what he had to say.

There were several witnesses examined, as follows: Thomas Murphy, James H. Conner, Andrew McNulty, Fourth ward; Thomas Kelly, James J. Sheridan, Fifth ward; Patrick Callahan, James Gerry, Thomas F. Cullen, Patrick Cullen, First ward; James Lappan, Twelfth ward; V. H. O'Horo, Edward Laughlin, R. W. Jordan, Patrick F. Haran, Thirteenth ward; Samuel Kartinkle, Dominic Friendrki, Eighth ward; Anthony Uder, Fourteenth ward; James J. Sheridan, Fifth ward; William Jenkins, Twentieth ward.

FAMOUS SPRINGER CASE.

There Is a Possibility That it Will Have to Be Retried—Other Cases Heard in Argument Court.

There is a strong possibility that the Springer ejectment suit will be retried. Among the contentions of the defendant in the argument for a new trial, yesterday, was an allegation that an error had been made by the trial judge in charging the jury that "where there is adverse possession, there must be a claim of right," or as applied to this case, that this was a misstatement of the law and cited an instance where he had fallen into the same error and granted a new trial on the strength of it.

Judge Edwards, who tried the Springer case, came on the bench at this juncture and surprised to find that the notes of his charge credited him with this statement. It was not intended in the sense that the language of the charge conveyed, he said. No decision was given.

This is the case in which the Lacco & Shiffer Coal company brought suit to recover from W. M. Springer fourteen acres of coal land near Moosic. Springer claimed possession by reason of adverse possession for over twenty-one years. The plaintiffs established an undisputed paper title to the land and further held that Springer simply occupied it by their sufferance.

Other cases argued were: Mutual Guarantee Building and Loan association versus several others, rule to open judgment; Josephine Mott against L. B. Thompson, rule to strike off judgment; Franklin Fire Insurance company against Mary E. Lewis, exception and rule for judgment.

Other cases were dealt with as follows: Rule discharged; J. O. Rogers against M. Hollander, rule for judgment; J. W. Hoffecker against William Hutchings, rule to strike off appeal; Francis Kruger against Peter Sinkewitz, rule to strike off judgment and set aside execution.

Rule absolute: John Stein against Weigand Stein, rule to open judgment; D. A. Carpenter and others against Lucy A. Jester and others, exceptions.

Sentenced: Margaret S. Flynn against Charles Flynn, rule for decree in divorce.

In the certiorari case of William Decker against James Mahon, judgment was affirmed.

In the case of the Guarantee Savings, Loan and Investment company against F. Schoonover and others, the demurrer was sustained, with leave to the plaintiff to file an amended statement and suggestion of default.

THE BIG MASS MEETING.

Colonel Stone and Others Will Deliver Addresses.

Arrangements have been completed for the big mass meeting in the Lyceum theater on the night of Nov. 1 when Colonel W. A. Stone, Republican candidate for governor, will deliver an address.

The other speakers who will address the meeting are Rev. George Edward Reed, D. D., president of Dickinson college; Major Alexander McDowell, chief clerk of the house of representatives at Washington; General Thomas J. Stewart, adjutant general of the state, and William L. Schaefer, district attorney of Delaware county.

SEPTEMBER ATTENDANCE.

School Reports Show an Unusually High Percentage.

The reports of all the schools in the city for the month of September show that 12,798 pupils were enrolled, 6,569 being males, and 7,111 females. The total average attendance was 12,232 pupils, 5,948 being males and 6,381 females. The number of pupils who attended every day in the month was 5,742.

The percentage of attendance was 93, which is higher than usual. Superintendent Howell made 171 visits to the schools and 219 visits were made by the directors. The number of pupils promoted was 596 and the number suspended, 58.

The percentage of attendance in September last year was 91.

A DIAMOND ROBBERY.

Residence of a Prominent Wilkes-Barre Man Burglarized Oct. 18.

Chief Gurrell received information yesterday from the Wilkes-Barre police department of a burglary on Oct. 18 at the residence of Charles P. Hunt, of 43 North River street, in this city.

The description of the articles stolen is as follows: A diamond and pearl pin made in the shape of a bar with three pendants, a cameo scarf pin, a gold foil-seal black gross grained ribbon, a double-headed gold watch chain, one set of small pearl studs, one pair of bi-focal spectacles and a small black purse containing $115 in five and ten-dollar bills. A reward of $100 is offered for the arrest of the thief and the recovery of the property.

DEATH OF HOWELL WAS A MURDER

CORONER'S JURY PUTS RESPONSIBILITY ON OUTLAWS.

Remains of the Lehigh Valley Brakeman Were Disinterred in Pittston Cemetery and Coroner Longstreet Conducted a Post Mortem Examination—Death Was the Result of Hemorrhage—Trainmen Tell the Story at the Inquest of What Happened When Collision Occurred.

The body of Richard Howell, the brakeman killed on the Austin Heights branch of the Lehigh Valley railroad in the accident caused by the collision of the train he was on with the hand-car used by the outlaws in carrying away their plunder after looting the saloon of Isaac Millman in Barbertown, Old Forge, on the night of Oct. 12, was exhumed yesterday afternoon in Pittston cemetery by the order of Coroner Longstreet and a post mortem examination was conducted to determine the cause of Howell's death. The jury placed the responsibility for the death on the men who had the hand-car.

Coroner Longstreet found that the man died from hemorrhage. Howell was caught beneath the overturned gondola in such a way that his left leg and hip were practically amputated by the side of the car. After the body was lowered into the grave again the coroner and jury repaired to the office of Alderman Evans, of Pittston, and took the testimony of the trainmen.

W. E. Snyder, the conductor, testified that the train consisted of an engine, tender and eight empty gondolas and was moving at the rate of eight miles an hour when the collision occurred. The direction of the train was toward the Austin Heights, and the engine was pushing the gondolas. He was in the cab of the engine. Suddenly he felt a quick jar, which was observed also by Engineer Louis F. Firestein, who shut off steam and applied the brakes.

CARS OVERTURNED.

Mr. Snyder went forward with a torch to investigate. It was about 1.30 o'clock in the morning. He found the first car overturned completely and called to the two brakemen, John Carroll and Howell. Carroll responded from beneath the car that he was not hurt, and Howell spoke in a weak voice that he was pinned down.

The conductor ran back to the engine to tell the engineer and fireman what was the matter and they came forward to render what assistance they could. But first when the train stopped the conductor noticed some men running toward an embankment not far away; and when the engineer and fireman came with him to the overturned car, three or four shots were fired at them from the direction taken by these men. For fear of offering a target to the shooters they quenched their lights and in the dark tried to give what help they could to the two brakemen.

That night, however, they were lifted from the car and got them out, and having done so the engineer and conductor ran the engine to Coxton yard for a stretcher. When they returned Howell was dead. He died ten minutes after the frame of the car was lifted from him. He did not bleed until the pressure was taken off. While it remained on him it held back the flow of blood.

TRIED TO REMOVE IT.

Brakeman Carroll testified that when within fifteen or twenty feet of the hand car he saw the men working at it to get it off the track. The barrels of whiskey were in the ditch. They had only time enough to lift the hand-car diagonally off. The train was almost upon them when they deserted their plunder and ran toward the bank shooting as they went. He could not recognize what they looked like in the darkness and excitement, particularly when he went over with the car and was pinned in until it was lifted up to permit his extrication. The jury after hearing this testimony retired to deliberate and framed the following verdict:

We, the undersigned jurors, find that Richard Howell's came to his death from

BURLARS AT WORK.

Three Operations Reported to the Police Department.

Three complaints of burglaries the night before were reported to the police department yesterday morning. Nothing of value was secured at any of the places.

At the corner of Clay avenue and Gibson street the new residence of Fred Hand is in process of construction. Somebody broke into that place and stole a set of carpenter's tools, owned by D. H. Coleman, R. B. Brenning, W. H. Harvey and Mr. Purdy. The initials of Mr. Coleman were on his tools. The property stolen consisted of five saws, a level, a set of bits and a new plane.

The shoe shop of Sol Miller, on Capouse avenue, near the Delaware and Hudson railroad crossing, was another place visited. Nineteen pairs of shoes were taken. The door was burst in. It was possible to commit this affair without running a great risk, as the shop is not close to any houses.

The office of Alderman Kelly of the Eighteenth ward, was the third place reported.
