STILL ARRANGING AFFAIRS.

While many of the members of other churches were holding services relative to the day, the congregation of the First Baptist church met in a prayer and singing meeting in Morgan's hall, corner Main avenue and Jackson street. The pastor presided. After reviewing the events of the last few weeks, it was shown that though Dr. B. G. Beddoe, Jr., died yesterday morning at his residence on South Main avenue after a continued illness of two years, he was not only a member of the church, but also a member of the congregation. The death was due to a complication of ailments. Deceased was born at Fredericksburg, Va., March 15, 1831, and came to this country about 29 years of age. He resided at Minersville. Later he removed to this city and settled on the West Side, where he has resided continuously for the past forty years. When he came to this place central city property was considered of little value, and thinking the proposed borough or city would be a benefit to the community, he and his wife, Mrs. B. G. Beddoe, Jr., took up their abodes on the West Side. Through his generosity and charity during the strike of 1877, when many of the poor were starving, he was able to feed, Mr. Harris, who was then conducting a prosperous business, failed and lost everything. In a rather unusual manner, the death of the late Mr. Harris, his grandfather was Isaac H. Thomas, but his grandfather was Isaac H. Thomas, but as he traveled through life the name Thomas was forgotten to some extent, through being called "Eck Arry," as the Welsh would pronounce the name. He married Sarah Williams and nine children were born to them, two of whom are dead. The surviving members of the family are his wife, Mrs. B. G. Beddoe, Jr.; children: Mrs. Peter Roberts, Mrs. William J. Jenkins, of this city; Mrs. Max Morelle, New York city; David and Samuel H. and Isaac H. Thomas, and Thomas, of Colorado. Two grandchildren, Robert and Miss Jennie Roberts, survive him, having been reared by their grandfather since the death of their father eighteen years ago. Also three sisters, namely, Mrs. James Davis, of Ashland, Pa.; Mrs. John Price, Braddock, Pa.; and Mrs. John D. Roberts, Strator, Ill. The funeral will be held from the residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and an hour later services will be conducted in the First Welsh Congregational church. Rev. David Jones officiating. Interment will be made in Washburn street cemetery.

Dr. James A. Manley went to Atlantic City yesterday. Michael Natter, of Alder street, the well known hotel man, who was seriously ill, is slightly improved. Miss Maude Gabel, of Honesdale, is the guest of Pittston avenue friends.

A series of sixteen dances was enjoyed by the large assembly after the entertainment with musical accompaniment by Prof. Johnson. The four committee consisted of William H. Harris, John M. Davis, William Lyman, W. Bieby and Samuel Jones.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Plymouth Congregational church served on excellent supper from 6 to 8 p. m. last night which was patronized by a large number of persons. The tables were artistically decorated and were presided over as follows: Table No. 1, Mrs. John H. Williams; Mrs. William James; No. 2, Mrs. John S. Evans; Mrs. David Hughes; No. 3, Mrs. John Loomis and Mrs. Richard Owens.

The name quilt, which has 1225 names worked upon it, each representing ten cents, was on exhibition. The amount realized on the quilt, which was applied on the church debt and the quilt will be donated to the West Side hospital as soon as it is completed. After the supper ice cream and cake were served to a large number.

The pupils of the Mount Dewey school gave an entertainment at the building in the afternoon which was largely attended. Songs were sung by the school children on semble and recitations and solos were given by Harry Zintel, Louisa Eablie, Mrs. J. Wilson, Edna Jones, Anna Bartoel, Susan Edwards, Sarah Edwards, Maxine Moore, Charles Bowen, Willie Wozel, Laura Parker, Frank Schmidt, Maggie Bowen and August Schmidt.

Four little girls gave a job drill, the "Dewey Boys" went through some military evolutions and the school and audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner," under the leadership of the teacher, Frank Hildebrand. A reception, held at the residence of the architect of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, was held at the home of Hester James, 123 South Lincoln avenue, last evening. The guests were entertained royally and enjoyed several hours of pleasant conversation, games and other amusements incidental to an affair of that kind. Lunch was partaken of and Mr. Hunter welcomed by the following ladies and gentlemen: The Misses Mahon, Brown, King, Smith, Nicol, Waterfield, Patten, Gamowell, Churchill, Thompson, Jones and Mrs. Walter Wilkins; Messrs. Rodrick, Stone, Hancock, Clarke, Gibbons, Bennett, Stover, Reilly, Tewkesbury James, of Scranton; and Brodhead of Flemington, N. J.

Does Coffee Agree with You?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it, but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substitute of pure grain. Get a package to-day from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 10c and 25c.

be the great one of several. Residents of this section intend to have their share of attention along this special line.

At a meeting of the Young Men's Club in December, a paper was read on "The Severs of Green Ridge," and therein was outlined a project, which if carried out, would be a boon to the residents along the Meadow Brook. The project was to build a sewer line down Columbia avenue ravine and turn the Meadow Brook at a point above the oral school, from its present channel to this channel. This would increase the stream's carrying capacity in time of heavy storms.

As it is now the water overflows and washes out the streets and near the river, floods cellars, causing much damage.

Particular stress at that time was given the matter of the running in an open channel of the surface water from the Dunmore and Forest Hill cemeteries down through the thickly settled portion of Green Ridge.

The pupils of public school No. 28 observed the anniversary of Washington's birthday in an appropriate manner. An excellent programme was carried out, consisting of tableaux, songs, dialogues, recitations by Miss Edna Johnson, essays by George W. Breck and Misses Helen Luce, Grace Maddocks; addresses by William Foster, and Misses Virginia and Mabel Jayne; "Poems" quotations by Martin Jordan, William Jenkins and Fred Gunster, and concluded by all arising and saluting the flag. Many parents and friends of the pupils were in attendance.
