CITY NOTES

POOR BOARD MEETS.—There will be a regular meeting of the board in its rooms in the city hall tomorrow afternoon.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.—The Scranton Gas and Water company is today paying its usual quarterly dividend of one-half of one per cent, being at the rate of two per cent per annum.

DESERPTION AND NON-SUPPORT.—Joseph Chelminowski was last evening committed to the county jail by Justice of the Peace Williams, of Precinct, charged with desertion and non-support of family.

HAND INJURED.—Harry Crakenhoff, a miller, yesterday went into the Lackawanna hospital and asked for treatment for a large piece of coal which fell on it and was badly bruised. It was bandaged and the man then went home.

FIRST ARREST MADE.—The first arrest made in three days took place at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Ferdinand L. F. Jones arrested on Adams avenue, a man who was in a very drunken condition, and when he took to the central police station for safe keeping.

APPLE SOCIAL.—The Epworth league of the Elm Park church will hold an "apple social" in the lecture room of the church tonight at 8 o'clock. All young people are cordially invited to attend. This is something new in the way of socials and will be very interesting. There will be a short literary programme before the social.

MAKING PROGRESS.—David Morris, the employe at the Scranton Nut and Bolt works, who was seriously burned Monday by a red-hot bar of steel, is making good progress at the Lackawanna hospital where he was taken. His leg, however, was badly injured, a large hole being burned into it, and it will require some time for it to heal.

THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE
Will Assemble in the Mayor's Office Monday Evening.

Mayor Moir, at the request of Common Councilman Calpin, has decided to call a special meeting of the viaduct conference committee for next Monday evening in his office at city hall. This committee, Mr. Calpin thinks, has not done all that he desired it should do when he introduced the resolution providing for its appointment.

The officials of the Traction company have been seen and asked what that corporation would contribute towards the viaduct but no effort has been made to see the officials of the Lackawanna company. The mayor was instructed to write to these with a view of making an appointment, but he has not done so. This committee, Mr. Calpin's remarks while here indicated plainly that he will not consider the present plans for a moment.

A PLEASANT EVENING.
Spent by Members of Liederkranz Ball Committee on Tuesday.

The committee which had charge of the Liederkranz masquerade ball, which was held last week, was entertained at a reception evening at the home of Charles Wenzel, on Lackawanna avenue, at which they were entertained with an excellent supper which was followed by dancing.

THE KEYSTONE BANQUET.
Circular with Reference to It That Has Been Issued.

The following has been issued by Dr. D. A. Capock, president of the board of trustees of Keystone academy, with reference to the coming banquet:

The trustees of Keystone academy have arranged to give a banquet to the alumni and friends of the institution on the evening of February 3, at 8 o'clock in the parlors of the Penn Avenue Baptist church, Scranton. The interests of our worthy academy have not received the attention they merit from the public in the field in which it is located.

It is the desire of the board to assemble the friends of the academy on the occasion of an evening of social enjoyment when, after full justice has been done to the good things for the body, the strengthening and enlargement of the school may be considered.

AN ENJOYABLE TIME.
F. D. Van Buren Entertained Friends Last Evening.

F. D. Van Buren, janitor of the board of trade building, entertained a large number of his friends in his quarters in that place last night. All present spent a very pleasant evening, an excellent lunch being served and various amusements being indulged in.

BASE BALL FOR SCRANTON.
City Will Be Represented at the Coming Meeting in Wilkes-Barre.

From present indications Scranton will be represented in the Atlantic league of baseball clubs during the coming season. The Tribune has been reliably informed that several men interested in the game will represent this city at the meeting of the promoters which will be held in Wilkes-Barre on Feb. 12, but their identity cannot be positively vouched for at the present time.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied by publication by the writer's name. The Tribune does not assume responsibility for opinions here expressed.

Mr. Hartnoll Expresses Thanks.

Sir: May I ask a brief space in your columns to publicly acknowledge the generous response to an appeal voluntarily made in my behalf by Mr. Tom Wark, telegrapher at the Pennsylvania Coal company's office of this borough. Through the courtesy extended Mr. Wark was permitted to visit each department of the above office to my benefit. To all contributing, I wish to extend the sincere appreciation for their sympathetic and pecuniary remembrance of me. For similar evidences of kindness I am indebted to many young men of this community who assumed a free will effort in the nature of a "benefit" which was held last evening at Washington hall. To the committee in charge and the contributing to its success which I cheerfully recognize among all denominations, I most respectfully ask the acceptance of my appreciation and gratitude. I wish also to thank Mr. Wark for any other aid contributed to and culminating in my interest.

SCRANTON COUNCIL IS TWO YEARS OLD

BANQUET OF THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS LAST NIGHT.

It was Served in the Rooms of the Organization on Wyoming Avenue—Speeches Were Made by Hon. James J. O'Neill, Rev. D. J. MacGuldrick, Dr. W. M. Reedy, Attorney James McKinney, Frederick Forbes and Attorney M. F. Conroy. Those Who Attended.

The second anniversary banquet of Scranton Council, No. 250, Knights of Columbus, was held last evening at the society's rooms on Wyoming avenue, and was a successful affair in all that this much used but nevertheless fitting adjective implies.

Successful as regards attendance, for there were over 125 members of the order present; successful as to post-prandial efforts, for the after-dinner speeches were in all instances bright and entertaining, and last but not least, successful as regards the menu, for Caterer Hanley had in readiness a most delicious and enjoyable repast. The dinner was served in the large meeting room of the club quarters, made beautiful by artistic floral decorations. After the menu had been thoroughly discussed the chairs were passed and general good feeling prevailed during the after-dinner remarks.

Just before the speaking began the following beautiful poem, typifying the purpose of the order, was sung by all standing:

Sing ye his praises loud and long,
And let the unfeigned truth know,
In every echo of your song,
The great deeds done through long ago,
By Columbus of the valiant sort,
Who first old Neptune has controlled,
Despite of envy, intrigue, and gold,
In the dim past of long ago.

With vessels three o'er stormy sea,
He thrilled the world of long ago,
While nations, linked with destiny,
In justice sought the clearer way,
We boast his deeds; we wear his name;
Our order is the shining flame,
That lights the gloom of long ago.

BOURKE TOASTMASTER.

R. J. Bourke, grand knight of the council, acted as toastmaster and proved a most able and clever one. In his opening remarks he referred to the great progress made by the society since its organization two years ago, the membership having been increased from 75 to 175 in that space of time. The first speaker was Hon. James J. O'Neill, of Carbondale, whom Mr. Bourke referred to as "the Chancey Dewey of Lackawanna county."

Mr. O'Neill spoke on "The Knights of Old." He said that chivalry was one of the most beautiful things in all history and "the very soul of knight-hood is the individual honor." Mr. O'Neill traced the history of chivalry from its earliest beginnings after the fall of the Roman empire to the present time. He said:

"Knighthood elevated woman from the condition of a serf to her present proud position as man's equal. Men who have practiced knighthood have left their mark on the history of all ages. A knight is always a soldier, and whether fighting for a right or a wrong cause is always a true knight."

He referred to the modern instances of chivalry taking as examples I. S. Grant and Robert E. Lee, and told of the latter's surrender. A quotation when the former refused to accept the sword of the latter.

The next number was given by John Cummin, who delivered in magnificent style "Satan's address to the Sun," from Milton's immortal poem, "Paradise Lost." His address was given in that clever little poem, "Me and Jim."

MEDICAL KNIGHTS.

Dr. W. M. Reedy, the medical examiner of the organization, spoke on "Medical Knights." He said that there was nothing in the annals of history to surpass the daring of Alexander McDowell, the first surgeon to open a living human body, "who were more brave," said Dr. Reedy, "than the first physicians to use anaesthetics."

"The status of a nation is not perpetuated by the work done by the few; it is rather the work of the rank and file, and the common ordinary physician is as great a man as any of them if he but does his part and does it well."

The next toast was responded to by Rev. D. J. MacGuldrick, S. J., the chaplain of the council, who spoke in his usual able and scholarly manner on "The Knights of Columbus and Liberty."

In commenting his remarks Father MacGuldrick referred to an incident he had read in one of the English papers regarding a meeting of a certain secret society in Edinburgh, one of the members, referring to the war in South Africa, stated that the organization should not take sides with either party, as there were brother members on both sides.

"I am sure," said the speaker, "was not a true citizen of his national country; he was a traitor and the very blackest kind of a traitor, far above all he should be loyal to his country despite the organization of which he was a member. There is no God but God, and the organization of which we are members teaches no such tenets but teaches unimpaired loyalty to country when an enemy threatens her."

WHAT LIBERTY IS.

"Liberty is only the right to do that which cannot be wrong, that which is reasonable is right and that which is not right is not reasonable. A true Knight of Columbus can never swear from the archaic of oaths. No Knight of Columbus understanding the rules of the order can do wrong if he follows those rules implicitly.

Hard to Duplicate It in Scranton.

Scores of representative citizens of Scranton are testifying on the following subject. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it:

"Miss Mary Lutz, of 1210 Sanderson avenue, says: 'I used Doan's Kidney Pills for a severe pain in my back, which troubled me more or less since I was small. It annoyed me mostly after doing a hard day's work, such as ironing, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills soon drove it away. My brother also used them and they did him a great deal of good.'" ond number, successfully succeeding, as the toastmaster said "in soothing all the savage hearts present."

The next speaker was Attorney James McKinney, who responded to "The Young Lawyer," who, he said, was the most abused and worst paid professional man in the world. He made only a few happy remarks, having had short notice, but he made a most favorable impression and related a number of witty stories, telling of the humorous side of the law.

THE PRESS.

Frederick Forbes, whom Mr. Bourke stated was one of the leading lights of journalism in the state, spoke next. Mr. Forbes took as his topic "The Press" and made a brief but clever and entertaining speech. He related several incidents pertaining to newspaper life and wound up by saying:

"The press has its faults and perhaps grievous ones, but let me assure you that its workers are honest, hard working, faithful and conscientious men, whose almost universal aim is to give you the news as it is. 'On, ever, ever of our motto, 'The last speaker of the evening was Attorney M. F. Conroy, who spoke on "The Ladies." Mr. Conroy, disregarding traditional precedents, did not couch his remarks in light and airy verse, but instead delivered an able and true womanhood, telling of the great and wonderful influence wrought by the sex throughout the history of all ages.

In his closing remarks he referred to the banquet were Hon. James J. O'Neill, of Carbondale, John A. Foote, of Archbald; F. B. Clifford, of Carbondale; B. J. Lynch, of Olyphant; T. F. Jordan, of Olyphant; Edward F. McGinty, of Olyphant; James J. O'Malley, of Olyphant; Rev. J. V. Moran, of Archbald; Rev. D. J. MacGuldrick, Dr. Walter M. Reedy, Dr. F. L. McGraw, Dr. John T. COURT ADJOURNED
UNTIL MONDAY

THIS AS A MARK OF RESPECT TO JUDGE GUNSTER.

Court was Formally Notified of the Death of Ex-Justice Alfred Hand, District Attorney Jones Has Made Up Another Trial List—Order Made by the Court with Reference to Changing a Polling Place in Benton Township—Marriage Licenses Granted Yesterday.

Court will not sit for the remainder of this week on account of the death of Judge F. W. Gunster, Judges R. W. Archbald and H. M. Edwards were on the bench when court was formally opened yesterday morning. Ex-Justice Alfred Hand at once stepped before the court and said:

"It becomes my painful duty to announce to this court the death of Judge Gunster. This is not the place to pass a eulogy upon him, but it must be said he graced this bench by the unanimous vote of this court. He is to those of us here, including your honors, though his body lies quiet, a brother. He is to us all a friend, a fellow citizen. It is meet that the stream of justice cease to flow. I move therefore that this court out of respect for him, and in doing this we respect our duty to the people of this county, will adjourn until next Monday morning."

"This is a fitting motion," replied Judge Archbald, "and we can but agree to it. A constituent part of this court is gone. We feel the loss deeply, both bench and bar. The high regard we have always had for our associate calls for the most marked token of respect we can give, that is that of the adjournment of this court. I suspend until our brother is laid away in his last resting place. We therefore will now adjourn until Monday next before resuming any further business."

Then turning to the jurors, Judge Archbald said:

"Gentlemen, as a result of this motion there will be no further occasion for attendance here. We regret anything so sad as this interrupts the business of the court, but you will agree with us that it is proper all pay this respect to the memory of Judge Gunster, and now gentlemen you are discharged."

The court, though it will hold no public sessions, will be open to transact such business that has been specially set for times in the interim.

Voters to Decide.

The following order was handed down yesterday in the matter of the changing of the polling place in Benton township:

Judge Archbald handed down the following order in the matter today: "That an election be held on the third Tuesday of February next by the qualified electors of Benton township, under the direction of the election officers of said township at the regularly appointed polling place, to determine whether the said polling place should be changed to a place where it is now fixed at a room in the hotel of M. D. Potter at Pleasantville, in said township, to a room in the building of DeWilton Sweet at the southeast corner of Pleasantville Four Corners."

This order shall be certified to the county commissioners, who shall print thereon the official ballot for the said township, to be used at the said election, below the list of candidates, the question:

"Should the polling place be changed to the building of DeWilton Sweet at the southeast corner of Pleasantville Four Corners?" Yes. No.

The said commissioners shall also prepare proper tally and return sheets for said district, so that due returns of the vote upon the said question may be made.

A New Trial List.

Because of the adjournment of court to next Monday morning at 9 o'clock, in respect to the memory of the late Judge F. W. Gunster, District Attorney Jones was obliged to make out a new trial list. All cases on this week's list remaining untried go over to next week and will be disposed of on the following days. All cases on the original list for the week, remain the same, and subpoenas issued in them will remain effective and parties and witnesses must attend accordingly.
