OF A SOCIAL AND PERSONAL NATURE

There are two things which are popularly supposed to be a subject of envy of mankind by woman-kind. One is the privilege of voting, the other is the banquet system, so long a close and exclusive monopoly of men. All this in Scranton was viewed to the rise of the Green Ridge Women's club. Now it is different. The annual banquet of that club is likely to rival the New England dinner, or any of the famous affairs which occupied several columns in the next morning's paper.
Last night eighty-six young women—there are old ones in club; it is those who are old who do not desire to join such an organization as that of Green Ridge—sat at the charmingly arranged tables in the Green Ridge Presbyterian church. There was a brave array of pretty gowns and bright faces. The room was gay with quantities of beautiful flowers and each of the many tables, arranged in a circular fashion, was expensively decorated. The table at which the president, Mrs. L. J. Lansing, presided, had as a centerpiece a mass of lavender blossoms, illuminated by a myriad of tiny electric lights in lavender tinted globes. Mrs. Lansing was presented with a corsage bouquet of violets, which added to the tasteful effect of the table. The menu was printed on pretty little cards in the shape of an acetylene cylinder. It consisted of the following:
Chicken Patties. Green Peas. Potato Croquettes. Olives and Pickles. Waldorf Salad. Bread Sticks. Almonds. Ice Cream. Cakes. Coffee. Bon Bon.
The toasts were as bright as possible and the responses were not only witty, but showed a breadth of thought and a happy philosophy. Mrs. Lansing, as toastmaster, was most graceful and clever in her remarks. She has a swift epigrammatic style which is indeliberately charming in its literary value. "Many people," she said, "live in incidents affected by gaily trivial relationship, looking only at immediate results. I would have a women's club, a school where we may learn to grasp the philosophy of living with relationship to the broadest sympathies.

Miss Dorothy Dimmick spoke most pleasingly in rhyme in response to the toast, "The Personnel of the Club." She gave a humorous review of its work. In the course of which she referred to the president thus:
"From Boston she came and now over us reigns,
She abandoned the beans, but brought with her the brains."
Miss Anna Robinson subject was "Lavender and Heartsease," and most beautifully she spoke of the old-time ideal of woman and the present as under the changed condition of the times. In conclusion she illustrated by a laudable incident the aim in which the club is held. It seems that in the course of preparation for the evening's feast the want of ice became apparent. Some one telegraphed for it and promptly came the reply from the ice man: "Do you want it analyzed?"
Miss Greveke, the talented and cultured secretary of the club, thought and interesting response to the toast, "The Suggestions of a Motto." In the course of her brief remarks she said:
"Honesty checked in rudeness is a boon. High-mindedness without graciousness is lost in the clouds. Strength without grace is but in part effective, and learning with refinement is empty. The woman's life stands for the true education."
Mrs. M. R. Kays made one of the hits of the evening in her toast in rhyme in response to "Looking Backward from 1900." It was in its way a resume of what has been accomplished during the club's brief existence, and included was the explanation.
"The water which they are pleased to drink
Is now no longer black like ink
In those days when the world was young,
Nicholas all gone, and just to think
This done by the Women's Club!"
Miss Winsor gave a most clever response to the subject, "The Philosophy of the Club." The affair was an unqualified success and was arranged in a way to reflect great credit on the committee.
Those present were: Mrs. L. J. Lansing, Miss Lavania Dimmick, Miss Dorothy Dimmick, Mrs. W. F. Matjes, Mrs. Erastus Parrott, Mrs. G. C. Merriam, Miss Tillon, Mrs. P. F. Smith, Miss Blanche Hall, Mrs. R. E. Harley, Miss Williams, Miss Lillian Poole, Miss Brundage, Miss M. L. Williams, Miss Josie Williams, Mrs. C. A. Bevans, Mrs. E. H. Davis, Mrs. I. Gardner, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. H. H. Franklin, Miss Sara Fortham, Miss John Burke, Mrs. H. L. Halstead, Mrs. F. F. Marsh, Mrs. W. C. Van Blarcom, Mrs. C. B. Shoemaker, Mrs. J. C. A beautiful collation was held last night at the Country club, which attended by a number of young society people and out-of-town guests. Mrs. Arthur Wetshank received. The collation, which included five favor figures and several other pretty ideas, was led by Miss Gertrude Sprague and Mr. Charles A. Belin.
Those present were: Miss Harris, Germantown; Miss Clark, of Orange, N. J.; Miss Holmes, of Poughkeepsie; Miss Dunton, of Baltimore; Miss Hart, of New York; Miss Hanig, of Kansas City; Miss Beins, Miss Gertrude Sprague, Miss Beatrice Heiford, but she has much originality and a clever adaptability to a wide range of character sketches. She is peculiarly successful in the rendering of monologues, the village elderly woman, while her "coon sketches" are admirable.
The strongest piece of the evening was an adaptation of the well known story by Richard Harding Davis, "The Boy Orator of Zepeta City," in which she certainly swayed her audience with a power equal to that of a finished actress. She is pretty and graceful, and was groomed in faultless taste. The little beauty of her figure is well adapted to the little sketches by Paul Lawrence Dunbar, the colored poet, and her rendering of "The Angelina Johnson" was uniquely charming. The number which most pleased the audience was her own original sketch, "Miss Pickens at Afternoon Tea."
Miss Grace Spencer was the magnificent voice last night, and sang a number of pretty songs, none more delightfully rendered than the "Boleto." Her French accent is most satisfactory. The Grier solo was exceptionally well rendered, and Nivins' "Rosary" is seldom heard with better effect. She was accompanied by Mr. Doersam.
The stage effect was one of the distinct pleasures of the evening. It was decidedly spring-like, with a prettiness mass of lilies at the left, while beyond was grouped a quantity of daisies.

The Bachelor Girls' social club last night gave an Easter ball at the club house of the Scranton Lyceum club, Washington avenue. The ball room was handsomely decorated. At 12 o'clock lunch was partaken of by all present. The committee in charge consisted of the Misses Jeanette Crain, Jane Follows, Ethel Porter, Gertrude Follows and Anna Kelly.
John Boyle O'Reilly council, No. 134, V. M. I., last night gave its annual ball at its rooms on Lackawanna Avenue. The floor committee consisted of John T. Walsh, Joseph McDonald and James A. Marion. M. A. McFlinley, esp., president of the council, was master of ceremonies, and James H. Clifford assisted him. The reception committee was composed of John P. Gilgley, John J. Roche, Charles P. STATUS OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Conditions Under Which the Library Was Accepted by the City—The Proposed Measure Strikes at the Integrity of and Respect for the Organization—No Institution State, City or Private Has So Many Checks Upon Its Funds and Officers as This Library.

Sir—The following paper was prepared solely for the board before which it was read. At the board's request and resolution, it is submitted for publication.
Alfred Hand.
To the Board of Trustees of the Albright Memorial Building and Scranton Free Public Library:
Gentlemen: The attempt in one branch of the city council to change the management of the library, and the trusts committed to this board, by a resolution, which takes from you all discretion in regard thereto, by committing to an auditing committee the disbursement of the funds arising therefrom from your responsibility in regard to the books purchased, as well as the control in other respects, is the warrant for this opinion. It is impossible for the council never knew of them or have forgotten them, and the public may not recognize their significance.
The resolution of April last a resolution was introduced into the select council, in the following words, viz:
"Resolved by the select council of the city of Scranton, that a common council consisting of the select council and the trustees of the Albright Memorial Building and Scranton Free Public Library, shall be and is hereby authorized to make and cause to be made, and all such claims shall be itemized, showing the name of the person or persons furnishing the services, labor or supplies with the date when the same were rendered. Upon approval of such claims as hereinbefore provided, no proper city officers shall draw and issue city warrants to the persons respectively named in such itemized bills, and no such bills and hereafter no warrant shall be issued to said library except in pursuance of this resolution."
This resolution was passed with no previous notice to the officers of the library, and received by referred to any committee, and received a vote of 10 to 6.
The same resolution came up on the 12th inst. in common council, and has been referred to a special committee consisting of Messrs. Keller, Tewksbury, Zlotman, Calpin and Morris, in connection with the city solicitor. This was passed by a vote of 10 to 8.
What was the cause or source of this attempt to change the relation of this library board to the city, which has been harmoniously for ten years for the benefit of both the library and the city, as well as the citizens and residents of the city of Scranton for whose benefit the trust was expressly designed, and which has been so successful since the attempt was made, and a multitude of expressions have come to your president from private citizens and members of the council, who have the public interest at heart, and feel very zealously that it bores no good to the public welfare or the library. I need not recount them here. The main matters which now concern the public interest are the rights of this library association and the corresponding duties of the city, which have been fixed by the covenants in the deeds made with honor by the select council of the city, and the legislation of the state, the ordinance of the city, and by the continual practice of the city which corresponds with the state in its dealings with charitable and benevolent institutions.

FACTS IN THE PREMISES.
The following facts have constantly been before the city officials and the public, and have been reported to the city by our published annual reports made to the city, and a copy delivered to each councilman:
On May 28, 1897, when the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania enacted a law empowering any city to take and hold donations of money, books, real and personal property for the purpose of establishing a free library, and the mode of such corporation and making provision by annual appropriation for the maintenance of such free library.
On 24th of February, 1898, the heirs and devisees of Joseph J. Albright and Elizabeth, his wife, conveyed the present site of this library to William T. Smith, Henry Belin, Jr., and Alfred Hand; and the heirs and devisees of the late Joseph J. Albright, erected this building thereon, as contemplated in the trust deed, all in trust to be conveyed to the city of Scranton, provided that when the limits of such corporation and making provision by annual appropriation for the maintenance of such free library.
On the 4th of April, 1899, the city of Scranton passed an ordinance, approved by the mayor, embracing the conditions upon which it was to receive through the mayor, the title to the library building and the land, and the deed, to be placed thereon, and the public use.
On the 11th of May, 1899, by deed acknowledged on that day and dated the 5th of April, 1899, the trustees in the deed from the Albright heirs, conveyed the property to the city, upon the express conditions named in the original deed and mentioned in the ordinance. The conditions upon which the donation of the property was accepted by the city are contained in the second section of the city ordinance and are as follows:
CONDITIONS.
"Section 2. The said donation and conveyance are received by the city of Scranton upon the following terms and conditions, being the same that are mentioned in said deed, to wit:
"For the establishment of a free public library, for the use and benefit of the citizens and residents of the city of Scranton;
"That the building shall be called the Albright Memorial Building, in memory of Joseph J. Albright and Elizabeth, his wife;
"That the library therein placed shall be reasonably maintained;
"That the same shall be managed and controlled by a board consisting of sixteen trustees, of whom the mayor of the city shall be an ex-officio one, and fifteen shall be selected and appointed as follows:
"Five thereof shall be nominated by the mayor, one each from the clergymen or pastors, residents of the city of Scranton, of the following religions denominations, to wit: Episcopalian, Roman Catholic, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian, which nomination shall be confirmed by the select council of the city; four thereof (no more than two of whom shall be of the same political party) shall be nominated by the mayor from the citizens at large, and confirmed by the select council; three thereof shall be appointed by the board of trade of the city of Scranton; and three thereof shall be appointed by the president judge of the court of common pleas of Lackawanna county from the members of the bar of said court.
"The said fifteen members shall be divided into five classes of three members each in such manner that the term of three members shall expire each year, and they shall hold their offices for five years, the respective terms to be at first organization of the board by drawing lots.
"Vacancies occurring from any cause shall be filled for the unexpired term by nomination and appointment from the same class by the respective bodies and persons above designated. In any vacancy shall be filled by the mayor, the names indicated, then the board may fill such vacancy.
"The board of trustees shall, annually, make report to the select council of the city of Scranton of the condition, expenditures and necessities of the library and property, real and personal, connected therewith."
TRUSTEES TO CONTROL.
From this it will be seen that the first condition of the deed is that the library shall be reasonably maintained, and the second that the same shall be managed and controlled by a board consisting of sixteen trustees, of whom the mayor of the city shall be an ex-officio one, and fifteen shall be selected and appointed as follows: (as in said ordinance provided).
The deed and ordinance provide that "The board of trustees shall make report to the select and common councils of the city of Scranton, of the condition, expenditures, and necessities of the library and property, real and personal, connected therewith."
Under the act of assembly, and the charter of the city of Scranton, in connection with the provision of the city, who is made by the charter of the city, the select council of the city, the provision was made by annual appropriation for the maintenance of the free library, and by conference between the officers of the library and the select council, it was determined that the following system of accounts was adopted: A monthly statement of receipts and expenditures of the library, always open to the inspection of the select council, and an annual report to the city council, which has always been kept up.

HOW BOOKS ARE PURCHASED.
The purchase of the books has been made by careful selection and approval as follows: The librarian, from many years experience in establishing and managing public libraries, is thoroughly acquainted with the needs and scope and the minutest detail of the requirements of a public library, keeps in touch with all the libraries of this country, and so far as necessary, he consults the select council of the city, in part from his knowledge and experience, in part from the calls which come from individuals who use or wish to use the library, and in part from the suggestions of six members, who pass upon every book, and such as are approved are then submitted to the whole board, which passes upon them before they are purchased.
The bills and vouchers made out for the purchase of the books must first receive the approval of the librarian, second, the finance committee, the select council of the city, and the bill is approved by the president, in their presence. In regard to the building and the grounds, the same process is gone through, with the building and grounds committee.
AUDITING OF ACCOUNTS.
For ten years the duties imposed by the deed of trust, the ordinance of the city, the act of assembly, and the city charter have been literally performed by the respective parties and officers concerned, and printed reports made to the select council, with a copy for each member. The appropriation has always been asked for, not in a lump sum, as is the case with some of the libraries in other cities, but the amounts are itemized for the respective classes of expenditure. Your president is therefore warranted in saying that no receipt and disbursement of money by any institution, state, city or private corporation, has so close and frequent auditing, and so many checks upon the funds and officers as this library. The method adopted at the first by the select council of the city, and the ordinance corresponds with that provided by the state in its dealing with charitable and benevolent institutions.
It is therefore not because of any proper real, occasion or motive relative to the public welfare or the library, that this resolution has been introduced in the council, which will not only change the proper action of the library's affairs, but will destroy all proper control and responsibility on the part of the members of this board.
The plan of organization of the library has received the approval of the select council, as they have watched its workings, of distinguished men interested in libraries and benevolent institutions in other states. The cosmopolitan construction of the management of the institution should be considered by the public, and the class of the citizens represented on this board, as of not only great benefit to the public, but to the several classes concerned. The proper measure in council strikes at the integrity of and respect for the organization. In the opinion of your president it calls in duty for such action of this board as the proper trustee will not permit the material reduction from double the one way fare and will be limited, going to one day from date of sale, and returning to thirty days from date of sale, and will be good for continuous passage only in each direction. Agents first will be supplied with round trip fares between stations on their division and these will be followed by inter-division fares, thereby enabling them in a short time to sell round trip tickets between all stations.

CHARLES HUESTER.
He is a Candidate for Recorder of Deeds, Subject to Decision of Republican Primaries.

The subject of this sketch is a thrifty, honest, upright, representative of the German people.
Born in Germany 46 years ago, he came to this country when only a boy and for more than a quarter of a century has been part of the industrious, thriving German community of the South Side, this city, and has done his share towards the development and progress of that part of the city.
He has the respect and good-will of not only his neighbors, but of every one wherever he is known.
A German by birth, he is an American by instinct and no better or more enthusiastic supporter of our government can be found among those who have been born and brought up under the folds of "Old Glory."
He is of the people and knows what it costs to earn a dollar at hard labor. He has been saving and industrious may be secured from all ticket agents, and as soon as tariffs can be printed they will be posted in stations for inspection by the public.

THE CAKES ENTERTAINED.
They Proved Themselves Most Clever Performers.
L. B. Cake and Ella June Meade-Cake gave a most enjoyable entertainment, last night, in Guernsey hall, for the benefit of the Grace Lutheran church. The Cakes are exceedingly versatile entertainers, and between them both they can keep an audience in good humor for several hours.
Mr. Cake's impersonation of Bill Nye was especially good. Mrs. Cake was also very good in her impersonation of the Mormon wife about to greet her husband's twenty-first spouse, and her twentieth companion in misery.

Eye Strain Illness.
"A dangerous matter to do much reading on the average train, and eye strain cannot be avoided as a result of the jolting usually experienced in traveling unless one travels on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway. The roadbed of this line is so perfect and its cars so delicately balanced that jolting is reduced to a minimum and the passenger may read to his "heart's content" without experiencing any inconvenience. But then, travel on the Lake Shore is perfect in every way."
