A SOLDIER'S LETTER

Trumpeter Fox Describes an Engagement in the Philippines

Patrick F. Fox, mauling clerk in the postoffice, has recently received a letter from his brother, James, of Company K, Fifteenth infantry, which is in the Philippines. The letter is descriptive of the scenes and experiences which the boys in blue have lately passed through in our far-away possessions. The letter is dated May 14, Dec. 5, and is as follows:

"I am still alive and feeling well. I have not been sick although we feel many hardships. Our battalion has seen plenty of fighting since we left Manila. Immediately after we landed we were detailed to Santa Cruz and on the way had some sharp 'biking'. At Santa Cruz we stayed three days. On the third day at 10 p. m. we were hurriedly ordered to arms to help Company L, who were seriously engaged at Maylatay. We marched through rice fields until about daylight and stayed under cover until it became light. Company L was on the opposite side of the town with about 100 men and between us were 300 natives.

"I had a signal 'to the front' and the galling gun of our boat L company stormed the works and gradually drove the rebels to our position. The gunboat fire did little damage but the incessant volleys from L were grandly directed and made terrible havoc. The Filipinos attempted to cross a marsh and sunk up to their waists and every few fellows that was not killed outright was drowned. They had not driven the insurgents far enough for us to attack when Company L's fire ceased. We were ordered to 'to them'. Our officers were in a quandary as to who was nearest us, Company L or the Rebs. We advanced about 400 yards when we were on the bank of a stream. We struck out and were half way across the stream when the captain told me to 'attention'. I had barely done so when they came a volley into us. As the water was quite deep we had to pass on and take the horrible medicine. We gained the bank and were engaged almost an hour before they broke and ran. We killed twenty-three and a lieutenant colonel and I was terribly cut up about them. That night we withdrew and the next day were reinforced by Companies J and M, a gunboat and several mountain pieces. Our company formed the advance under Major Cornish. Our captain was too weak to participate. After some resistance the niggers fled in utter rout and we carried everything before us. As I was close to Major Cornish I secured a rebel flag and one fowl. That was the first food I had in thirty-six hours and we were very tired and covered with mud and powder grime.

"That night we made another quick journey back to Santa Cruz and were in bed about three hours when the rebels made a night attack. We arose from our beds and kept on the lookout all night.

"The boys were disgruntled when they were ordered from China as they wished to see the scrapping there but I guess we are getting enough for anyone now. It is aggravating to be surprised and awakened in the night by volley after volley and be unable to locate the enemy. They are certainly fast disappearing and seem to know just how deadly a Yankee Krug Johnson can bark.

"I was detailed for two days following the above action to Magdalena with a small detachment. We were busy for about six weeks biking around to keep the rebels off the telegraph lines. We were fired on ten times in that place. One night we got private information of a proposed night attack. It came as we were informed and we put nineteen out of commission. After a march of forty-six miles we are again back in Maylatay domiciled in a church. There are 600 good natives here in the day time. We are waiting every minute for an attack. When it comes we fully intend paying Company L's score. Which is—James Fox, Co. K.

A NEW ORGANIST

John Naylor Accepts Position in the First Congregational Church

J. Franklin Crowell, who has presided at the keyboard of the new organ in the First Presbyterian church for some time, resigned his position on Sunday at noon, and the resignation was accepted immediately. On Sunday evening a lady volunteer performed in a very capable manner. Yesterday morning, Rev. M. C. Elliott, the pastor, made a contract with John Naylor, the local manager of the Metropolitan Insurance company, to fill the vacant position. Mr. Naylor, although not at present actively identified with music, is a thorough musician and has performed in many cities and at all kinds of organs, and the pastor feels that in securing his services he has got a great acquisition to his church and his services.

Mr. Naylor played a church organ in England for six years, when but a boy. Coming to this country, he studied thorough-bass and counterpoint and composition, and composed a number of selections, one of which, "The Song of the Prophet," has had a large sale. He has been church organist in the Forty-second Street church in Pittsburgh, Pa.; Havel, Mass.; Washburn Street Presbyterian church, Scranton, and as substitute in the Green Ridge Presbyterian church in Scranton.

"THE VICTORIAN CROSS."

Opening Engagement of the Tommy Shearer Company a Success.

The Tommy Shearer company commenced a week's engagement at the Grand last evening in "The Victorian Cross," before a large audience. The play was produced in a very satisfactory manner, and the applause was continuous. The play is a comedy in which the acts were good and original. Miss Isabelle Fletcher, the leading lady, Mr. Shearer, and the rest of the company rendered their parts in a manner which is sure to make their stay in this city a profitable one.

Michael Stone, who has long been porter at the new Hotel American, has resigned and has started in business on his own hook. He will establish a dry and trucking business. Joe Shanley, who has been porter of the Hotel Irving in Scranton, has accepted the vacant position left by Stone, and started as porter at the American yesterday.

A Shut Down

The Delaware and Hudson colliery at Lake Brook has posted a notice that they will close down until further notice. This will throw about fifty men and boys out of employment. At the local coal office last night, it was stated that it was news there, as they had heard nothing of the shut-down.

Gone to Florida

Oscar White and H. D. Mead, of Tompkinsville, came to this city yesterday morning and left on the Erie for Sanford, Florida, where they will spend the winter. They go to New York, where they will take a steamer for Savannah, and finish their trip by rail.

Entertainment Postponed

The public entertainment to be given by the Knights of Father Mathew has been postponed until the second Sunday in February. An excellent programme is being prepared and the entertainment will probably be better because of the delay.

THE POOL TOURNAMENT

Play in the Series at the Carbondale Cycle Club Began Last Night

The second annual pool tournament of the Carbondale Cycle club started last night in their club house on North Church street. The standing of the first night's play is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name, Won, Lost. Hoole 1 0, Stewart 1 0, Moon 0 2, Ronnie 1 0.

The first game between Benton and Hoole, started at 7 o'clock. The room was well crowded at the opening and until the last game was played. Benton is one of the scratch men and his opponent, Mr. Hoole, was given a handicap of sixteen balls. The game was close, and in the sixth rack Benton needed six and Hoole one. The latter broke and Benton pocketed five balls. He fell down on an easy shot for the right hand corner. The cue ball forced the ball to within three inches of the pocket and half an inch from the cushion. The cue ball rested near the spot and Hoole secured the game on his next shot. The next game was between Moon and Stewart, the former being given a handicap of sixteen balls. Moon led until the fifth frame, when Stewart gained the lead by pocketing eleven balls. In the sixth frame he secured sufficient balls to win, though Moon wanted but one. In the game of Benton vs. Ronnie, the latter was handicapped with sixteen balls. Benton, from the start, was in the lead, making the latter two lost and none won. The games will be continued this afternoon and again tonight.

1900 AT THE POST OFFICE

An Increase of $608.05 Over the Preceding Year in Spite of the Labor Troubles

The comparative statement of the postal business done at the local postoffice for 1899 and 1900 shows an encouraging increase in the receipts. For the year ending Dec. 31, 1899, the receipts for stamps, postal cards, etc., were $12,430.96, while last year they amounted to $13,038.11, an increase of $608.05.

Table with 4 columns: Quarter, 1899, 1900, Increase. Q1: 3,874.14, 4,351.81, 477.67; Q2: 2,962.29, 3,517.16, 554.87; Q3: 2,951.98, 2,834.04, -117.94; Q4: 3,042.55, 2,485.09, -557.46.

Total: $12,430.96, $13,038.11, $608.05 increase.

In the Money

In the money order department the business ran up to $22,000, also an increase over the preceding year. Postmaster Thomas has cause for congratulation over the good showing, as many of the towns through this section did a smaller volume of business in postal matters in 1900 than in the previous year. The poor business of the third quarter of the year is to be accounted for because the coal miners' strike was in its zenith then and the presidential campaign also had a little to do with the slack times. But the showing for the total years indicates prosperity for the city.

HIS WATCH RECOVERED

Through a Tribune "Ad." He Once More Has His Timepiece. Harry Wolcott, conductor of the Delaware and Hudson freight between this city and Wilkes-Barre, lost a fine gold watch, valued at $125, on Saturday. His train was passing the steel mill at Scranton when Mr. Wolcott pulled the watch out of his pocket. The chain broke and the timepiece dropped to the roadbed. Search was made, but the crystal was the only part which could be found. On the arrival of his train here, Mr. Wolcott came to The Tribune office and inserted an ad stating he had placed in the Scranton part of the paper, with instructions to report if found to the ticket agent at the steel mill.

Last night Mr. Wolcott came to this office and announced that the ticket agent at the steel mill had sent him word that the watch had been found and brought to him in accordance with the directions in the ad. The conductor was very happy and feels grateful to The Tribune for its aid.

The Musicians' Union

Frank Rommelmyer, of the Mozart band, has received assurances from George C. Smith, of Baltimore, Md., first vice president of the American Federation of Musicians, that a charter for a local union will soon be forthcoming, and that all musicians from Archbald to Peckville will be eligible to belong to it. A meeting of the local musicians will be held in the rooms of the Mozart band to take steps to organize the local union. It is probable that Vice President Nachman will be invited here to formally incorporate it and install the officers.

A Slight Wreck

The Ontario and Western yard, north of the city, was the scene of a slight wreck Sunday shortly after 10 o'clock. A coal car had jumped the track on a switch where the train had been pushed for the north-bound passenger train to pass. The car was pulled to one side, but another coal train, south-bound, ran into it, the derailed car being too close to the main track. The engine and a dozen or more of the cars were badly damaged. No one was hurt.

A Coasting Accident

James, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kilpatrick, of Wyoming street, met with an accident on Saturday afternoon while coasting down hill. He was coming down with the front side of his anatomy glued to the top of the sled, when a big stone neglected to get out of his course and he was deposited with celerity on the side of his head and shoulders in a ditch. He is now comfortably killing time in the house until his cuts heal over.

A Queer Vehicle

In the midst of the driving snowstorm last evening, Joseph Gilmarin excited attention and comment on Main street by a queer combination bicycle, which he pushed through the snow in good style. The rear of the rig was equipped with a regulation bicycle wheel, with chain, pedals, etc., which the front had a runner attachment clamped to the front forks. The unique bicycle seemed a great success.

No Quorum

Common council was to have met in regular session last night, but only six members showed up, by 9 o'clock, and this being one too few for a quorum, no meeting could be held. Secretary Evans, of the board of health, has his report for the year 1900 ready, but it was not submitted. Chairman Kennedy will probably call a meeting for some night later in the week.

Special Meetings

A series of revival meetings was inaugurated in the lecture room of the Berean Baptist church last evening. The purpose of these meetings is to follow up the work of the week of prayer of last week. Meetings will also be held on Wednesday and on Thursday evening. They will be conducted by the pastor, who will make a short address each night. All are invited.

Mr. Coles stated the miners of Richmondale were about to organize a similar society and it is probable the Jermyn and Mayfield societies will be invited to give an exhibition here on Saturday, found a two-seated buggy at the bottom of an embankment in a secluded part of the old Carbondale road. The buggy had apparently been there for some time. Inside of it was a set of harness, the traces of which had been cut. It seems probable that John J. Nealon will be nominated for council and that Hon. Thomas Mooney will be the other nominee, if he is willing to accept.
