SALAD FROM SUSQUEHANNA

THE MYSTERIOUS MURDER OF WIDOW CAMPBELL.

Strange Tales of Ghosts That Dance at Nightfall—An Editor Abroad. A Few Mixed Pickles—Springtime Fancies—Personal and Other Paragraphs.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Susquehanna, April 19.—Some years ago the Widow Campbell, an aged resident of Great Bend township, was reported to have a considerable sum in gold in her possession. She suddenly disappeared and rumors of murder were rife. It was stated at the time that the widow placed her gold in a valise and started about for Great Bend, to take a train en route to visit relatives. She disappeared from the earth, and detectives failed to locate her, dead or alive.

There were several arrests on suspicion. A number of persons at Great Bend suddenly were possessed of gold, and they were shadowed, but all to no purpose. Acres of ground in the wooded section of Great Bend township were dug over with the hope of finding a new grave, and the county authorities came within an ace of offering a reward for the discovery of the widow. There came strange tales of ghosts dancing over the turpicks, and rapping at doors at unseasonably hours of the night. The disappearance of the Widow Campbell in time caused to interest the public and the matter was forgotten.

Those who are in a position to know now claim that the widow died a natural death and was interred in a secret place by persons who desired to divide her gold among themselves, without consulting her relatives or sharing it with the lawyers and the court. It may have been worldly wisdom, but it was rough on the lawyers and the next of kin.

AN EDITOR ABROAD.

The New York Telegraph has the following concerning our able and versatile friend, Judge Thomas J. Ham, the veteran editor of the Honesdale Herald:

"Judge Thomas J. Ham, for nearly half a century, has been one of the most prominent men in the State. He was a quiet man with his married son, and he would like the girls to know he is not Buffalo Bill, being merely one of the big scents' doubles, and they must say nothing about it. He is not Buffalo Bill, and he would like the girls to know he is not Buffalo Bill, being merely one of the big scents' doubles, and they must say nothing about it.

These attentions were taken lightly by the judge when he first arrived, but he longed now for Wayne county, where the people are not so fastidious as Buffalo Bill, and the girls are not so fastidiously working at him."

IN SUSQUEHANNA COUNTY.

Lettor More and family, of Great Bend, are enjoying a trip through the sunny south.

Union State Consul General James T. De Bois, of Switzerland, will in a few days arrive at Haledon to remain permanently. They will occupy their beautiful new home.

Rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, the name of Great Bend will not be changed to "Chamoisville."

Colonel Charles C. Pratt and family, who have spent the winter in Binghamton, have returned to their home in New Milford.

Telephone wires are being strung all over everywhere throughout the county.

Now that the vexed question of the postmaster's office has been settled, perhaps Montrose will settle down to the matter of celebrating the centennial of its settlement.

MIXED PICKLES.

A Susquehanna man says that he would rather hold a curry comb argument with the heads of a mine than to visit his wife three straight weeks of cucurbit.

The succulent oyster has gone on his summer vacation.

Young man, if you feel that "life is blank," fill it out and have it sworn to.

Nobody has invested a contrivance whereby a man at the theater can drop a nickel in the slot and get a dove. It would fill another long-felt want.

To reprieve him: Sit down upon it before it is dry.

The hilllers tell us that the hop crop was big last winter.

It costs money to advertise, but it costs much more money not to advertise.

The biggest sort of an April fool is the chap who signs something that he doesn't understand.

Edison is at work on a patent lever. He says he expects to raise nothing with it, except, perhaps, a minister's salary.

He that rattle his diet with care is wiser than he that taketh on an over-supply of green trout and a pain in the stomach.

The first man who gets shaved in a barber shop on the latest style of the red railroad train will be braver than the historical individual that swallowed the first oyster.

C. F. Kohler, making a record that is difficult to equal. This command is preparing a large class for admission shortly. Past Commander C. R. Bowman, a candidate for grand captain general, will represent this command at the Grand convocation at Columbia next month.

Mount Horeb commandery, No. 141, at Altoona, is conferring degrees in full form on nine candidates. Sir J. Horace Shamp, a veteran sir knight, has been elected as recorder, to succeed the late Sir J. B. W. Icker.

The proclamation has been issued for the annual convocation of the Grand commandery of Pennsylvania, which will be held at Columbia, Lancaster county, on May 14, 15 and 16. There will be an informal reception in the council chamber of Oriframme commandery, No. 170, on Monday evening, May 13; and a public reception on Tuesday evening, May 14, in the Columbia opera house. On Wednesday and Thursday, a delightful trolley trip to Chickies park, Lancaster, and Litz Springs by special cars will be made on Friday morning, the 17th.

A large attendance is expected at this Grand convocation, because of action upon amendments to the Grand constitution, and because five officers of the Grand body are to be elected.

King Richard commandery, No. 147, at Chambersburg, Pa., on April 11, gave a pleasing entertainment in the hall. Past Commander J. James A. Hamilton presided, and the program included a description of the Island of Malta by Dr. James H. Black, with original stereoscopic views; a fine series of views by Sir J. Will Barbour, past commander, addresses by Rev. Sir E. H. Leisinger, past commander; Rev. W. P. Eveland, Congressman Thad. M. Mahon, Sir H. C. White and Sir S. F. Huber. A recitation by Theodore Carl, singing by W. G. Underwood and music by Floyd Boies's trio completed the admirable programme.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

A Subject in Which Everybody is Deeply Interested.

The successful operation of wireless telegraphy means a great deal to the world. Marconi has done much to perfect the system since he first discovered it. The early idea was carried out by an elaborate set of instruments and apparatus, and an aerial wire hung from a tall mast. But the aerial wire and the tall masts have been replaced by more modern apparatus, and a cylinder but a few feet high is now employed in the service.

Marconi has successfully introduced the duplex telegraphy into his system, a step significant of wonderful advancement. Only recently he accomplished a remarkable feat. He had established a station at the Lizard, Cornwall, which is 200 miles from St. Catherine's, and on the first day of the testing of King's Green VII. Mr. Marconi succeeded in establishing perfect communication between St. Catherine's and the Lizard.

Since that time he has established perfect communication in both directions and arranged to duplex the line, so that he could send two messages

Autos for Farmers.

Generally speaking, farmers should not be expected to take so much interest in the automobile exhibit at the Pan-American exposition as people who reside in cities where smooth pavements are at all seasons available for the operation of the horseless carriage. In the fact that a Colorado man is said to have invented an automobile for the use of farmers. It is a machine which may be operated by gasoline or electricity, and it is adapted to ploughing, seeding, cultivating or harvesting.

The engine or motor is on the forward or drive wheels, which are joined by a long reach to the smaller rear wheels, over which the seat of the driver is placed. A large transverse bar crosses the reach bar at the center, and to this transverse bar the plough, cultivator or other appliance for farm work may be attached. The entire power of the engine may be applied to one wheel to get it out of a hole or rut, and the "auto" can be turned in a small compass.

THEATRICAL.

TODAY'S ATTRACTIONS.

ACADEMY—Tommy Shearer company. Night Gaiety—Little Egypt Burlesque company. Matinee and night.

"The Victorian Cross."

"The Victorian Cross" is a sensational melodrama depicting life in England and in East India. The play embodies the best elements of comedy and pathos, tells a thrilling story of interest, abounds in intense dramatic situations, startling climaxes, and, from an object-point of view, is a most fascinating play. As a play it has been a success and as an object lesson it has fulfilled its mission. The Tommy Shearer company who open a week's engagement at the Academy, will present the play tonight with perfect fidelity to the original.

"Janice Meredith."

Nearly everybody who reads contemporary literature has read Paul Leicester Ford's novel of the Revolutionary times, "Janice Meredith." It will be presented at the Lyceum theater next Thursday evening, splendidly staged by Manager Frank McKee, with that most beautiful and attractive actress, Mary Manning, in the title role. Miss Manning's success in this play this season has been extraordinary.

The play of "Janice Meredith" was dramatized from the book story by the author, Paul Leicester Ford and Edward E. Ross, who has made a wide reputation as the dramatizer of a large number of popular plays. The play is presented in four scenes, representing the farmyard of the Meredith household in Greenwood, N. J., in May, 1775; a living room in the Meredith home, Christmas eve, 1778; the headquarters of Colonel Hall at Trenton, Christmas day, 1776, and the death of her sister, Catha, a probable hero, in Cornwallis's surrender to Washington, October, 1781.

"The Heart of Maryland."

One of the brightest and most successful of the great enduring plays that is based upon the realities and romanticism of American life is David Belasco's "The Heart of Maryland," which is to be the attraction at the Lyceum next Wednesday night.

It is a dramatic epic which tells the story of woman's love and self-sacrificing devotion and her undaunted heroism, battling her way to the triumphant finale in the effort to save her lover from the disgrace of being executed for a traitor. In this picture of love and war, which has the central figure amid a score of strange and realistic typical characters and accentuated by the romanticism which will ever glorify the history and traditions of our old colonial times.

Little Egypt Company.

Today, tomorrow and Wednesday, the original "Little Egypt" and her company of bold buccanniers will furnish the entertainment at the Lyceum theater, and no doubt the usual excellent business done by this attraction here, will be repeated.

Pretty girls, clever comedians, and funny burlesquers go to make up a fine performance. Usual matinee will be given.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"Lovers' Lane" is not to leave New York this season, although it is forced out of the Manhattan through a change in ownership, after one hundredth performance, April 26. It will at once be removed by William A. Brady to the Theater Republic, where it will continue until next winter.

W. D. Howells in a review of the recent dramatic season in New York, made in Mr. Clyde Fitch's play "The Climbers" at the Bijou the high water mark of the American playwright.
