TEACHERS LISTEN TO EDUCATORS

The Opening of the Fifth Annual Institute of the Carbondale City Teachers—Animated Gathering in the Central School Building.

There was an animated gathering in the auditorium of the Central school building yesterday afternoon, when City Superintendent Elmer E. Garr formally opened the fifth annual institute of Carbondale city teachers. As is true of all institutes, the male teachers are in what might be termed a hopeless minority, as there are not more than a half dozen, their fair associates outnumbering them by dozens. There was a delay in some of the instructors reaching Carbondale, so that it was 2 o'clock, almost, when the session opened, with a vocal exercise. In the meantime the teachers presented quite an animated picture as they chatted and discussed the prospects of the week's entertainment and instruction before them.

The first speaker was Professor Charles H. Albert, of West Chester Normal school, a man whose sound idea and well said things on matters educational have caused him to be in demand in institute work. Prof. Albert's topic was "Education an Unfolding." He spoke from the standpoint that teaching is not the mere keeping of school; it is no science, though it may be done scientifically; it is the art—the art, he said, with emphasis, of promoting human growth. Among other things, he said to the teachers to promote the growing of your children to make them show new power of development of mind and morals is proof that your scholars are being educated, educated towards the intellectual and the moral way. Art, says Albert, is the unfolding of man's joy in his work. Therefore, the one who is wholly lost, who is wholly absorbed in unfolding before the mind of the pupil the things that go to his development and growth is the one who is teaching and not keeping school.

It matters not what device you use, this is only an aid to making the method clear; what you want to do is to put your children in the condition of growing, not stagnation; growth is the flush; it means stagnation. Children who are growing are placing themselves in harmony with their surroundings, like the newly planted tree that thrives on the soil and the sunshine.

The public school stands for the moral training, as well as the mental training of the child. To make young children think is a good definition of what the work of the teacher is. Thinking is solving relations. All that you have done or all that I have done is to discover relations, the relation between this thing and the other. The first six years of the child's life goes here and there, wherever his instinct leads him. After that, when he comes into the school the problem is to lead him upward and forward. He wants more than books, he wants a larger hold on the meaning of life.

Dr. Schaeffer's talk.
Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of instruction, was next presented by Superintendent Garr. Dr. Schaeffer hardly needed an introduction. While it was his first time in Carbondale, it was not the first time that he had been heard by Carbondale teachers. Many of them heard him in the county institutes and those who did not read his teaching and learned to value them.

Dr. Schaeffer is so practical. He discounts theories for their full value, but his years of experience have brought him face to face with so many facts that he is never at the loss of the value of the practical side of an educational question. His talk on this occasion was on the subject, "Does Education Pay?" and before he was half through the teachers were given abundant reason and proof that the money spent in the proper education was the best kind of an investment.

reduced the cost of maintenance of prisons $200,000,000; and that brains behind hands means more earning power. This same authority said that universal education effected a saving of $40,000,000 in the keeping of paupers. He also quoted Lord Boscawen, then prime minister of England, who said that Great Britain was afraid of Germany; that this latter nation was capturing the markets of the globe because of the fact that education was universal in the Fatherland. He also cited the state of Massachusetts for its increased earning power over the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because of the same fact, that education was universal. In some communities over 40 per cent. of the children had the advantage of a high school education. Finally he gave the fact of the publication, "Who's Who in America," containing only 808 names of persons among 11,500 bankers and other equally prominent men, who had not received a high school or college education.

Prof. A. C. Aggar, of Trenton, N. J., one of the ablest instructors in the state of New Jersey, spoke on "Nature Study," urging the teachers not to do anything but send their children to books for knowledge, but to have them observe nature as she is about them on every side.

Opening Night of Entertainment Course.
The Grand opera house was crowded last night, when the Padette Woman's orchestra entertained, this being the opening number of the lecture course. The evening was well spent, the large audience being delighted with the talent displayed by the orchestra. Each number on the programme was appreciated. This was the first appearance of these entertainers in this city.

COUNCIL MOVES FOR STREET SYSTEM

Action Taken in a Resolution Introduced in Select Council by President Fletcher—City Engineer Directed to Make Rough Sketch of City Streets, Name Those Thoroughfares Which Have None, and Number Houses and Make Such Change of Numbers as Is Necessary—The Light Ordinance Again.

The first intelligent and commendable move on the part of councils for a system of streets, one comprehending the numbering of un-numbered streets and the numbering of un-numbered houses, was taken last night when the following resolution was introduced by President Fletcher, who has been active in behalf of this urgent need, which was adopted unanimously.

"That the city engineer be, and he is hereby authorized to prepare a rough sketch of all streets, alleys, and courts of the city, and shall affix names to all such, which have no names or where there is a confusion of names. The city engineer is authorized also, to assign numbers to all un-numbered houses and all which have duplicate numbers or numbers which are confusing.

The resolution has yet to go through common council and receive the mayor's approval before it can become effective. There is no fear or doubt of this as the disposition is to pass the measure as speedily as possible. In connection with this a resolution providing for street signs, so that they are nothing lacking to make the system complete.

This is a resolution that The Tribune has advocated and urged since last May, and it feels considerable satisfaction in recording the fact of the adoption of the resolution.

Mayor Vetoes Light Ordinance.
Mayor Kilpatrick sent in a veto of the recently passed ordinance to the Lackawanna Valley company. This is the measure that was passed after it was discovered that the earlier one was not complete.

The veto, which is the second disapproval on the mayor's part, was based on alleged irregularities as to its consideration by committee, and that it was not shown to have passed second reading in either council.

In dealing with the ordinance, the state of Massachusetts for its increased earning power over the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because of the same fact, that education was universal. In some communities over 40 per cent. of the children had the advantage of a high school education.

The following resolutions were adopted: Transferring $600.00 from the surface sewers fund to the streets and bridges committee. This was after the David's law lay in the table until the next regular meeting. Mr. Barnett was the only one who voted to sustain the mayor.

The communication from the Columbia company directing attention to the scarcity of hay in the city was given to the fire committee with the suggestion that the closest attention and investigation be given the matter.

A DEPLORABLE HAPPENING

Frank Patten, Aged Sixteen Years, Drowned in Reservoir—Body Recovered After an Hour's Search. Blanche Colvin Narrowly Escapes Same Fate.

A deplorable happening occurred at the Consolidated Water company's reservoir last night, when a small girl, Blanche Colvin, aged sixteen years old, was drowned, while a crowd of his young friends who were present could do nothing to save their unfortunate companion. Earlier in the afternoon, Blanche Colvin, a small girl, broke through the ice at the inlet. She supported herself by placing her arms over the ice until several of the lads rescued her from her peril. Shortly after this incident Patten started to skate across the reservoir. In doing so, he chose a route which carried him across the inlet where the ice was very thin. The skater was going at a good rate when the ice crushed beneath his weight. As he sank he gave a loud shriek and then went beneath the ice. The moment at which he was going carried in his hands a small girl, Blanche Colvin, who was standing by the shore. She was unable to get away in time and was carried down with her friend. The body of the girl was recovered after an hour's search. The body was found and then taken to the store of John McCabe and a messenger sent to the dead lad's home. The victim of the accident is the son of Miss Foreman and Mrs. Andrew Patten of 61 Park street. He was an exceedingly bright lad, a favorite among his companions and a model scholar. The parents have the warm-hearted sympathy of the community.

A DECISIVE VICTORY.

Honesdale's Bluff Called and Local High School Eleven Will Go to Honesdale Saturday and Score a Big Victory.

The football season has not as yet been closed. Manager Burke of the local high school eleven having called the "bluffer" of eleven stars representing Honesdale and has completed arrangements for a game in the latter part of next Saturday. Carbondale followers of the sport are rejoicing over Manager Burke securing the game and will only be satisfied with a decisive victory. Honesdale, through the press, lays claim to being the champion football organization in this vicinity, including Scranton and Carbondale. As they have been defeated by a Carbondale eleven and played by a Carbondale team that a weak team from Jermyn whom they defeated by a small score Burke believes that Honesdale's finish as championship claimants will come off on Saturday. It is the opinion of the directors here already signified their intention of accompanying the eleven and judging from the talk on the streets about the coming Honesdale disaster this matter will be greatly augmented. The high school eleven will play at Maple City boys can play a strong game but are confident that they will greatly superior to them and will win easily. The local eleven practice daily in Alumni park for two hours, lining up at 7 o'clock. The team here will be strictly high school crowd while Honesdale is given the privilege of picking their players from the oil washer works or the ore and copper field.

JOYFUL MATERNITY.

Hopeful Words to Childless Women. Two Grateful Women Tell How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How shall a mother who is weak and sick with some female trouble bear healthy children?
How anxious women ought to be to give their children the blessing of a good constitution!
Many women long for a child to bless their home, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs, they are barren. Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the parts, curing all displacements and inflammation.

Actual sterility in women is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all expectant or would-be mothers.

The Story of Mrs. De Bett and Her Baby Girl.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before I took your medicine I suffered for years. Life to me was a torture. I often wished I were dead. I had no children, and the doctor said I never could have. Menstruation was very painful, also suffered with severe pains in left ovary, had pains in my back and heart, terrible headaches, and weakness of the kidneys. I tried everything, had womb dilated twice but that did no good. I got discouraged and concluded to let the doctors go and try your medicine. After writing to you explaining my case, I followed your advice carefully and with the result that I never felt so well in all my life. I am indeed a new woman and have a lovely little baby girl which is the happiness of my home. I feel that I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine, and feel very proud to recommend it to the women of my acquaintance. I hope that many others will follow my example and that homes may be brightened as mine has."—Mrs. Lucy De Bett, 801 S. Halstead St., Chicago, Ill. (March 1, 1901.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. Before taking your medicine I was unable to carry a babe to maturity, having lost two—one at six months and one at seven. The body would die, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I did not die, but am the proud mother of a six months old baby girl. She weighs nineteen pounds and has never seen a sick day in her life. She is the delight of our home."—Mrs. A. D. JARRET, Belmont, Ohio.

work done around several of the schools, was reduced by Mr. Moran to $15. It was ordered paid. The bill caused some discussion at a former board meeting and was laid on the table at the time, several of the directors being of the opinion that the bill was exorbitant. The meeting then adjourned.

A NEW CARRIER.

Postmaster Thomas Successful in His Fight for Increased Help.

Postmaster John H. Thomas has won out in his fight for an additional mail carrier. Yesterday he received news from Washington that an appropriation for another mail man had been allowed, and that commencing with Monday, Dec. 16, Carbondale would enjoy the increase of postal facilities. The new carrier will be David Walsh the present active substitute carrier. He will not be assigned a regular route until after Jan. 1 next. In the meantime he will assist in disposing of the usual heavy mail of the holidays. By Jan. 1, 1907, the routes will be rearranged and matters will be in such shape as to give the relief that has been sought for so long. While more could be accomplished by a mounted carrier, the carrier foot will go a good way towards removing the rank discrimination that so many hundred families suffer from in the way of mail service.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Side-Tracked," Friday.
"Side-Tracked," which is here on Friday night, is breezy and always on the move, like the country from which it sprung. After all, the best test of the merits of a decent play is in the verdict of those for whose amusement it is intended, and judged by that standard, "Side-Tracked" will prove a great success in this city. In the course of the performance a number of diverting specialties are given. "Side-Tracked" is a powerful, yet laughable, comedy-drama. In fact, has comedy enough to stock three or four melodramas. It will be produced with new and ingenious mechanical effects and striking costumes.

"Lovers' Lane," Saturday.
A short time before his death, Colonel Robert Ingersoll said before the Players' club, New York: "I do not incline to the play which moves solely to mirth, nor that which alone stirs the serious sensibilities. The one which comforts and consoles me and waxes me to forgetfulness of the weary side of life is the play that creates dimples wherein to catch the tears." Could he have witnessed "Lovers' Lane," he would have found it to precisely answer this meaning. It will be seen at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening.

Will Honesdale Ever Speak Thus?
The Hazelton Sentinel, speaking of the Indians-Hazelton foot ball game, says:
"The Carbondale team spent last night in this city, the guests of the H. A. C. In speaking with the players they gave out the statement that never in the history of their team were they treated so good as in this city. The greatest surprise to them was when the ball was within two inches of the line, and not a person jumped over the ropes to cheer on or in any other way interfere with the visitors from blocking the touchdown. At the dance of the H. A. C. last evening the team was taken in charge by the local players and introduced to almost every person in the hall. Of the spectators at the game yesterday, there was not one who did not enjoy the exhibition. They all claimed that it was the greatest game ever seen outside of the big teams, and it beat many of them. The contrast between the visitors and St. Thomas team was wonderful. In the two twenty-minute halves there was not one word uttered in protest by either team, showing the good feeling and desire to play good, straight football."
