Seguire will continue the general merchandise business at the corner of Second and Stewart streets, while Shuman will conduct the clothing business in the store opposite the depot.

PROMPT RIGHT OF WAY.—The director of public safety, in compliance with the Lackawanna Railroad company about the delays caused by the fire department in responding to alarms from boxes 24 and 215, by the switching of trains on the Cliff street crossing, Superintendent Rine has issued an order to the effect that prompt right of way must be given the fire department over Cliff street.

CARRIE IS FORGIVING.—Doesn't Want to Prosecute Men Who Put Her Eye Out.

Carrie Fisher, the colored woman whose eye was gouged out with a stone in a Raymond alley fight some months ago, is a most forgiving person. The police arrested four colored men for being concerned in the assault upon her, but when the cases came before the grand jury, Carrie was nowhere to be found.

It was learned that she had left town, in order that the cases against the four men could not come to trial. She was brought before Magistrate Howe yesterday and held under $200 bonds for her appearance before the next grand jury. The injury has terribly deformed her face, but she declared vehemently that she doesn't want to prosecute her assailants.

TIGHE ASKS DAMAGES.—Brings Suit Against Mine Owner and Mine Boss.

James Tighe, by Attorney L. P. Wedeman, yesterday sued F. M. Spencer and A. D. Spencer, doing business as A. D. Spencer & Co., and their mine foreman, Edward Hughes, for $3,000 damages.

Tighe claims that he was sent into a working of one of the Spencer mines by the foreman to do some work. He alleges that it was an old working and that the foreman had not gone in before him to investigate the condition of the place, and that when he had gone in with a light an accumulation of gas exploded and burned him about the face and body, injuring him permanently.

REPLY TO MR. CONNELL.

William H. Taylor Makes Answer to Statements Contained in the Letter Printed Wednesday.

The following letter answering the open letter of William Connell, printed in Wednesday's Tribune, has been handed to us by its writer with request for its publication and is published as a matter of courtesy:

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 2, 1902.

Hon. William Connell, City. Sir: The statements in your open letter, published in yesterday morning's paper, like all similar efforts to "throw dust in the eyes of the public" are not only misleading, but so far as they might be intended as an attack upon my integrity, or in any manner question the entire disinterestedness of my actions in connection with the present franchise question, they are willfully, maliciously and wickedly false, and I therefore make the following statements:

1. Allow me to state that I do not now hold, nor have I ever held, a dollar's interest in any enterprise which has sought or obtained from this city any special or public franchise.

2. I am not now, nor have I at any time been directly or indirectly interested, in any manner whatsoever, in any of the companies or organizations that have or may make tender of any franchise to the city for the franchises now being considered, or by any other companies in the city.

3. No article published which in any manner reflects unfavorably upon myself or my company has been published from me.

4. I have dealt, and shall continue to deal solely with the open proposition: The city's interests must be protected and the city receive adequate returns for favors granted.

5. You state that "The ordinance as originally drawn made a number of concessions to the public interest such as have never been made by any other similar companies in the city."

6. In relation to the payment of street grading damages do you consider that your companies have any concession to the city, after their having first admitted to the gentlemen in conference that the cost of all grading, including damages to abutting property owners, had been included in their estimated cost of the construction of the road, and that the same was to be paid for out of proceeds from sale of securities to be issued by your company?

7. If, as stated by you, "There has not been a time since their charters were granted when any of them could not have sold them out to the Scranton Railway company for some very much larger than the sum represented by the blurring of more or less responsible persons who are rushing into the public print," then you admit that the charter rights alone are worth in excess of $100,000, which would be the same charter rights be worth after being transferred by the granting of the franchises for which you ask?

8. Will you explain to the public why, if your companies were originally willing to grant the franchises to the city, they have now, through representatives took the position on the Thursday night just before the ordinance was first introduced that you had the votes to pass the ordinance and would therefore decline to grant any postponement in order that the ordinance might be carefully examined and amended in the interests of the city?

9. Did the members of the board of trade have any opportunity of discussing with your companies the rate of tax you finally offered? On the contrary, is it not true that you put forth the ordinance without any opportunity of time for conference after you had decided upon the same? Under such conditions do you attempt to state that the committee as a whole, or any individual member of the board of trade, is to be held responsible for the ordinance, and thus take away, according to your own statement, the only opportunity that the city has had or can have for years to come to secure an efficient and adequate street railway system?

10. If this is your intention, then are you studying the city's interest or your own?

11. If you are honestly solicitous for the welfare of the city, and still realize, as you state in your letter, that "one of the most urgent demands of the people of Scranton is for a new and efficient street railway system," then are you going to take the position that unless the ordinance is passed as they now stand, whether or not the city secured the franchise, you will offer a better one than your companies prepared or willing to make to the city, in that event "your company will simply refuse to grant the franchise to the city, and thus take away, according to your own statement, the only opportunity that the city has had or can have for years to come to secure an efficient and adequate street railway system?"

12. Conferences with the Scranton Railway company, and the present as an opportunity time to secure from the Scranton Railway company concessions due the city, I have had four conferences with the representatives of the company, and as a result of these conferences I have secured from that company voluntary concessions as to taxes on their gross earnings taxes greater than your company absolutely refused to grant. The concession is now in my possession in the form of a letter, which, if I am permitted so to do, will be read before the council tonight.

13. I am not now, nor have I at any time been opposed to the granting of the franchises to your companies provided that the roads will be built and the interests of the city at the time of the granting of the franchises properly guarded and fair returns made to the city for favors asked.

GAS FRANCHISE WAS DEFEATED

ORDINANCE KILLED IN THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Members Refused to Go Into Committee of the Whole to Consider an Amendment Providing for a Tax; but Finally Voted the Ordinance Down After Opposing Speeches by H. E. Paine, J. F. Evans, Luther Keller and President Calpin—Business Transacted in Select Council.

The ordinance awarding a franchise to the Consumers' Gas company was defeated in common council last night on third reading by a vote of twenty to eighteen, to the great surprise of its promoters.

The ordinance was called up on third reading by Mr. Gurrell, who moved its adoption. Mr. Partridge announced that he had an amendment to offer and moved that council go into committee of the whole. This was objected to by some members and Mr. Partridge was asked to read his amendment.

The amendment as read provided for a tax of one per cent upon the gross receipts of the company for the year 1907 and 1908 and two per cent every year thereafter. When council learned this the motion to go into committee on the whole was defeated by the following vote:

Yeas—Clarke, Thomas, J. J. Evans, Alworth, J. F. Evans, Snowden, W. W. Evans, E. W. Evans, Seating, A. I. Lewis, James, McGreevey, Partridge, Paine, Howe, Keller, Stipp, Calpin, 18. Nays—Casterline, Haggerty, Ruane, Robathan, Nagell, Phillips, Rosar, Galvin, Sykes, Gurrell, William Lewis, Coleman, Cusick, Graf, Rosar, Troy, Cusick, Connelly, Norton—20.

MR. PAINE OBJECTED. The previous question being called for, it was then when Mr. Paine arose and made a speech opposing the passage of the ordinance on general grounds. He declared that to pass the measure without a provision fixing the price of gas at a figure less than one dollar would be to invite consolidation rather than competition. He cited Wilkes-Barre's experience of a few years ago when a new gas company was awarded a franchise and was later combined with the old company.

"There's not a single thing in this ordinance," said he, "which insures cheaper gas and if we're not passing it to secure cheaper gas what on earth are we passing it at all for. The company says it will furnish cheap gas but we have only the word of the gentleman who is promoting the passage of this ordinance. We have absolutely nothing more."

Mr. Keller wanted to know who comprised the Consumers' Gas company. Council had no knowledge of the existence of the company, he said, and this in itself was sufficient to warrant the defeat of the measure for the present. Joseph F. Evans opposed the passage of the ordinance for similar reasons to those advanced by Mr. Paine. President Calpin relinquished his chair long enough to say a few things.

"I believe in encouraging new enterprises," said he, "and in doing as well by them as possible. I don't at all sympathize with those who make a great big hurrah and hand with all four eyes every new company seeking a franchise. I don't believe in that kind of gallery playing but I feel obliged to say that I can't vote for this ordinance in its present form. This company should be taxed as any other utility company in this city and it's absolutely wrong to pass this ordinance without a tax provision."

Much to nearly everybody's surprise the ordinance was defeated by the following vote:

Yeas—Snowden, Haggerty, Robathan, Ruane, Roche, Nagell, Phillips, Charles Rosar, Galvin, Gurrell, William Lewis, Coleman, Stipp, Rusch, Joseph Rosar, Troy, Cusick, Connelly—18.

Nays—Clarke, Thomas, J. J. Evans, Alworth, J. F. Evans, Casterline, W. W. Evans, E. W. Evans, Edward Seating, A. I. Lewis, James, McGreevey, Partridge, Paine, Howe, Sykes, Keller, Graf, Norton, Calpin—20.

Mr. Coleman introduced an ordinance providing for an electric light on Hallstead court, between Mulberry and Linden streets. The ordinance providing for a pavement on Court street, Providence road and Carbon street was passed on third reading.

IN SELECT COUNCIL.

Select council held a dry and uninteresting fifteen-minute session last night. Ordinances providing for a system at the Broadway crossing of the Jersey Central, for the grading of parts of Providence road and East Market street and for three sewer basins in the fourteenth ward were passed on third reading.

The appointments of Rt. Rev. Bishop M. J. Hoban, Henry Bellin, jr., and Martin T. Layelle, as library trustees, were confirmed. Mr. Regan introduced an ordinance providing for the use of tenders, with wheel attachments, on all street railway lines.

IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

ALLEGED SLAYER OF HARRY FREDERICK IN JAIL.

John Argentis, an Italian, Arrested for Following Young Girls in North Scranton, Identified by Anna Hewitt as the Man Who Shot Her Lover on the Morning of December 26—He Turned Pale When Accused, but Denies Having Any Connection with the Affair.

A dramatic scene was witnessed last night in Magistrate Fidler's court room in North Scranton, when John Argentis, a young Italian, arrested on the charge of following young girls, with alleged criminal intent, was positively identified by Anna Hewitt as the murderer of Harry Frederick, who was shot on December 26.

Argentis was arrested late Wednesday night by Patrolman Finlay Ross, on North Main avenue. The patrolman had noticed Argentis and another Italian following two girls, near Wood street, and finally saw the latter break into a run. The two Italians started to run also, and Patrolman Ross took a hand in himself then.

One of the men ran down a side street at Bull's Head, while Argentis made a bolt for Corrie's hotel. The patrolman followed him in, and placed him under arrest. When arraigned before Magistrate Fidler, yesterday morning, he was held for a further hearing last night.

Leutenant Palmer had a lurking suspicion that he might be the man who shot Frederick in Alice Williams' house, and he determined to bring Anna Hewitt, the young girl who witnessed the affair, down to the hearing. He cautioned her beforehand to carefully scrutinize the prisoner's face and also the faces of the other Italians who might gather at the hearing.

The girl had no sooner reached the magistrate's office and taken one look at Argentis, when she stepped back and, pointing her finger at him, said: "That's the man, Lieutenant Palmer, who shot my Harry. That's the man who killed Harry Frederick, and who nearly choked me to death. I'd know him out of a thousand."

Argentis turned deathly pale and nervously wiped off the perspiration, which gathered in great beads on his forehead. "I no kill, I no shoot, I don't know what you say, I no shoot," he murmured tremblingly.

The girl was placed under oath and upon her swearing that Argentis was the man, the latter was arrested on a charge of murder and was committed to the county jail without bail. He was taken to the central police station, where he spent last night. He is rather a good-looking fellow, about 23 years old, and lives on Jones street.

The other Italian who was arrested yesterday on a warrant, was fined $10 for disorderly conduct. The Hewitt woman failed to identify him as the man who was with Argentis on the morning of the shooting.

CLARK GOES HOME.

Business Men's Committee, It Is Said, Has Thrown Up the Sponge—A Car Attacked.

There was no end of effort yesterday toward settling the street car strike but it all came to naught.

The business men's committee had a meeting in the morning; in the early afternoon it had communication with the strikers and a lot of local labor leaders, and late in the afternoon another session was had with President Clarke. The committee began to waver and to leave for Philadelphia. The members of the committee could not be induced to discuss their transactions but very broad hints were given out that they had about exhausted the possibilities without accomplishing anything definite. It was stated on a reliable authority that the business men's committee had given up their task as a hopeless one.

President Clark, it is said, told the committee that he was done with the strikers when his last proposition was rejected. He remained in town, he said, to attend to business matters foreign to the strike. He made advances for a settlement and they were rejected without the usual formality of a counter proposition.

That left him helpless to do anything else, he was disposed, and it is understood he had no disposition whatever to do anything more than he had already done. He will be back in Philadelphia today.

Last night, for the first time in many days, there was an outbreak of violence. The company began running late cars to the South Side last night. The last car, which left the city at 10 o'clock, was returning along Pittston avenue, and at the southern end of the Roaring Brook bridge encountered a fusillade of stones from a crowd that had been gathering from the time the car first went out.

Three windows were broken and the men were struck several times by stones. The police were telephoned to and at their approach the crowd dispersed.

DIVORCE IN TURKEY.

Nothing Could Be Easier Than Untying the Knot in That Country.

From the London Telegraph. Divorce is very easy in Turkey and does not require a Judge and jury to settle matters. All that is necessary is for the injured party to say, "I divorce you," three times, and the deed is done. The husband has to make the wife a proper allowance, and all is over. Two cases have recently occurred which are rather amusing. A certain Turkish gentleman is a keen amateur gardener, and his garden contains at all seasons a brilliant show of flowers, to which he devoted most of his time, rather to the disgust of his wife, who is never allowed to cut them. Last month his crysanthemums were in the height of their glory, when a tremendous down-pour of rain came on.

This threatened to destroy the magnificent blooms, many of which were equal in size to the best results attained in England.
