

THE ANNUAL WASH

Once a year the farming communities of Massachusetts living within driving distance of the sea have a general picnic. Whole families drive to the beach with laden lunch baskets and enjoy themselves. Incidentally, of course, the picnicers take a sea bath. This has led the humorous newspaper paragrapher to name this yearly picnic "The Annual Wash," and many a sly chuckle goes the rounds over the people who take a bath once a year. Mohammed has credit for the saying that "Cleanliness is next to godliness." But a greater than Mohammed unbraided those whose external cleanliness was only a cover for internal corruption. The very people who make their jokes on the "annual wash" need to have the beam removed from their own eyes. People live and thrive in spite of neglect of soap and water, but internal uncleanness is a constant menace to health.

In general the country at large enjoys an annual spring wash, endeavoring to cleanse the system from the effete substances which clog and corrupt it. Probably people would not even wash internally once a year if it were not that nature herself urged them to this act of cleanliness by the dull, sluggish feelings and lassitude which render them unfit for business or household cares. It is remarkable that those who are great sticklers for external cleanliness seem to have so little idea of the necessity of keeping the blood clean. Once a year is enough they think for this internal cleansing, and even that is often undertaken in such a superficial and unintelligent manner that it is to be doubted if much benefit results. One of the worst things for the blood is alcohol. Yet alcohol is the chief ingredient in many favorite spring medicines. It stimulates the users and makes them "feel good," but it cleanses the blood not one particle. An intelligent choice of a spring medicine would lead to the selection of one which would free the system from poisonous accumulations, and make health not a mere feeling but a fact.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is commended by its thousands of friends for the positiveness and permanence of its effects. It cleanses the blood. It increases the blood supply. It is not a mere temporary tonic, but a medicine giving permanent health. It owes none of its effects to alcohol because it contains none. It makes men and women feel well because it makes them well, and their feelings indicate their improved condition.

"For four years (during the summer months) I felt so weak and nervous that at times I would be almost prostrated," writes Mrs. Hattie H. Turbyfill, of Duncaus, S. C. "My liver was out of order and I ached all over. For three years I had eczema on both my hands, which at times amounted to torture, and, added to this, were other complications. About five months before my baby was born I wrote Dr. Pierce, giving some of my symptoms, and immediately received a very kind and sympathetic reply, and, acting upon the advice given, I began taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After taking two bottles I felt decidedly better. Took six bottles of the 'Discovery,' three of 'Favorite Prescription' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. When my baby was two days old I felt quite as well as ever, and the eczema has not given me any trouble since I began taking the medicine. This summer I have done all my housework and attended baby, and have not felt so well in ten years."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is unexcelled as a blood purifying preparation. It thoroughly cleanses the blood from the substances which clog and corrupt it, and cures diseases which have their cause in impure blood. It cures scrofula, sores, ulcers, swellings, eczema, boils, pimples, blotches, rheumatism and other diseases which originate in the blood's impurity.

"It has been about two months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes J. M. Venters, Esq., of Regina, Pike Co., Ky. "I staid down in Texas last year and contracted chills and fever while there. I came back to Kentucky and was about shaking my boots off from my feet when I commenced using it. I only weighed 149 pounds. Had been suffering with chills and fever for twelve months. Took treatment from my doctor and tried many different kinds of patent medicines, but all seemed to do no good. Since I have used four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his 'Pellets,' I feel well in every respect and weigh 186 pounds instead of only 149, my weight when I began its use."

Everyone knows how hard it is to eradicate the germs of malaria from the blood. The superior blood purifying properties possessed by "Golden Medical Discovery" are marked by the prompt cleansing of the blood from the malaria microbes. If you want a spring medicine which will not simply make you "feel good" but do you good, give you new and lasting vitality and vigor, give Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a fair and faithful trial. It purifies the blood at any season and gives lasting strength.

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the blood.

365 days in the year and in any one of them the family is likely to meet with accidents, sudden sicknesses, emergencies and other conditions for which they are unprepared, unless they have at hand a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work, containing over 1000 large pages and more than 700 illustrations, is sent FREE on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing ONLY. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers.

Address: Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.

PITSTON.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Pitston, April 8.—Mrs. Robinson, of Jersey City, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Evans, wife of ex-County Commissioner Evans, since last September, returned to her home yesterday morning.

This vicinity lost another of its pioneer residents yesterday morning in the death of La Grange Daman, who passed away about 2 o'clock at the family home, on Exeter street. Although Mr. Daman's health had been failing for some time, he was able to be about as late as last week, his last spell of sickness dating from last Saturday. Deceased was in his seventy-eight year, and was a native of Fulton county, N. Y.

A resident of this locality for the past fifty years, during which time he had been associated with business and real estate affairs, he had gained a wide acquaintanceship. His wife and the following sons and daughters survive: Mrs. A. E. Hayden, of Dunmore; Dr. Charles N. Daman, of Scranton; Mrs. T. P. Whitmore, of Dayton; H. Maxwell Daman and Robert Daman, both of West Pittston. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with interment in the West Pittston cemetery.

James Monro, of Philadelphia avenue, has accepted a position with the Webster-Cutler and company at Coopers Pa. His family will remain here for the present.

Rev. Mr. Holmes, of Wilkes-Barre, occupied the pulpit of the Welsh Congregational church here Sunday-morning and evening.

White Antonio Mickle, an Italian who lived near Yatesville, was on gunning Monday near Latta, he slipped and fell. A double barrel gun he was carrying exploded as he fell and Mickle's head was almost completely blown off.

While sawing in two the trunk of a large tree which he had just chopped down on his property on Wyoming avenue, West Pittston, Saturday afternoon, Thomas Martin found a small, round pebble imbedded in the very heart of the tree. The tree was over sixty years old. It is thought the pebble had become lodged in a crevice or crotch of the tree when young.

Common and select councils of this city re-organized at noon yesterday. James Langan was elected chairman of the select body and Charles O'Brien, chairman of the commoners. The council of John Gorman, a member of the firm of Gorman & Karnofsky, fruit dealers, received severe burns in a most peculiar manner Sunday morning. The firm has a banana room in which the fruit is ripened artificially, by means of gas. The jets are kept burning continually. Yesterday morning, Mr. Gorman went into the room to ascertain the condition of affairs. He found the gas was not burning, and unthinkingly struck a match. An explosion followed which shook things in the room up considerably, besides throwing Mr. Gorman quite a distance and burning him quite badly about the face and hands.

Miss Cora Layman, primary teacher here, spent Saturday with her parents in Jersey.

Contractor John Neville yesterday morning commenced work on his portion of the construction of the new "cannon-ball" trolley line. Mr. Neville's contract embraces from No. 7 junction, just outside the city limit of Pittston, to Pleasantville, and he commenced work on his end of the line.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. New Milford, April 8.—Miss Zula McConnell is visiting relatives in Hartford township.

Mrs. B. F. Waterman, of Haledale, visited in town Friday.

Mrs. T. McConnell, of the township, is visiting relatives in Binghamton.

The W. and O. club will conduct a "Gypsy Encampment" in the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, April 15. Proceeds for the benefit of the Presbyterian church.

Maxwell Tyler was in Montrose Saturday on business.

The following young people surprised Miss Leslie Lewis by tendering her a party at her home on Friday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Tyler, Ray Moss, Glen VanBuren, Paul Hayden, George Sparks, Esthery Moss, Bert Howell, Floyd Adrich, Frances Fink, Milla Cook, Alva Decker, Clara Pettis, Leslie Decker, Maud Spencer, Della Decker and Maud Smith.

Miss Eliza Rose has been confined to her home by illness for several days.

Miss Maud Trumbull visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Waterman Sunday.

Benjamin Hutchings, of Oquaga, was in town Monday.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Thompson, April 8.—W. W. Messenger, F. W. Lewis, C. B. Jenkins, S. D. Barnes and A. H. Crozier were elected trustees of the Thompson cemetery last evening.

Rev. A. D. David announced last Sabbath that he would preach his farewell sermon next Sabbath morning.

A. B. Hurd, wholesale dealer in marble, of Deposit, is in town today on business. He was a pleasant caller at Best cottage, on former acquaintance.

Mason Bloxham, whose return from Binghamton of Lakeview, visited the Free Baptist Sunday school here, and F. S. Butterfield, of North Jackson, visited the Methodist Episcopal school. A. H. Crozier visited the school at North Jackson, and J. E. Curtis, of North Jackson, visited the Lakeview school.

Mrs. C. Z. Pickering, who has been under treatment at a hospital in Scranton for the past month, returned to her home yesterday, improved.

Mrs. A. M. Ellwood is in town again, after a visit of several weeks with her niece, Mrs. H. N. Barrett, at Jersey.

W. V. Lewis is doing business in Susquehanna today.

Theatrical.

ACADEMY—Waltz Comedy company. Afternoon and night.

"The Devil's Daughter." Afternoon and night.

Dan Daly in "The New Yorkers."

Scranton's reception of Dan Daly in "The New Yorkers," at the Lyceum, last night, was not as flattering to its sense of appreciation as it might have been. Possibly the unpropitious weather was responsible for the vacant seats, but something else must be blamed for the absolutely tame way in which were received some of the things that have made Herald Square audiences fairly roar night after night.

Daly's "Oh, Fudge," which those who essay to impersonate him have given the place that was held so long by "Nothing New," got a very perfunctory hand. The audience had to be fairly dragged away from the con songs.

Practically the same company which supported Mr. Daly on Broadway is with the road company. The only change among the principals is the substitution of Rose Beaumont for Virginia Earle, and, to say the least, nothing is lost by the substitution. She is very pretty, sings sweetly and has all the grace necessary for a comedienne. In contrast the grotesque "grace" of Daly, Anna Laughlin and Tracie Moeony, two charming young comedienne; Idaline Cotton, with French songs; William Cameron, whose legs are quite as funny as Daly's ever were; William Gould, with dances and a good coter song; Frank Tannhill, Jr., Nick Long, George A. Schiller and Thomas Evans are among the original favorites still with the company.

The songs are just good; nothing more and nothing less. The way they are sung, however, calls for the superlative. "Strolling in Society," "Take Me Back to Herald Square" and "Oh, Fudge" are three which are put on with all the art that Daly summons in making a "go," and in themselves comprise a money's worth of entertainment.

As for Daly himself, suffice it to say that he is his best in "The New Yorkers." His imitatable droolery, voice, poses and feet are worked to the limit of their capacity for provoking laughs. He is on the stage fully three-quarters of the time and he is more possessed of a surety of mirth than can be taken for granted that it is a rather mythical show.

What plot there is to the piece is humorous of itself and gives opportunity for a good deal of the specialties. An American millionaire who lives in mortal dread of dying wealthy encounters a crowd of New Yorkers in London who are broke. Daly, who by accident is forced to masquerade as a Russian noble, is engaged to furnish a company of nobility for a house party which the millionaire is to give at a remote country place. Daly's New York friends, a cowboy, a race-track pool seller, a "coon," a snoring champion, a little red-headed sprig and his daughters and others of that ilk are togged out to represent dukes, duchesses and the like and go down to Blithering Towers as the condescending guests of the American millionaire.

Fun that comes naturally of a race-track man masquerading as an English bishop; of Alkali Ben doing a turn as a British general and so on is incidental to the performance. Daly's droolery is the thing.

"Slaves of Gold."

The first act of the play presented at the Academy of Music last night by the Walter Comedy and Stock company, before an audience that applauded the production to the end.

"The Octoroon" is billed for this afternoon and a fine scenic production of "Under Two Flags" will be seen tonight.

"Rudolph and Adolph."

The basic idea of the new musical comedy, "Rudolph and Adolph," which will be seen at the Lyceum Thursday night, is the old theme of mistaken identity, which has done duty in many forms. These very funny comedienne, Rudolph and Charles A. Mason, in the title roles, make the farce irresistibly funny.

Their long and varied stage experience is exemplified in the minutest stage business and details.

"Way Down East."

William A. Brady's "Way Down East" will be seen in this city at the Lyceum on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, and is sufficiently original.

As a whole the story is well told and the dramatic climax as strong as one could ask for. It must be said that the play aims for wholesomeness and generally human sentiment in its every line. The sale of seats opens this morning at 9 o'clock.

The Bostonians.

At the Lyceum, Tuesday night, the Bostonians will make their re-entry with their latest success, "Maid Marian," the new romantic opera by Reginald DeKoven and Harry B. Smith, recently produced at the Garden theater, New York, for three months, with enormous success.

"Maid Marian" is a sequel to "Robin Hood," and is presented on a scale of unbounded splendor, with scenery by Ernest Good, and costumes by Van Horn.

The first act of the opera shows the ancient park surrounding the castle of the Earl of Huntington and the curtain will be raised on a hawk-riding and hunting party resplendent in movement and color. In sharp and vivid contrast to this idyllic landscape is the sunset in the desert depicted in act second, with the invested City of Acre in the distance. Act third is the banquet hall of the Huntington castle on Christmas morning, with the standard feast; the sale of seats opens Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.
