TO REDUCE TAX ONE-SEVENTH. MADE POSSIBLE BY LIQUOR LICENSE REVENUE. It is Proposed to Use the Unexpected Money in Lessening the Taxpayers' Burden, Rather Than Have it Frittered Away in Financing Pet Hobbies of Councilmen. Some New Health Measures—Providing for Police Matrons—Property Holders Want Damages. City and city special taxes will be reduced about one-seventh, or nearly 14 per cent., if no objection comes from common council or the recorder. Select council last night, pursuant to a recommendation of its committee on taxes, amended the tax levy ordinance by subtracting from the amount to be raised by direct tax on the people the equivalent of the amount which the actual receipts from liquor licenses exceed the estimated receipts. The city controller estimated there would be $125,801 received from liquor licenses. The report of the county treasurer's office shows that this estimate is $26,000 less than was actually received. With $36,000 lying around useless there was a general scramble among the councilmen for slices of it with which to carry out pet hobbies that had been crowded out of the general appropriation ordinance. When the tax levy ordinance came up in select council at the last meeting it was referred to the committee on taxes, consisting of Messrs. Guinman, Cosgrove, Clemons, McAndrew and Merriman. FAVORED REDUCTION. Last night they reported the ordinance with amendments reducing the tax one-seventh. The amendments were adopted and the ordinance passed on first and second readings. An adjourned meeting will be held next Thursday night to pass it on third reading. The amended ordinance provides for the following levy: First class... 0.0075 on $51,984.08—$194,920.25 Second class... 0.005 on 7,104,940—17,762.35 Third class... 0.00175 on 6,537,426—12,370.67 Total... 0.00625 on $18,626,446—$325,063.27 The original ordinance provided for a levy of four and four-tenths mills on first-class property; two and nine hundred and thirty-three one-thousandths mills on second class property, and two and two-tenths mills on third class property. This would raise $263,000. Another amendment made to the ordinance was the insertion of a clause stipulating that "this shall constitute the entire tax levy for 1902." New measures were introduced as follows: By Mr. Regan—A resolution directing that the electric light located on Corbett avenue last week, be transferred to Snyder avenue, a mistake having been made in the location. Adopted. By Mr. Chittenden—A resolution directing the director of public safety to place on every telephone a card bearing the telephone number of the nearest fire department house. Adopted. A resolution directing the director of public safety to have physicians report the source of the water that was used by typhoid fever patients. Adopted. A resolution directing the director of public safety to provide free vaccination again, that small-pox may be stamped out. Adopted. By Mr. Nagell—A resolution narrowing to thirty feet the roadway on Gibson street, between Quincy and Taylor avenues, referred to the streets and bridges committee. By Mr. Oliver—An ordinance establishing grades on all ungraded streets in the Fifth ward. Referred. By Mr. Coleman—A resolution directing the director of public safety to rigidly enforce the ordinance of 1898, regulating the speed of vehicles, particularly automobiles. GAS ORDINANCE REFERRED. The consumers' gas company ordinance came over from common council and was referred to committee. Three common council measures coming up for concurrence were killed by Chairman Oliver declaring them out of order. One exonerated 75 per cent. of the tax on the Thomas Kane estate, another essayed to charge to the appropriation for cleaning sewers the cost of constructing a sewer basin on the corner of Quincy avenue and Olive street, a third sought to provide cross walks for the Second ward by resolution, when an ordinance is required for such an expenditure, and a fourth attempted to charge the cost of two sewer basins at the corner of Wayne avenue and William street, to "ward appropriations" instead of "general street appropriations." Resolutions were concurred in directing the city solicitor to enforce the ordinance requiring the trolley company to sprinkle the streets on which it operates, and plank its South Side tracks; providing for a by-law at the corner of Crown avenue and Hemlock street; permitting property holders on Rebecca avenue, between Jackson and Price streets to lay a private sewer. A resolution directing the city solicitor to confess judgment for $2,000 in favor of Muldoon & Bowls, for extra work on the bridges, was referred to committee. Attorney R. J. Murray explained to council how the city was morally if not legally obligated to pay the claim. FOR POLICE MATRONS. A communication from Recorder Connell asking that provision be made for two police matrons in compliance with the second class city law, was referred to the committee on public buildings. In response to Mr. O'Boyle's report of June 12, Director Roche reported that 32 prisoners were employed in the parks for fifty days and that the total cost to date was $95.53, of which $88.13 was for wages of a foreman. The matter was referred to the parks committee. Damage claims aggregating $2,189.70 were presented by Seventh ward property holders for injury done by their property by floods which, it is alleged, were the result of blocking of No. 4 district main sewer. The claimants, their residence and the dates and amounts of the alleged damage follow: Anthony Rafferty, of 457 Phelps street, Feb. 28, $300; June 16, $400. John Caffrey, of 411 Phelps street, July 28, 1901, $250; Feb. 28, $300; June 16, $350. Daniel Keltner, of 432 Phelps street, Feb. 28, $197.40; June 16, $400.50. There was also a claim of $350 presented through O'Brien & Martin for damage done M. F. Handley's store property on Carbon street by a defective hydrant, and a claim of $250 for damage by diverted surface water to the property of Edward Layelle, of North Scranton. The claims were all referred to the judicial committee in conjunction with the city solicitor and director of public works. On motion of Mr. Chit-

CHANGED THEIR MINDS. Candidates for Mine Inspector Decide, as a Matter of Precaution, to Go Into Party Primaries. The candidates for mine inspector decided, late Wednesday night, that it was best to register, like the other candidates, and accordingly the six Republicans, through Attorney J. E. Watkins, registered with County Chairman Taylor and paid $15 each as an assessment. This action was the result of suggestions from the party leaders. There was no agreement they could reach which would prevent the Democrats from making nominations, and if some two were on the ticket in a party column it would give them an advantage over the others, and, besides, would give two grounds for contest if some other two had the highest number of votes. Mr. Watkins and the candidates are still of the opinion that it is only necessary for them to register with the county commissioners, but as a matter of precaution it was decided to waive the agreement of Wednesday afternoon and go into the primaries. The Democrats will likely nominate Mr. Moore and some one of the six Republicans. The three or four, as the case may be, who will not receive party nominations are expected to investigate a case-stated to determine which is the legal way for candidates for inspector to get their names on the ballots. The court will likely anticipate the suit and be prepared to readily act upon the question. A TYPICAL CASE. One of Many Strikers Who Are Looking for Work. "Can't you get me a job of work?" said a neatly dressed man to Mark K. Edgar, secretary to Recorder Connell, yesterday afternoon. "I've got a family of three to support, and I can't stand the strain any longer. "I've been living in this city for thirty years, and I never asked a bit of work from anybody before. The little money that I had saved up is gone now and we're down to our last dollar. There's not a one of my eleven children working. Alfred Wooler was a very nice, pretty tough sledding. The director of public works is turning men away upstairs, there's no more applying. I can get work in Susquehanna county on a farm, but I don't like to leave the family. If I don't take the job tomorrow morning, I can't have it." The recorder went out, and it was suggested that he be seen in the morning. "No use," said the man, as he walked out with the sign of a tear in his eye. "I'll have to leave the family and go to the farm tonight. They'll pay me $1.50 a day, and that will help some."

ALFRED WOOLER'S PUPILS. They Gave a Recital in Guernsey Hall Last Night. A large audience gathered in Guernsey hall last night in attendance at a vocal concert given by the pupils of Alfred Wooler. The program was a long and varied one and the singing of those who participated revealed Mr. Wooler's abilities as a vocal instructor. Albert Pilling, who has a powerful bass voice and who sings with much dramatic force, gave a swinging aria from the opera of Tofana, entitled "The Song of the Sower." He was also heard in a duet with Mr. Wooler and in a trio with Miss Newell and Mr. Wooler. David P. Watkins sang a selection composed by Mr. Wooler, entitled "Life's Mirror," and Miss DeGraw, a soprano with a voice of wide range, sang Beethoven's "Flower Girl." Mrs. Keech sang "Good-bye, Sweet Day," and Miss Winifred Melvin's sympathetic soprano voice was heard in "Love's Sorrow." Dudley Buck's arrangement of "Annie Laurie" was sung by a ladies' double quartette, consisting of the following ladies: Miss Winifred Melvin, Miss Margaret Thornton, Miss DeGraw, Miss Gertrude McGee, Mrs. Pilling, Miss Lydia Ingrick, Mrs. Keech and Miss Laura Rafter. A mixed studio chorus sang two selections with a concerted volume of tone that betokened careful training. At the conclusion of the concert, Mr. Wooler was presented with a beautiful baton, the gift of his pupils. The presentation speech was made by Dr. Herbert Voorhees, who said that the gift represented in concrete form the students' appreciation of Mr. Wooler's untiring and capable efforts. The baton is a beautiful one, made of ivory and ebony, with golden tips. SCRANTONIAN MARRIED. Clarence F. Seward and Miss Josephine Boone Wedded. Clarence F. Seward, formerly a resident of this city and ex-sergeant of the Thirtieth regiment, now with the Empire City Subway company, of New York city, was married last Thursday evening to Miss Josephine Boone, the accomplished granddaughter of the celebrated Daniel Boone and a very prominent member of New York society. Mr. and Mrs. Seward have a host of friends and received many costly presents. They left on an extended tour throughout the South, and on their return will reside at the Augusta, 1338 Seventh avenue, Central Park north. MOBILED IN EUROPE. Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Weston Home from a Delightful Trip. Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Weston returned yesterday morning from an extended trip through Europe. They sailed to Genoa and thence proceeded overland to Paris. Later they made a brief tour of Great Britain. Mr. Weston had his automobile along and ran it 1,700 miles on side excursions in various points of interest, principally in France. They had a very delightful time and made their tour without mishap or unpleasant adventure.

Fred K. Gunster succeeded in getting into fourth place in The Tribune's Educational Contest by his work yesterday. He now leads Herbert Thompson, of Carbondale, who has held that place for a long time, by ten points this morning. Mr. Gunster has also quite a good lead for the first prize of $10 in gold, leading Mr. Kipp by 34 points. Yesterday was a rather slow day in The Tribune's Educational Contest, but as the two previous days were unusually active this was only to be expected. Another change was made in the positions. J. A. Havenstrite, of Moscow, swapped twelfth place with Homer Kresge, of Hyde Park. Maxwell Shepherd, of Carbondale, and Leroy E. Stanton, of Scranton, also improved their scores. Nine working days are all that are left for the contestants to make up for lost time and try to win one of the two special prizes for the ones who bring in the largest number of points during June. These special prizes are well worth trying for and there should be no further delay on the part of contestants or else they will be too late. It seems too bad that the young ladies are not represented among the first six leaders who have done the most work thus far this month. Following is the corrected standing of the six contestants who have made the most showing so far in June: Leading Contestants for June. First Prize—$10 in Gold. Second Prize—$5 in Gold. 1. Fred K. Gunster... 112 2. Oscar H. Kipp... 78 3. A. J. Kellerman... 67 4. Charles Burns... 56 5. Herbert Thompson... 49 6. Maxwell Shepherd... 48
