

Agricultural.

To Cure Hoar or Bloat.

At this season of the year, and also through the summer, horned cattle, and particularly working oxen, are subject to this peculiar complaint. It is caused generally by turning cattle empty into luxuriant pasture. They eat to excess and the large mass of food not being readily digested, fermentation takes place, which creates carbonic gas largely, the stomach swells almost, if not quite to bursting, or the pressure by the stomach on the lungs being very great, the animal, if not relieved, dies of suffocation.

Having been much troubled with it this spring, as many as three oxen being swelled at one time, and one of them three times, and each time badly, I had occasion to try and test various remedies. In several cases, in other seasons I had seen a large hay rope, smeared with tar, put in the animals mouth and tied over his head, extremely successful, the chewing by the animal on the rope causing the gas to escape. But this remedy failed in every case with me this spring, and rendered a resort to other measures necessary. The very best cure I found among the several tried was the following: Mix together one pint of alcohol, or whiskey, one pint of warm water, and an ounce and a half of spirits of ammonia, and pour down his throat. If he does not belch pretty freely, repeat the dose—this gives immediate relief, and in a few hours, the swelling entirely subsides. I drenched with a pound and a half of salts in every case, but I believe the dose just mentioned will cure without, although the purging would doubtless be beneficial. In very extreme cases, tapping the left side, between the last rib and hip-bone, may be resorted to, but as bad consequences sometimes follow, it had better not be performed unless all other remedies fail.

The stomach pump is much the safest and the most speedy of all cures, but as few have it in reach, it cannot of course be often applied. Every farmer, I am satisfied, should have one. I have determined to be without it no longer.

Pinching Cucumber Vines.

A correspondent in the Horticulturist says:

"I had a narrow border, not more than two feet and a half wide, on the edge of a paved yard, enclosed by a high fence. I planted three cucumber hills in the border, and laid some brush (such as is used for pea vines,) between them and the fence. As soon as they crept up to the top of the brush, I pinched off the ends of the vine which thickened rapidly around the roots and in every direction throwing out the most vigorous foliage and a profusion of flowers.

"I did not allow the cucumbers to grow large but watched them, and such as I wished to reserve for the table, I picked as soon as they became of proper size; and all the rest were gathered every day pinching off the bud at the end of each shoot. In this way the hills continued fresh and productive until they were touched by frost. Some judgment can be formed of the value of this practice when I add that more than a barrel of pickles were made from three hills, besides allowing a supply for the table.

"Whenever a leaf began to look rusty or yellowish, it was removed, and every cucumber and leaf was cut off with large scissors, so as not to disturb or wound the vine. There is an advantage in having them run up on the brush instead of trailing over the ground; because they are much injured by being trodden on and by being kept low on the bushes they can be easily and thoroughly examined every day which is essential, because if one or two cucumbers are overlooked, and grow very large it stops the yield of that vine."

Weevil in Grain—How to Destroy.

I read an article in one of your numbers which spoke of keeping the shuck of corn, in order to prevent the weevil.—Keeping the shuck on the corn is the best mode of preserving the corn sweet and clean, and it also prevents the weevil; but wheat and other grain cannot be conveniently preserved in the shuck. I will give a method by which the weevil may be prevented from doing damage to wheat and other grain. It is by cutting the young (or growth of some year) of the saffras, and placing a few branches in the box containing the wheat. It will be preserved for three or four years entirely clear of weevil. If you think that this will benefit or interest your readers you may insert it in the Cultivator, if not, you may treasure it up.—J. M. S., in Southern Cultivator.

WHOLESALE BOOK AND STATIONARY HOUSE
IN NEW YORK
ON THE CASH PLAN:
EXTENSIVE SALES AND NO LOSSES.
Make it profitable to sell at very Low Prices.
MASON BROTHERS,
23 Park Row opposite the Astor House N. Y.
Offer one of the most extensive Stocks and complete assortments in the country of
BOOKS AND STATIONARY.
FOR CASH ONLY.

The amount of goods in our line purchased by country merchants is usually quite small compared with their dry goods, hardware, and other bills, and this very circumstance absolutely compels jobbers in the book business, who sell on time, to get larger profits in order to make up for the losses and extra expenses necessarily involved in a credit business of small amounts. It is also easy for the merchant to make arrangements to buy his book bill for cash; though it might not be so convenient for him to purchase his larger bills in this way.

These considerations have led us to adopt in our business, from this date, January, 1854, the following principles, viz. SMALL PROFITS, UNVARYING PRICES AND TERMS ALWAYS CASH.
Being ourselves the sole publishers of a number of the leading and most extensively selling School Books in the country, as well as works in other departments, our facilities are unsurpassed.

Call upon us, or send an order, and judge for yourselves, if the saving you can make by buying of us for cash is worth while.
Our location is very central, and easily found. Stand on the Astor House steps, and look straight forward across the corner of the Park, and you cannot avoid seeing our signs. REMEMBER THE NAME IS MASON BROTHERS.

Raising Blood
And Consumption, pain in the side and night sweats, Asthma, Whooping Cough, palpitation of the heart, Liver complaint, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat, lungs and liver cured by Sherman's All-Healing Balm.
RAISING BLOOD & CONSUMPTION
Mr. Milne, Builder, in Brooklyn, was attacked with raising blood, followed by a cough, pain in the side, and all the usual symptoms of consumption. He employed two of the best physicians; they did him no good, and told him he could not live.
Hearing of the wonderful cures performed by Sherman's Balm, he sent at 10 o'clock at night to Mrs. Hayes, 136 Fulton street, and got a bottle; it operated like a charm, stopped the bleeding and cough! Before he had taken one bottle he was able to be about his work. It had saved his life. His daughter, residing at 127 Myrtle Avenue, can attest it.
Miss Ann Maston, of Williamsburg living in Tenth, near South Fourth st., says—That she had been troubled with a hacking cough, and pain in the chest, for a long time, which at last became so bad that she was obliged to give up her school for more than a year. She then commenced taking the All-Healing Balm, which soon alleviated her symptoms. She is now fast recovering, and has resumed her laborious occupations as a teacher.
14 years Mr. John O'Neil, 10th avenue and 21st street, suffered with a cough, raising of phlegm, and pain in his side. He could get no relief till he tried the All-Healing Balm, which drove the pain from his side, allayed the cough, and brought the disease upon the surface; and before he had taken three bottles, was entirely cured.

PLEURISY AND CONSUMPTION
Mrs. Baggas, a lady upwards of 70, residing 88 Sheriff street, has for years been subject to attacks of Pleurisy, Raising of Blood, severe Cough, Shortness of Breath, Pain in her Head and various parts of her body. Her friends believed past recovery. The All-Healing Balm relieved her at once of all her alarming symptoms, and now she is able to attend to her work.
