Symptoms of the Disease. "Colera is a disease of the stomach and intestines, manifested by purging and vomiting, and running, sooner or later, into discharges like water with rice boiled in it. This is the essential nature of the disease, no matter where it appears .-When it comes as an epidemic commonly called 'Asiatic cholera,' there co-exists, to a greater or less degree, what is called malignancy; manifested by coldness of the surface of the body, depressed pulse, purple, shriveled appearance of extremities, and perhaps spasms. It is this quality that is the source of danger, and it may vary Shop and Ware Room on the corner of in intensity from the slightest to the most virulent degree, causing death in three hours, and before the purging and vomiting have had time, of themselves, to produce any effect.
