

[From the American Farmer.]

AGRICULTURAL.

WORK FOR AUGUST.

TIMOTHY.—Grounds intended to be sown in Timothy meadows should be forthwith ploughed—being first heavily manured. He who intends setting a timothy meadow should recollect, that it is to remain in grass for many years—and as the custom is,—but ought not to be,—to take all out of the soil, without returning anything to it, it is indispensably necessary that it be highly fertilized in the beginning, and that, if it be not, short crops of grass, and an early running out of the meadow, will be the inevitable consequences. In ploughing, care must be taken to turn over the furrows flat, so as to completely bury grass, weeds, and the seeds of both, while the furrow should be of sufficient depth to place such nuisances in a condition to prevent their re-growth or germination.

POTATOES.—If you have not done so already, give your late potatoes their last working.

STUBBLE-FIELDS AND PASTURES.—Give to these a dressing of plaster, say, one bushel to each acre.

BUSHES, BRIARS, SPROUTS AND WEEDS.—These should be all cut up during this month, it being the best time to effectually destroy them. When cut up they should be put in piles, dried and burnt.

SHEEP.—In the pasture or sheep-walk, in which these may be kept, there should be provided, under cover, a trough, which will be twice a week, provided with tar or salt—the tar to be first spread on the bottom of the trough and the salt sprinkled over the top of it.

FALLOWING FOR FALL CROPS.—It is full time that this work was begun—when done, it should be well done. The ploughing should be done as deeply as a strong team can force the plough; when the soil is stiff, after being broken up it should be rolled crosswise and thoroughly harrowed, as too fine a tilth cannot well be given to it. We believe that land which is put in such tilth, will yield one-third more than lands of equal quality that may be indifferently ploughed and pulverized.

ORCHARDS.—Examine your orchards for cankered or decayed limbs,—cut all such off down into the sound wood, smooth off the surface of the wound, and apply to it a plaster made of 1 part tar and 3 parts plaster—or one made of equal parts of beeswax, tallow and turpentine.

If there be any of your trees on which the bark is rough and scabby, have such bark scraped off and paint the trunk with a mixture comprised in the proportion of 1 gallon of soft soap, 1 lb. flour sulphur, and 1 pint of sal. By these processes you will ensure new and healthful bark to your trees, destroy the eggs of many destructive insects, and greatly improve the appearance as well as the bearing capacity of your orchards, provided you occasionally manure it.

THE DOG DAYS.—It is said the "dog days" are upon us—an announcement which many, whose sufferings are already intolerable, would fain wish to disbelieve—ourselves among them. It must have been on such a day that Southey in deep desperation wrote—

"O, spare me, spare me, Phobus!—if indeed Thou hast not let another Pheton Drive earthward thy fierce steeds and fiery car."

Mercy! I melt! No tree, no bush, No shelter, not a breath of stirring air, East, West, or North, or South! Dear god of day,

Put on thy nightcap; crop thy locks of light, And in the fashion; turn thy back upon us, And let them beams flow upwards; make it night

Instead of noon—one little miracle, In pity, gentle Phobus!—What a joy, Oh what a joy to be a seal or flounder, On an ice island! or to have a den, With the white bear cavered in polar snow!"

CURIOSITY SATISFIED.—Lady Jekyll asked William Whiston, of eccentric memory, one day at her husband's table, to resolve a difficulty which occurred to her in the Mosaic account of the creation. "Since it pleases God, sir," said she, "to create the woman out of the man, why did he form her out of the rib rather than any other part?" Whiston scratched his head and answered, "Indeed, madam, I do not know, unless it be that the rib is the most crooked part of the body!" "There?" said her husband, "you have it!"

AS IRISHMEN lost a child in Ireland, and afterwards emigrated to this country, where he lost another. Wishing to obtain a grave that should tell the whole story, he had these lines engraven upon it—

"Here lie two children dear, One in old Ireland—'t'other here."

THE FAIR SEX.—Barret, in his "Woman, a Poem," pays the following compliment, as beautiful as it is true, to the enchanters of our pleasures, the solacers of our cares, in whose arms our first hours are nursed, and on whose bosoms we generally breathe our last;

"Ask the gray pilgrim, by the sainted coast, On lonely shores, and numbered beneath the blast; Ask who relieved him, who the benediction gave, To kinde—whom with spilling golden rain— Oh! he will dart one spark of youthful flame, And clasp his wither'd hands, and wroth as I am."

Mr. Curran cross-examined a tailor. "Upon your oath, sir, where did this conversation happen?" "In the back parlor of my shop—my cutting-room." "And what were you then about yourself?" "Walking about."

"Aye, just taking a stroll in your cabbage-garden!"

A large glass of water, sipped ten drops at a time in perfect silence, till the whole be taken, is said to be a convenient cure for a person in a passion. This is the last application of the "water-cure."

Lord Hardwicke's bailiff having been ordered by Lady Hardwicke to procure a sow of the breed and size she particularly described to him, came one day into the dining room, when full of great company, proclaiming, with a burst of joy he could not suppress, "I have been at Roston fair my lady, and got a sow exactly of your ladyship's breed and size."

NEW CHEAP GOODS.

John W. Friling,

RESPECTFULLY informs his friends and customers, that he has just received and opened a splendid assortment of GOODS, consisting of DRY GOODS, Groceries, Hardware, Quensware, &c.

The public are invited to call and examine for themselves.

Sunbury, May 6, 1848—11

CUTLERY.

AN extensive Stock of Pocket and Table CUTLERY, for sale by

JOHN M. COLEMAN,

No. 32 and 33 ARCADE, and 81 North THIRD Street,

Comp. being 5000 dozen Penknives, Scissors and Razors.

Also, a choice assortment of Rodgers & Sons, Wadsworth's, Trava's, W. & S. Butler's and Fenney's Cutlery.

Also, Spanish Dink and Hunting Knives.

Also, Guns, Pistols, and 1 Bowie Knives.

Also, The American Razor, a superior article, and the best of Dealers.

Carriage Dealers in Cutlery, will find the above Stock worthy their attention, as the Subscriber's chief business is importing and selling cutlery.

Philadelphia, June 10th, 1848—11.

GIESE & SON.

Commission and Forwarding

MERCHANTS,

No. 48 Commerce Street, BALTIMORE.

Will receive and sell all kinds of COUNTRY PRODUCE—Flour, Grain, &c.

N. B. Particular attention given to the sale of Lumber. And cash advances made on consignments when required.

April 1, 1848—4m

PHILADELPHIA MEDICAL HOUSE,

Established 16 years ago, by Dr. KINKELIN.

The House is now open, and is a place of resort for all kinds of acute diseases, diseases of the skin and solitary habits of youth, is

DR. KINKELIN,

N. W. corner of 3d and Union Sts., between Spruce and Pine, 13 squares from the Exchange.

YOUNG MEN! if you value your life or your health, remember, the delay of a month, nay, even a week, may prove your ruin, both of body and mind. Hence let no false modesty deter you from making your case known to one who, from his long and successful experience, is qualified to cure you. He who places himself under Dr. KINKELIN'S treatment, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and in whose bosom will be forever locked the secret of the patient.

"I like the secret to the secret of your own heart, and cure themselves. Alas! how often is this fatal delusion, and how many a promising young man, who might have been an ornament to society, has fallen from the earth.

COUNTRY INVALIDS, finding it inconvenient to make personal application, can, by stating their case explicitly, together with all the symptoms, to one who, from his long and successful experience, is qualified to cure you. He who places himself under Dr. KINKELIN'S treatment, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and in whose bosom will be forever locked the secret of the patient.

At one time, on going to bed at night, my throat was so sore that I swallowed with difficulty, but by an application of the salve I was relieved before I had time to get up.

I have used it in case of burns, bruises, sprains, and fresh cuts, all with the happiest effects, and one case of poisoning by a wild vine in the woods, has been dried up and cured by a few applications from my ointment. I have also used it to prevent and cure all kinds of skin diseases, and in every case where I have used it, I have found a decided benefit.

I have become so partial to it, that I expect to keep it constantly in my family.

Though not ambitious to appear in print, yet I cannot refuse to have this communication made public if judged best to serve the cause of humanity.

Respectfully thine,

WM. ADAMS,

No. 26, Old York Road.

CAUTION.—No Ointment will be genuine unless the name of James M'Allister & Co. is written with a pen on every label.

JAMES M'ALLISTER,

Sole proprietor of the above medicine.

PRICE, 25 CENTS PER BOX. CO. ADVERTISERS.

FORSTYTH, WILSON & Co.,

Northumberland,

Dr. Wm. M. BICKLEY, Danville,

J. G. GROUSE, Selma, Ala.,

P. C. SHEPHERD, Leesburg,

W. M. F. NAGLE, Hillsboro,

JOHN SHARPLESS, Chatham,

Feb. 19th, 1848—cowly

SIX YEARS AGO

THE children began to cry for Sherman's Lozenges. The noise was not so loud at that time, but it has kept increasing ever since, and now has become so great that the mother of the little one can scarce be stopped. Dr. Sherman sympathizes with the little sufferers, and very much regrets that any of them should be disappointed. Knowing the vast benefit which has been conferred upon the community by the introduction of his infallible

WORM LOZENGES, he has entered into arrangements for enlarging his Manufactory, by means of which he thinks he will be able to supply the demand. And the same pains will be taken to take these lozenges to the remotest parts of the world, and to those who depend upon them, may not be disappointed in their hopes. He knew when he commenced the manufacture of the Worm Lozenges, that they would supersede the use of every other vermifuge, as the Lozenges is very pleasant to the taste, speedy in its effects, as well as certain, and the quantity required to effect a perfect cure, is very small. These properties, in connection with the fact that they are sold for 25 cents per box, thus rendering them the most economical of all the remedies either a very sedentary or irregular life. Although not regarded as a fatal disease; yet if neglected or improperly treated, may bring on incurable melancholy, Jaundice, Madness, or Vertigo, Palsy and Apoplexy. A general singularly attendant on it, is that it may often do considerable mischief, and even prove fatal, if not removed by timely attention.

CAUSE.—Grief and uneasiness of mind, excessive use of spirituous liquors, tea, tobacco, opium, and other narcotics, immoderate repletion, over distention of the stomach, a deficiency of the secretion of the bile or gastric juice, exposure to cold and damp air, are the chief causes of this disease.

SYMPTOMS.—Loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, acidity, and flatulencies, gnawing of the stomach when empty, uneasiness in the throat, pain in the side, costiveness, chilliness, languor, loss of spirits, palpitations, and disordered sleep.

TREATMENT.—DR. ALLEN'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND has never failed in affording immediate relief, and a radical cure for this disease.

This Medicine can be had of H. B. Mower, Sunbury; J. C. Martin, Pottsville; Medlar & Bickel, Orwigsville; and of Druggists generally.

ALLEN & WARD, Proprietors,

Philadelphia, Nov. 27, 1847—eq 1y

BOARDING.

THE subscriber is prepared to receive and accommodate a few transient or permanent Boarders, at his residence in Sunbury. The location is in a handsome and pleasant part of the town, commanding a fine view of the Susquehanna River, and the scenery adjacent to it.

To persons from the city, who wish to spend a few months during the summer season, Sunbury affords a delightful retreat.

ANN C. MORRIS,

April 8, 1848—6m

M'ALLISTER'S OINTMENT.

IT has power to cure all EXTERNAL SORES, SCROFULOUS HUMORS, SKIN DISEASES, POISONOUS WOUNDS to discharge their putrid matter, and then heal them.

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the gospel, judges of the bench, aldermen, lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—a universal voice—saying—"M'Allister, your Ointment is GOOD."

It is richly termed a Balsam, for there is scarcely a disease, natural or artificial, that it will not cure. I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption and liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man