

—The Warren Ledger of last week has the following items:

On Tuesday evening a crazy man, a German named Lessler, was, at the request of his relatives, who considered him dangerous, committed to the jail in this place, for safe keeping. When he was taken into the jail, the parties having him in charge were asked if he had anything in his pockets, and they replied that he had not, that he was harmless. For about two hours he was harmless, sitting quietly among the other inmates of the jail; when all of a sudden he jumped up and knocked a lamp off a table standing near him, kicked the table over, and then made a dash toward a prisoner named Flannegan, stabbing him with a knife in the left side, about an inch above the heart, the knife passing through the lung, inflicting a serious, but not necessarily fatal wound. The crazy man was overpowered before he could do further mischief, and locked securely in a cell, where he will remain until he can be taken to safer and more appropriate quarters.

While working in the lumber woods in Pleasant township, on Saturday last, Mr. Wallace G. Shutt met with a severe accident. While loading a stick of timber, the sled, which was standing up sideways, fell over with the stick of timber onto Mr. Shutt's leg, brnking it. He was taken to the residence of Bonn Magee, where Dr. Stewart was summoned, and the leg set. This accident will probably confine Mr. Shutt to his bed for some months.

The humping grave stone and monument peddler, W. H. Fullerton, well-known here, has made himself famous over in Titusville, where he has been putting up monuments and things. They gave him a gold-headed cane, when W. H. F., made his reception speech, in which he said Excelsior should be his motto. Great is Fullerton in the humping line, and he seems to have dropped into congenial soil down in Titusville.

DAN RICE'S TROUBLES.—The Erie Observer, speaking of Dan Rice's feignures, says: "The old saying that 'when a man begins to slide down hill it seems as though all creation were gnashed for the occasion,' is amply illustrated in the case of Col. Dan Rice, who has had of late more than his share of misfortune.

He reached Louisville about three weeks ago, rented the exposition building and fitted it up at a great expense. The first week turned out badly and for the second time the price of admission was reduced to fifteen and twenty-five cents; but the show didn't draw. As a consequence, the whole concern was attached, the horses, canvas, and general paraphernalia were sold at auction, the celebrated blind trick horse bringing only $125. The performers, musicians and all the employes were minus their wages. Dan not having a dollar left to pay them. During the summer Dan himself, with his blind horse, etc., was traveling with another company, that too went up, leaving him minus $26,000. His property in the neighborhood of Girard is heavily mortgaged, and his best friends have no hopes that he can save it. With all of Dan's oddities, he has many good qualities, and there will be a few of our citizens who will not sympathize with him in his troubles.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PENNSYLVANIA.—Your attention is specially invited to the fact that the National Banks are now prepared to receive subscriptions to the Capital Stock of the Centennial Board of Finance. The funds realized from this source are to be employed in the erection of the buildings for the International Exhibition, and the expenses connected with the same. It is confidently believed that the Keystone State will be represented by the name of every citizen alive to patriotic commemoration of the one hundredth birth-day of the nation. The shares of stock are offered for $10 each, and subscribers will receive a handsomely steel engraved Certificate of Stock, suitable for framing and preservation as a national memorial.

Interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum will be paid on all payments of Centennial Stock from date of payment to January 1, 1876.

Subscribers who are not near a National Bank can remit a check or post-office order to the undersigned.
