Mr. and Mrs. John Shawkey of Illinois, were guests of Mrs. Justis Shawkey, Monday and Tuesday of this week.

In the language of Bill Nye, one ought to clean up at least once a year whether he needs it or not. And this applies as well to burghs as to individuals.

Barnett's store will be closed from noon to day, Wednesday, until Monday morning next, on account of holidays. Customers should make a note of this fact.

Don't neglect the payment of your taxes if you care to vote this fall. October 8th is the last day. Republicans, don't fail to look after this important matter.

The F. M. quarterly meeting was largely attended last Sabbath. The day was mild and pleasant affording many from a distance an opportunity to come in by conveyances.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Committee on the World's Fair work the afternoon of Sept. 28th, to which the inspectors and all who are interested in the work are cordially invited.

Miss Dora Gaskill of Alliance, Ohio, arrived at the home of grandma Reck Monday evening, to remain a few days with her mother, who has been here for some time past in hope of regaining her health, which has been rather poor of late.

L. J. Hopkins, who is taking in the big reunion of veterans at Washington, will combine business with pleasure by loading up at New York on fall and winter goods. In a few days they'll be arriving, and then you'll see one of the dandiest displays of the year.

Bergmann, the would be assassin of H. C. Frick, had his trial in Pittsburgh last week and on Monday last got a 22-year sentence. The jury gave the verdict without leaving the box.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. W. Reck and young son, are down from McKean county on a few days' visit with Mrs. Judge Reck. While here Jarius will superintend the putting of a new roof on his mother's residence.

Wm. Leard, a former popular citizen of Mayburg, this county, has moved to Kittanning and embarked in the grocery business. Mr. Leard will have the good wishes of a large circle of friends in this section at his back.

Frank Hunter, who has been suffering two weeks past with a severe attack of bilious fever, was little if any better at last accounts, and his friends have been quite uneasy at the stubbornness with which his trouble clings to him.

J. F. Overlander says he has the Hunter girl mill, which he has christened "The Forest Mill," in apple pie order for grinding all kinds of grain in short order and fine style. He invites the patronage of the public, and guarantees satisfaction.

The annual meeting of the County Commissioners of the State at Pittsburgh, last week, was the most largely attended and successful gathering of the kind yet held, and much good to the counties throughout the State is expected to accrue from it.

H. J. Hopkins & Co. will be on the jump in a few days unpacking their new stock of fall goods, which are already on the way. After the rush is over and the goods are marked (way down, by-the-way) your presence will be requested. In the meantime don't be in a hurry to buy elsewhere. 'Twill be worth your while to wait.

The first Republican pole of the campaign in Crawford county was recently raised on the premises of Edward A. Scowden, Union Township, one of the solid Republicans of that county. The ceremonies were attended by an immense crowd, and the campaign was given a decided boost. Mr. S. is a brother of our townsman, J. C. Scowden.

Martin Saltgiver got the index finger of his right hand too near the business end of a buzz saw last Saturday, while at work on Thomas' mill, which is located on the Randall farm. The consequence is that Martin has but two joints to that finger where, just previous to his familiarity, he had three. But he takes the matter coolly, and blames no one but himself.

About three weeks ago W. A. Grove struck his shin with the bit of a dull ax, and while the stroke was painful for a little while, he treated it as rather a trivial thing until a few days later, when the injury became more painful and began to show symptoms of blood-poison. The consequence has been that Albert has not been able to leave the house since, and though in a fair way to recovery now is still much troubled by the injury.

Among the Tionesta people who are in attendance at the national encampment at Washington are the following: Capt. and Mrs. C. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. L. Agnew, Mr. and Mrs. D. Irwin. A number of others had intended going, but were disappointed in their arrangements from one cause or another, the cholera scare having the effect of keeping some at home.

The World's Fair souvenir coins some of them, it is now expected will be issued in November, probably by the middle of the month. The exposition authorities have offered quantities of them to banks throughout the country at the uniform rate of one dollar each, and it is believed that these institutions will be prompt to avail themselves of the opportunity to get a supply for their customers. Orders for them are already being sent in at the rate of $5,000 to $10,000 a day.

The Flint, Mich., Citizen of the 3d inst., contains this pleasant reference to a former Tionesta boy, whose young friends here will join in best wishes for a long and happy future for him and his: "Mr. Charles Adams, of this city, and Miss Lillian Swarthout, of Ovid, were married at the home of the bride, by Rev. P. McVetty, on Thursday. The ceremony was witnessed by a few intimate friends, and the occasion was a very happy one. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will reside at Davison."

W. H. M. Society, Clarion Presbytery.

The eighth annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of Clarion Presbytery will be held at Oil City, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 12, and 13, beginning at 3:00 p. m. on Wednesday. We expect to have Mrs. Devore, of Alaska, with us. Railroad orders for reduced rates may be obtained from Mrs. J. V. Bell, of Du Bois. Mrs. J. H. Evans, Pres't.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Overlander, of the west side, are enjoying a real family reunion this week, all their children being once more, and for the first time in many years, gathered at their home. They are: Mrs. John McCowan, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mrs. Nannie McCowan, and Mrs. Jennie Gailey, all of Enon Valley, Pa., Mr. J. F. Overlander, Jr., wife and children, and Mr. Caldwell Overlander, of Solem, Ohio, engineers on the Ft. Wayne road; Jesse Overlander of Ross Run, and Mrs. James Morgan of Tionesta.

The appointment of Rev. Rumberger was changed, at his request, by Bishop Newman, from Catawagus, N. Y., to East Brady, Pa. This gives the Doctor a location much more desirable to himself, his family and his many friends, who did not relish the idea of his going so far away from them. He went to his new field on Friday last, and the regrets expressed at his departure were universal and sincere. Surely Dr. and Mrs. Rumberger and Miss Mary, their accomplished daughter, bear with them to their new home the very best wishes of all our people.

In the October number of "Peterson's Magazine" appears the following notice to its subscribers: "This Magazine is about to pass into the control of stockholders who propose to convert it into a periodical devoted solely to literature and art. Peterson's long-continued success, its general merit, and the great improvement in its literary departments during the past few years have decided the future publishers to call their periodical The New Petersons, confident that the name will raise for it in advance a wide host of friends and supporters. The new magazine will commence with the January number."

The new board of health was out on a tour of inspection last Saturday, and while they found several very tough disease breeders in different parts of the town, in the main they found a pretty fair condition of things existing about people's backyards, in private alleys, etc. The bad places were duly reported to the Council, which promises to have things righted forthwith, and this is proper. People should not wait to be compelled to do these things, but each individual should have sufficient pride about him to keep his premises in a healthy condition whether disease and pestilence threaten the country or not. Let all cooperate with the proper authorities in these matters, and very shortly we will have our town so thoroughly cleaned that no scourge can find lodgment in our midst.

SAFE-CRACKERS IN TOWN.

When all's quiet then lookout for burglars. Last Saturday night an attempt was made to crack the postoffice and Scowden & Clark safes, neither of which proved successful, however. At the postoffice an entrance was effected by prying open the back door, marks of a square bar being plainly visible on the door and jam. A quarter-inch hole was drilled about half way through the door just over and partially into the rim of the combination lock. The attempt was abandoned at this juncture, evidently because of some peculiar mechanism in the door in which the drill could not well be worked. Postmaster Knox's overcoat, rather a good one, of a sort of blue-black shade, was taken. Also some specimens of silverware—knives, forks and spoons—which he had on exhibition. A few cent's worth of stamps near the money order window were not disturbed. A number of letters in May, Park & Co's box had been torn open. Aside from these the postmaster discovered no unusual disturbances, and it is possible the burglars were frightened away before they had time to give the office a general ransacking.

At Scowden & Clark's carriage factory an entrance was gained through a side window. An attempt had been made to open the safe, but also failed. The knob which works the combination was knocked off, but the lock was not badly injured, and the proprietors were able to open their safe by the regular way, after a little tinkering. Nothing else about the premises was disturbed. Mr. Scowden, whose residence is near the shop, was disturbed about one o'clock in the night by the unusual barking of his dog and got up and quieted him. He believes this may have frightened the thieves.

No other places in the town were visited, and no clue has yet been discovered that would throw any light on the perpetrators. It may be possible that this is the beginning the raid along the Allegheny valley that may be looked for almost regularly about this time of year. If so, towns above and below us would do well to look up for the brutes.

CHOLERA SUBSIDING.

The good news comes from New York that the cholera scare is about at an end; unless there should be a fresh outbreak, not now anticipated. The fact coming to light that five deaths from cholera had occurred in the city from September 6th to the 13th, gave the country a genuine scare, and caused much consternation in all quarters as a natural consequence. Happily, however, the latest official bulletins from the board of health are to the effect that no cases or suspected cases have appeared in the city since the 13th, and no deaths from cholera since that date. At the quarantine stations all is progressing quietly, and new cases are a very rare thing. No new pest ships have arrived for several days and while the vigilance will be rigidly kept up, it is not believed that there will be any further trouble from this source. The news from foreign lands is much brighter, also, and the returns throughout the plague stricken sections show a steady decrease in the virulence of the scourge.

Kellettville.

Halsey Graham is lying quite low with typhoid fever. He is attended by Dr. L. A. Barber.

Several of our townsmen were attending the fair at Warren and Clarion the past week.

Robt Fryar, a dispenser of fresh meat, has closed out his business and gone to Ohio, where he has a good job awaiting him.

Tom Cowan and soon Samuel and Wesley Waterman, all of Whig Hill, have taken the contract of lathing several buildings here.

Dr. Barber has purchased a lot between the Brooklyn House and L. J. Fleming's house, and has the lumber on the ground for a new house, which will be built as soon as workmen can be secured.

The Tionesta Lumber Co. have sold all their hardwood to the Buffalo Hardwood Lumber Co. The amount is about 100,000 feet, consisting of ash and cherry. Several teams are hauling the same to Stowtown where it is put on board the cars and shipped to Buffalo.

A meeting was held in the P. O. S. of A. hall here Friday evening for the purpose of organizing a year benefit society. Mr. J. N. Wilson of Titusville, the agent, delivered a lecture, after which members were solicited.

Alphonso Beeson has been installed as clerk in the Andrews store. "Fon" is a good fellow and will attend the wants of customers promptly.

W. H. Carter is erecting a new barn on a lot back of the Brooklyn House.

Wm. Tobey has moved his house on the new foundation lately built for the same. He will build an addition to it as soon as preparations can be made.

NEWSY NOTES.

At St. Joseph, Mo., on the 14th, in the free-for-all trot, Labasco broke the station record of the world, making the mile in 2:10.

Henry Kroh, of Pinecreek township, Jefferson county, died last week, after a week of intense suffering, from the effects of a dose of bed-bug poison taken by mistake.

Hiram Brown, of the first Ward, Franklin, comes forward with the boss stin-flower. He says the stock now bears 140 flowers in bloom, and he thinks that it held at one time 160.

There are three cases of smallpox in New Castle, one in the family of James Stokes and two in the family of David Horner, a prominent saloon man. All the cases are children. How the disease came to reach the city is unknown.

Arrangements have been completed whereby excursion trains to the World's Fair, by whatever road they may arrive in Chicago, will run within the Exposition grounds and discharge their passengers there. No transfer of passengers at any point will be necessary.

The grand jury sitting at Erie this week made return in the Edinboro cases. Professor Cooper was trying to indict several trustees of the state normal school for embezzlement and conspiracy. The grand jury returned not a true bill and Cooper pay the cost.—Titusville Herald.

It is said that the juice of the garden beet, of the blackberry and of the strawberry, if rubbed lightly on the cheeks and then washed off with milk, leaves a beautiful rosy tint that more than rivals cosmetic paints, and such vegetable juices are not of course injurious to the most sensitive skin.

All this talk about Corbett being a gentleman is all bosh. Gentlemen do not engage in any such business as a profession. Corbett whipped Sullivan and he did it squarely. But what is the use of trying to make people believe that prize fighting is a gentlemanly business. It is a brutal thing and it is a disgrace that there are so many people in the United States who take an interest in such sport.

A San Francisco murderer, whose execution was postponed by the sheriff on account of legal advice, is now said to be "judicially dead," and the judge says he cannot sentence him again, now that the time set for his execution has passed. The murderer is, in law, dead, and as it is not usual to hang dead men, he will escape the penalty of his crime. This is probably the first case of the kind on record.

The following is the open season when the different kinds of game can be killed: Turkeys, October 15 to Jan. 1; Woodcock, July 4 to Jan. 1; Quail, Nov. 1 to Dec. 15; Ruffed Grouse or pheasant, Oct. 1 to Jan. 1; Rail and Reed birds, Sept. 1 to Dec. 15; Rabbits, Nov. 1 to Dec. 1; Ducks, Sept. 1 to May 1; Plover, July 15 to Jan. 1. The law further states "There shall be no hunting, shooting or fishing on Sunday, under a penalty of $25."

Nancy Hanks must look to her laurels. With a pneumatic tired hairbrush sulky, the feet little mare has made a mile in 2:07 on an oval track. On the ninth, at Springfield, Mass., Arthur A. Zimmerman, the bicycle champion, beat the record of Nancy Hanks by making a mile in 2:06 1/2. The gain in speed made by the man over the horse is only a fifth of a second. But it is interesting as showing the mechanical perfection to which the bicycle has been brought and the tremendous power there is in a set of well developed, thoroughly trained human muscles. A race between Nancy Hanks and Zimmerman over an oval track would be a sight worth going far to see.

John Hancock, a thrifty and well known farmer of Cherrytree township, Venango county, left his house Thursday morning, Sept. 8, saying to his wife that he was going to look at his field of buckwheat, on the Ross farm, about three quarters of a mile away, and that he would be back by noon. He was in his shirt sleeves. That was nine o'clock a. m., since which time there are no tidings of the missing man, although fully three hundred men and boys have searched since his strange disappearance. Later—the mystery in this case has been solved by the finding of Hancock's body hanging by a rope tied to a rafter in his brother's barn, three miles from his own home, on Sunday last. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Some Points on Cholera.

Cholera is a bacterial disease. The germ that causes it by attacking the alimentary canal has been named the "comma bacillus," because of its resemblance in shape to the punctuation mark, the comma.

Although cholera germs are portable, they will not propagate their kind under ordinary conditions, except in the alimentary canal of the human being or other animal. They will multiply rapidly on gelatine in a "culture-tube," but they could hardly do the same thing in any sort of food on board of a vessel. The moisture they require for that purpose would quickly cause anything edible to decay and be destroyed.

Among the auxiliary causes for cholera, fear of the disease is rated high. Depressing emotions and intemperance are likewise to be avoided. The panic which commonly prevails during epidemics of the complaint attains such seriousness that it has earned for itself the name of "cholera phobia." Under such conditions ordinary diarrhoea usually affect a large number of persons without eventuating in cholera. At the same time there is no wonder that it occasions alarm, inasmuch as the dread disease itself gives no warning of its attack, aside from mild diarrhoea. So little are patients conscious of their danger they often apologize for giving the physician the trouble of visiting them, when a glance suffices to show him that they are on the verge of fatal collapse.

The first thing requisite is to check the diarrhoea. If prompt measures are taken for that purpose, the patient will nearly always recover without further symptoms. But a delay of half an hour is often fatal. Collapse supervenes, and then there is little hope. A few drops of laudanum with camphor, in repeated doses, will stop the diarrhoea. However, the best remedy, according to the famous Dr. Austin Flint, is salt of morphia in doses of one grain each, placed on the tongue and repeated at intervals of 30 to 45 minutes until the diarrhoea ceases. Where vomiting renders this method impracticable, the remedy should be given by the rectum, and where the symptoms are urgent, both methods should be tried. Every moment is precious, for, if the object is not promptly affected, collapse is likely to ensue, the diarrhoea causing a rapid disorganization of the blood.

The cholera exhibits three phases, which are spoken of as choleric diarrhoea, choleric, and fully developed cholera. Choleric diarrhoea has little characteristics about it at first, save numerous thin, watery stools—as many as five to forty in one day—which soon lose their normal color. Then follows loss of appetite, great thirst, pain in the limbs, and a peculiar hoarseness of the voice.

The disease is termed choleric as soon as vomiting is combined with the purging. This stage gradually passes into that of cholera itself. The vomiting and diarrhoea increase, the stools assume the so-called rice water appearance. The action of the heart grows weaker; the skin grows pale, cold, and bluish-white; the face assumes a leaden hue; the cheeks fall in, the features become pinched; the eyes sink deep in their sockets. This stage seldom lasts more than two days, and generally death ensues within a few hours.

A remarkable amount of muscular contortions occur within a few hours after death, sufficient in some cases to cause the body to change its position, thus giving rise to the report that the dead have come to life, or were buried alive.

In order to prevent the spread of cholera, obviously the most important thing to know is how the germs are distributed. The complaint being a disease of the alimentary canal, the bacilli are only contained in the discharges from the bowels of the patient and in the vomit. Accordingly, these must be promptly destroyed, and not thrown away. They should not be permitted to pass into the sewers, because the latter empty into rivers usually. It is probable that the germs most commonly find their way into the body in drinking water.

India and Arabia are the homes of cholera. The disease is always alive there in some localities. The present epidemic originated near the head waters of the Ganges in the northwestern provinces of India, about March of this year, and was rapidly spread by the pilgrims returning homeward from the great Hurdwar fair—Passing through Cashmere and Afghanistan, the scourge reached Persia about the first of June, and thence crossed the Caspian Sea to Asiatic Russia, and thence into Europe.

Our line of shoes for the fall and winter is now as complete as the utmost care in selection can make it, and we therefore ask no odds from any competition when quality, style and low prices are wanted. We have the stock that speaks for itself. Come and see. Lawrence & Smearbaugh.

The Tionesta photograph gallery will be open only on Wednesdays until further notice. On these days Mr. Sires will give his personal attention to the work and make the sittings himself. No better guarantee of satisfaction could be asked.
