

Calendar table for September 1901 with columns Su., Mo., Tu., We., Th., Fr., Sa. and rows 1-30.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

STATE. Justice of the Supreme Court, WM. P. POTTER, of Allegheny. State Treasurer, FRANK G. HARRIS, of Clearfield. COUNTY. County Treasurer, CALVIN M. ARNER, Tionesta.

COZLOGOSZ CONVICTED.

The jury in the case of the Buffalo assassin rendered its verdict promptly yesterday, convicting him of murder in the first degree. Defense offered no evidence.

PAY YOUR TAX and make sure of your vote this fall. The time is short.

MANY a silent and secret tear is shed for McKinley, not only because he was great, but because he was good.

NO SUCH a grand arch or monument to McKinley will arise, but his greatest memorial will be in the hearts of his countrymen.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was once prominently connected with the navy department, but was not among those who talked too much.

HOW simple, true, and beautiful was the American citizenship at William McKinley. It is a heritage for good that will last as long as the nation itself.

IT is the chosen business of the yellow press to play upon all that is base in human nature. Ordinary wickedness does not satisfy its tastes. It craves and creates the diabolical.

MORE than 5,000,000 people have visited the Pan-American Exposition. As Secretary of Agriculture Wilson said on September 11, after a visit, "No one can afford to keep away."

OUT of respect to the national grief over the tragic death of President McKinley, the Pan-American was closed on Thursday, September 19th, the day of the state funeral. The gates were re-opened on Friday, September 20th, and will remain open until November 1st in accordance with the original plan of the Exposition managers.

ON this subject of the freedom of speech, the difference between liberty under the law, which was what our forefathers had in mind, and license out of it, which they admittedly fought against, is too broad not to be distinguishable. We look to the next Congress to make that difference, not clearer, for that is not necessary, but more widely observed through the severer punishment of offenders against the spirit of the American Constitution.

WHETHER Sir Thomas Lipton succeeds in wresting the yachting cup from its present holders or not is for this week's race to say. Should he win it we will have the satisfaction of knowing that it was lost to as gallant a man as has yet come across in the hope of taking it back. They say that, should he lose, he will not again try for the prize, and it may be the report is correct. At least, that is for him to say. But this also is to be added: Should he not again make a battle for the cup England will have no cause to complain of him. He has done more than his share from the English point of view and has paid the bills himself.

A DISPATCH from Washington under date of 23d inst. says: Gen. Leonard Wood, military governor of Cuba, left here to-night by way of Tampa for Havana. The expectation of Gen. Wood is that the conduct of affairs in the island can be handed over to the Cubans by May 1. The electoral law which is satisfactory to the administration, provided some modifications are made. As a result of his talk with the officials here Gen. Wood to-night expressed the opinion that there will be no change in the attitude of the administration toward the Cubans, but that the policy inaugurated by Mr. McKinley will be continued by his successor.

WHEN Senator Wellington of Maryland, was approached by a newspaper reporter after the shooting of the President, he said: "McKinley and I are enemies, I despise the man, I have no use for him. I am totally indifferent in the matter." Such rancorous egotism and narrow vindictiveness on the part of a man who occupies the position of United States Senator, seems incredible. He ought to be expelled from the Senate, as he was from the Union League Club, and driven into the sphere to which such meager souls are entitled. His enmity was due to the fact that McKinley did not appoint the man he recommended for Postmaster General.—Punx's Spirit.

THE Buffalo assassin will not have many postponements or appeals in his case. It is safe to make this prediction. Yet he will undoubtedly have a fair trial. All that can be urged in his defense by the keenest lawyer will undoubtedly be presented. Legal talent will be provided to take care of his interests. But the case will not be drawn out to any provoking lengths. There never was a murder more methodically and cunningly conducted than that put in execution by Cozlogosz. His handkerchief was too deep for the government's attorneys. If he is not sane then sanity is a lunatic. All that the most versatile lawyer can say in the defense of the assassin will not occupy much time. As a court spectacle Cozlogosz's career will be short.

The mess into which Doctor Swallow has gotten himself by the utterance of derogatory remarks concerning the late President McKinley is merely illustrative of the intemperate assertions which the same gentleman was in the habit of making when he occupied a more conspicuous position in the Pennsylvania eye. It is conceivable that a man without education or good training and who consequently knows nothing of the amenities of life might blurt out his ignorant hatred of even the dead ruler of a nation, but Dr. Swallow is not to be excused on that ground. The incident may not prove much more than a nine-days' wonder, but it carries its impressive warning to other men who may have a desire to slur the character of a wise and good man. Dr. Swallow is a dead issue in Pennsylvania, and the deadening process has been completed by his own slanderous words against his beloved McKinley.

President Roosevelt's Assurance.

President Roosevelt's announcement to the members of the cabinet that he should "continue absolutely unopposed the policy of President McKinley for the peace, prosperity and honor of our beloved country" will cause no surprise. It was known by everybody who was at all familiar with Col. Roosevelt's views on national issues that he was in entire harmony with Mr. McKinley's ideas on the great questions of the day. Col. Roosevelt himself stated his position on most of the important issues on his recent visit to the West with his accustomed clearness and candor. They were, of course, fully and vigorously set forth last fall when on his stumping tour throughout the country. The country has no occasion to be in any doubt as to the position of President Roosevelt on any issue now before the country, or which has been before it in the past few years.

The assurance, also, that their will be no extra session of Congress was just what was expected. Nothing is in sight, so far as the country can discern at this moment, to warrant the calling of Congress in advance of the date of its stated meeting, two and a half months hence.

A conservative, intelligent, progressive administration of the public affairs will be had. President Roosevelt will be in harmony with the majority of his countrymen on the subject of expansion. He is with them on the Monroe policy. He favors the extension of the country's foreign trade in all reasonable ways. The trusts he would put under governmental control as far as this can be done without hampering their legitimate activities. The country may rely on having a sane and safe administration under President Roosevelt, as it had under President McKinley. Col. Roosevelt is a broad, thoroughly equipped and admirably balanced man. He knows the political issues on what may be called their literary side, and he is equally well acquainted with them in their practical aspect. There will be no rash experiments in the management of public affairs under his regime. While he is a profound student of history and politics, and has all the student's earnestness and enthusiasm in learning all the aspects in which great issues can assert themselves, he is as inhospitable to fads and crankeries as any man of education in the United States. He is a courageous, public spirited and patriotic, a foe to all trickery and sham of any sort, and an all-round American whom the country will love. During the service of Col. Roosevelt the United States will have a clean, safe, progressive and thoroughly American administration.

Let Well Enough Alone.

The agitation for a personal registration law in this State has aroused but little interest outside the large cities, where such a requirement is already demanded of the individual voter. Why such restrictions should be imposed upon the voter in the country has not been made clear nor do the advocates of the proposed change in our laws present any good reason for it. The registration amendment is one of two proposed amendments to the Constitution that were passed by the Legislature during this year's session. It was introduced first in the session of 1899 and re-introduced and passed finally at the last session of the General Assembly. The people will be called upon for their judgment in the matter at the fall election. The amendment should be voted down.

There is no general demand for any such change in the Constitution. The State Constitution is the crowning work of some of the best and greatest minds of the Keystone State has produced, and as finally amended and determined upon in 1873, is justly regarded as one of the best ever devised for the government of a great Commonwealth. Other States in the Union have looked upon it as a model and engrafted many of its provisions upon their own constitutions.

The proposed amendment would provide a positive hardship to residents of country districts, where few changes are made from year to year and where fixed residences are the rule and not the exception. Its first effect would be to cause a heavy falling off in the country vote. Farmers and others would not take the trouble to register and would justly regard any law making it compulsory for them to do so, on pain of being deprived of their votes, as an imposition and an interference with their rights as citizens of this great Commonwealth.

Instead of an improvement upon present ballot methods, it will prove a decided handicap. A handful of professional reformers are reported to be very desirous of having the proposed amendment adopted, but there is no strong demand for it on the part of the people at large and little if any necessity for any such change in our present methods of voting. "Let well enough alone."—Derrick.

High Time to Retire.

Of all the sorry spectacles of yellow journalism the Pennsylvania Methodist, published at Harrisburg, and edited by that repudiated would-be reformer known as Dr. Silas C. Swallow, takes the lead. A few days before the death of President McKinley he wrote and published in his sheet a virulent attack upon the character and honor of the stricken chief magistrate of the nation. When public indignation ran high in Harrisburg and wherever the article was read, the misguided editor added insult to injury by publishing in a local paper what he would term an excuse for his shameful course as follows:

"Some exceptions have been taken to an editorial written by me at a time when President McKinley's doctors were saying that they would have him in Washington in a week. Had I thought he would die or continue to suffer it would not have been published; but his much-to-be-regretted death immediately after the publication changed all the conditions."

Did mortal man ever attempt a more pitiable apology. Because he thought the President might live is his excuse for his indecent attack on his spotless character. When all the world was praying for the restoration to health of the revered President, this man Swallow was showing his venom through the columns of his newspaper. Could a more deplorable spectacle be imagined. It is high time for the Swallows to retire from the public gaze. None but anarchists can endorse such "journalism."

Captain Clark's Experience.

The Pottsville, Schuylkill county, daily Republican, is devoting a good deal of valuable space to war reminiscences connected with the old 48th Regt. that are not only interesting to the old boys of that gallant organization but to the public in general as well. A recent issue contains a short but interesting contribution from our townsman Capt. C. W. Clark, in charge of Co. C, at the time he writes of:

I here present a little sketch of what happened to me on the night of June 16, 1864, at Petersburg, Va. "That evening the 48th Pa. Regt. moved up close to the Rebel works. I was in charge of company C, and the aid de camp of Gen. Porter staffed me to take my company across the hollow and swamp, to my left. I started, and just as the head of my company struck the swamp the rebels opened on us a most terrible fire from their works, an enfilading fire.

Part of the company fell back into the shelter of the earthworks. I was too far advanced to get back. About eight or ten went up the swamp to get out, so we remained in the swamp until the moon rose. Just then a man rode up on a fine black horse.

I halted him and ask him who he was. He said he was an aid to General Beauregard, and would take us to headquarters. I took the gun out of the hand of Mieb. McLaughlin and made a prisoner of the horseman and marched him back toward the Appomattox.

I soon struck the picket line of a New York Regt., and strange to say, he was identified by them as one of their officers, who was out on scouting duty and had mistaken us for rebels and had adopted the subterfuge of calling himself a rebel aid to Beauregard to save his life, supposing we were rebels.

I got back to my regiment at about midnight and I found it close to the rebel works. We made a charge about daybreak on the morning of the 17th, carried the works and recaptured a N. Y. regiment flag and a great many prisoners. We also captured the flag of the 4th South Carolina regiment. I personally carried both these flags on my shoulders inside the rebel works to the top of the hill, to the rebel fort which we had captured with two brass guns.

Col. Pleasant ordered Capt. Gilmore, of Co. H, our regiment to "Turn these guns on the rebels and give them—" I heard Capt. Gilmore say, "Col., those guns are stuffed to the muzzle with clay."

So it proved on examination, much to our mortification, but a battery was soon brought up which did fine work, adding much to the speed of the flying enemy.

William Clark, late Capt. Co. C, 48th Pa., Aug 29th 1901.

Letter to M. Hepler.

Dear Sir: There's a little bit of a State down east—a Rhode Island man was fined $100 the other day for selling potatoes—his bushel was like his State: short measure. It isn't fair to punish a man for short-bushel potatoes, and not for short gallon paint. There is short-gallon paint in many stores in your section. If you get sent to the legislature, will you get the law fixed?

Devoe lead and zinc don't measure short; and don't last short. It's full-measure both ways.

Yours truly, F. W. DEVOR & Co.

P. S.—James D. Davis sells our paint in your section.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says E. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one after the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by Killmer Bros, Tionesta, and W. G. Wilkins West Hickory.

Brain-Food Food.

Another ridiculous fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for the brain, another "or" muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nourishment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of healthy millions. A few doses aid digestion, purifies the blood, makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. Get Green's Special Almanac.

A Communication.

Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy is for sale by Killmer Bros, Tionesta, and W. G. Wilkins, West Hickory.

Farming and Stock Raising in Eastern North Carolina.

We have some good farms for sale, suitable for trucking, fruit and berry growing. We have some fine property for sale suitable for stock raising or dairy farming, fine natural pasturage both winter and summer, good water. Transportation facilities—both rail and water good. J. J. Wolfenden, New Bern, N. C. 8-28-01.

Saw Mill for Sale.

We have at our mill below Warren one complete saw mill, equipped with Siemens spring sets, and another lighter mill which we will dispose of at a very reasonable rate. Anyone desiring to purchase a mill will do well to call and examine them or address us either at Warren or Tionesta.

The Largest and Most Attractive MILLINERY STOCK

I have ever shown now open and on sale, embracing everything new and desirable in TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED HATS, and a general assortment of MILLINERY TRIMMINGS.

I have also added a nice line of Ladies' and Children's Hosiery, Ladies' Furnishing Goods, Embroidery Silks, Perfumes, and Toys of all kinds.

MRS. H. A. LYNCH, ENDEAVOR, PA

High Class Tailoring.

We beg to announce that our importations of foreign wools for the fall and winter season are now on our counters.

To those who are interested in correct styles and desire well made, perfectly tailored, exquisitely trimmed and stylish cut garments, made from fine styles—one suit or overcoat only in each piece—and are willing to pay a fair price for such clothing, we invite all to call and inspect this line, feeling convinced that no such assortment of high grade wools were ever shown here. To out of town trade—we will send our representative in due season and a card or telephone will bring one of our cutters with samples to you at any time.

THE McCUEN CO.

25 and 29 SENeca St., OIL CITY, PA.

Fred. Grettenberger

GENERAL BLACKSMITH & MACHINIST.

All work pertaining to Machinery, Engines, Oil Well Tools, Gas or Water Pumps and General Blacksmithing promptly and at Low Rates. Repairing Mill Machinery given special attention, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Excutor's Notice.

Letters Testamentary having been granted the undersigned on the estate of Edward Kerr, late of Barnett township, deceased, all persons indebted are requested to make payment, and those having claims, to present the same, duly authenticated, without delay to SAMUEL M. HENRY, Excutor, Tionesta, Pa., Sept. 11, 1901.

With the beginning of the new season we are showing a large assortment of in both lined and regular material. They are of stylish cut and perfectly finished, modest colors, and are comfortable as well as economical. Our $1.00 garments are leaders in every way. Call and examine them.

WRAPPERS

ROBINSON.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION PROPOSED BY THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

SECTION 1. Qualifications of Electors. Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections, subject however to such laws requiring and requiring the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact:

1. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

2. He shall have resided in the state one year (or, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the State, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months,) immediately preceding the election.

3. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

4. If twenty-two years of age and upwards, he shall have paid within two years a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

Section 2. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 7. Uniformity of Election Laws.—All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class, so that the said section shall read as follows:

A new line added

We have added to our already large stock of General Merchandise a new and complete line of Ladies' and Children's

JACKETS, CAPES & FURS,

LATEST STYLES & COLORS.

In order to make them go FAST we have marked all of them at Prices that we Court our Competitors to match. Come in and look them over while you have a complete line to choose from.

HEATH & FEIT.

Up-to-Date Dealers in GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

NO. 5038. A. WAYNE COOK, President. A. B. KELLY, Cashier. WM. SMERBAUGH, Vice President.

FOREST COUNTY NATIONAL BANK, TIONESTA, PENNSYLVANIA.

CAPITAL STOCK, $50,000. DIRECTORS: A. Wayne Cook, G. W. Robinson, Wm. Smerbaugh, N. P. Wheeler, T. F. Ritchey, J. T. Dale, J. H. Kelly.

Collections remitted for on day of payment at low rates. We promise our customers all the benefits consistent with conservative banking. Interest paid on time deposits. Your patronage respectfully solicited.

The Eighteenth article thereof. Amendment. Strike out section four of article eight, and insert in place thereof, as follows: Section 4. All elections by the citizens shall be by ballot or by such other method as may be prescribed by law: Provided, That secrecy in voting be preserved. A true copy of the Joint Resolution. W. W. GRIEST, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Special.

We will put on sale beginning this Day, a Shoe for ladies, Made of French Patent Calf Enamel, Heavy Extension Sole, in all Sizes and widths, at $2.50 per pair.

Joe Levi, OIL CITY, PA.

Cor. Centre, Seneca, & Sycamore Sts. Phone 230.

Dr. Fennel's GOLDEN RELIEF INFLAMMATION

Old Sores, Wounds, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Gout, Toothache, Headache, Stomachache, Toothache, Earache, Croup, Whooping Cough, Cold, Sore Throat, Grip, Cures any pain inside or out in one to thirty minutes. By Dealers. The 50c size by mail 50c. Freshkill, N.Y.

AREN'T THEY HANDSOME?

That's what most every lady says when they look at our new Dress Footwear. The smartest Patent Leather shoes are here. style shows out in every line, lace and button. No fancy prices for style—never!

CAST IRON

would be just the thing for School Shoes if it were more pliable and not quite so heavy. The next best thing is our "Twin Owl" Calf Shoes for boys and girls. Fall shoes are nearly all sizes and widths. Try a pair of these good shoes at $1.50 and $1.75.

WATER PROOF SHOES

and heavy shoes for men—the kind that give that easy feeling to your feet. We have all styles from the wide French toe to the most fashionable dress shoe. Come to us for shoes and rubbers and save money on every purchase.

Tionesta Cash Store