—Regular preaching service by the pastor at the M. E. church, Nebraska, Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. At the M. E. church, Cropp Hill, at three o'clock. At the M. E. church, Tionesta, at 7:30 p. m.

—The Adams express agent at Eagle Rock has an uncertain problem on his hands. Two dogs arrived by express last week from a point in Indiana and up to date nobody has claimed them and the shipper cannot be located.

—Dr. M. W. Easton, Osteopathic Physician, of Oil City, will visit Tionesta every Wednesday. See him at the Central House. Settling bones and the treatment of nervous and chronic diseases a specialty. Greatest success in all kinds of chronic diseases.

—The price of Pennsylvania oil was advanced another five cents per barrel Monday morning, by the Standard Oil Company. This makes a total advance of 15 cents within a few weeks and makes the price now $1.45 a barrel. It's a good thing; push it long.

—The union religious services which began so auspiciously last week in the M. E. church, are continued this week in the Presbyterian church. Rev. W. S. Burton is holding the interest of large audiences with earnest and forceful sermons each evening. That our people are interested in all good work is manifested by their attendance at these services and much good will be accomplished. Services each evening at 7:45. You are cordially invited.

—The Coleman & Watson lumbering firm has established an office in the front room, second floor of the Forest County National Bank building, where all persons having business with the firm will find a representative at all times.

—The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a market in the dining room of the church, Saturday afternoon, Jan. 27th, at 3 o'clock. There will be a good supply of delicious pies, cakes, cookies, gelatine, rolls, bread, baked beans, meat rolls, and other eatables. Your patronage is solicited.

—Mrs. Sarah Fredelia Smith, an old and prominent resident of Tidioute, died Monday at the home of her son, W. D. Smith, in Warren. She was aged 75 years. She is survived by one son, one daughter, a brother and two sisters, one of the latter being Mrs. Susan George, of Tionesta. The funeral was held in the Presbyterian church, Tidioute, today.

—Frank Nelson, one of Cherry Grove's highly esteemed young men, who had the misfortune to severely smash one of his fingers, which was subsequently amputated, has taken cold in the wound and is now in a critical condition at the Emergency Hospital, where he was taken for treatment. It is thought blood poisoning has developed.—Warren Times, 19th.

—W. A. Shewman, who for the past few years has been conducting the Oregon City Courier, at Oregon City, Oregon, as proprietor, has sold the plant and business to M. J. Brown and Allen E. Frost, editor and foreman respectively of the paper. The paper was always a clean and newsy journal and the new owners are promising some decided improvements. We are not informed as to what line of business Mr. Shewman will engage in.

—A strenuous effort will be made by the sportsmen of Central Pennsylvania to have the next legislature pass an appropriation of a scalp bounty law. For the last four years commissioners of the several counties have been unable to pay bounties for the scalps of the numerous noxious animals that infest these mountains and play havoc each year with our game birds and animals. As a result foxes, minks, weasels, skunks, wildcats, etc., have multiplied so rapidly that they are making great inroads on the supply of game in the woods.

—Thomas Anderson, aged about 67 years, a former resident of Pleasantville, died Jan. 20, 1912, at the Soldiers' Home at Erie, of which he had been an inmate for some time past. He was a veteran of the Civil war, serving two enlistments. He was three times married, his third wife and two children, Mrs. Samuel Schwartzkopf, of Seneca, Pa., and Mrs. Edna Brown, of near Kellestville, Pa., surviving him. A brother and sister also survive. The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the M. E. church at Enterprise, Pa., with interment in the Cheney cemetery.

—Friday afternoon T. D. Collins, the well known lumberman of Forest county was in the city calling upon his many friends. Like many other residents of Forest county, he is deeply interested in the application of an organization known as the "Tionesta Water Power company," which is seeking a charter from the state. There is a strong suspicion that this is another attempt to gobble up the water rights on Tionesta creek, and to accomplish, by another way, what proved a failure last year through the strenuous opposition of the people of Clarion, Elk, Forest, Venango, Jefferson and Warren counties—Oil City Blizzard.

—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Redbank Telephone Company was held in Brookville on Tuesday of last week. A great deal of business was transacted and the line rental for the coming year was fixed at $6.00, the same as last year. The following directors were elected: For three years—C. G. Bullers, H. M. Cochran, J. G. Mayes; for two years—J. S. Moore, E. A. Hamilton, C. C. Carrier; for one year—H. H. Harp, Andy Wolf, B. B. Ferguson. E. A. Hamilton was elected president, H. H. Harp, secretary and C. G. Bullers treasurer of the board, and J. A. Ryerly was retained in the position of general manager.

—Mrs. Jamima Chambers, of East Hickory, who will soon reach her ninety-second birthday, fell through a trap door into the cellar at her home last Friday. She was severely bruised, but not seriously hurt. Notwithstanding her extreme age, she is now able to sit up in a chair. Previous to this accident she was unusually active and spry for one so old, being able to go about the house and home. About a year ago Mrs. Chambers fell through the same cellar way, with no serious results. Her daughter, Mrs. Elia Howe, who lives above East Hickory, on the river road, also fell into a cellar a few days since, but suffered little injury.

—A Kansas journalist springs the following: "Backward, turn backward, O time in your flight, and give us a maiden dressed proper and right. We are so weary of switches and rats, Billie Burke clusters and peach basket hats. Wads of jute hair in a horrible pile, stacked on their heads to the height of a mile. Something is wrong with the maidens, we fear; give us the girls as they used to appear. Give us the girls we once knew of yore, whose curls didn't come from a hair-dressing store. Maidens who dressed with a sensible view, and just as dame Nature intended them to. Give us a girl with a figure her own and fashioned divinely by nature alone. Feminine style's getting fiercer each year—oh, give us the girls as they used to appear."

—It is quite wonderful the amount of hauling a little good sleighing brings to the surface. During the past two weeks and especially within the last ten days a constant string of teams may be seen passing and re-passing through our streets loaded with ties, lumber and other wood materials to be loaded on cars at this station. When one reflects that twenty or more years ago this sort of hauling was supposed to be at an end in this vicinity, it is quite wonderful, we say, where the material all comes from. The fine sleighing, the best we've had in years, is a boon to the operators, affording them the easiest and cheapest transportation possible, and the heavy ice on the river and creek, making perfect ice bridges, brings the railroad transportation near to hand, as it were. One firm alone operating on the east side of the river near President figures that five hundred dollars will be saved in hauling its lumber and ties to a convenient railroad siding at Baum, the saving being made up of ferry tolls and shortening of distance.

—It was a mighty good dream that came to our time honored friend J. W. Baxter, of Gilfoyle, Pa., a few days ago, and this is the happy way he tells about it:

I had a dream the other night
When all around me was still,
And there I saw old Beelzebub
Accompanying down the hill.
My printer's bill was in his paw
And blood was in his eye;
Says he "Young man, your 'weasel' draw,
Or else prepare to die."
I looked the old cuss in the eye
And saw my only chance
To escape this tough old witch
Was to pay up in advance.

—The County Commissioners sent their solicitor, A. C. Brown, Esq., to Harrisburg to investigate the plans of the parties making application for the water power charter on Tionesta creek and the Clarion river. Mr. Brown returned Tuesday noon and reports that the plans of the proposed incorporation had not yet been filed at the department, but from information he could gather it is expected that the plans will be the same as were filed when the scheme was up for consideration last year. Mr. Brown filed a notice that a protest would be made and the authorities will send him copies of all the plans as soon as they are placed on file, as well as giving ample notice of the time when the applications are to be taken up for consideration.

—Colonel J. W. H. Reisinger, veteran editor emeritus of the county seat, has just celebrated his 79th birthday. Judge T. J. Prather, in behalf of the assembled guests, sixteen in number, presented the colonel with a bouquet of seventy-nine carnations. Although beyond the allotted span, Colonel Reisinger is still hale and hearty, with every prospect that he will be spared to his friends for many years to come.—Titusville Herald.

—The listing of cross roads and places where sign boards are needed has been in the hands of engineers who have been engaged on general surveys for main highways and the data will be the first of the kind ever obtained. Mr. Bigelow saw the lamentable condition prevailing in regard to sign boards last summer on his inspection tours, and determined to correct the difficulty as soon as possible. It proved a big task, but the information is now well in hand. This will include only state highways.

—The funeral of Daniel Donovan, of President township, Venango county, who was killed by the kick of a horse Tuesday night, January 16th, an account of which was given in our issue of last week, was held in the Tionesta Catholic church, Friday morning at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem being celebrated by Rev. Father A. H. Wiersbinski, of Tidioute, pastor of the church here. A very large audience was present to pay the last tribute of respect to their departed friend. Father Wiersbinski delivered an eloquent and fitting sermon, basing his remarks on the text "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." The body was taken to Oil City on the eleven o'clock train for burial in St. Joseph's cemetery, the following gentlemen acting as pall bearers: Messrs. Andrew Weaver and John DeChant, of Tionesta; William Cahill, S. N. Moyer, Chas. L. Suh and W. J. Breene, Esq., of Oil City.

—Samuel Haslet signed a contract last week to play ball the coming season with the Springfield (Mass.) club in the Connecticut base ball league, and will report to that team on April 15th for spring training for the season which opens May 1st. The contract does not call for any specified position, but Sam can play the first base, second base, short or outfield positions with equal facility and we are certain he will be among the top-notchers before many seasons have rolled around. He is a sure fielder, a hard hitter and swift as the best of them on the bases, and this combination is bound to land him in a good berth. We have known him since babyhood, and as he is a young man of correct habits and no indications of an abnormally enlarged cranium, we will all be plugging for his success. The Springfield club is a Class B organization under the National agreement and we understand the pennant in the Connecticut league last season.

Newlyweds Get Welcome.
The little town of Birch put on its holiday attire yesterday to extend a royal welcome to a pair of newlyweds, who arrived on the morning train from W. Virginia, where they had been made man and wife. Grant Gillespie, who some three or four months ago came to Marquette county, Mich., from W. Virginia, to enter the employ of the Northern Lumber Co., returned east a short time ago and was married at Cowen, W. Va., to Miss Edna Miller, a charming young woman of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie arrived in Birch yesterday and their arrival was made the occasion of a gala event. Through the courtesy of General Manager Arthur Brooks, of the Northern Lumber Co., the bride party was met at the station by a wedding equipage which easily out-rivalled the royal coaches of old. The lumber company's ox, profusely decorated with banners and streamers, was attached to an old fashioned sleigh also decorated, and in this, amid the cheers and well wishes of the populace, the young couple were driven in pomp to their new home. Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie have been warmly welcomed by the people of Birch. Both are quite popular in the east and that they will continue their popularity at Birch is taken for granted. A party at the home in the evening, followed by a ball on Thursday night, with orchestra from Ishpeming, completed the reception which was warm indeed despite the fact that the temperature was 35° below zero. —Marquette, Mich., Chronicle.

The groom mentioned above is a son of former Forest county citizens, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gillespie, who have many friends and acquaintances in this section.

PERSONAL.

—Born, to Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Bailey, of Tionesta, Tuesday, January 23, 1912, a daughter.

—David Mintz, the Marienville merchant was a business visitor in Tionesta Thursday.

—A marriage license was issued in Warren, Saturday, to Mike Petro, of West Hickory, and Miss Mary Kunch, of Sheffield.

—F. J. Cubbon, of Harmony township, gave us a pleasant business call Monday and left a dollar for a renewal of his subscription.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Walters and Miss Bernice Brant, of the Fogle Farm, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCool over Sunday.

—Dr. Henry, a genial all around companion, who has been working with Dr. Briggs, returned home to Oil City Tuesday.—Titusville News.

—E. J. Behrens, of German Hill, and Charles Cox, of Hickory township, were among our pleasant callers Friday, and the labels on their papers are marked a year ahead.

—County Commissioner J. C. Scowden went to Meadville Tuesday noon to attend the funeral of his brother, George Scowden, an account of whose death will be found in another column.

—Harry H. Harp was over from Marienville Tuesday attending the Meeting of the stockholders of the Red Bank Telephone Co., and shaking hands with friends at his old home.—Brookville Republican.

—Mrs. D. H. Edwards, came up from Washington, Pa., Saturday to visit her parents, and in time to meet her father before he left on his western trip Monday. Mr. Smearbagh expects to be gone about six weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weingard of German Hill visited at the home of their daughter Mrs. Geo. W. Meador, Jamestown, N. Y., a part of last week. Mr. Meador, by-the-way, is just putting the finishing touches on a pretty, modern cottage in that city, which they will be able to occupy in a short time.

—Subscriptions from the following persons are thankfully acknowledged: S. W. Mong, Kiefer, Okla.; J. W. Baxter, Gilfoyle; E. J. Behrens, Charles Cox, Donavon Bros., Tionesta; A. L. Cooper, Venancia, Pa. (new); Miss Agnes Kerr, Petrolia, Pa.; F. J. Cubbon, West Hickory; Mrs. J. L. Craig, Los Angeles, Cal.

—John Clark Douglass and Miss Hazel Ellen Smith, both residents of Endeavor, Pa., were married Thursday afternoon at the court house at Warren by Justice of the Peace J. E. Wheeler. Both of the young people were minors, Mr. Douglass being 20 years old and Miss Smith 17. Clerk of Courts Maxwell of this place issued the marriage license upon the consent of their parents.

—Earl M. Loveless, of Warren, Pa., and Miss Cynthia B. Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Carson, of Neiltown, this county, were united in marriage in Tionesta, Pa., last Saturday, January 20, 1912. The young couple left at once for their future home in Philadelphia, Pa., where Mr. Loveless, who is a registered pharmacist, has a good position with a drug company. The best wishes of a host of friends in this vicinity will follow them.

—Charles Emert, of Tionesta township, and Miss Hazel Kenniston, daughter of Mrs. Nettie Kenniston, of Tionesta, were united in marriage at the home of the bride, Friday morning, January 19, 1912. Rev. G. A. Garrett, pastor of the Tionesta Free Methodist church, officiating. The young couple have many friends who will unite in wishing them happiness in their new relation and a prosperous future. They will make their home in Tionesta.

—Charles Andrew Weaver and Miss Julia A. Ginkle, both well known Tionesta residents, were married Jan. 17, 1912, in St. John's R. C. church, Tidioute, Pa., Rev. Father A. H. Wiersbinski officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will continue to reside in Tionesta, having taken charge of the Ledebur restaurant, in the Kepler block. The REPUBLICAN joins the many friends of the newlyweds in extending happy felicitations on this occasion.

—A family dinner will be given on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards, Logan avenue, in honor of the 49th wedding anniversary of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Clark, of Tionesta, Pa. The old couple are both in excellent health and enjoying life. They are well known here, having visited their daughter a number of times. Among the guests who will attend the dinner from out of town are Mrs. Charles Hinkle of Erie and Miss Evelyn Clark of Tionesta.—Sharon Herald, Saturday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clark arrived home the first of the week. Their wedding anniversary falls on January 17th, but the event was observed on Sunday on account of it being the most convenient for those who attended.

—The name of Mrs. Root in the following item from the Courier of Oregon City, Ore., sounds familiar to Forest county people where she passed the most of her many years and is revered by all who have a personal acquaintance with her: "Mrs. Elizabeth E. Root of Portland and Forest Dunham of Hoquiam, Wash., were guests of Mrs. W. A. Shewman Wednesday. Mrs. Root is Mrs. Shewman's grandmother and is very spry for her age, being 84 years old, and within the past three months climbed nearly to the top of Mt. Rainier, having in some places to scramble on her hands and knees, grasping the overhanging branches, under the narrow ledges, unaided, and walking back several miles to camp as lively as any of the party. Last year the jolly old lady lay on a timber claim in Okanogan county, Wash., some thirty-five miles from transportation, reaching her destination by stage, horseback and on foot."

Dwelling House Burned at Cooper Tract

In the twinkling of an eye, almost, M. Bly, of Cooper Tract, Forest county, lost all of his worldly possessions. Not even the barn was left after the fire, which raged furiously, let up its vicious roar and contented itself with an occasional snapping in the smouldering ruins.

The origin of the fire was a peculiar one. Gasoline formed in the natural gas supply with which Mr. Bly supplied his home with fuel. It coming from some nearby wells. Flowing into four boilers the gasoline exploded, and Mr. Bly states that in a few minutes his cozy, finely equipped home was a mass of flames. So quickly did the fire spread, in fact, that the family had just time to escape.

"Had the fire started in the night," said Mr. Bly, "we would not be living to tell about it." The loss is about $3,000, with no insurance. Nothing was saved.—Warren Times, Tuesday.

RECENT DEATHS.

KERRIS.
Mary Kerris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kerris, keeper of the boarding house at the Polish camp at the "Narrows," on the Nebraska road, Green township, died Tuesday of last week, Jan. 16th, after a short illness of pneumonia. The child was aged two years and four months. The body was taken to Fryburg Thursday morning, where funeral services were held in the Catholic church, interment being made in the Catholic cemetery.

WEANT.
Jennie Weant, wife of Nicholas Weant formerly of Nebraska, Forest county, Pa., died at her home at Bakersfield, California, Jan. 4, 1912, after but a few days' illness of pneumonia.

The deceased was born in Warren Co., Pa., and when but a small girl moved with her parents to Nebraska, at or near which place she made her home until about eleven years ago, and will be remembered by many of the present residents. She was born Aug. 12, 1840, being in her 63rd year. She is survived by her husband, Nicholas F. Weant, and one son, Arthur F. Weant, both of Bakersfield; also four grandsons, Reil S. Walker, of Lowellville, Ohio, and Everett, Harry and Carl Weant, of Bakersfield; two her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Porter, and four sisters, Mrs. Bell Howard, Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mrs. Cora Sedfield, of Los Angeles, California and Mrs. Emma Hollebaugh, of West Virginia.

Funeral services were held at her home Jan. 6, 1912, Rev. B. Dudley Snodden pastor of the First M. E. church, officiating. Interment in the Union cemetery of Bakersfield.

SCOWDEN.
Tionesta friends of George Scowden, brother of our townsman County Commissioner Scowden, who shocked to learn of his death which occurred at Spencer hospital, Meadville, Pa., his home city, Monday morning at 10 o'clock Jan. 22, 1912. His illness was of short duration, he having returned from Pittsburgh Wednesday evening last which seemed to be a heavy cold which developed into pleuro-pneumonia, and he went immediately to the hospital.

Mr. Scowden was born in Meadville, Dec. 24, 1827, being the youngest of five sons of Joseph and Mary (Brown) Scowden. His entire life was passed in that city, where he had been from early manhood one of its prominent, progressive and most popular citizens. For ten years or more he had been a member of the firm of Scowden Bros., prosperously engaged in the manufacture of cement blocks, in connection with which the firm handled coal, gravel and sand, in which lines they did an extensive business. The deceased was an active worker and consistent member of St. Paul's Reformed church and a member of its choir. He was also a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the I. O. O. F. and Elks, and a director of the Meadville City hospital. Strong, robust, manly in physique, George Scowden was one of nature's noblemen. Loyal to his friends, just with his foes, and withal genial, kindly and whole-hearted, no man ever had more or better friends in the circle of a large acquaintance than he, and none stood higher in the estimation of the community in which his whole life was spent. Truly the city of Meadville has lost heavily in his taking away.

About 20 years ago Mr. Scowden was united in marriage with Miss Daisy Graham of Meadville, who, with one daughter, Genevieve, survives him. His parents, aged respectively 89 and 81 years, four brothers, E. A., of South Sharon, Fred B. and James A., of Meadville, and Joseph C., of Tionesta, and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Van Horne, of Meadville, also survive. The funeral services will be held this afternoon.
