In Memoriam.

D. J. B.

BY THE AUTHOR OF THE CONQUERED BANNER.

Young as the youngest who donned the Gray.

True as the Truest that wore it—

Brave as the bravest, he marched away, (Hot tears on the cheeks of his mother lay.)

Triumphant waved our Flag one day,

He fell in the front before it.

Fight as the foremost where duty led,

He hurried without a falter—

Bold as the Boldest, he fought and bled,

And the day was won—but the field was red.

And the blood of his fresh, young heart was shed

On his country's hallowed altar.

On the trampled shades of the battle-plain,

Where the foremost ranks had rested.

On his pale, pure face, not a mark of pain,

(His mother dreams they will meet again.)

The fairest form amid all the slain,

Like a child asleep—he nestled.

In the solemn shades of the woods that swept the field where his comrades found him—

He buried him there—and the loud tears kept long men's eyes—that had seldom before,

And God pity her—smiled and weeping her arms were around him.)

And in the woods with the grass o'er-grown,

And in the heart of his mother—

And in the one lifeless and lone;

And in the voice of the winds maketh known the grave where never a flower is strewn but his memory lives in the other.

SPUNGIANA.

Jeff. Davis is going to reside in Toronto.

What shall the man say who is sitting on his wife's bed? I'm sitting on the style, Mary.

A wealthy widow, advertising for an agent, was overwhelmed with applications. The typos had made it a "gent."

"It is very sickly here," said one of the sons of the Emerald Isle the other day to another. "Yes," replied his companion, "a great many have died this year that never died before."

Notwithstanding all her pacific assurances, France is arming with the utmost activity. By many it is now feared that France may precipitate a war before the close of the year.

The editor of an Eastern paper, a cross old bachelor, says: "The reason why women do not cut themselves in two by tight lacing is because they have around the heart, and that is so hard they cannot affect it."

Prentice says: "The difference between Sheridan and Butler is, that the former is the hero of only five Forks, while the other is the hero of as many forks and spoons as he could lay hands on."

"I'll teach you to play pitch and toss! I'll fog you for an hour, I will."

"Father," instantly replied incorrigible, as he balanced a penny on his thumb and finger, "I'll toss you to make it two hours or nothing."

"Come, Bob, get up," said an indignant father to his hopeful son, the other morning; "remember, the early bird catches the worm."

"What do I care for worms?" replied the young hopeful; "mother won't let me go a-fishing."

Let no gentleman ever quarrel with a woman. If you are in trouble with her, retreat. If she abuses you, be silent. If she tear you, cloak off, give her your coat. If she box your ears, bow. If she tease your eyes out, feel your way to the door—but fly.

A well known minister repudiates the received theory that they have music in heaven. He declares that the choir has given him so much trouble on earth, that the idea of music in the world to come is wholly repugnant to his ideas of eternal peace and rest.

A dandy of twenty-six having been termed an "old bachelor," appealed to an elderly gentleman to decide whether he should be called "old" or not, giving his age. "Twenty-six," said the elderly gentleman. "It's owing to how you take it. Now, for a man, it is young enough; but for a goose it is rather old."

A lady who has a great horror of tobacco got into the New Haven cars the other day and was compelled to take a seat next to a male passenger.

As soon as she had settled herself, she inquired of her neighbor, with a look of solicitude, "Do you chew tobacco, sir?" "No ma'am, I don't," was the response. "But I can get you a chew if you want one."

A bewitching little widow out West gives the following receipt to get a husband, and if it don't succeed, we don't know what would "trap" a fellow: Invite a nice young man to tea, set him a laughing every five minutes during the evening, let him have six kisses, and you'll be his wife twenty similar operations. It was never yet known to fail when properly administered.

A minister, in a highly elaborated sermon which he preached, said several times, "The commentators do not agree with me here." Next morning, a poor woman came to see him with something in her apron. She said her husband had heard his sermon, and that it was a very fine one, and as he said "the commentators did not agree with him," he had sent some of the best kidneys.

A negro was so convinced of the lowliness of his race that he was indifferent as to a future state, believing that "hell" made negroes look like angels.
