

TUESDAY, MAY 21st.—SENATE.

Mr. Yulee called up the resolution respecting the force sent by the President to the coast of Cuba. The resolution was supported by Mr. Walker, of Wisconsin, who argued that the President had no right to follow the expeditionists beyond the limits and jurisdiction of the United States.

Mr. Webster defended the conduct of the President, which, he argued, was only in accordance with his duty under the neutrality law of 1818.

Mr. Clay objected to the resolution as premature, and moved that it be laid on the table for the purpose of taking up the compromise bill.

The compromise bill being before the Senate, Mr. Soule made an eloquent speech against it, of two hours long. He maintained that the Mexican laws abolishing slavery were not in force at this time.

Although Mr. Soule was very severe upon the bill as it now stands, it does not seem, from his speech, that he would not vote for it with certain modifications. Mr. Clay replied, defending the bill from the attacks of Mr. Soule, and contrasting it with the President's plan, which he stigmatized in very strong language.

He challenged such to meet him face to face and argue the matter. Not one Senator took up the challenge. The administration could find no advocate. Some of Mr. Clay's admirers consider that this speech was the greatest of his life.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. But little was done. The House, as in committee of the whole, took up the President's message on California, and several members took their hour upon that subject.

WEDNESDAY, May 22d.—SENATE. The Senate again took up the compromise bill, and proceeded to consider the amendment offered by Mr. Davis, of Mississippi.

Mr. Pratt moved, as a substitute for Mr. Davis's amendment, to amend the tenth section of the compromise bill so as to make it read as follows: "Said Territorial Legislature shall pass no law to introduce or exclude African slavery: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent said Legislature from passing such laws as may be necessary for the protection of the rights of property of any kind, which may have been, or may be hereafter, lawfully introduced into said Territory."

Mr. Davis accepted the substitute. Mr. Downs, of Louisiana, spoke in reply to the speech of Mr. Soule, delivered the day before. He defended the compromise bill, which he hoped to see amended in some important particulars, but whether amended or not he expected to vote for it.

The Senate went into executive session, and then adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. In the House, a bill was reported from the committee on Commerce to establish a branch mint in the city of New York. Read twice and referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

After some debate upon matters of little importance, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, and took up the report of the majority of the committee on Elections, upon the application of Hugh N. Smith for a seat in the House as a delegate from New Mexico. Without coming to any conclusion, the committee soon rose, and the House adjourned.

THURSDAY, May 23d.—SENATE. Considerable time was spent in the consideration of the patent laws and other subjects, when the hour of one o'clock having arrived, the Senate again took up the compromise bill. Mr. Soule replied to his colleague, Mr. Downs. Mr. Soule is opposed to the compromise, but may eventually vote for it, should satisfactory amendments be agreed upon.

He warmly disavowed all thoughts of disunion, under any circumstances. The debate was participated in by Messrs. Clay, Foote, Downs, and Davis.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The House was engaged in the discussion of the bill to increase the rank and file of the army and endow enlistments. The prompt passage of the bill was warmly urged, on account of the unprotected situation of our frontier settlers, and the necessity of defending them from the murderous attacks of hostile Indians. Before any action was taken, the House adjourned.

FRIDAY, May 24th.—SENATE. The bill reported from the committee on Commerce to establish a branch mint at New York, was taken up, and its passage strongly urged by Mr. Dickinson, of New York, and opposed by Mr. Cooper, of Penn., and others.

Amendments were offered by Mr. Butler, of S. C., and Mr. Benton, of Missouri, providing for branches at Charleston and San Francisco. Both amendments were negatived. The bill was postponed to Monday, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The House passed the bill for increasing the rank and file of the army. The bill provides that all the troops called into service on the frontier shall be mounted men. Adjourned.

MONDAY, May 27th.—SENATE. The Senate took up the bill to establish a branch mint at New York. Mr. Jefferson Davis moved, as an amendment, the establishment of two assay offices at San Francisco. Mr. Underwood was opposed to the assay offices at San Francisco; he was in favor of a branch mint at that point.

Mr. Badger said he would, at some time, move to strike out New York and insert San Francisco. The bill was laid aside, and the Senate took up the compromise, the question being on the amendment offered by Mr. Jefferson Davis, and modified at the suggestion of Mr. Pratt.

Mr. Davis said he had not, when he adopted the modification, noticed the word "lawfully." He would modify it so as to strike out "lawfully," and include "conformably to the laws and constitution of the United States."

Mr. Mason, who was entitled to the floor, rose and addressed the Senate. He was opposed to many features of the compromise bill. He believed that California ought to be remanded to a territorial state, and made free for the settlement of the South. Texas ought not to be dismembered. As a final settlement, he would prefer the extension of the Missouri compromise line to the Pacific.

Some conversation followed between Messrs. Clay, Foote, Mason, and Underwood. Mr. Underwood took the floor, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. After several ineffectual efforts to have the rules suspended for the purpose of introducing resolutions of different kinds, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, and took up the California question. Slavery and anti-slavery speeches were delivered, and the House adjourned.

The Steam saw mill at Georgetown, S. Carolina, owned by Messrs. Clayton & Sherman, was destroyed by fire on the 19th instant. Insurance $10,000.

Letter of the Hon. Robert Strang, of N. C.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 21, 1850. MY DEAR SIR—Your kind note of the 19th inst. was most unexpectedly received, and places me in a position which would have been impossible, had I been aware of it. I am glad to see that you are so warmly interested in the subject of the compromise bill, and that you are so anxious to see it passed. I have always been very free in expressing my opinions, and I have no objection to your making use of them as you think proper. I am glad to see that you are so warmly interested in the subject of the compromise bill, and that you are so anxious to see it passed.

Mr. Webster defended the conduct of the President, which, he argued, was only in accordance with his duty under the neutrality law of 1818. He believed the President to be as good a republican as any other man.

Mr. Clay objected to the resolution as premature, and moved that it be laid on the table for the purpose of taking up the compromise bill. Agreed.

The compromise bill being before the Senate, Mr. Soule made an eloquent speech against it, of two hours long. He maintained that the Mexican laws abolishing slavery were not in force at this time.

ARREST IN NEW YORK OF CUBAN "PATRIOTS."

The N. Y. correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, writing on Sunday, says that the editor of "La Verdad" was arrested on Saturday night, under an order from Washington. He has sent a letter to the newspapers, not yet made very public, of which this is a copy: New York, May 25th.

To the Editors: I have been arrested by the Deputy Marshal under charge of being a supporter of an invading expedition to Cuba. I shall be tried, perhaps, in a few days. I am guilty of no crime; there is no law to condemn me. I am innocent of all crime, and I am innocent of all crime.

The correspondent adds, the U. S. District Court will commence to-morrow, and several other arrests may be expected. We live in exciting times. There is much excitement here at what is thought to be the submission to the dictation of Spain.

WASHINGTON, May 28, 1850. Letter from Cuba. The enterprise was very ill planned, and worse executed. Two additional vessels, with about 1,500 troops, had been captured by the Spanish expedition, but had proved a disastrous failure. The inhabitants of the island, who seem to dislike Lopez, remained perfectly passive and suffered the liberators to be slaughtered or to be taken prisoners.

News has reached the Spanish legation here, that fifteen hundred have been captured. The foreign officers will immediately be shot; foreign (German) labor will be employed at the hands of the labor on the public works; and the Yankees will be generously returned to General Zachary Taylor, as a token of gratitude for his sympathy for Donna Isabella II. This is strict truth, not romance.

Baltimore Sun. Capt. SCHENCK, of the steamship Ohio, on his arrival at Havana, from New-Orleans, on the 18th inst., was not allowed to come to an anchor at the usual place, but was directed to anchor at a place which he considered unsafe. He refused to do so, and Gen. CAMPBELL, our Consul, protesting against his being compelled to come to an anchor and remain in so insecure a spot, and that he should hold the Spanish Government responsible for loss or damage which his ship might sustain. This protest was communicated by the Consul to the Governor of Havana, who directed Gen. CAMPBELL to inform the Spanish Consul that he considered that place does not offer to his vessel all the safety, he can go to sea, as no one compels him to remain here. The government of the island has nothing to do with the responsibility attached to said Captain for the preservation of his steamer."

Mysterious Murder.

On Wednesday night last, between 9 and 10 o'clock, a colored girl, belonging to S. R. POTTER, Esq., of this place, between 12 and 15 years of age, was shot through the head with buck-shot, and instantly killed. A Coroner's Jury was empaneled at an early hour yesterday morning, but had not agreed upon any verdict at the time of our going to press. It would seem that the girl was employed in sweeping out a room in Mr. POTTER'S house at the time of the occurrence, and when found, immediately after the report had been heard, was lying upon the floor quite dead. The shot went clear through her head from side to side. A loaded gun had been standing up in the corner of the room, and it was with this gun that the deed must have been perpetrated.
