

Authorized Agents for the Journal. JAMES M. REDMOND, Tarboro', Edgecombe county, N. C. JOHNSON JOHNSON, Clinton, Sampson county.

For the Journal. Mr. Editor—The following poetry I have found in my Serp Book of 1841, and thinking it not inappropriate, send it to you for re-publication.

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart!

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! Each link was forged by sainted sires

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! Amid the Revolution's fires

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! In Warren's and in Sumpter's blood

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! Dissolve the Union! Be like France

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! Dissolve the Union! Yes, you may

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! Dissolve the Union! Roll away

LONG CREEK. Dissolve the Union! who would part The chain that binds us heart to heart! Dissolve the Union! Can't it be

From the Boston Post, Feb. 5. The Senatorial Question—Coalition—Foreign Influence—Elasticity of Whigism—Charles Sumner.

The Senatorial question, which has occupied so much the attention of legislators and the public, is still undecided. The tenth ballot finds us precisely where the first left us.

In this contest, however, it must be admitted, separations have been effected and lines drawn wholly unexpected, and such as greatly threaten our future supremacy in the State.

A justification for this senatorial coalition is attempted in some quarters, we notice, by reference to the political position of the Union, and the whig and free-soil parties, and between the democrats and free-soilers.

But suppose for a moment that coalitions in some instances may have proved beneficial; that furnishes no argument in favor of one now on the choice of a United States senator.

Every case must stand upon its own merits. A union on State affairs might have been advisable inasmuch as it has been found to have had similar objects in view; but it by no means follows that the same parties can consistently or honorably unite on a question in which the objects and aims are entirely different.

It is in common with Charles Sumner. He is a whig and free-soiler, and an ultra whig. In the Senate, he would vote for any and every whig measure that might come up; and as a free-soiler, his vote would be for continued agitation on the question of slavery, and for aught that is known to the contrary, even for disunion, could that question, in any form, make its way into Congress.

That those of our old friends who are advocating a union on Charles Sumner, feel painfully conscious of the absolute necessity of this course, is a fact of which we are not unwilling to be made aware.

It is not our business to say, in our judgment, what we should do, but to say, in our judgment, what we should do, but to say, in our judgment, what we should do.

NINE STEAM LINES.—There are now propositions before Congress for the establishment of nine prominent steam lines, besides several others of more or less importance. These are—

Let Me Smile While I Can.—There are moments of sadness Let me smile while I can—there are moments of joy

Where Dwell the Dead? Where they dwell! 'Neath grassy mounds by daises, Lilies, and yellow-cups of fairest gold

RHYMES FOR THE LANDLORD. 'Tis idle rascal! on your lands, 'Tis the rank weeds growing;

From the N. O. True Delta. Austin (Texas) Correspondence. Austin is improving rapidly, and bids fair, in a few years, to be a "city as a city!"

THE NEXT QUESTION TO BE CONSIDERED, IS—What plants shall be cultivated and ploughed in? This question is to be solved by circumstances.

IN ENGLAND, AND OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, there are many plants which are raised for the purpose of being used as manure.

LET US NOW CONSIDER how they may be best managed, at the least expense, so as to produce the greatest benefit to the farmer.

WE WOULD PLOUGH the ground 6 inches deep, harrow it once, and then broadcast the soil to the depth of 10 inches.

POPULATION OF THE U. S.—Number of Representatives.—From the official and reported returns of the census of 1850, the N. Y. Herald estimates the aggregate population of the several States and Territories as follows:

Table with 4 columns: State/Territory, 1850, 1840, 1830, 1820. Includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, etc.

AGRICULTURE. Improvement of Worn-out Lands, by Flogging in Green Crops, &c.

It is admitted as an agricultural truth, that soils which may have been long in culture, without having been cultivated in clover, or the grasses, or other perennial dressings of barn-yard or other putrescent manures, must necessarily have become deprived of the greater portions of their mould.

HERE IS A GREAT STILE, or the daily Routee of a Man's life, is a long and narrow one, and at the end of it is a kuppel of Blankets on it—yours & looks round

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs the public that he has recently received a large stock of Saddle and Harness materials, &c., of the latest and most improved style.

THE NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT of the New Orleans Bulletin relates the following of Aaron Burr: At a chance visit New York's day, I became acquainted with quite a bit of romantic truth relative to the ups and downs of his life.

THE TOWNSHIP LEGISLATURE have passed a law for the removal of all free negroes who may hereafter settle in that State. Those who are already settled are allowed to remain, but not acquire an additional real estate.

LET US NOW CONSIDER how they may be best managed, at the least expense, so as to produce the greatest benefit to the farmer.

WE WOULD PLOUGH the ground 6 inches deep, harrow it once, and then broadcast the soil to the depth of 10 inches.

POPULATION OF THE U. S.—Number of Representatives.—From the official and reported returns of the census of 1850, the N. Y. Herald estimates the aggregate population of the several States and Territories as follows:

Table with 4 columns: State/Territory, 1850, 1840, 1830, 1820. Includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, etc.

AGRICULTURE. Improvement of Worn-out Lands, by Flogging in Green Crops, &c.

It is admitted as an agricultural truth, that soils which may have been long in culture, without having been cultivated in clover, or the grasses, or other perennial dressings of barn-yard or other putrescent manures, must necessarily have become deprived of the greater portions of their mould.

HERE IS A GREAT STILE, or the daily Routee of a Man's life, is a long and narrow one, and at the end of it is a kuppel of Blankets on it—yours & looks round

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs the public that he has recently received a large stock of Saddle and Harness materials, &c., of the latest and most improved style.

THE NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT of the New Orleans Bulletin relates the following of Aaron Burr: At a chance visit New York's day, I became acquainted with quite a bit of romantic truth relative to the ups and downs of his life.

THE TOWNSHIP LEGISLATURE have passed a law for the removal of all free negroes who may hereafter settle in that State. Those who are already settled are allowed to remain, but not acquire an additional real estate.

LET US NOW CONSIDER how they may be best managed, at the least expense, so as to produce the greatest benefit to the farmer.

WE WOULD PLOUGH the ground 6 inches deep, harrow it once, and then broadcast the soil to the depth of 10 inches.

POPULATION OF THE U. S.—Number of Representatives.—From the official and reported returns of the census of 1850, the N. Y. Herald estimates the aggregate population of the several States and Territories as follows:

Table with 4 columns: State/Territory, 1850, 1840, 1830, 1820. Includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, etc.

MILLINERY AND DRESS-MAKING. FASHIONABLE Millinery and Dress-Making. Establishment on Second Street, opposite Mr. O. G. Parry.

NEW MILLINERY GOODS. Mrs. V. R. PEIRSON has just received, and is now opening, a splendid assortment of Goods, comprising all of the most desirable styles suited to the season.

BOARDING. CAN be had at the residence of S. Heard, on very superior for board. We have rooms vacant that cannot be surpassed for comfort.

NEW BOARDING HOUSE. Mrs. E. A. FORD, would respectfully inform the public, that she has taken the House lately occupied by Mrs. S. Heard, on Second Street, opposite Mr. O. G. Parry.

FALL FASHIONS. HATS, Caps, Umbrellas, and Walking Canes. The largest and best selected assortment of the above articles ever offered in this city.

OUR MOTTO IS "TO PLEASE." THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs the public that he has recently received a large stock of Saddle and Harness materials, &c., of the latest and most improved style.

LET US NOW CONSIDER how they may be best managed, at the least expense, so as to produce the greatest benefit to the farmer.

WE WOULD PLOUGH the ground 6 inches deep, harrow it once, and then broadcast the soil to the depth of 10 inches.

POPULATION OF THE U. S.—Number of Representatives.—From the official and reported returns of the census of 1850, the N. Y. Herald estimates the aggregate population of the several States and Territories as follows:

Table with 4 columns: State/Territory, 1850, 1840, 1830, 1820. Includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, etc.