

What will the South do about Nebraska?

The confirmation of Mr. Redfield seems, after all, to have been about it, not to have been any great herculean feat. It was easily accomplished, and by an overwhelming majority. The only opposition was from the friends of the Nebraska Democrat.

A WINTER OF DISASTER.—War on the Danube—cholera in England—conflagrations at home—wrecks on the sea—have given to the present winter a premonition of a French chalet, built a beautiful greenhouse and hothouse, purchased a choice assortment of plants and flowers, kept his saddle horses and dogs, and among various other pets, has a live grizzly bear chained in his yard, and amuses various Indian boys and loafers by annoying him, and exciting his utmost fury, and then by coaxing and petting him—as only a woman knows how to do—will feed him with sugar from her hand.

NEBRASKA TERRITORY.—As the organization of this territory is now attracting the attention of the people and is before Congress, we mention that a few papers of the Nebraska Democrat, has just been issued by Mr. Kearny, about the prospects of which the editor grows eloquent, prophesying that it will be the site of the great city of the future territory, which his imagination already peoples with its thousands.

THE ADMINISTRATION IN MISSISSIPPI.—The most significant commentary on the late speeches of Gov. Foote, in this city and in New York, that we have seen, is found in the resolutions lately passed by the Senate of Mississippi by a vote of 20 to 7. With so emphatic an endorsement from the people of that gallant State, the Administration cannot but be highly gratified.

THE PERI-YOUNG MEN.—There is a period in the life of a young man when he is called to the life of puppiness. It is at that period when he is a little more than a boy, and a good deal less than a man; when the hand, stroked across the chin, detects a sort of downy inequality, and a vision of barbers and razors rise up constantly before him; when the tailor suddenly becomes a person of vast importance, and he begins to take to the use of collars, neckties, and vests of our less dissipated days. Very tight pantaloons, displaying immense moral and physical courage in venturing into the world with such slender supports as they contain; a cravat of great proportions; a knowing half-jockey, half-gentleman hat; fancy vest, gold chain, and a quizzing-glass, make up the external qualifications of the peri young man.

A Practical Joke.

At Long Wharf, Boston, the fishing smacks thro' their fish into pits, which are perfectly water tight, and rising to the decks, which are perfectly water tight, and also a part of the bottom of the vessel, which is also perfectly water tight. A couple of Irishmen who wanted work, supposing those pits to be sunken vessels, asked the privilege of pumping them out.

AN EXTINCT AMERICAN RACE.—The following passage, from the Travels of Humboldt, possess more than ordinary interest at the present time. "Amidst the plains of North America, some powerful nation, which has disappeared, constructed circular, square and octagonal fortifications; walls 6000 toises in length; tumuli, from 700 to 800 feet in diameter, and 140 feet in height, sometimes round sometimes with several stories, containing thousands of skeletons. These skeletons are the remains of men less slender and more squat than the present inhabitants of the continent. Of the bones of a group at the Lower Orinoco, as well as on the banks of the Casiquiare, and between the sources of the Essequibo and the Rio Branco, there are rocks of granite covered with symbolic figures. These sculptures denote that the extinct generations belonged to nations different from those which now inhabit the same region."

THE NIGHT SONG OF LOVE.—(From the German of Heinrich Heine.) Midnight wailed the horns with infidel blackness as Hans von Rosenbaum stepped from the organ-halls of the Kinkel Lager Hans von Saus and Braus. The foam of the beer still dashed his wild beard, and the murmur of the evening breeze mingled in his soul with the memories of cries for "anoder pretzel" and "bring in de Lager" and the trilling of harp and pines—for it had been concert night.

THE WORLD CANNOT PRODUCE BETTER TESTIMONY IN FAVOR OF HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS, THAN THE FOLLOWING:—REV. VERNON ESKRIDGE, U. S. N. P. PORTSMOUTH, VA., August 18th, 1851. MR. J. E. BOYD—Dear Sir: While in the general opinion to Patent Medicines, candor compels me to state that I have great confidence in the virtues of Holloway's Vegetable Tincture. For several months past, I have been afflicted with dyspepsia, indigestion, and general debility, with entire success. So far as my experience extends, therefore, I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as a safe and efficacious remedy.

CAPE FEAR AND DEEP RIVER NAVIGATION.

It has been understood for some time past that the Cape Fear and Deep River Navigation Company would, in order to perfect their work, find it necessary to build a lock and dam in the River not far above Fayetteville. They would have been informed to place the lock below the mouth of the Cape Fear, but their charter only extends to that point, the charter of the Cape Fear Navigation Company embracing all below it. Now we think it a matter of some importance to our community that there should be a convenient place for the landing of persons and property destined for this town. There is necessarily some detention at every lock, and it would seem therefore that it would be best to have the landing at the lock.

LOLA MONTEZ TURNED UP AGAIN.—At Grass Valley (Cal.) a correspondent of the Mobile Advertiser, writes: "Our town has, for some months, obtained notoriety from the residence among us of a real live Countess. You may not be aware, perhaps, that the renowned Lola Montez, Heald, Hull, &c. Countess de Landsfeld, after exhibiting her agility in the "spider dance," upon the California boards for some months, and getting married, firmly settled down in the quiet village of Grass Valley, turned her new husband adrift, and applied for a divorce, and in our town the prettiest place she has ever seen in the wide world, and that she is determined on making it her permanent home.
