

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE U. S. JAMES BUCHANAN, of Pennsylvania. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, J. C. BRECKINRIDGE, of Kentucky.

ELECTORS FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT. For the State at Large: HENRY M. SHAW, of Charlotte, SAMUEL P. HILL, of Caswell.

Districts: 1st District, WM. F. MARTIN, of Pasquotank, 2d " WM. J. BLOW, of Pitt, 3d " M. B. SMITH, of New Hanover, 4th " GASTON H. WILDER, of Wake, 5th " S. F. WILLIAMS, of Anson, 6th " THOS. SETTLE, Jr., of Rockingham, 7th " R. P. WARRING, of Mecklenburg, 8th " W. W. AVERY, of Burke.

Electoral Appointments. M. B. SMITH, Esq., Democratic Elector, and O. P. MEARS, Esq., " American" Elector, for this District, (3d.) will address their fellow-citizens at the following times and places:

Northern Elections. But that we resolutely refuse to admit the idea, we would be driven to the conclusion that the result of the elections in Maine, Vermont, and Iowa, are hailed with pleasure by the Fillmore press of the South, since they have formed the burden of their song for the period that has intervened, since the returns have been received.

But that we resolutely refuse to admit the idea, we would be driven to the conclusion that the result of the elections in Maine, Vermont, and Iowa, are hailed with pleasure by the Fillmore press of the South, since they have formed the burden of their song for the period that has intervened, since the returns have been received.

The excitement in the Northern States must be intense, and growing still greater as the campaign progresses. Such meetings as have been held, are even now assembling, and will no doubt be yet held, without parallel in the political history of the country.

QUEST.—Yesterday morning, Coroner J. C. Wood, held an inquest over a negro man named Ben, aged about 58 years, the property of Dr. David Gillespie. He was found dead in a field belonging to Mr. John Thompson, at Masonboro' Sound, having been missing for about a week. He had been dead for some days before he was found. No marks of violence could be discovered. Verdict—cause of death unknown.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.—Misses Costin, Wm. A. Walker, George J. Moore, John Shepard, Dr. J. B. Seavey, E. D. Hall, J. M. Stevenson, D. A. Lamont, W. C. Ferguson, Editors, J. I. McCallum, J. L. Cantwell and George W. Davis.

COMMITTEE OF INVITATION.—Hon. Wm. S. Ashe, Owen Pennell, S. A. Holmes, Dr. R. H. Tate, M. D. Smith, H. L. Holmes, Geo. Houston, J. Holmes, W. C. Bettencourt, Ell W. Hall, T. Loring and James Fulton.

Oh for a Lodge in some vast wilderness—not very particular about the sort of Lodge so it be not a Know Nothing Lodge—some place, in fact where we could lay down or rise up, stand or walk without hearing about copy and such like abominations.

We read once a sketch of the state of things in Jamaica, or some other tropical country, and we remember that it was therein gravely stated that when two planters met, instead of the usual "how do you do" or "how are you" of other climes, they always asked each other "how do you perspire," that being the criterion. If they perspired freely all was right.

From all that has gone before, our readers might be led to the conclusion that the editor of the Journal, although never "blue," has got "the blues," or speaking more properly, the blues have got him. As to how this may be, we are unwilling to proffer an opinion, yet certain it is that like Nebuchadnezzar, whom some person more fond of scriptural allusions than versed in Biblical lore, called Saint Nebuchadnezzar, we feel like going to grass.

All this is nothing and worse than nothing we suppose, and we only introduce it as preliminary and explanatory, to account for the meagreness of our columns and the absence of anything in the editorial line possessing either point or interest. The human organization is a most remarkable affair, but not a piece of machinery, in the usual meaning of the word. It can't always be made to do this or that, thus and so.

Tobacco.—It is hard to puff chewing tobacco, however good it may be, and therefore in alluding to a package which our associate received a few days since, from the manufacturer, Mr. VanHook, of Caswell county, we cannot be accused of indulging in any such amusement.

The San Francisco Vigilance Committee. A day or two since a fact in relation to this organization, came to our knowledge, which illustrates the character of the elements which enter into its composition.

The friends of Mr. Fillmore throughout the present canvass have differed from the friends of Mr. Buchanan, in regard to the probable effects—nay, we might say, the inevitable effects of allowing the election of President to go into the House of Representatives.

Another Leading Whig for Buchanan and Breckinridge. In the Salisbury, N. C. Banner of the 16th inst., we find an able letter from Hon. D. M. Barringer, former member of Congress, and Minister to Spain under Mr. Fillmore's administration, and a gentleman of high character, long known as one of the most trusted, and trust-worthy leaders of the Whig party of North Carolina.

What ever may be the result in November, no one doubts the success of the Union State ticket. At the election last fall, there were causes of dissension which rendered a defeat unavoidable. Now there are none. The Union ticket represents all parties of the opposition, Whig, Republican and American.

It is really amusing to witness the grand backing and filling, charging and retreating of the Fillmore press South and the Fremont press North. First they make a big parade over a Fremont ticket in Virginia, which they say is composed of Democrats, and they amble off at quite a brisk pace upon that hobby.

THE CHERAW AND DARLINGTON RAILROAD.—The Cheraw Gazette of the 17th inst., that the damages to the Cheraw Railroad have been so far repaired, as to admit of the resumption of the running of the trains according to schedule. The first train passed through on Monday evening, bringing up to Cheraw a large amount of freight.

THE GAZETTE further tenders its thanks to L. J. Fleming, Esq., Superintendent, and Henry Nutt, Esq., one of the Directors in the Wilmington & Manchester Railroad, who upon hearing of the break on the C. & D. R., came up and tendered their services and such other aid as might be necessary to the speedy repair of the road.

Throwing it into the House. The friends of Mr. Fillmore throughout the present canvass have differed from the friends of Mr. Buchanan, in regard to the probable effects—nay, we might say, the inevitable effects of allowing the election of President to go into the House of Representatives.

In glancing over the letter of Judge Nisbet, of Georgia, a conservative Southern Whig, addressed to Hon. H. G. Lamar, of the same State, we find much that coincides with our own views upon this subject, and we therefore extract the concluding portion of his remarks, commending them to the attentive consideration of Southern men, who although differing on some points from the views of the Democratic party, yet find in its national position at the present time sufficient inducement and justification for their co-operation with it in the approaching election.

Again it is said that the people will fail to elect and in the House Mr. Fillmore can be elected. The devolving of the election upon the House is an event to be deprecated. I look upon it as calamity only less than the inauguration of Mr. Fremont. At any time it would be unfortunate—now it would be disastrous.

But there we encounter the same danger of the success of Fremont that we now meet before the people. Let it be conceded, however, that he could not be elected by the House, what then will be Mr. Fillmore's position? Suppose that Mr. Fillmore goes into the House with the support of four States and Mr. Buchanan twelve, and this is a supposition most favorable to Mr. Fillmore—is it to be expected that the twelve would yield to the four?

TRANSACTIONS OF THE SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE MEDICAL SOCIETY OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, held at Raleigh, N. C., May, 1856. N. C., printed by Fulton & Price, 1856.

It is one of the peculiarities of human nature that what is frequently before us are too apt to overlook, or perhaps to take for granted that what we are fully acquainted with, is equally familiar to every body else. It is from either or both of these causes that our notice of the above publication has been so long delayed.

THE NEXT ANNUAL MEETING is to be held at Edenton, N. C., a somewhat extended and elaborate article. The next annual meeting is to be held at Edenton, N. C., a somewhat extended and elaborate article.

affair came off, the result being reported by the Times Fremont paper, as follows:—Fremont 3,850; Fillmore, 3,567; Buchanan, 2,962. So that at this grand Fremont affair, notwithstanding all the exertions made and the tickets distributed, Fremont had little over one-third of all the votes, and Buchanan, although his friends discouraged the whole trick, came out near about as well as his neighbours. The Fremonters are not encouraged.

The Herald of last Wednesday quotes from the American Organ an indignant piece contradicting, as a base falsehood, an assertion which it says the Democratic papers have made to the effect that the "Americans" of Indiana have abandoned their electoral ticket and adopted that of the Republicans. It says that it has received several American papers from Indiana, all of which publish the American electoral ticket, headed by George G. Dunn and R. W. Thompson.

Now, whether any Democratic papers have asserted that the Fillmoreites of Indiana have abandoned their electoral ticket, and adopted that of the Republicans, is more than we can say—nay, as to the fact of their so doing we are uninformed; but this we do know, that the American organ is perfectly correct in saying that the "American" papers from Indiana publish a Fillmore ticket, headed by George G. Dunn, and R. W. Thompson, but it somehow forgot to state that the Fremont papers, also publish a Fremont electoral ticket headed by the very same names, and in fact, precisely the same throughout, without the change of a letter.

WE ARE indebted to Captain S. L. Fremont, Engineer and Superintendent of the Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road, for a pamphlet copy of the "proceedings of the Convention of Presidents and Superintendents of the Southern Rail Road Companies and of the Southern Rail Road Association, held in 1855 and 1856."

WHILE THE COMMITTEE were preparing to leave, the cry of Steele! Steele! went up from all parts of the large and respectable crowd now assembled, which soon induced that noble, gallant and intelligent gentleman, Col. Walter L. Steele, of Richmond, to mount the rostrum, and who ennobled the audience for at least one hour with as elegant, argumentative and patriotic an address as has been our pleasure at any time to listen to. He dealt in no anecdotes, but submitted plain, stubborn facts and argumentation, clothed in chaste and respectful language, addressed to the judgment, boldly unfurling the glorious flag of Democracy.

ON THE conclusion of his speech, the Committee reported through their chairman, Col. White, that they had performed the duties assigned them, but that Mr. Osborne, from reasons personal to himself and satisfactory to the Committee, declined addressing the meeting. But that he was with them heart and soul, and that the interest of the South required the election of Buchanan and that he should certainly vote for him.

WASHINGTON Sept. 15.—It is understood that no minister from Nicaragua will be received by our government, owing to the unsettled political state of that country.

Barley Without Seeds. It has recently been announced by the public journals that a species of barley has been brought into "beard" attached to the common varieties of grain. Mr. I. W. Briggs, of West Madison, Wayne county, N. Y., published the following in relation to the matter:—I have been cultivating scientific and practical farming, and I have been improving myself in the study of the matter worthy of attention. Some may possibly have been discovered in the globe of the Himalayan Mountains. Mr. Briggs thus writes to the editor of the Pittsburg Journal:

I obtained 7 grains of this new variety three years ago, and being much pleased with its general appearance and productiveness, I have sown a number to multiply this small quantity as fast as the Shag-hair and other birds would allow. "Its merits for grinding or malting have not been tested, and the quantity is now too small to squander in that way, when every tiller of the soil who sees is anxious to have a few grains, not doubting it will prove a valuable acquisition. I have sufficient, however, to send you one, with one seed each, contained in a stamped envelope and I will enclose a head, and send it back by return mail, with printed instructions for cultivaing in a way to ensure a large return from a small quantity of seed. Should this new variety be found to answer all the purposes of the common barley, a few years will suffice to drive the 'Barley Beards' from the country.

Should any person desire more than the one head I will send a package of 700 to 800 grains, securely enveloped, by mail, post paid, for 25 cents, accompanied with a few heads to prove the fact of its being beardless." The editor of the Journal acknowledges the receipt of heads of the "beardless barley," with the above letter, and says:—"The grain is plump, fair, and flinty, and certainly has about the appearance of the ordinary varieties of barley. This new variety will be a great boon to our farmers if found to thrive well in our climate."

EUGENIE.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Times says:—"The Empress remains with the Imperial Prince at St. Cloud, where, if we are to believe certain rumors, her Majesty is, for the first time since her marriage, indulging in a little of the freedom which she enjoyed as the Countess de Teba. It is true that his Majesty left his relative, the old Prince Bacciochi, under guard and that nothing unreasonable was allowed to the young Eugenie; but then it appears that the Prince Bacciochi is not exactly the man to judge of what is and what is not reasonable. When one reflects that her Majesty is particularly fond of the largest liberty of action (without meaning by that to impute to her improprieties of conduct) that she has been buried to the real pleasures of this world for three years, that she is the Empress of a great nation, and has at last fulfilled the object for which she was called to the throne, in giving to the nation an heir to the crown, it is easy to understand that her Majesty should wish to assert her right to that liberty of action which characterized her life before marriage. The Prince Bacciochi evidently reasons in the same way, and thus we have heard of several parties of pleasure lately organized and carried out by her Majesty, which remind one of the flitting incognito parties of Queens of less modern times."

AN ILLEGITIMATE RULER.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald reports to what he calls the strange stories told about Napoleon the Third's illegitimacy. He says that he has never believed that there is no Bonaparte blood in his veins, but that there is no resemblance in the Emperor's features to the other members of the Bonaparte family, the correspondent says he is like them in his walk and general carriage, that without consanguinity it would be difficult to understand it. Whilst in the rural districts no doubt is entertained of the Emperor's legitimacy, no one about the Court has the slightest faith in it. Napoleon the Third is understood to be the son of a German admiral. His cast of countenance and temperament are eminently German, though the evidence which establishes his paternity is entirely independent of these circumstances. The illegitimacy of the Emperor is of course no discredit to himself, unless his own conduct in keeping with the delinquencies of his progenitors. This cannot be alleged of Napoleon the Third, for however grasping and selfish his policy to other nations, he has been as true as steel to France, and has contributed more to her solid advancement and glory than any of the legitimate or illegitimate rulers who have preceded him for the last five hundred years.

THE N. Y. Herald, since it joined the abolitionists, is thrown completely in the background by its new allies. They beat it in blackguardism, lying, and all the old humbug tricks that are used to form the faculty of Bennett's paper. The Herald tries a snort, now and then—makes a spasmodic effort to be heard and attract attention—but the political demons, who dance round the same cauldron with Bennett, exceed him in all his efforts—in fact, completely uncrow his tail, and strip the poor devil of all his satanic emblems—except his horns.

IN LUCK.—The Abingdon Virginian states that Jno. H. Thompson, Smyth county, Va., repaired to California to seek his fortune when the gold mania first broke out in that region. He spent some years in the old mining districts that used to form the faculty of Bennett's paper. The Herald tries a snort, now and then—makes a spasmodic effort to be heard and attract attention—but the political demons, who dance round the same cauldron with Bennett, exceed him in all his efforts—in fact, completely uncrow his tail, and strip the poor devil of all his satanic emblems—except his horns.
