A New Date: If the reader will cast his eye to the head of this present issue of the Journal, it will rest upon the figures 1858, showing that we have entered upon a new year. May it be a happy one to us all.

We need hardly say that we feel the times in common with our neighbors—more, perhaps, than some, and probably less than others. However, complaining never did anybody any good. The best plan is, in the language of the old proverb, to set a stout heart to a steep hill.

We must ask all friends and readers to recollect that all new orders for subscription or advertisement, to receive attention, must be accompanied by the cash. We find ourselves compelled to adopt this course, and it must be enforced as a uniform rule.

The Capture of Walker's Forces. We give in full all the details of the capture of Walker's army that have yet been received. On the face of it, without further explanations or the statement of qualifying circumstances, we can only come to one conclusion, and that is, that Commodore Paulding has acted without warrant in the laws of nations, the municipal laws of the Union, or the instructions given him by the Executive Government of the United States.

The Torsion Sound Road Company.—The directors in the above Company have declared a dividend of three per cent from the profits of the road for the last six months, exhibiting a cheering increase in the business of the Company. This road passes through a region of deep sand, so deep indeed, that citizens residing on the Sound, or in Onslow County, found great difficulty in conveying their produce to market previous to the construction of this work.

From Kansas. ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—Dates from Leavenworth to the 25th have been received. The vote there stood 238 for the slavery cause and the constitution to 90 votes against. Many Missourians were present, and some voted, swearing that they were "instinctive inhabitants of the State." Some were arrested, but Judge Leocombe issued a habeas corpus for their release.

The Indians in Utah. WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The Indian Bureau have received official information denying the truth of the reports that the disaffection of the Indians in the Utah Territory created by the Mormons had been communicated to the Indians on the border of California, and especially those in the southern portion of the State.

The Capture of Walker.—Indignation Meeting at New Orleans. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—The news of the capture of Walker and his army has been received here with general indignation and with great excitement. A meeting has been called for to-morrow noon, to give expression to the feelings of the community. The feeling in regard to reinforcing Anderson is intense.

The Widow of Omar Pasha.—Several French journals having announced the presence in Paris of the divorced widow of Omar Pasha, the following details of her career are given in the Patrice. "She was born at Reps, in Transylvania, and was sent at the age of eleven to one of the best boarding schools in Bucharest. Some lessons on the piano developed wonderful musical talent on that instrument. It was at that period that Omar Pasha, who then was the military commandant of Wallachia, met the young lady at a soiree, and being very fond of music, fell in love with her, and subsequently married her."

Flag Officer, commanding U. S. Home Squadron, in the Saratoga or on the 8th instant, for a violation of the neutrality laws of the United States, he having set on foot in the United States an unlawful military organization, to make war on a people with whom we are at peace, and was at the time of his arrest at the head of said organization, in the act of making war as above stated.

Department is an odd specimen of salt-water law and statesmanship, and shows as fully as anything can show, the necessity of a higher standard of education and intelligence among Naval Officers, for whom delicate and responsible duties may be confided. His course is justified by nothing contained in his instructions, nor can it find any excuse in the attitude of the British naval authorities at the same stations. It is true that our naval commanders had some knowledge of, and respect for, the true position assumed by their country, instead of acting like "run old Commodores and grum old Commodores" under British dictation.

Now the tug of war commences in earnest.—Kansas, acting under the law of the Legislature and the Leocompton Convention, held in pursuance thereof, has voted in favour of retaining the slavery clause in the Constitution framed by this last named body. The Congress of the United States will reassemble after this question, on the 4th, being next Monday, and then this question will come up in all its exciting importance.

It would be folly to attempt to disguise the fact that the appearance of things in Congress is portentous. It would be folly to disguise the fact that the quiet of the country, and the integrity of the Democratic party are alike threatened. What the immediate result will be, no man can say. If things are brought to a serious issue—if the political battle is fought to the bitter end by Mr. Douglas and his followers, it will require no secret to predict his fate.

The fact is that Mr. Douglas owes his success to the boldness and constitutionality of his general course in trying times, and this course has been sustained, being in accordance with the innate feelings of the Democratic party. He has been borne forward to promotion and to victory by the Democratic party. That party has made him successful. If he or his friends dream that he has made it, they will find out their mistake very soon.

The following is published as the instructions to Secretary DENVER, as acting Governor of Kansas. It was sent to the Senate by the President on the 23rd inst., together with the reply to Gov. WALKER's letter, among a mass of documents relating to affairs in Kansas: DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, December 11, 1857.

James W. Denver, Esq., Secretary and Acting Governor of Kansas Territory: Sir—You have been informed that Mr. Stanton has been removed from the office of Secretary of the Territory of Kansas, and that you have been appointed in his place. I desire now to state to you distinctly the reason of this change. The convention which met at Leocompton on the first of September had framed a constitution, and had authorized its president to submit the question to the people of Kansas on the 21st of December, whether this constitution should be adopted with or without slavery.

From these views you will readily understand what the President regards as the chief duty which devolves upon you as Mr. Stanton's successor. This duty is to preserve peace in Kansas. Every person entitled to vote on the constitution ought to have safe access to the polls, and to be free from any restraints whatever in the exercise of the elective franchise.

The matter which is seized upon by some lawless persons for political purposes is as follows: Last summer a party of men, from the neighborhood of Lawrence or Leavenworth, appeared in the vicinity of Fort Scott; some on the valley of the Marston river, and others of them on the Osage; and previous to their departure, they had been in the habit of ready-made clothing, as usual at a convenient point for their benefit and use. The clothing was dealt out by a person who acted as agent in the matter. These persons all seemed to act in concert. The first move made by them of a violent kind was by force and arms, with threats to drive from his cabin and claim an aged man of the name of Southwood, with his family. They then warned him to leave the country, and a detour of the river, and to his cabin, house, crops, &c., to their own use.

The peaceful progress of these elections can obviously occasion no injury to any citizen or any party; because their results can have only their due weight under the Constitution and laws. It is to be expected, therefore, that no good citizens will endeavor to interfere with them, but that all the people will be contented to see the work of the Convention peacefully carried out to its legitimate results, and fairly presented to the consideration of Congress.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Today the official canvass in Minnesota was completed. The entire Democratic ticket is elected. Rice and Hoyle are elected to the U. S. Senate.

Walker's stores and munitions were embarked on the Saratoga and Fulton. I was mistaken in my belief that Walker had landed six field-pieces from the Fashion. The mistake arose from my informant's having seen some cannon on Punta Arenas, in Captain Scott's sheds. This artillery was that left by Lockington and March, and was taken possession of by Commodore Paulding before the Commodore arrived. I was also in error in saying that the Fashion landed Walker at Punta Arenas the same day he landed Anderson's party at the Colorado. The last here landed twenty-two hours before the departure of Punta Arenas.
