A SUNDAY AT SURREY.

AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT FROM THE SPIRIT LAND—THE ENTIRE FAMILY INTERVIEWED.

A Reliable Report of the Mysterious Phenomenon.

As we intimated in our issue of Saturday, we now have the pleasure of laying before the readers of the News an intelligent, correct and interesting account of the late wonderful phenomenal manifestations at Surreny, No. 6, on the Macon & Brunswick Railroad.

SURRENY, Oct. 28, 1872.

Editor Morning News: I herewith transmit you the most important portions of an interview had on yesterday with the Surreny family, whose recent mysterious phenomena have excited the attention of our citizens and the public generally.

The 7 p. m. Macon train on the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad leaving your city on the evening of the 26th inst., bore your correspondent safely to the terminus.

SURRENY STATION.

On the Macon and Brunswick Railroad, and the scene of the late mysterious phenomena. We left the cars at 11 o'clock on Saturday night, and took a casual survey of our surroundings. It is certainly one of the last places that I would suppose a spirit to haunt, and a magician to display his skill's.

THE HOUSE. Comfortable, though built in an odd style, is situated on the railroad and near the depot. It consists of a large hall, a parlor, a dining room, a kitchen, a bedroom, and a bathroom.

Mr. S. and his wife, and their children, were all present. They were all in good health, and appeared to be in the enjoyment of life.

THE STRANGEST PART. We were all in the parlor, and Mr. S. was telling us of the strange things that had happened to him and his family.

THE MISTERY. We were all in the parlor, and Mr. S. was telling us of the strange things that had happened to him and his family.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Department business in Washington City is nearly all suspended, three-fourths of the clerks having gone home for the week-end.

It is singular, to say the least of it, that these things could go on in different parts of the country at the same time, and that they usually choose this manner of proceeding; and frequently in open day time would they go on inside the houses, over the yard and in the open air, and with articles of an altogether different size and nature. We were also shown

A LARGE UMBRELLA SPOT in the middle of the parlor floor, where a bottle of ink is said to have fallen. The bottle was removed from the house for fear of its coming in contact with fire, and placed on a post in the back yard.

At 11 o'clock on Saturday night, the bottle was removed from the house for fear of its coming in contact with fire, and placed on a post in the back yard.
