THE ONLY WEEKLY.

The "Newbern Weekly Progress" is again we believe, the only weekly newspaper issued from the ancient Athens of North Carolina-at least it is the only one that never suspends! It is now well on in the third year and has Treasury. never lost a single number yet, and, we hope, never will. We give fifty-two copies for the year's subscription, and give them all in the year. Our weekly gives more news and a greater variety than any other in the State, we think. In the future as in the past we shall endeavor to make our Weekly a paper to be sought by all and a welcome visitor at every fireside. It is a news and family Journal, one that keeps the reader fully posted in things occurring in the moving world. SEND $2 BY MAIL.

We frequently get requests from subscribers by letter and otherwise, not to stop their papers -that they will be in town and attend to it, &c. All this will not do. We must and shall treat all alike, and so if you want the paper continued send $2 by mail before your time is out : if not we shall certainly stop the paper though you be our best friend. It is our rule and we shall adhere to it.

Send $9 and we will send six copies of the paper to one office, one year.

We regret that the "Progress" has come ont as an advocate of separate secession by North Carolina. So far from thinking now that separate secession is the true policy, we are more and more of the opinion that it is the very worst that can be pursued. We know not what the people of North Carolina desire, and wish to learn their wishes. If they desire a Convention, they should have the opportunity of saying at the polls whether they approve or disapprove the action of that Convention. When the people have thus spoken, our lot, whether it be for weal or for woe, will be cast with them, and until they do thus speak, we will resist to the bitter end the attempts of the secessionists in the Legislature to force North Corolina into the wake of South Caralina. Let the people speak.—Raleigh Register.

Have the editors of the Register read our article of the 25th under the caption of "The Crisis of the Hour-the Duty of Patriots ?"-We are no more for secession now than we were last summer but the thing has been forced upon us; the Government is broken up-hopelessly sundered we fear-and our object now is to avert bloodshed and re-construct upon the best basis possible. Nor have we got ahead of the people. The Register is certainly mis- legitimate fruit, "the necessary result of the printaken if it thinks that we advocate the withdrawal of North Carolina from the Union in any other mode than the one it suggests. Let | And then, with the self-sufficient air so natdinance of secession if such course may seem best to the delegates when assembled, and which has seceded. Could we see any hope of suppose not." preserving the Union we would still cling to lowing false assertions: ment of a Southern Confederacy, but we their submission to Northern insolence and agconfess that we look on the Union as already

Nor do we concede the constitutional right of secession. We believe that our fathers intended the Union to be a perpetual compact all come together again under one Constitution | the Union will be reconstructed, with or withor separate into two or more, the Yancevs, Rhetts, Keitts, Davises, Phillipses, Greeleys, will be a matter of profound indifference to the Seward's and their kindred spirits of every section must be banished from the halls of Legislation and their voices hushed by the indignation of the patriotic masses, or there can be no peace or good government. Let the secession doctrine be incorporated into the Constitution of our Southern Confederacy, should one be established, and we cannot expect to secure either the respect or favor of other Governments. Let the States comprising the Southern or any other Confederacy reserve the right when they sign the compact to "bolt" when they choose and who would trust the Government to the amount of a single dollar? We should have no credit either with individuals or Governments; and let a Southern Confederacy be established with such a Constitution | 000,000; Minnesota, 6,000,000. The whole and in less than a dozen years the States would be "bolting" from each other.

The Register sees no cause why this State should secede now. Well perhaps not, but what would the Register have North Carolina do in case Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee and Kentucky go out before the 4th of March? Journal.

Would it have North Carolina still prostrate itself over the dead carcass of the Union and [SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF "DAILY PROGRESS." utter prayers for its preservation, or would that paper have the State act as becomes an

WHEN WILL THEY ADJOURN ?-In view of the troubles which surrounded us, the condition of the State's financies and the fact that we are to have a Convention would it not be well for our Legislature to finish up the Convention bill and adjourn? There is no money to appropriate for new projects and of course no disposition, at this time, to project new schemes, and so it seems to us that there can be no excuse for remaining there after they are done hammering on the Convention, especially when we consider that every day is Likely to Prove a Failure. It is now very apparent that the effort to effect a compromise of our national troubles by the Conference which it is proposed shall meet at Washington City on the 4th of February, next Monday, is to be a failure. It is not likely that a single one of the Northern States will send commissioners to that Conference while less than one half of the Southern States will be represented. So this prop is gone, and we have only Crittenden's plan to hang a hope on, and of its adoption no one is sanguine. And so the props, one by one, fall away, and the States like a ponderous raft in a rapid current

"DAILY AD VALOREM BANNER."-Such is the title of a new paper just started at Raleigh by Frank I. Wilson & Co. The Banner is nearly as large as the Daily Progress, is gotten up in a neat and attractive style and is served to subscribers at $5. A Weely Banner is also to be issued at $2, the same size as the Standard .-The Banner has hoisted the name of STEPHEN A. Douglas for President in 1864, subject to to the voice of the people of the United States. Frank says the Daily can and shall succeed, and we hope it may. If contined as started it will deserve success.

Has no Enemies .-- We sometimes hear it said of a man "he has no enemies," and how we pity the miserable nonentity. "Has no enemies" is but a poor compliment to pay one whom we profess to admire, for if he has not had energy enough in all his life to make an enemy it is safe to assume that he does not true how we pity the poor creature.

THE CHARLESTON MERCURY AND MR. CRITTENDEN.

The Charleston Mercury seems of late to have transferred its hatred from the Northern abolitionists, to the statesmen and people of the There was a great snow storm North last Border slave States. Not content with advocating a policy which would present to the latter the alternative of slave-emancipation or unconditional surrender to the behests of the "Cotton States," it is now engaged in ridiculing and slandering one, who is justly regarded as the great exponent of the sentiment of the Border States, and who for his lofty patriotism, great abilities, and unsullied character, merits and receives the admiration and sympathy of good men of all parties, throughout the country. As far as our knowledge and information extends, the Hon. John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky, during the whole of his career as a public man, has enjoyed, in an eminent degree had not been passed. the respect and confidence of the American commanded from his political opponents, the esteem and reverence due to exalted worth. During this crisis, particularly has he vindicated his claim to a place in the hearts of his countrymen, and we had supposed that, if there was any one man who would pass this fiery ordeal, without even a desire on the part of the most malicious to detract from his labours, or to sully his character, that man was John J. Crittenden. But even he, the venerable and distinguished patriarch of the Senate, to whom, by common consent, is accorded spotless integity, great wisdom, and the most undefiled patriotism, even he does not escape the vulgar ridicule and unprovoked calumnies of this organ of the chivalry! The editor of this unique ournal devotes a half column of its issue of Wednesday to a characteristic, quasi-historical, account of the crimes and follies of Mr. Crittenden, and the Whig party, the following first paragraph of which is a fair specimen of the REVIEW OF NEWBERN MARKET. FOR THE WEEK ENDING JAN. 29, 1861.

During the week general produce has ruled more active and we have to note good prices paid for almost all articles brought to market. A better feeling prevails in transactions, and many articles given in our Prices Current would perhaps command a better price than quoted.

COTTON-Has been quite active for the week, and we have to quote an advancing tendency at the close under New York reports of prices current. During the week a slight decline was man ifested, but the market is again firm. We quote at 101/211c., as in quality. TURPENTINE-Has ruled very active with

JUDGE LONGSTREET. The Columbia Guardian reports a joyful

In the evening bonfires were kindled in every ward of the city, and a number of buildings were illuminated. At one of the bonfires a temporary stand was erected, and Judge Longstreet introduced to the large crowd by Mayor Boatwright. This distinguished gentleman made one of his happiest efforts, his remarks frequently drawing out the loud plaudits of the assembly. The Judge, in opening his remarks, said that his position was pretty much like that of a young law student in his office at Georgia. The student had addressed a young lady, who thought he was too precipitate, and told him that she knew nothing of his position or circumstances. The student informed her of his position, but said he had "no circumstances." It was the case with the speake*. After having already, on three former and similar occasions, addressed his fellow-citizens of Collumbia, there was nothing left for him to say-"he had no circumstances." The Judge continued, however. One of his illustrations was to this effect: In old times goods had to be hauld from the north to Georgia. Some wagoners going home one night were startled by the sudden light from a large meteor, when one of them in the wagon put out his head, and said they need not be alarmed-"the moon had only broke loose." The other States which had already seceded were bright and glorious stars, but this evening the moon had broke loose.

Several other speeches were delivered, all congratulatory, and all welcoming in the most ardent and effectionate terms the advent of Georgia into the family of free and independent

John J. Crittenden.-We can scarcely conceive of a spectacle which has in it more of the moral sublime than this brave old man struggling for the salvation of his country. If "pius Eneas" excites our admiration in bearing old Anchises from the flames, how much more this venerable Father of the State struggling to rescue from the scorehing blaze of sectional fury the precious deposite of the Constitution and the Union. Oh, "old man eloquent," a thousand blessings on thy venerable head! Surely the spirit of Henry Clay has decended on Crittenden, the mantle of that Elijah has come upon Elisha and invested him with tenfold power. As we see this aged and patriotic statesman plending day after day for the salvation of his country, it is no great stretch of the imagination to suppose that one of the sages of '76 has risen from the dead and is interceding for the Wholesale and Retail Dealers in salvation of the Republic with those who are more dangerous enemies of its peace and liberties than the minions of George the Third. Whatever betide the Union, the noble efforts of Crittenden will command the respect of man- for CASH. kind and the admiration of posterity. If this This is to Inform the readers of the Progress grandest structure of human wisdom shall survive the storm, the people of America will enshrine in their deepest hearts the name of this second Saviour of his Conatry, and even if it shall perish, if that old line-of-battle ship, heaving and pitching in the tempest-tossed deep, shall go down beneath the engulabling waves long, long as mankind will remember that most melancholy wreck in all the tide of time, they will remember the grey-haired and high-souled seaman, faithful among the faithless, whose
