While in Porto Rico General Miles needed an extra orderly, and a "green" volunteer from the West was appointed. When the general called him he replied, "Well, Miles, what is it?" The staff expected a storm, instead, the General smiled and answered, "Don't call me Miles. Call me 'Nels.' Miles is so formal." But the lesson was learned.

Mrs. Dr. Foreman had an operation performed Thursday on right eye for cataract by Dr. Harlan, Chief Surgeon of Presbyterian Eye and Ear Hospital. The operation was successful and bids fair to restore the lady to perfect sight. Dr. Harlan stands today without a peer on diseases of the eye, and is recognized as one of the finest oculists in the city of Baltimore.—Littleton Independent.

Mr. Harry Conklin Gorsuch, son of Mr. C. C. Gorsuch, of this city, and Miss Elsie Maud Johnson, daughter of Mr. R. R. Johnson, of Chester, Pa., formerly proprietor of the Hotel Albion, this city, were married at the parsonage of an M. E. Church, Philadelphia, on Wednesday, Rev. S. H. Hoover, D. D., performing the marriage ceremony. Mr. C. C. Gorsuch, Misses Helen and Mary Agnes Gorsuch and Miss Trestle Buckingham were present at the wedding. They accompanied the newly wedded pair to this city, where they arrived Wednesday evening and were called upon by a number of friends, at the home of the groom's father, on West Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Gorsuch went to Thurmont on Thursday, where they will reside. Westminster Sentinel.

ENTHUSIASTIC.—This is how the Boonsboro Times feels: Water works tested—Water thrown high in the air—A grand success—Fire Company to be organized this week.

The ground has been frozen for nearly a week, during part of which time high winds prevailed and no one to protect the wheat and grass. We are informed that the young clover is being lifted up dangerously and the wheat must be suffering.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has made a ruling, through Collector B. F. Parlett, of Baltimore, that an agreement extending a mortgage requires a revenue stamp, the old mortgage having expired, and by the agreement being revised and made effective for an additional term.

Serious differences are said to have arisen between certain members of the faculty of the Maryland Agricultural College at College Park, Prince George's county. So serious has this difference become, it is said, that the state officials will be tendered a report in which it is alleged that recommendations will be made that certain professors should be removed. From what can be gathered, the matter is one of long standing, although it is within recent date that the trouble has reached anything like a crisis.

SUBSTITUTE JURORS.—The following jurors have been drawn for the February term of Court in place of those named: Buckeystown, Wm. Kinna in place of John H. Baker; Frederick, Solomon Stern in place of W. E. Kefauver; New Market, Milton Burk in place of W. B. Turner; Petersville, Thomas Hightman in place of George M. Swank; Mechanistown, W. J. Freeze in place of Geo. W. Stockdale; Johnsville, Wesley Myers in place of Nicholas Boone; Burkittsville, Lewis H. Bowlin in place of Daniel E. Beachley.

PASTOR CHOSEN.—At a congregational meeting after the sermon in St. Johns Lutheran church, in this place, on Sunday morning last, Rev. J. Elmer Bittle was unanimously called to this charge.

Rev. Mr. Bittle is a son of Mr. Frank Bittle of Middletown Valley. He is at present located at Turtle Creek, Pa.; he tendered his resignation there some weeks ago, but by an unanimous vote the congregation declined to accept. Now, that he has been elected here, that decision will likely be reconsidered and we may expect to have him with us shortly.

LOOK THIS WAY.—If the contractors and builders of the Myersville extension of the Middletown Valley electric railroad are able to see sufficient in a road from Myersville across into the Cumberland Valley to warrant the interest they are manifesting in it, they can find something even more promising by going into an examination of the Frederick, Thurmont, and Northern Gentlemen of the F. T. & N. why not endeavor to turn the thoughts of these practical men in the direction of your proposed road? It might to your surprise, yield results.

The Whist Club. The Whist Club met at the home of Mr. John Mathias on Monday night. The winners at this meeting were N. & S. Miss Carrie Baker and Mr. Charles Root, plus 10; (the highest score yet made); E. & W. Mr. Bennett of Frederick City (took the lady's part) and Mr. Mathias, plus 5.

The meeting of next Monday night will be held at Mr. John Miller's.

Mrs. Mathias will be missed in the Club for a few meetings, she having gone on a visit to friends in Baltimore City.

Miss Margaret Oster is absent on a visit to her sister Julia in Philadelphia.

Mr. "Bob" Currans leaves today and will not be at the next few meetings.

Mr. Van B. Oster became a member at this meeting.

TIME TO SELL.—Occasionally the rumor gets afloat that the Catoctin iron property has a buyer in sight and latterly we have heard such a rumor. It may be meddling with something that is "none of our business," yet we can lay legitimate claim to an interest in seeing the furnaces and ore banks in operation, on account of the employment that it will give to labor here. It strikes us that, being now an unproductive property and for sale, as it has been advertised and offered, that the present is the proper time to sell. The demand for home and foreign markets, of manufactured iron, in 1899 will probably exceed that of any of the past six or eight years and if iron property is worth anything, it is likely worth more to-day than it has been during the past ten years and more than it will be, once the present demand for iron eases or ceases.

Maryland schools contributed $1,096.06 to the Lafayette monument fund. Frederick county contributed $71.63 and stands fourth on the list of counties. Carroll county is first with a subscription of $117.10; Allegany comes next with $97.54 and Washington county third with $76.95. Baltimore city schools gave $943.71.

The old copper-mines near Liberty are being worked again and Editor Cassell, of Thurmont reports that a lot of ore has been shipped from the mines near there that have been idle for years. Between this activity and the recent formation of a great copper trust there may be a connection with some shrewd men at the bottom of it.—Frederick News.

[The copper trust is not concerned about the ore shipped from here as it is iron ore from the Catoctin property. There are no copper mines in this locality.—ED. CLARION]

THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.—According to announcement, the annual session of the Frederick County Farmers' Institute was held in this place on Saturday last.

It may be well to explain in advance that these meetings have hitherto been held in Frederick City and that owing to a lack of interest, evidenced by a very small attendance the State officers, upon the strength of promises that a better attendance would be secured if held in Thurmont, agreed to hold the 1899 Institute here. Judged by reports of attendance in Frederick upon former Institutes and that here, those in charge have some reason for congratulating themselves upon the exchange.

The Institute was formally opened at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning by State Director of Institutes, Wm. L. Amos, who explained the intent and working of the Farmers' Institute in the State of Maryland. He succeeded in satisfying his audience that the practical manner in which the State is thus striving to serve that vast and important body of her citizens, the farmers, is worthy of the favor and support of all and that it is on its way toward the accomplishment of a great work, the protection of the agricultural interests against the many evils that have risen up against it and that by educating them; by giving all the benefit of knowledge gained through experience.

He also explained how the National Government is aiding the States by making appropriations for agricultural experimentation and for the diffusion of information Maryland receiving $15,000 annually. Prof. C. O. Townsend of College Park, Md., occupied a portion of the morning session with a lecture on "Fungi and Fungous Diseases." In reply to a question concerning Tomato Blight, the Professor advised that the plants be sprayed before taking them into the field or garden and further stated that as the fungi rapidly multiplied upon the growth of the plant, that if upon examination, a single plant is found to be infected, it should be thrown away. He also occupied a portion of the afternoon session.

Mr. Edward Van Alstyne of Kinderhook, New York, took up the remainder of the morning session with his lecture upon the Dairy. Many and valuable were the items of information, some of them, to his hearers were new and striking. The lecture will bear fruit here in one or two matters to which he gave his special attention. He succeeded in thoroughly interesting his audience.

At the afternoon session, Mr. George T. Powell of "Orchard Farm," Columbia county New York, lectured upon the Orchard. He made it plain that an intelligent inquiry into the kind of fruit best suited to soil and climate is the main question to be determined. After that a proper care of the tree will insure a perfect fruit and that means a profitable crop. He incidentally explained the composition and best method of preparing the Bordeaux mixture for spraying apple trees and we give it for the benefit of such as may have occasion to make and use it. Place six pounds of blue vitriol (the crystalline lump) in a basket; suspend this in a barrel containing twenty-five gallons of water, immersing it but an inch or two in the water; as it dissolves in the water it will be self-feeding until all is dissolved.

Place six pounds of pure unslaked lime in a barrel containing twenty-five gallons of water, seeing that it becomes a perfect solution.

Into a third vessel let three men transfer these solutions, two with a bucket each pouring of each solution simultaneously, the third stirring rapidly. You then have a perfect mixture of the proper strength, with which the apple tree should be sprayed just about the time the blossom is beginning to fall off.

The silo was credited with being all that has ever been claimed for it and a cheap plan was given for building one.

At the evening session Mr. Van Alstyne gave his illustrated lecture, "Historical Scenes on the Hudson." By the aid of a fine stereopticon Mr. Van Alstyne's splendid lecture became a veritable sail up that river of magnificent views and great historic interest. This closed the institute.

As we have already stated, the attendance was really unexpectedly good. The morning session was well attended; the afternoon brought a large attendance and at night the Town Hall was full. Director Amos spoke of it as an unquestioned success: Mr. D. Columbus Kemp, president of the Frederick County Institute, remarked the improved attendance: Mr. W. H. Witter of the County Executive Committee complimented us also on the marked interest and excellent attendance.

Director Amos will likely commend us for referring to the fact that he expressed regret at having failed to speak at the close of the Institute of the exceptionally close attention given to the lecturers and the quiet and courtesy of the several audiences. While some of our people may have had the idea that these lectures given at the Institutes simply covered the grounds of a fine theory and would be found valueless, or at best impracticable, on the average farm, comments that have been made in our hearing, by men whose opinions have weight with us, lead us to the conclusion that few, if any, now so view it, on the contrary, they realize that sterling and substantial good will come of Saturday's work, that the suggestions were practicable and the information valuable.

Ten handsome new dwellings of modern design have been erected in Middletown, this county, since the electric railroad began operations, and the erection of others is in contemplation.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—Columbia Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. elected officers at the first meeting in January as follows: C. Prof. H. D. Beachley; Vice C. E. W. Unger; Rec. Sec., F. Hesson; Asst. Rec. Sec., D. A. Firor; Fin. Sec., S. B. Bennett; Treas., S. M. Birely; Con. Edgar Eigenbrode; Warden, John Stull; I. S., B. F. Miller; O. S., Benedict Knott; Chaplain, I. W. Ley; Representatives and Alternates, C. M. Root, P. N. Hammaker, F. Hesson and D. F. Firor; Del. Fun. Ben. Assn., Prof. H. D. Beachley.

Mr. Newton S. Cook has received from a friend on U. S. Transport Indiana at Manila a newspaper published in Manila. The America, a publication since suppressed for a rash statement about the Filipinos.

The paper seems to insist on the retention of the U. S. of its purchase of the Philippines and has news from the Associated Press that the paper is too modest to date. The Americanization of Manila seems to be advancing rapidly.

The biggest ad. in the paper is an American on the rear page, and patriotism yells on all of them, rather modestly, though on the editorial in which our men are represented as clamoring to get home. The first N. Y. Volunteers being especially dissatisfied, says the paper, leaving "comfortable homes to gain laurels in battle instead of which they are simply stagnating, many dying of sickness caused by inactivity."

It says that the 14th Infantry band plays on the Limeta regularly and that the Filipino under arms were crowding Co. A, 1st Colorado on picket duty. The whole Colorado Company turned out and found the crowding to consist of a merry gang of natives chasing through a rice field to celebrate a feast of St. Andrew. The paper also reports a banquet at the English Hotel of our army officers at which was Admiral Dewey.

Some of the American bars advertised rejoice in such names as "The Baltimore," "American Eagle," "Golden Eagle," "The Noble Cafe," "Hoffman House," "La Colonial," "The Terminal," "Public Benefactor," "Invincible Olympia," etc. All sorts of American stores are in ads, by Chinese, Spaniards, Malays, Germans, English, many of them, and so on. Among other news items, scarce by the way, is a notice of a collection for an Xmas dinner for the American sick in the hospitals, raising in all $1522.

One ad. is quite queer. It is by O. Gdansk who invites the populace to try his Old Government Rye, Bombon Egg Nogs and American Cocktails a specialty, also music by capable performers. One ad. is slightly mysterious. It avers that "La Electricista, Anonymous Syndicate, undertakes to make installations with the best of materials."—Hagerstown Globe.

FORD'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Week Feb 6th. Herbert Kealey and Effie Shannon in a brilliant interpretation of Clyde Fitch's realistic comedy of society life THE MOTH AND THE FLAME.

An interesting dramatic event will be the production next week at Ford's of Clyde Fitch's realistic play, one of the strongest of modern dramatic offerings, "The Moth and The Flame," by those popular stars, Herbert Kealey and Effie Shannon, who this season have met with deserved success everywhere.

The scene of the play is laid in fashionable society of the present day in New York, the people belonging to the ultra smart set, and so perfect is every detail of the setting from the swell gowns of the women to the way little supper is served at the ball, one might almost go to it for the latest mode, in addition its story is of deep and passionate interests, and its brilliant comedy is full of keen thrusts at the shams of society while at the same time it develops many of its greatest charms.

The Church scene is by far the most realistic stage illustration of the kind ever presented, giving an exact reproduction of the interior of the chapel altar, pews, and showing its activity on the day of the wedding with the ushers, the people who come out of curiosity the friends of the family, the family and etc.

The company assisting the stars is most excellent and includes many old favorites. Matinees—Wednesday and Saturday. Admission 25 and 50 cents. Week Feb. 13th. The most stupendous spectacle of the season. THE EVIL EYE. Over one hundred people in the performance.
