

A TALE OF BIGAMY MURDER, LYNCH LAW AND FEMALE REYOLITION.

A man calling himself Captain Hutton, settled a year ago in Sarcoxie, Missouri, courted and married a Miss Fullerton, daughter of a respectable widow lady of that village. He had with him a sickly looking boy called Tommy, for whom he manifested great attachment. They lived in the village—Hutton, his young bride, and Tommy, until about a month ago, when at the request of Hutton, Mrs. Fullerton and Tommy, started with him on a trip to Ohio on business.

Arrived at Sedalia, Hutton procured a power of attorney, with which he returned to Sarcoxie, and by virtue of the writing took possession of Mrs. Fullerton's property, and commenced selling the same. His wife was excited. His answers to questions as to Mrs. Fullerton's whereabouts were unsatisfactory. He was arrested after an exciting chase, and through letters found on his person, attention was directed to a certain house in St. Louis. There the officers found Tommy in the person of a young woman, who confessed that she was Hutton's wife, and had consented to his fraudulent marriage of Miss Fullerton. She had been drugged during the journey, and Miss Fullerton had disappeared, and she had no doubt was murdered.

In compliance with Hutton's demand, she had procured Mrs. F. at Sedalia, in signing a forged power of attorney, under which he returned and took possession of her property. He had then sent her to St. Louis, where she was employed as maid of all work in the house where she was arrested. A mob took Hutton from jail and hung him. He has passed by different names—'Dan Springer,' 'Joseph Lee,' 'A. G. Hutton,' and many others. The frail woman whose devotion to him led her into the commission of such revolting crimes is in jail at Carthage. She says her maiden name was Mary Williams. She was born in Scioto County, Ohio; went to Oxford to school; became infatuated with Springer, ran away with him, and they were married at Ironton, in 1856. Afterward she went with him to Kansas, often dressing in male attire at his request, and in that garb was present when he married Miss Fullerton.

A PET LION.

A gentleman, visiting a house in Algeria, says: "In a few minutes a door opened, and a lion entered the room; the man who led him, by the tuft of his mane. He was a magnificent animal, two years old, and full grown all but his mane, which although but a foot long, made, however, a respectable appearance. He did not seem to care about our being strangers, but wandering about the room like a large dog, permitted us to take liberties with him, such as patting him, shaking a paw, and making him exhibit his teeth and claws. He showed a marked predilection in favor of old acquaintances, and lying down before them, turned on his back to be scratched. After a scratch or two he began to yawn, and was fairly settling him self for a nap, when a cigar was puffed in his face, a proceeding he evidently did not approve of. Rising in a hurry, curling his lips and wrinkling his nose, he exposed to view a splendid set of teeth, a sure sign that he was not pleased. A hearty sneeze seemed to restore him to good temper, and bearing no malice, he returned a friendly pat bestowed on him by Captain Martener, who had been the aggressor, by rubbing his head caressingly against his knees.—Kennedy's Algeria and Tunis.

A GOOD JOKE.

A good story is told of a reverend gentleman, to whom a farmer complained that ministers earned money much easier than he did. "Now," said the farmer, "when you are called upon to marry a couple, you never expect a less sum than three dollars, and you sometimes get ten dollars—this for a few minutes' service." "Pooh," replied the Doctor, "I will agree to give you half my next marriage-fee for a bushel of potatoes." "Very well," said the farmer, "I'll take your offer, and send you the potatoes." A few days afterwards the clergyman was called on to splice a loving couple at D—, a place about four miles from where he lived. When the ceremony was over, the bride-groom said to the worthy minister: "Well, parson, I s'pose I must fork over something for your trouble. What may you be taking one of my terri-pups?" The best breed, I tell you, in the country. Shocking nice to have in the barn. Worth full five dollars, and I suppose a figure two would do for the splicer, eh?" The Doctor took the pup with joy. The joke was too good; he hastened to the farmer, saying: "Now, friend, here is my fee; how shall we divide it?" The farmer relished the joke so well he increased the potatoes to half a dozen bushels.

GRABBY is now for Grant, but he wasn't when he wrote the following: "More soldiers were uselessly slaughtered in the late war through the blunders of drunken officers than by the bullets of the foe." When the editor of the Tribune dealt Grant this blow between the eyes he was for Chase; but having gone over to Grant, we demand to know whether the Tribune changes its mind Grant any less a butcher or a drunkard? Will the Tribune answer this polite question?

Among the prominent radicals who have left the party since the action at Chicago, Wendell Phillips is the most emphatic in his denunciations of what was done. He will have nothing to do with the nomination or the platform, adopted, and has boldly raised the standard of rebellion against the whole concern.

Agitated a liar writes to complain "Monkeys who were so full of love boys in blue," while the war was on, are now utterly regardless of promises. The reason is, that he loved for the "boy in blue," transferred to the boys in black.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE ON THE SITUATION. Views on Impeachment and Politics.

The following confidential letter from Chief Justice Chase to a personal friend has been published in the New York Herald as giving the present position and sentiments of Mr. Chase on important political questions.

Washington, May 25, 1868.—My Dear Sir, You are right in believing that I shall never abandon the great principles, for the success of which I have given my entire life. I adhere to my "old creed of equal rights, without one jot or tittle of abatement. I shall be glad if the new professors of that creed adhere to it as faithfully.

I am amazed by the torrent of invectives with which I am drenched. Almost everything alleged as fact is falsehood out of the whole cloth. Where an allegation has a little fact in it, the fact is so perverted and travestied that it becomes falsehood. I know no motive for all this except disappointment that impeachment has not thus far proved a success. I have very seldom given utterance to them. Indeed, I do not think that the case, in any of its aspects, has been the subject of conversation between myself and more than four or five Senators, and then only casually and briefly. No Senator will say that I have sought to influence him.

The real ground of denunciation is that I have not been a partisan of conviction; and this denunciation I am willing to bear. They may denounce and abuse me and send me out of the party if they choose—I follow my old lights, not the new.

What the developments of the future may be I know not. I neither expect nor desire to be a candidate for office again. It would, however, gratify me exceedingly if the democratic party would assure the party against all attempts to subvert the principle of universal suffrage established in eight, and to be established in all of the Southern constitutions. Then, I think, the fire of the great cause—for which I have labored so long—would be secure, and I should not regret my absence from political life.

DEAD ALL AROUND.

A correspondent of a New York paper, who went to Chicago to attend the late convention, gives the following as among the first incidents of his arrival: "Some delegations had arrived. I spoke to one of the delegates from Iowa."

"How is Grimes?" says I. "Grimes is dead," says he. "Then I met a delegate from Maine and asked him if he had seen Fessenden."

"Fessenden is dead," says he. "The next delegate I met was from Illinois; so I asked him how Trumbull was getting on."

"Trumbull is dead," says he. "A delegate from Missouri then came along and I spoke to him about Henderson."

"Henderson is dead," says he. "The next delegate I saw was from Kansas, and I asked him if he had seen Ross."

"Ross is dead," said he. "Then I went up to a delegate from Tennessee, and mentioned Fowler."

"Fowler is dead," says he. "A delegate from West Virginia came in and I inquired for Van Winkle."

"Van Winkle is dead," says he. "I was getting tired of this, so I asked the next delegate that came in how was the party?"

"And he said he thought the party was dead too."

NOBILITY.—A very talkative little girl used often to annoy her mother by making remarks about the visitors that came to the house. On one occasion a gentleman was expected whose nose had been accidentally flattened nearly to his face. The mother cautioned her child particularly to say nothing about this feature.—"Imagine her consternation when the little one clearly exclaimed:—'Ma, you told me not to say anything about Mr. Smith's nose. Why, he hasn't got any!'"

THE NEW SECRETARY OF WAR.—Gen. Schofield is perhaps the youngest man who has occupied the position of Secretary of War. He is not yet thirty-seven years of age. He graduated at West Point in 1853. He was made a Brevet Major General in 1865, and was subsequently raised to the rank of Major General. He was assigned to duty as General Commanding the first military district, consisting of the State of Virginia.

The Radical method of guaranteeing a Republican form of government to States of the Union, consists in taking the ballot out of the hands of white men and putting it in the hands of negroes, and keeping a standing army to crush out complaint.

The Radical papers say 'loyalty and liberty are the same.' There is a great difference. The price of liberty is eternal vigilance, but the price of 'loyalty' is eternal taxation.

MINISTER TO ENGLAND.—It is suggested the Hon. Reverend Johnson will be offered the mission to England, and that Hon. Charles Francis Adams will be assigned to the State Department upon Mr. Seward's retirement.

The newspapers have been asking why prayer-books have looking glasses on the inside of the cover.—"Ec."

Some one in our hearing suggested that they serve as aids to reflection.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

POULTERERS' FRIEND, A CERTAIN CURE FOR GAPS IN CHICKENS AND TURKEYS. Will prevent and cure Chicken Cholera, and other Diseases common to Poultry, and will promote an increase of Fat.

FULL DIRECTIONS ACCOMPANY EACH PACKAGE. PRICE 25 CENTS. The annexed is a few of the certificates we have received in proof of the great value and efficacy of the Poulterers' Friend.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., February 7th, 1868. Messrs. Cloworthy & Co.: GENTLEMEN—I have used your 'Poulterers' Friend' upon a brood of young chickens that had the gaps, and am happy to say, that by the use of a few doses they were entirely cured. It will certainly cure the gaps when used according to directions. Yours, &c., GEO. HARRAN.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., February 7th, 1868. Messrs. Cloworthy & Co.: GENTLEMEN—I have sold all the 'Poulterers' Friend' I could get in Annapolis. It has cured the gaps in the surrounding country wading very fast with 'Cholera.' I recommended your 'Poulterers' Friend,' and as far as I could learn, it has proved a cure for the disease. W. R. GOODMAN.

BALTIMORE, February 24, 1868. Messrs. Cloworthy & Co.: My chickens were doing very fast with what you called 'Chicken Cholera.' I was induced to try your 'Poulterers' Friend' and it worked like a charm. I gave it as directed, and I cured those that were sick, and I have not seen any symptoms of the disease since. Yours, &c., B. MENCKES, Cross and Warner streets.

JEFFERSON, FREDEBURG COUNTY, Md., July 23d, 1867. Messrs. Cloworthy & Co., Baltimore: GENT.—The wonderful cure which have been made by your 'Poulterers' Friend' has interested all who raise Poultry. A gentleman of this village has been experimenting on chickens with the gaps. He tried your 'Poulterers' Friend' according to the directions, and it had the desired effect in destroying the worm; effectually relieving the chicken at once. Since then, I have had many calls for it, and it has been used extensively with the same result. It is of incalculable value to all who raise Poultry. Respectfully, A. SPECKER.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY CLOWORTHY & CO., 339 Baltimore Street. A Liberal Discount allowed, when Purchased in Large Quantities. The public are cautioned against any similar preparations. Sold by Cloworthy & Co. as genuine. March 5, 1868.—GEO.
