

measure echoed by the ministry in London. On Wednesday he called on the President and Secretary Hay to assure them that there was no intention on Great Britain's part to continue the alliance for a moment after the blockade was raised, and also, it is believed, to accuse Mr. Bowen of having given to the press a diplomatic note.

The publication alone of the substance of Mr. Bowen's note to Sir Michael Herbert, virtually accusing the British government of wishing to continue the alliance, however, was not the only thing that brought about the desire of Great Britain to refuse to have further dealings with the Venezuelan plenipotentiary. At a conference in Mr. Bowen's apartments this week Sir Michael intimated that Mr. Bowen was not disposed to treat the allies fairly. This brought from the Venezuelan representative an expression of surprise. He said he could not understand why the British envoy could complain when a request made by him for the immediate payment of claims for alleged injuries suffered by certain British subjects had been granted by Mr. Bowen.

Allies Suspicious of One Another.
The Italian and the German representatives, who were present, had not heard of this arrangement, and they informed their governments. As there was an agreement between the three allies that each should keep the others informed of any circumstances of which it was aware, that would have a bearing on the negotiations, the German government, it is said, was irritated over the failure of Great Britain to let Berlin know of the promise of Mr. Bowen to pay certain British claims.

This inferential accusation of bad faith annoyed the British government exceedingly, according to The Times' information, coming as it did on top of the feeling caused in the British ministry over the publication of Mr. Bowen's intimation that Great Britain was willing to continue the alliance, and the instructions to Sir Michael Herbert to ask the President to settle the remaining questions were the result.

Side With Sir Michael.
The instructions to Sir Michael were not transmitted to the Italian and German embassies, but they received directions last night to follow the course of the British ambassador, which is supposed to mean that they are to break with Mr. Bowen if Sir Michael desires it. It is known, however, that there is a strong disinclination on the part of the Italian and German representatives to embarrass the negotiations by taking them out of Mr. Bowen's hands.

CASTELLANE ADVOCATES FRANCO-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.
PARIS, Feb. 6.—The Marquis de Castellane, father of Count Boni, today publishes an article in "Eclair," urging the necessity of a Franco-American alliance. France, he says, could help the United States maintain the independence of the South American Republics, while America would help France defend Holland and Austria against German ambitions.

TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS URGE PROTECTION OF INTERESTS.
The Telephone Subscribers' Association, represented by a committee consisting of W. W. Danenbower, O. G. Staples, A. A. Birney, and H. F. Woodard, was given a hearing yesterday by the Senate Committee on Appropriations in opposition to the proposed repeal of the act of June 25, 1898, fixing and regulating rates for telephone service in the District of Columbia.

Notice had been given of two proposed amendments looking to the repeal of the provision regulating the rates of telephone service. One of these was referred to the District Committee, and the other to the Appropriations Committee. The citizens' committee was assured that no changes would be made without giving all the parties a chance for a full hearing.

A meeting of the Subscribers' Association has been called to be held at the Riggs House tonight. A large committee will then be appointed to address the Senate District Committee in opposition to any changes in the present act.

MORMON CHURCH IN POLITICS DISCUSSED IN THE SENATE.
The influence of the Mormon Church on politics was the feature of the Statehood bill discussion in the Senate yesterday. Senator Keam had the floor to continue the speech begun Wednesday in opposition to the omnibus bill. He yielded time to various Senators who desired to be heard on this new phase of the debate. Senators McComas, Gallinger, Hale, Dubois, Teller, Platt, of Connecticut, Rawlins, Spooner, and Patterson participated in the discussion.

At the conclusion, Senator Quay announced, in reply to the suggestion that the Edmunds bill be accepted as an amendment to the Statehood bill, that he was not prepared or authorized to say whether the Statehood advocates are willing to have the proposed amendment embodied in the bill. He said the best way to settle that question is to fix a day for a vote on the bill.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION DEBATED BY LAW STUDENTS.
The third public debate of the Debating Society of the Schools of Law of Columbian University was held in University Hall last evening.

The subject discussed by the young disciples of Blackstone was: "Resolved, That compulsory arbitration (waiting the question of constitutionality) is the best remedy for disputes between labor and capital."
Bynum E. Hinton, Arkansas; Masuji Mayakawa, Japan, and Samuel Edelstein, Wisconsin, debated the affirmative of the question, and Wallace C. Franklin, Kentucky; Milton M. Dearing, Missouri, and Franklin Pfirman, Ohio, argued the negative.
The Hon. Stanton J. Peelle, judge United States Court of Claims; the Hon. Vincent Boring, member of Congress from Kentucky, and Prof. E. N. Kirby, of Columbian University, acted as judges, and decided the debate in favor of the negative.
Milton M. Dearing was considered the best debater by the judges, and Bynum E. Hinton the second best speaker.

BUTCHERS CONFIDENT OFFICER DID NO WRONG

Determination to Continue No Commission Fight.

The meeting of the Retail Butchers and Meat Dealers' Protective Association, in the hall of the Fat Men's Club, last night, developed more of a defensive movement in behalf of the officer of the organization who is charged by an uptown chef with having offered a commission for the business the chef controlled than the continuance of the aggressive stand which they have heretofore assumed. While the resolution heretofore adopted threatening expulsion from the organization of any member found guilty of paying of offering commissions was reiterated, it was decided to ignore the charge made by the uptown chef. "A vote of confidence in the officer was also effected."

A copy of the charge made by the chef in the columns of The Times some days ago that an officer of the Butchers' Association had offered him 20 per cent on all trade that he might bring, was received by the secretary of the association, but no signature was attached. Opposed to this letter was one from another chef, defending the action of the butchers. This last letter alleged that if the complainant had refused an offer of 20 per cent from an officer of the association it was but for the purpose of accepting a larger offer from elsewhere.

Other communications were received from various persons, stating that as a result of the crusade undertaken by the association a number of large householders in the West End had decided to weigh and measure every article sent to them. This practice but served to annoy those in charge of the store-rooms, it was alleged, as the greatest care is exercised by all members of the association in giving heavy weight. Before adjournment a resolution was adopted declaring the purpose of the association to pursue the fight to the end, and calling upon the public to co-operate with them in their endeavors. Because of other matters of a pressing nature, further action was deferred until the next meeting, which will be held next Thursday evening.

FRANK PRUETTE, SINGER, DIES IN NEW YORK

Popular Washington Artist Succumbs to Consumption.

Frank Pruetto of this city died last night in New York, where he was filling an engagement with "A Chinese Honeymoon." His brother, William Pruetto, contrary to reports which have reached Washington, Mr. Pruetto's death was not the result of heart trouble, but was due to consumption, from which he had been suffering for a long time. Monday night he had a hemorrhage and was unable to finish his performance. While it was known that he was not well his death was not anticipated and came as a shock to his brother and associates in the company.

Mr. Pruetto was thirty-four years old, and had been on the stage a little over ten years. He was a member of the Tivoli Theater Company in San Francisco, for some time, and played engagements with De Wolf Hopper and the Castle Square Opera Company. He was nearly always associated with his brother, and when William Pruetto was selected for the principal baritone role of "A Chinese Honeymoon" Frank was engaged for a part and the position of assistant stage manager.

Some years ago Frank Pruetto married Miss Nana Fairhurst. They were divorced about a year ago after living apart for a long period. His melancholy mood recently is attributed to the state of his health, and not to any domestic trouble, as he is said to have been perfectly contented and happy previous to last Monday.

It is expected the body will arrive in Washington some time tonight, and funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock from Mr. Pruetto's late home, 1820 Fifteenth Street northwest. The Rev. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, pastor of All Souls' Church, will officiate. Burial will be made in the family lot at Congressional Cemetery.

SUIT TO COMPEL EXECUTION OF CONTRACT FOR PROPERTY

Virginia Latham today filed a bill before the District Supreme Court praying that Joseph S. Justh be required to complete a contract for the purchase of lot 8, in square 119, on Pennsylvania Avenue, improved by a house, 1925 Pennsylvania Avenue. The complainant, Justh, entered into contract for the purchase of the premises for $10,200, and a ground rent of $125 annually was to be paid. Mrs. Latham received $300 as the first payment, and it was agreed, she says, the remainder of the purchase price, $10,200, was to be paid within thirty days. Subsequently the defendant refused to complete the sale. The complainant says she has been compelled to refuse several offers for the property since the execution of the contract.

CHICAGO MENACED BY COAL AND FLOUR FAMINE

Blizzard Adds to Windy City's Troubles.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—With a coal famine threatening on one hand, and a shortage of flour on the other, with increasing difficulty in securing general merchandise shipments from the East, owing to the freight congestion on all railroads, conditions in Chicago are not encouraging. The blizzard has added much to the serious scarcity of the necessities of life.

The city's supply of bread is threatened by the limitations being placed on the shipment of flour by roads from the West. Every wholesale dealer in flour in Chicago reports that hundreds of cars loaded with the commodity are tied up in yards in the Western States.

EAST END CITIZENS WANT A COMMISSIONER

At a meeting of the East End Suburban Citizens' Association yesterday evening, in Northeast Temple, the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That we hereby ask Congress to enact such laws as may be necessary to give to each section of the city of Washington a representative on the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, to the end that all the people may be represented in the local governing body, and may through that channel be able in future to initiate and prosecute measures for their relief and betterment, or oppose measures inimical to their interests."

Mr. Millard, who presented the resolution, argued that the northwest section had always been favored in the matter of appropriations and improvements, and this, he contended, was due to the fact that the Commissioners almost always hailed from that part of the city.

A resolution favoring the proposed $10,000,000 loan was passed after a long discussion. The association placed itself on record as emphatically opposed to the union station bill now pending before Congress, and a committee is to be appointed to meet the House Committee in an endeavor to defeat the bill. Legislation in regard to the coal situation was also favored.

WANT OF COAL STILL DELAYS OCEAN LINERS

Teutonic Sails, But Four Others Are Unable to Obtain Bunker Fuel.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—There are now four steamships which are still delayed from sailing by the failure of the coal supply. They are the Holland-American liner Amsterdam, the French liner La Lorraine, the Panama Railroad steamship Segorapa, and the Ward Line Monterey.

It is expected that the Monterey and Amsterdam will get away some time today, several barges laden with soft coal having appeared at the respective piers of these steamships last night. The Panama Railroad Company's officers say that they cannot tell just when the Segorapa will sail. She has very little coal on board and there is none in sight. The sailing date for La Lorraine has been postponed until tomorrow morning.

Several barges loads of coal were put alongside the Teutonic yesterday afternoon and the work of coaling was pushed so vigorously that the liner was able to sail at midnight.

CAPITOL HILL DEBATORS WIN.

The fourth joint debate in the series arranged by the District of Columbia League of Debating Societies took place Tuesday evening in the Young Men's Christian Association parlors. The clubs participating were the Stanton Political Study Club and the Capitol Hill Literary Society.

The question debated was, "Resolved, That capital punishment should be abolished in all the States of the American Union." The affirmative was sustained by the Stanton Political Study Club, represented by Mary Wood and Emma M. Gillett. The negative was taken by the Capitol Hill Literary Society, and the speaker was Mrs. C. Norman Beaton and Clifford Church. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

Representative J. R. Williams of Illinois, Representative J. M. Miller of Kansas, and the Hon. J. R. Webster, ex-attorney general of Nebraska, were the judges.

The next debate will be held Friday, February 20, between the Young Men's Christian Association Lyceum and the Junior Equal Suffrage Club. The question will be, "Resolved, That the permanent retention of the Philippine Islands by the United States is desirable."

The Amphions Dance.

Robinson's Hall, Fourteenth and P Streets northwest, was the scene of a large gathering of young folks on Tuesday evening last, the occasion being the first dance of the "Amphions," a social organization, made up largely of young men employed in the various Government departments.

About 150 friends of the club were present and enjoyed the well-arranged program, which included twenty-three numbers. The Hyperion orchestra, under the personal direction of Henry B. Wizard, played throughout the evening. The success of the dance was largely due to the untiring efforts of the officers, who are: President, R. John Quiggler, of the Government Printing Office; treasurer, Walter T. Furbershaw, of the Pension Office; secretary, J. Bonnie Hayes of the Government Printing Office. The members of the floor committee were, Harry E. Benson, chairman, Charles E. Warren, of the Pension Office, and Lafayette G. Buehler, of the Postoffice. The members of the club were recognized by their rosettes of orange and blue. Cards will be sent out for their next dance.

DESPONDING OF LIFE HARRY BRAUN ENDED IT

New Yorker Commits Suicide in Lafayette Park.

Because he was out of work and out of money Harry Braun, twenty years and six months old, shortly before midnight last night, placed a small, pearl-handled revolver to his temple and sent a bullet crashing through his brain. The tragedy occurred in Lafayette Park, a few feet from the Jackson statue. The shot was heard by Park Policeman Berlitzheimer, of the White House force, who hastened to the spot, but the man was unconscious and died in a few moments after the policeman reached his side. The body was removed to the morgue.

When a search was made of the body, a letter was found, signed "H. Montgomery Harover," addressed to the mother of the writer and complaining of the hardships of the naval service, and saying the writer was tired of life on the U. S. S. Dolphin. This led the police to believe the suicide was the writer of the letter. Further search revealed an envelope addressed to Mrs. Maggie Harover, 419 Rhode Island Avenue north-west. Supposing this to be the suicide's mother, an effort was made to notify her of the tragedy, only to find that there was no such number on Rhode Island Avenue. In the clothes was also found a card, directing in case of an accident that Benjamin Halpern, of 30 Canal Street, New York, be notified.

This morning a Times reporter called on board the U. S. S. Dolphin, where Harover was found alive and well and confined under sentry's charge for some minor breach of discipline. Harover said his name was Hiram Montgomery, and his home at 419 New Jersey Avenue southeast. He said he knew the dead man but slightly, and did not know his name. The deceased had come to the ship yesterday, in company with Harover's brother, William P. Harover, formerly the proprietor of a lunch room at 121 Pennsylvania Avenue northwest, and had volunteered to carry a note to Harover's mother.

Later in the day the brother called at the morgue, and identified the body as that of Harry Braun, who, he said, was a native of Berlin, and had been in this city only about ten days, having rooms at a house on Third Street, the address of which he did not know. He had met Braun casually, and had taken a liking to him, and had had him at his house a number of times. Braun, he knew, was out of funds and was despondent, but he had not anticipated any such tragedy.

Coroner Nevitt will make a canvass among the New York Representatives this afternoon with a view of finding out if any of them know him or his family. A telegram was also sent to the address given on the card found on the body. The body will be held pending more definite information. No inquest will be held, the Coroner giving a certificate of death from a gunshot wound self-administered.

COURTS AFFORD REMEDY TO ABATE NUISANCES

At the instance of the Health Officer J. B. Potter has been informed by the District Commissioners that the proper redress for him in reference to the abatement of an alleged nuisance on the tract of land near U Street and the Metropolitan Branch of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks is by injunction in court. Mr. Potter has filed complaint twice with reference to the compost heap located there, declaring the odors arising therefrom are disagreeable and a menace to health.

On the occasion of the first complaint, the Health Officer says in a report to the Commissioners, the matter was fully investigated. It was found that the nearest residents were not agreed as to the fact of the heap being a nuisance, and its distance from occupied houses made it impossible for the department to take action under the regulations. At that time also the facts in the case were sent to the United States District Attorney with a view to having them presented to the grand jury.

The Health Officer reported adversely on the suggestion of Mr. Potter that the existing regulations be amended. He said the regulations on this subject were in need of revision, and it was expected the work would be undertaken in the near future, but the Health Officer was opposed to any change until such time as the rules are amended in their entirety.

PATENT OFFICE DECISION SUSTAINED

Justice Shepard today, in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, handed down an opinion sustaining the decision of the Patent Office in awarding to Stuart E. Proctor an invention in mounting and protecting the engines and running gear of automobiles. Garretts & Kimball were the attorneys in the case.

WRIT FREES NUN FROM RESTRAINT OF CONSENT

Was Declared Insane When She Sought to Return to the World.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—On a writ of habeas corpus, the civil district court yesterday released Miss Regina Estevan from the Louisiana Retreat, a semi-private insane asylum managed by the Sisters of Charity in this city.

Miss Estevan, who is from one of the parishes near New Orleans, entered the Sacred Heart convent in this city when a girl of eighteen and became a nun. After spending several years in the convent as Sister Regina she became dissatisfied with convent life and determined to leave it, and return to the world.

She notified the mother superior of her change of spirit and her desire to leave. The mother superior was shocked at the idea and became convinced that Sister Regina must be insane to want to leave them. Miss Estevan was examined, pronounced insane and taken to the Louisiana Retreat three months ago. From that institution she wrote to her sister a Mrs. Antonia Trepagnier, declaring that she was perfectly sane and that she wished to be released from the retreat.

Mrs. Trepagnier applied for a writ of habeas corpus for her sister. At the hearing of the writ today, the mother superior of the convent of the Sacred Heart made no answer to the writ and Miss Estevan was released. She gave no evidence of insanity.

RETAIL CIGAR DEALERS WILL FIGHT TRUST

Organize Local Association to That End.

Local cigar dealers, in effecting the organization of a District branch of the Cigar Dealers' Association of America, have, it is believed, thrown down the gauntlet for a fight to a finish with the tobacco trust. According to present plans, the latter will immediately open cigar stores in this city, as they have done elsewhere, and endeavor to control the retail trade as they have heretofore dominated the wholesale tobacco world.

The clash throughout the country between the trust and the retailers has reached a point which promises the extermination of one contestant or the other.

While the quality of the output of the trust factories is not equal to that of the independents, the margin allowed the retailer by the former is considerably less than he is able to secure from the independent factories. Other oppressive methods adopted by the trust have resulted in the formation of a national association of cigar dealers in Chicago and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws January 14. Since that date organizers have been sent on the road and many local organizations have been effected.

Local dealers immediately became interested and applied to the national association for a charter. Their action is looked upon by the trust as a direct challenge and it is unofficially announced that no time will be lost in opening local trust stores in this city.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR LOCAL RESERVATIONS

The navy appropriation bill contains an appropriation of $125,000 for building a power plant at the Washington Navy Yard and for other improvements aggregating $224,000; $5,000 for grading and improving the grounds of the naval observatory; $125,000 for the erection and completion of new buildings for the accommodation of the United States Naval Hospital on the grounds belonging to the United States Naval Museum of Hygiene.

PROMINENT RACING MEN TO SAIL FOR EUROPE

Will Leave Saturday to Fill Engagements Abroad.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A number of well-known racing men will sail for Europe on the steamer Blucher Saturday to fulfill engagements abroad. The party includes Johnny Campbell, J. Armstrong, Eddie Hughes, Billy Donohue, and Fred Tatal, with his wife and child.

Campbell, who trained Ogden, when that colt won the Futurity, and $50,000 in bets for the late Marcus Daly, will train horses in France. J. Armstrong, who has assisted him in the handling of race horses for years, accompanies Campbell as foreman of his new establishment. Eddie Hughes is a promising stable-boy who can ride at eighty-three pounds. In France Campbell believes his youngster will make a sensation in the saddle.

Billy Donohue, who rode the mare Girofle-Girofla and won the largest bet credited to Phinzer Walton—said to have been $150,000—when Girofle-Girofla beat Barrott at Sheepshead Bay years ago, is not under engagement, but he has several offers under consideration from wealthy Frenchmen, and will probably sign one before the season opens.

Fred Tatal will return to Austria. Last season he was the most popular rider on the Austro-Hungarian turf.

ADDICKS' WITHDRAWAL PUZZLES DEMOCRATS

Call It Bluff or Move to Land Appointment.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 6.—A caucus of both the Union and Regular Republicans was called today at Dover, for the selection of two candidates for United States Senator. The call for the caucus was sent out last night by the Union Republicans, or Addicks men, immediately following the sensational announcement from Addicks himself that he would withdraw as a candidate. Every Regular, or anti-Addicks Republican, received a copy of this call.

The string attached to Addicks' withdrawal, demands that a Republican caucus, participated in by all of the Republican members of the General Assembly, shall select two candidates for the Senate by a majority vote. Whether this can be done remains to be seen.

Until Addicks' withdrawal there were three possible combinations by which it was figured out that the deadlock could be broken. The Unions and Regulars might unite and elect two Republicans, Addicks and a Regular; the Democrats and the anti-Addicks men might agree on one Democrat and one Republican; or the Democrats and the whole body of Republicans might agree to give the Republicans both Senators.

This third proposition is really what the string to Addicks' withdrawal necessitates. Addicks' withdrawal necessarily puts the Democrats in an embarrassing position. Many of them affect to believe that the withdrawal is a bluff, and that even should the Regulars accept it, one of the two Union men would resign and leave the way open for Governor Hunn to appoint Addicks to the vacancy. The happy medium of selecting one Union Republican and one Regular Republican is what many hope for, but see little prospect of accomplishing.

Handsome Velvet Costumes

that cannot be produced to sell in a regular way for less than $20, $7.98
$22.50 and $25, for

One of the best purchases we've made during this season of advantageous purchases

They're exquisite costumes—such as your tailor would be proud to turn out for you. In plain velvet and with various size metallic dots—blue, black and green.

Fashion has declared these costumes her most approved creations for spring wear. New York has made a fad of them.

The effects are varied and beautiful. The postillion back, with some variation figures in the make-up of all.

Some have blouse jackets, effectively laced with ribbon, and skirts that are cut flare, ending in a wide ruffle and gores piped with fancy silk and finished with silk-covered buttons. Others have deep pleated fronts, pouch sleeves and full ripple skirt to the jacket. Still others are made in various tailor effects—plain but rich in their plainness—the only contrast being formed by double rows of buttons on waist and fine white silk striding down skirt.

They're just such costumes as a woman would delight in planning—but in which the materials alone would cost more than our selling price. The distribution of them will be quick—so be quick.
