

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY IN SOCIETY

White House Reception in Honor of the Army and Navy and Marine Corps a Brilliant Affair.

The reception at the White House last night in honor of the army and navy and marine corps was without doubt the most brilliant of the season. The gorgeous new full-dress uniforms of the officers, with their gold braids and buttons, gave the affair a military character and were extremely effective. The rooms on the lower floor were handsomely decorated. The President's flag and the flags of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy hung in the reception hall where the stained glass partitions formerly stood, and the Marine Band, stationed in the corridor, gave the following program:
March, "Stars and Stripes Forever"..... Sousa
Overture, "Light Cavalry"..... Suppe
Patriotic fantasia, "The Voice of our Nation".....
Selection, "Reminiscences of Scotland"..... Godfrey March, "General Heywood"..... Santelemani
Negro sketch, "Yankee Doodle"..... Johnson
Caprice, "Under the Bamboo Tree"..... Simpson
Descriptive, "American Cavalry"..... Lumscomb
Selection, "King David's"..... Luder
Supper was served in the upper corridor for the receiving party between 11 and 12 o'clock. Many went from the White House reception to Mrs. Walsh's musicale at the New Willard.
The President and Mrs. Roosevelt were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Hay, who recently returned from New York, where she went to welcome her first grandchild; Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Payne and Miss Wilson.
Mrs. Roosevelt wore a gown of white satin trimmed with lace of the valley, and held a bouquet of lilies and chionodoxa, as did the other women of the receiving party. Mrs. Hay's toilet was of black tulle over black satin. She wore a tiara of diamonds. The toilettes of the other cabinet women were white.
Miss Roosevelt wore a becoming gown of yellow satin, with a wreath of yellow roses.
Signora Mayor des Planches, a rich gown of black velvet with diamonds.
Madame Takahira, white lace over white satin.
Madame Quesada, black tulle.
Miss Helen Roosevelt, pink satin.
Mrs. Corbitt, old rose satin.
Mrs. Heywood, a gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with lace.
Miss McKenna, cream satin, embroidered with pearls.
Madame Pezet, black net pailletted with jet.
Miss Hagner, lavender satin trimmed with chiffon.
Mrs. Gillespie, white satin embroidered in pearls with lace trimmings.
Senora Rivero, black tulle.
Miss Hemmick, light blue Liberty silk.
An interesting incident of the reception was the arrival of three Indian chiefs from the State of Washington, with the celebrated Chief Joseph of the Nez Percés at their head. The red men wore the costumes of their tribe, with buckskin shirts and bonnets. They were invited to join the guests in the Blue Room, where they remained for some time.
In the absence of General Miles, the Army was led by Adj. Gen. Corbin, and the Navy by Rear Admiral Taylor. Admiral Dewey being confined to his house by illness, Commander Cowles, of the navy, escorted the President and his party from the upper corridor to the rooms below.
