THIS CASE IN COURTS ALMOST A CENTURY

Something Left for Heirs, After All.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—After nearly a century of litigation the Jesse Wain estate has emerged from the courts in better shape than did the celebrated case of Janydice against Janydice. When the lawyers and the tribunals got through with the latter there was nothing left, but of the Wain estate there remains a balance of $443.27 to be distributed among thirty-two heirs. These comprise one grandchild, twenty-three great-grandchildren and eight great-great-grandchildren. The estate was adjudicated in the Orphans' court yesterday. Jesse Wain died in March, 1806. Among the assets of the estate was a claim against the United States Government. Wain was the owner of merchandise aboard the vessel Concord when she was captured in February, 1799, by a French privateer. Owing to the settlement recently of what are known as the French spoliation claims, the amount ordered distributed yesterday comes to the heirs at this late date. The United States has reimbursed the estate for the loss of Wain's property on board the Concord.

HYATTSVILLE NOTES.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., March 5.—The Masonic hall was filled to its capacity last night at the entertainment for the benefit of the two fire companies.

The fire ladders have manifested so much interest in their work, and so much efficiency in drill that the citizens of Hyattsville heartily responded to the proposition for a benefit. The program was much enjoyed, and at its conclusion the young people danced until a late hour.

Charles Weeks, of Wells Avenue, became ill yesterday while at his work of delivering special delivery letters for the postoffice in Washington. Giving his letters to another boy he returned to the office.

The Emergency Hospital ambulance was called. It was found that he had strangulated hernia, the result of a fall from his bicycle a week ago. An operation was immediately performed. The surgeon told his mother, who had been notified by telephone that a short delay would have been fatal. At a late hour last night he was resting well with a good prospect of an early recovery.

TRAVELING SCHOOL FOR GERMAN DOCTORS

Emperor Will Help Send Specialists to Small Cities.

BERLIN, March 5.—Emperor William has given his approval to plans for a traveling university which shall carry post-graduate instruction to the country medical practitioner in Germany. The expenses will be paid by the government and by small contributions from medical societies. Great specialists, such as Profs. Lassar, Bergmann and Rumpf, will charge small fees for their services. Prof. Lassar has already contributed one thousand specimens of skin diseases to the museum, which will be carried from place to place with laboratory appliances. The country doctor can thus come to his neighboring city for a week or two once a year and hear the leaders of his profession explain the latest processes for treatment or see celebrated surgeons operate. The idea of the traveling university appears to have originated with the late Empress Frederick, who used to talk to Prof. Renvers about it. The Bavarian government has already made a limited use of the suggestion.

ROCKVILLE NOTES.

Through Car Service.

It is understood, and from reliable sources, that a movement has been started whereby the Connecticut Avenue cars of Washington will go through to Rockville. This information here today has met with approval and encouragement, as a more direct route would be established with the city than the ones at present. Should this movement materialize there would only be about seven and a half or eight miles of track to be laid between Rockville and the point at Chevy Chase. It is understood that the people who have control of the Connecticut Avenue line of cars have obtained a right of way through all of the farms lying between this place and Washington except one. Should this line be extended it would give the people of Rockville a direct line to the very heart of Washington. Many have expressed themselves to the effect that if this line were extended and vestibuled cars run on the line that the road would be a most paying investment.

Mrs. Frances Garrett Dead. Mrs. Frances Garrett, a lifelong resident of Hunting Hill, this county, died at that place yesterday afternoon of general debility, aged about eighty-two years. Three children, Mrs. Elizabeth Ward, and Messrs. Alexander and Porter Garrett, survive the deceased.

She leaves surviving her three children, Thomas, John, and Mrs. Albert Hargett, and her husband, John McCollough. The funeral will take place from St. Rose Church, Cloppers, tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

MINIMUM STANDARD OF LIVING DEBATED

Negative Argument of Stanton Political Study Club Wins.

The sixth debate of the series of joint debates in the District of Columbia League of Debating Societies was held Tuesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. The societies debating were the Stanton Political Study Club and the Bellamy Society. The question was: "Resolved, That the Government's enforcement of a minimum standard of living would improve the character and capacity of the human race." The Bellamy Society took the affirmative side of the question, the speakers being William C. Lee and Mrs. Clara B. Colby. The negative was sustained by the Stanton Political Study Club, represented by Mrs. Margaret Lora Coope and Miss Abby T. Nichols. The decision of the judges was awarded in favor of the negative. The judges were Dr. T. C. Easton, D. D., Judge Emory F. Best, of the law division, Interior Department, and G. R. Wales, of the Civil Service Commission. Soprano solos were sung by Etta Austin, accompanied by Norma Lewis. A dramatic monologue, "Pauline Parlova," was recited by Arline Pretty. George R. May sang a baritone solo, accompanied by Miss May. The next debate will take place March 17, between the Capitol Hill Literary Society and the Junior Equal Suffrage Club.

URGED FOR GOOD BERTH IN COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Colleagues of ex-Representative Young See President in His Behalf.

The last act of the Pennsylvania delegation in the Fifty-seventh Congress, before leaving for their homes, was to call upon the President today, and request that he give a desirable place in the Department of Commerce and Labor to their fellow-member in the last House, James R. Young, of Philadelphia. Mr. Young's service to the Government here has extended over a long period of years. He is known to nearly every man of prominence in public life. When the Keystone State was re-districted, prior to the last election, the city of Philadelphia was given six districts instead of five. Representatives at-large were discontinued. This arrangement put Representative-at-large Forrester, the millionaire leather manufacturer, into Mr. Young's old district, and the latter stepped out. His colleagues are now anxious to see his party fealty recognized in an appropriate manner. They have asked the President to help them. The delegation was headed by senator Penrose, and included Representatives Robert Adams, Jr., E. de V. Morrell, and Henry Burk, all of Philadelphia, and Wanger, Adams, Mahon, Butler, Bright, and Sibley, of State districts.
