One of the most popular styles of the winter which is to prevail during the summer season is the princess gown fashioned of lace, crepe or other thin materials. The underskirt of silk is heavily finished with ruchings of chiffon and tiny rosettes of the same material are used at the edge over the overskirt. Deep falls of lace or chiffon finish the elbow sleeve and soft drapery outlines the low neck.

Weddings.

There has been an epidemic of weddings lately. Nearly a dozen took place yesterday and several others are set for this week. The marriage of Miss Ruth Carr and Morven Thompson was celebrated at noon by the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith. The bride, who is one of the prettiest young women in society, wore an exquisite gown of white satin which was nearly covered with rare old point lace. Her veil was fastened with the conventional wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Miss Carr was attended by two matrons of honor, Mrs. Henry Fisher and Mrs. Jacob Fisher, of California. Their toilettes were of lavender chiffon with large picture hats.
