BASEBALL CLOUDS DAILY THICKENING

Rumors Afloat That Herrmann of Cincinnati National Club Is After Washington's American Franchise.

Deal Would Mean the Retirement of Loftus From the Team's Management—Little Credence in Report Here.

The howl that has gone up all over the country, occasioned by John McGraw playing George Davis at shortstop with the New York club, has somewhat abated, although the knowing ones say that Garry Herrmann, of the Cincinnati National League team, is simply resting on his oars, and that he will ere long spring a coup, which will shake both leagues to their very foundations.

He fails to pay any attention to this invitation Pulliam and Powers will go ahead and formulate a national agreement. The document will be indorsed by the respective organizations and the American League will be left out in the cold, an outlaw with no standing, and with its players unprotected.

Freeze-Out Game. With the National League controlling most of the stars and the National Association having jurisdiction over every minor league in the country, except the outlaw organization in California, the American League would have little or no opportunity to gain recruits.

Released by Boston. Charles Stahl, of the Boston Americans, has almost entirely recovered from his injuries, and will be ready to get back in the game when the Bostonians get back home Saturday.

Close of Evans' Career. Roy Evans, after an eventful career in the National League, has been handed his ten days' notice of release by Manager Hanlon, and will probably have to lie himself back to the minor league.

As Seen in New York. A special dispatch to The Times this morning says: It rests entirely with President Ban Johnson, of the American League, whether or not there will be a baseball war.

Object to Johnson. The causes which have led up to this intended cornering of the baseball market between the organizations headed by Harry Pulliam and Pat Powers are said to be the dilatory tactics pursued by Ban Johnson.

The placing of Elberfeld with the Highlanders, it is claimed, was only the first step toward a wholesale transfer of stars to the New York Invaders, which, had it been successful, would have resulted in the abrogation of any national agreement by the American League.

Ed Grillo, an enemy of President Pulliam, says: "Just when Harry Pulliam was floating high in the air and thinking how much better a president he was than 'Nick' Young, 'Garry' Herrmann had to remind him that he was only an employee of the National League. How cruel!"

TOWNSEND HARD HIT; SENATORS SHUT OUT

Detroit Applies Another Coat of Whitewash, 8 to 0.

It was Jack Townsend's turn yesterday to do the rocket act, allowing the Detroit Tigers fifteen hits with a total of twenty-five bases, and since the Senators were only able to gather in three hits off Kitson, two of which were made by Bill Clarke, it is easy to comprehend why Washington was shut out.

The Tigers scored eight times, and but for the phenomenal fielding of the visitors would have crossed the pan far oftener. Martin at third, Robinson at second, and Selbach, Hyatt and Lee in the outfield, played great ball, and made stops and catches of the circus order.

Just six Senators reached first, three of whom died there and only one getting as far as third. The Tigers alighted on Townsend with a vengeance, and rapped the ball at an alarming rate, Crawford getting four hits out of five times up, two of which were triples.

ANACOSTIA METHODISTS WIN THEIR INITIAL GAME

Debutants Down the Second Baptists by Score of 14 to 2.

The team from the Anacostia Methodist Church signaled its entry into the Sunday School League by winning from the Second Baptist team, 14 to 2. The Baptist Church played a patched-up team, being greatly weakened by the absence of four of its best men. Perry, at shortstop, was particularly missed, both in the field and at the bat.

Oyster started out to do the twirling for the city boys, and while he was hit frequently, the yellow fielding of his team lost the game. He was replaced in the fourth by Babson, who held the hits down, but the errors were more numerous than before. When the agony was over, the score stood 14 to 2 for the debutants.

Conlek pitched a good game for the winners, and received first-class support. Anacostia team will meet the Wilson Memorial team Saturday, and it will then be possible to get a line on the abilities of the newcomers.

SIR THOMAS WILL SEE YACHT RACES TODAY

Irish Baronet to View Contest From the Erin.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1.—Sir Thomas Lipton will have an opportunity today of seeing the cup defender Reliance under sail and in a race with Columbia and Constitution. The Irish baronet arrived here on his steam yacht Erin at 7:30 this morning from Sandy Hook. The Erin was anchored between the Reliance and Constitution off the torpedo station.

Sir Thomas has never seen the Reliance, and he is looking forward to today's race with interest. He said that Reliance was a powerful looking boat, but also said he had brought over a wonderful boat in Shamrock III.

Today's race will be triangular, unless the committee decided at the starting line to change it. Columbia set on end a new topmast this morning, having split one while racing yesterday.

Constitution's showing here in the last two days is attributed to a change of sails and a shift of ballast. She is not in the same form she displayed in the westward.

Racing conditions were not of the best this morning. The wind was light from the southwest, and the sky was filled with rain clouds.

DICK WELLES HANGS UP NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Respects' Colt, Left at the Post, Covers Six Furlongs in 1:11 4-5.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Dick Welles set a new world's record for six furlongs at Washington Park yesterday, running the distance in 1:11 4-5. He carried 109 pounds. The former record was 1:12, held jointly by Lux Casta and Bummer.

Taking the official time as a basis, Dick Welles ran the distance in 1:10 4-5. The official time was freely disputed, as dozens of horsemen caught the race in 1:11 2-5. Dick Welles was a 6 to 5 favorite, and his winning after so bad a start was loudly applauded.

The fractional time for the race was: Eighth, 0:11 4-5; quarter, 0:23 1-5; three-eighths, 0:34 4-5; half, 0:47; five eighths, 0:59; three-quarters, 1:11 4-5. Dick Welles is a three-year-old bay colt by King Erle-Tea's Over, and is owned by J. B. Resness, of Cincinnati.

GOLDSMITH COVERS MILE COURSE IN 1:40

W. C. Whitney's Champion Beats Africander.

THE COLT'S FIRST TIME OUT

Suburban Winner Is Sore, and Finishes a Poor Fourth—Redfern Rides Winner—Bookmakers Hard Hit.

Without the touch of whip or spur, Goldsmith, W. C. Whitney's favorite race horse, won the Equality Stakes and incidentally defeated Africander, the Suburban winner, at the Sheepshead Bay track yesterday.

It was Goldsmith's first appearance of the season. Rumors varied have been rife about this horse all season. Reports of fast trials have been succeeded by disquieting tales of lack of condition. Because of these stories a large crowd gathered in the paddock to have a look at him before the race. They found Goldsmith high in flesh, for him, and sweating profusely.

Whitney Confident. The Whitney contingent were sanguine that Goldsmith would wipe out the defeat of Irish Lad and beat Africander, the Suburban winner. Thousands of dollars from the clubhouse members forced Goldsmith's odds down, and he was post favorite. Africander, the early first choice, receded rapidly in the betting from 8 to 5 to 3 to 1.

Goldsmith was inclined to be fractious on the way to the post. It was noticed that Redfern did not carry a whip or wear spurs. This is remarkable, inasmuch as the colt was sluggish as a two-year-old and had to be whipped freely in order to rouse him to his best efforts. Africander acted stiff.

The pace was terrific from the start, which was good for all but Proper, who was slow to catch his stride. Yardarm, closely attended by the Duke of Kendal and Africander, showed the way for three furlongs. Then the Suburban winner and Lux Casta went to the front, while the two former leaders dropped back. Goldsmith, under a pull, ran in fourth position. At the end of five furlongs Lux Casta and Africander were racing head and head, with Goldsmith third, three lengths back. Lux Casta shook off Africander in the turn into the stretch, but had scarcely taken the lead when Goldsmith closed on the outside with a great burst of speed.

Wins Handily. A short tussle then ensued between the pair, and then Goldsmith went to the front and won cleverly by nearly two lengths from Proper, who came with a terrific rush at the end and nipped Lux Casta for the place.

The track was about two and one-half seconds slow to the mile, and Goldsmith's speed was all the more remarkable. The fractional time, which follows, shows the terrific pace sustained throughout: 0:12, 0:23 3-5, 0:35 3-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:00, 1:13, 1:40.

It was a most disastrous day for the bookmakers, and the ring sustained a loss estimated by a conservative bookmaker of $100,000. All six winners were heavily backed. In the first race Wotan was backed from 12 to 1 down to 7 to 2. Floral King, the second horse, was played from 200 to 1 down to 30 to 1.

THE INTERNATIONAL REVOLVER MATCH STARTS

WOBURN, Mass., July 1.—One end of the France-American international revolver match was shot at Walnut Hill, on the Massachusetts Rifle Association range, yesterday, when the American team performed at the targets. The French team will shoot at Paris tomorrow.

The scores of the American team aggregated 7,889 points, and the average of the fifteen contestants was 525 14-15 points. Oscar I. Olson, of Duluth, Minn., an entire stranger here, made the record score for sixty shots of 554 points.

Col. "Barney" Dreyfus holds that "Jack" Taylor, of the Chicago Nationals is the most crafty pitcher in the land. "I have seen them all work and don't think that there is a man the equal to Taylor in trickery and using strategy on the field," said he. "Taylor is ever working the batsman. He keeps the ball high and in close to the men as a rule. He watches the weak points of the batsmen and never loses a point."

ROOT AND GARDNER TO FIGHT FOR NEW BELT

Title of New Class, "Light-Heavyweight," at Stake.

Jack Root and George Gardner will fight twenty rounds in a prize ring at Fort Erie Saturday afternoon for 75 per cent of a purse worth $7,500.

The battle between these heavyweights (they weigh 165 pounds each) is the first of a series for what is virtually a new championship title—that of "light-heavyweight."

Until the gigantic and apparently invulnerable Jeffries came out of the West to conquer the greatest fighters of the world a man weighing 165 pounds was considered big enough to fight any living human being.

Toni Sharkey was the first to find out that he had enough of "Human Frigate Cars," as he dubbed Jeffries and others of his build, and where the burly sailor had no chance smaller men were foolish to try. As a consequence, Root, Gardner, "Kid" Carter, Fitzsimmons, who cannot reach the middleweight limit of 156 pounds may battle now in a class of their own.

That it will become a recognized championship title there can be no doubt for the managers of the Fort Erie Club have offered a belt which is to be emblematic of that championship. Fitzsimmons, who stands near the head of that class, has already sent a challenge to be issued directly to the winner of the bout.

To sporting men of New York and San Francisco and intermediate points this fight is of more vital interest than any except a heavyweight championship contest, and special trains, loaded with big gamblers and friends of the fighters, will leave New York and Chicago for the scene of the battle on the night of July 3.

The men who will take part in this fight are types of their class, huge of muscle, deep of chest, and of great physical courage. Gardner's home is in Lowell, Mass., and he has been fighting for four years. Root was born in Austria and began his fighting career in Chicago in 1897.

"FATHER" DEMANDS RIGHT OF CONTROL OF GANNON

Tells the Jockey His True Name Is Williams and His Contract Is Void.

Willie Gannon, the famous jockey, under contract to L. V. Bell and James R. Keene, is not Gannon, but Williams, so a man who claims to be the lad's father said at the Sheepshead Bay track yesterday.

Williams is after the jockey's services. He claims that as his son the jockey had no authority to enter into a contract without his permission. He says that such agreement is null and void, and will seek the aid of the courts.

Young "Gannon," as he is known, was surprised when Williams told him he was his father. The only parents the jockey has ever known were Mr. and Mrs. Gannon, who, it is said, are blood relatives. It came out in the investigation of the case that when "Gannon" was four years old he was adopted by these relatives.

"The Jockey Club stewards will sustain the present contract between the boy and his employers," said a well-known horseman. "It was made in good faith, and all the parties interested in the boy's welfare were agreeable to it. Now at the eleventh hour this man Williams turns up and claims the lad's services. Why didn't he do so when he wasn't earning a dollar?"

"Gannon" is content with his home and employers, and he said yesterday that he would not forget nor leave those who had befriended him.

FOUR MOTORS NOW AT THE COLISEUM BOWL

The motor pacers and their followers, Walthour, Butler and Leander are all ready and awaiting the crack of the pistol to send them off on their four-mile heat journey at the Coliseum tonight. Freeman is also here, and with his motor has been trimming up at the bowl preparatory to his ride in Baltimore tomorrow night. This leaves four motors at the local track, which in case of a break-down would obviate the necessity of a long delay.

Evidently Jimmy Callahan is determined to keep his batting up to the 54 mark. He is still standing on the ball with giddy impetus.
