DIPLOMATIC CORPS LEAVES WASHINGTON

Foreign Representatives Seek Cool Resorts.

FEW REMAIN AT CAPITAL

Little Business of Importance to Transact Here in Summer—Go to Seaside and Mountains.

Today in the affairs of the Diplomatic Corps of Washington has been marked by a larger number of departures from the National Capital than any other day since the exodus to mountain and seashore began, more than a month ago.

The list of ambassadors and ministers away from Washington for the summer was increased by the addition of three well-known diplomatists of the latter rank—the representatives of Chile, Costa Rica, and Argentina.

Should there have been any sudden occasion for marshaling the members of the foreign colony officially today, the leadership would have devolved upon several different members as the day wore on.

In the early morning the ranking member was the Costa Rican minister, Senor Don Joaquin Bernardo Calvo. Before 10 o'clock, however, he had left Washington with his wife for his summer home in the mountains of Maryland. The next ranking member is the Japanese minister, Kogoro Takahira, who, who has been called away from Washington once or twice lately in his quest of a summer home near the Capital, and next in order of precedence to him, the Korean minister, Minhui Cho.

Order of Succession.

In the event of their absence from the city the succession would have passed to the Argentine minister, Senor Garcia Merou, but for a short time only, as at noon today he left the city with his family for Sayville, L. I., where he has taken a cottage for the summer. His temporary home there is in proximity to the summer residences of the Peruvian minister, Alvarez-Calderon, and the Guatemalan minister, Lazo-Arriaga.

CAVEAT FILED TO MARGARET BURNS' WILL

The president and directors of Gonzaga College and St. Joseph's Male Orphan Asylum, have filed a caveat to the will of the late Margaret Burns. The will is dated July 1, 1902. It is contended that the testatrix was of unsound mind when the document was executed and that she made it under stress of undue influence. By a previous will Mrs. Burns left her estate to her two sons. In the event of their dying without issue the estate was to revert to Gonzaga College and St. Joseph's Male Orphan Asylum.

DANIEL F. MOCKABEE'S WILL.

The will of Daniel F. Mockabee, dated January 20, last, was yesterday filed for probate. He leaves his estate to his wife, Brenda E. Mockabee, who is named as executrix.

WOMEN THINK MEN FAIL AS HEALTH INSPECTORS

Rescue League Says They Ought to Be Appointed Instead.

"Men are failures so far as enforcing cleanliness in the homes of the District is concerned. The District Commissioners should appoint women sanitary inspectors."

Such is the argument contained in a report submitted to the Commissioners and the Board of Health by the Women's Rescue League. The report states that the league has investigated the conditions in 24 homes, alleys, and cellars, and found much that was unsanitary and unwholesome.

The report also says the Women's Rescue League has been performing the duties that men are employed to perform, but neglect, and that, in appreciation of this fact, women should be substituted.

The committee seems to have made a serious mistake, however, in having incorporated in its report a statement of some of the difficulties it encountered in its investigations. The women may be more earnest and sincere in their efforts to have the city in a sanitary condition, but they must abolish all fear of the rodent family.

"Rats were bugbears," says the report. "The committee's experience with live rats was something frightful. In some instances the rats were jumping and snapping at us, in brazen defiance, and would stand and look at us seemingly fearless. We were often compelled to make a hasty retreat from the cellars, with skirts gathered closely to us, leaving the rats in undisputed possession of the place."

The Commissioners will consider the report at their earliest opportunity.

LOST, STRAYED, OR STOLEN.

Fifteen-year-old John Bell, of 311 Cima Street, Eckington, is missing from his home, and the police have been asked to search for him. In addition to a charge of being a fugitive from home the boy is also wanted for incorrigibility. He disappeared yesterday afternoon, and has not been heard from by his family since then. He is about five feet and nine inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and was attired in a gray suit when last seen.

NEW ASSIGNMENT LIKELY FOR REAR ADMIRAL EVANS

Secretary Moody has practically decided to designate Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans as president of the Lighthouse Board upon his return from the Asiatic Station. He will succeed Rear Admiral George C. Remy, the senior officer of his grade, who will retire on August 10, although it is possible that a temporary appointment may be made for the interim between the time of Rear Admiral Remy's retirement, and Rear Admiral Evans' return.

The Secretary has under consideration the designation of Rear Admiral Terry, until July 1, commandant at the Washington Navy Yard, as president of the Lighthouse Board in the interim, unless it is found that Rear Admiral Terry is needed at the naval station in Honolulu, where some expensive improvements are contemplated.

Last March, on Minister du Martheray's arrival in Washington, he was tendered a banquet by the Swiss colony here, and it was in recognition of this courtesy on their part that the river party was arranged.

HINTS FOR WASHINGTON HOUSEKEEPERS

The darker portion of Washington's population is watching the local markets with anxious eyes, for the watermelon is soon to be the delicacy of the season. The fruit, if it may be so termed, is coming in in greater quantities every day, and the quality is improving as the season advances. The prices are still a little high, and range, according to size, from 25 to 40 cents each.

Cantaloupes are better than last week, and are selling for 5, 8, and 10 cents each. Pineapples are at their best, and are steady at 12 and 13 cents. Asparagus has about disappeared, the little bit remaining bringing 35 to 45 cents a bunch, and the quality is not what it was two weeks ago.

Green corn is unquestionably the delicacy in the vegetable line today, and those who can afford to pay 40 and 50 cents a dozen for the ears, may obtain a real market luxury.

The trade in beef has fallen off a trifle during the earlier part of this week, and as long as the warm weather continues, the dealers do not anticipate a brisk business. Roast beef at 12 and 13 cents a pound does not find ready buyers. Small chops seem to be the best sellers at present.
