

McCHESNEY ROMPS IN AHEAD OF THE PICKET

The Big Chestnut Was in Championship Form, and the Race Was Little More Than an Exercising Breeze for Him.

Fuller, on Mordella, Fouls Florizel, Throwing Callahan and Injuring Him Badly—The Favorite Was Disqualified.

GRAVESEND TRACK, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The first disqualification of the present meeting took place in the last race today when the judges placed Mordella, who had finished first, in last position. There has been much rough riding lately, but the climax came in this race, when Fuller, on Mordella, ran his mount into Florizel, knocking the latter to his knees and causing Callahan, who had the mount, to lose his seat. Callahan was trampled and is badly injured. The second special proved only a romp for McChesney, the big horse winning in the easiest style imaginable. The $15,000 Hindoo Stakes was won by W. B. Leeds' Hurstbourne.

GEORGIA PEACH CROP GOLD MINE FOR GROWER

A few days ago the Hon. E. B. Heard of Elbert county, whence the famous "Elberta" takes its name, shipped a carload of crates peaches to Philadelphia, netting him over $1,000. Trees are yielding six crates to the tree at $2.50 per crate, or $15 per each tree of the 255 that occupy an acre. A hundred acres of such trees stand to produce a crop worth $200,000 annually.

Wherever the rotund, yellow-skinned, red-cheeked "Elberta" goes it wins admiration, and tempts the taste of all beholders. It is giving the Georgia crop a popularity that exceeds any ever enjoyed by the peaches of Delaware or those of Southern California. Our soils are splendidly adapted by nature to produce these beautiful peaches with loveliness and lasting qualities especially fitting them for long shipment.

Our crop this year promises to exceed in volume and profits that of any other State in the Union, and the prospect ahead promises crops that in given years will net a greater gross income to the State than our staple cotton crop, and when that day comes we will be able to say Georgia is "a peach," her lovely girls are peaches, her chief product is the peach, and her State flower on loyal labels and carried in every patriotic corsage is the peach—Atlanta Constitution.

GERMAN CRUISER GOING TO INSPECT CUBAN PORTS

No Objection Advanced by This Government Against Her Mission.
A dispatch was received by the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, yesterday afternoon, announcing that the German cruiser Falke sailed from Key West for Tampa on September 18.
The Falke is the German cruiser which is under orders to visit Cuba and make a careful inspection of all ports there. When her mission was announced doubt was expressed as to the willingness of the United States to allow the vessel to look into the strategic value of different Cuban ports. The State Department announced, however, that Cuba is capable of deciding whether the Falke has a right to inspect its ports.

NO LAW TO GOVERN BAGGAGE CHARGES

M. Binckley, living at the Tridome, Thirteenth and S Streets northwest, has written the Commissioners asking to be informed as to the proper charge that should be made by a transfer company for moving a trunk, lightly packed, from 1222 New Hampshire Avenue to the Tridome. He declares that he has been overcharged and requests to be advised as to his rights.
Mr. Binckley will be informed that there is no law governing the charges for the transfer of baggage, except by licensed public hack, the driver of which would be entitled to 25 cents for similar services as those described. Mr. Binckley says he paid 50 cents.

TWO LETTERS MISSING ON A TYPEWRITER

A Washington editor was driven nearly frantic by one of his staff, who persisted in submitting typewritten copy with the letters "f" and "k" omitted where they should have appeared. A sharp letter of remonstrance elicited the following reply:
"Mr. Editor—Mistakes are liable to happen in the best of regulated families and to typewriters as well. It is, indeed, a very unfortunate affair, but the 'eph' and 'cay' phell out and are lost. This morning I called at the office of the gentleman whom I mentioned in my letter, but he phell to phind him in; in phact, the 'orphice eid' says he will not return phour phof phive days. I do not phique the loox of this variety of spelling myself, but will get the special phier phasion. I myself consider this no joke, but a serious affair. Phathphully yours."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON SCORES FRED POSTAL

Says He Owe the American League Big Money.

TRANSPORTATION UNPAID

This and Other Bills Forwarded to Detroit Man, All of Which He Refuses to Pay.

The story printed exclusively in The Times yesterday afternoon of the loose, slipshod manner in which Fred Postal, the former president and chief stockholder of the Washington Baseball Club, is accused by Ban Johnson of running the team has created no end of comment in baseball circles in the district.

President Johnson openly says that Mr. Postal had "done" the American League. All of the expenses incurred for the transportation of the Washington club will have to be borne by the league of which Mr. Johnson is president. Throughout the present season the American has paid the traveling expenses of the Senators. When a bill was forwarded to Mr. Postal for money to pay for the team's transportation by the high mogul of the organization the Detroitite refused to "come up" with the coin of the realm, and "Byron Ben-croft" was forced to extract money from the coffers of the American League to cover the expenses of the local club.

Manning Cramped.
Then, too, when "Jimmy" Manning, the only manager who has brought even a fairly good ball team to Washington, signed Deleahanty, Wolverton, Orth, and Townsend, the crack quartet from the Philadelphia club, he did not have the money with which to pay them their advance salaries, as they came to Washington on the day before payday. Manning attempted at once to reach Postal by mail and telegraph, but as the president of the local club was stopping somewhere in the woods of Michigan, he was unable to reach him. Manning then requested Ban Johnson, it is alleged, to forward money to pay the remainder of the Washington players their monthly salaries. Johnson forwarded the money and the next day Manning paid their salaries in full. Postal, however, according to Johnson's statement, has never paid the American League the debt which he owes it for either salaries or transportation.

Promises Are Cheap.
Next season, however, President Johnson declares, a thorough sportsman will have charge of the local club and will endeavor to place a good team here. At present there are five parties who are bidding for the Washington franchise, and the club could be disposed of within the next week, but Mr. Johnson is holding off in the hopes of securing a man who will properly look after the interests of the Senators. The men who are bidding for the Washington franchise, says President Johnson, are not well known to the baseball world, but are persons of influence and have plenty of money.

PLANS PERFECTED FOR POST-SEASON SERIES

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—The management of the Boston American Baseball Club today received a telegram from John Killilea, owner of the Boston team, announcing that arrangements had been perfected for the series of games between the Boston Americans and the Pittsburg Nationals. The series is for five out of nine games.

Two bets were placed today by prominent Boston sportsmen. One stakes $10,000 against $4,000 on Boston winning the series, and the other bets $5,000 to $5,000 on Pittsburg.
It is agreed that 75 per cent of the gate receipts shall go to the winner and 25 to the losing club.

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE.
Beautiful Cabin John Bridge is at its best just at this season of the year. Its attractive surroundings make it a favorite spot for lovers of nature who delight in the changes that are wrought in the foliage in the fall, and its amusement features added to these make it the premier near-at-hand resort of the Capital. Today Haley's Band will furnish a selected program of the latest musical gems and in response to hundreds of requests the famous show of the Holy City will be given in the Palm Garden. This will continue the entire week so that all those who were disappointed last week by its non-appearance may have the opportunity to see it. The Holy City was ordered for last week, but through some unforeseen delay did not arrive in time. It will positively be shown today, however. All of the amusement features will be in full blast, not only today, but during the week as well, the resort having been kept open until this 'ate date on account of the unprecedented patronage that has been given it. The car service, it is promised, will be all that can be desired today and with the warm weather the Bridge should enjoy one of the greatest fall days in its history. The clubhouse has made preparations for one of its busiest days, and the high standard of service that has obtained there during the summer season will be maintained throughout the fall and winter.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE NOW ON AT GEORGETOWN

Thirty Candidates Line Up and G Through Paces.

Georgetown's pigskin chasers are now having their inning.
Thirty stalwart sons of the Blue and Gray University donned gridiron togs and trotted out on the campus yesterday to rough it for an hour or more. The call for candidates sounded several days ago, but yesterday's delegation was the largest of all, and much good practice and work, that will be beneficial to all who indulge in it, was gone through.

These men are trying for the teams: McCarthy, Vlyman, Brennan, McGettigan, Givens, Monahan, Canario, Atkinson, Fitzpatrick, Mahoney, Carroll, Paret, Kernan, Ewing, Farara, Graham, Crumley, Edmondston, Dean, and Quill. Barry and Phil King are coaching the candidates.

Among the aspirants for line positions are Givens, who played center last year, and who has been erroneously styled "fats and stouts," Monahan, of preparatory team fame; Atkinson, who played on the scrub team, and rowed in the crew; Mahoney, of last year's varsity eleven; Fitzpatrick, from the scrubs; Carroll, scrubs; Canario, preparatory school, and Paret, a new man. Kernan and Barry are kept busy on the line, while Joe Reilly is instructing the men in the back field. Kernan, a cousin of the captain of Harvard's 1903 baseball team; Ewin, and Farara, Hart, and Reilly, have their looks out for the back of the line positions. Graham is doing excellent work, while Crumley, another new man, has caused the coaches to open their eyes and take a second look at his performances. Abbatichio, who played quarterback last year, is on deck this year, and has a most formidable rival in the person of Quill, who is showing up well also.

Rorke, who proved a most valuable man last year, has not turned out yet, but it is believed he will be on hand before the end of the week. It is claimed that Rorke would not play this year because Hub Hart beat him out for the captaincy of the eleven. This, however, is discredited by Rorke's many friends, who say he will play harder than ever and immortalize his name during the coming season.
Manager Van Beary, the lad who is responsible for Georgetown's best football schedule since her advent in the athletic world, and who arranged a game with the Princeton Tigers, to be played on the Black and Yellow campus in less than a month from now, is confident that Georgetown will have a strong and fast-moving team. The eleven will be about as heavy and beefy as any that has represented Georgetown, and there is good ground for placing credence in Van's belief.

The practice will be resumed tomorrow, and Barry will put the boys through it hammer and tongs, and will be ready Saturday to snow under the Farmers from Maryland.

BOYS HAVE FUN IN AUTOMOBILE GAME

A party of boys were playing on one of the streets the other day, when an old gentleman coming along inquired of them what they called their game. "Why," said one, "automobile; Joe, he's the wheels, Bill's the car, Ben's the brake, Harry's the lamp," etc.
Leaving the boys to their fun the old gentleman walked down the street half a block, and found another boy alone, watching the others playing. Said the old gentleman to the boy: "Sonny, why don't you go up and play automobile with those boys?" "Why," says he, "I am playing with them." "You are?" said the old gentleman, astonished. "Well, will you please tell me what part of the automobile you are?" "Oh, I'm the smell."—New York Sun.

PAUL JONES MANUSCRIPTS ON REVOLUTIONARY WAR

Valuable Collection at Library of Congress—"Calendar" Compiled by C. H. Lincoln.

"A Calendar of John Paul Jones Manuscripts," compiled under the direction of Charles Henry Lincoln, Ph. D., assistant in charge of the division of manuscripts in the Library of Congress, is the title of the latest publication by the Library of Congress.
The manuscripts include 823 entries, and are arranged chronologically. Those ordered are a part of the collection of Peter Force, which were purchased in 1867 by the National Government.
By the will of Paul Jones, who died in 1792, all his papers were left to his sisters, who a short time after his death sent to Robert Hyslop, a solicitor in New York, the papers, which best illustrated his services in the war of the Revolution.

The papers in turn passed into the hands of a tradesman in New York, thence to George A. Ward, and from him to Col. John Henry Sherburne, registrar of the navy, whose "Life of Jones," in which was printed many of the letters in the latest book, was published in 1825. Peter Force then obtained possession of the papers. They were purchased from him by Congress in 1867, and lay idle in the Library until Mr. Lincoln compiled his "Calendar of John Paul Jones Manuscripts."

The letters that passed between Jones, Benjamin Franklin, and the French court in 1778 and 1779, are some of the most interesting manuscripts of the collection, as they give a full record of Jones' operations along the Irish coast and in other European waters, where he gained his greatest fame.
Over 100 pages of the book are devoted to a carefully compiled index of the names of persons in correspondence with Jones, or mentioned in the letters, and of ships which appear in the manuscript. The index briefly tells whether the letter was written by or to Jones, and gives the date of the manuscript.
The new book is pronounced a valuable work.
